PLAYBILL

An aerial photograph of the Bay Shore High School campus. The main building is a large, multi-winged structure with a complex roofline, including several gables and a prominent central tower. To the left of the building is a large parking lot filled with cars. In the upper portion of the image, there is a large, open grassy area containing a baseball field with its diamond and bases clearly visible. The surrounding area includes various trees, including palm trees, and a road with some vehicles at the bottom of the frame. The overall scene is captured from a high-angle perspective, showing the layout of the school grounds.

"Suit the action to the word, the word to the action . . . o'erstep not the modesty of nature: for anything so overdone is from the purpose of playing whose end, both at the first and now, was and is, to hold, as't were, the mirror up to nature."

FRESHMAN CLASS

Following the traditional election of class officers, the Class of '64, largest to enter Bay Shore High School, began its role as a part of the student body.

The first task undertaken by the newly elected president, Matty Lambstein, and the remaining officials was to begin a never ending membership drive to obtain a profitable number of class participants. After recruiting some two hundred members, the ambitious frosh leaders planned for a Freshman Soc-Hop held in the early winter; which provided a successful turnout of members as well as an augment to their treasury. Other fund raising activities were the Freshman-Sophomore Dance and the sale of school emblems.

The "Little Echo," the freshman newspaper, began its second year of publication under the direction of Laurie Kassman. With Mrs. Anderson as advisor this frosh publication has succeeded in presenting the news of the High School, geared to the interests of the "verdant freshmen."

For a play to proceed with any unity it is necessary to have some group coordinating the activities of the cast. In Bay Shore High School this job falls to the General Organization. This group is representative of all segments of the show's team and meets weekly to organize activities and promote discussion of mutual problems.

This year in an attempt to give additional benefits to its members the organization obtained discounts at a number of local businesses. It ran dances and pep rallies for the entertainment of the cast and activated a number of long range plans which will work for the benefit of upcoming players. "The show is out for an indefinite run", and its organization will go with it—planning, hoping, and striving always for its improvement.

HONOR SOCIETY

Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service—these are the standards of the National Honor Society. Together with the burning torch of truth and knowledge, they are the symbols of this honorary society to which qualified students are elected in their Junior or Senior year. Each fall the society conducts an induction ceremony at which new members are honored. Then, following mid-year tests there is a reviewing of students and those who have met the standards are admitted.

Students who are chosen are expected to act as examples for their fellow students, winning their respect and friendship.

TWIRLERS

These hard-working performers can be seen strutting and twirling to the music of the Marching Band at any home half-time show, pep rally or parade. Under the capable leadership of their head majorettes they have once again, as in the six previous years, garnered first prize at the twirling contests held throughout the year at various schools around the Island. Certainly, they are deserving of the awards presented to them as representatives of Bay Shore High School.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Coach Erickson's Marauders finished a bang-up season this year; their only defeat was by their ancient foe, Amityville. Unfortunately this was just enough to squeeze the Bay Shore squad out of the championship, taking second place in league A-2.

The season produced some exceptional players, both offensive and defensive. Among them were Paul Powell, who had the distinction of being runner-up in the category of most points scored in Suffolk, Jim Sassaman, Joe Easley, Joe Stevens, Joe Hanley and Frank Farmer.

VARSITY CLUB

Under the omnipresent leadership of Faculty Advisor Clifton LaPlatney and President Gary Hull, the Varsity Club completed another year of service to Bay Shore High. The Club has been able to make generous contributions to the Student Aid Fund, and to causes promoting the best interests of athletics in Bay Shore High School.

The social highlight of the fall season was once again the annual Varsity Ball. Hard work by club members and an impressive attendance made the Ball the great success that it was. Maintenance of the information desk and the annual beach party were the club's other endeavors.

VARSITY SOCCER

Bay Shore was not a great soccer power in 1961. We had a team composed mostly of juniors and only six seniors. Although its record of four wins, three ties and six losses is not spectacular, the team really came through its last league match against the first place team, Sayville, whose record was 9 and 0. In a breathtakingly exciting game Bay Shore triumphed two to one, spoiling Sayville's unbroken winning streak. The hard work through the year paid off in the end. Although it did not draw tremendous crowds Mr. Ronco's loyal support was fully appreciated.

Hampered by a high graduation rate among last year's varsity letter winners, Coach Gosier's cross country squad nevertheless turned in a fine performance. Sparked by their captain, Fritz Schabauer, the team repeatedly put forth its best effort as veterans and novices alike caught the spirit that makes champions.

The experience the team gained this year and the spirit which was instilled in them will serve them in good stead for next year's fall season.

The highlight of the season was the sterling job Fritz did. For the second time he gained a position in the state finals, where the Section II team won a championship. Other top runners were Jim Rowan, Bob Rollmann and Bob Patton.

THE MAROON ECHO

"The Maroon Echo" — the voice of the critics and reviewers, where they express their approval or disapproval of the play and how it is being acted.

The newspaper provides a regular, periodic opportunity for students to exercise their creative tendencies and talents. A student may work on the news, feature, art, sports, or advertising staffs, and in several other capacities. This publication makes every effort to be an echo of student life and activity.

Heading "The Maroon Echo" are co-editors, Dave Kirp and Vera Samak, and an Editorial Board. These people gain the experience of directing the operation of a newspaper that appears a minimum of six times a year.

A member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and others, the Echo has received the first place award for papers in its category.

The annual press trip taken to the Columbia Press Conference is a highlight of each spring semester. Delegates listen to experienced lecturers and return with new ideas, always striving to make "The Maroon Echo" a better newspaper for the student body and an even more rewarding experience for those who choose to give their time and toil for its well-being.

THE DELTA DELTA AND PHI DELTA SIGMA SORORITIES

The combined efforts of the High School's two sororities resulted in what is perhaps the most heart-warming and rewarding project in the history of these two clubs. Working as a unit the girls managed to raise enough money to adopt a young orphan from overseas. The adoption itself is in memory of Robert Crossman Ackerson, and the country, Veit Nam, was chosen in honor of Doctor Thomas Dooley.

The adoption was but one of the many activities of each sorority. Advisors to the two clubs are Miss Hall and Miss Franchi (Delta Delta), and Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Lew (Phi Delta Sigma).

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Throughout the year the sophomore class takes part in various fund raising activities. We Sophomores have found these activities to be not only fund raising, but fun raising as well. We have also found that working at these various activities has brought us closer together. Selling candy at all home football and basketball games is one way in which we get money for our yearbook. Selling bookcovers is another way.

The highlight of the year was the Sophomore Smorgasbord Dinner. This dinner entails a great deal of work, but, as all worthwhile projects do, it has its own rewards. The parents of Sophomores are asked to contribute their own specially prepared foods. All other work, such as deciding on a theme, decorating, setting tables and serving the food is done entirely by the Sophomores. This is a lot of work but the great time that all who participate in it have far outweighs what there is of drudgery.

We Sophomores feel that we have played our role well this year as we will try to in the next two years, doing our part to make the play a success.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

With plenty of hustle and spirit the basketball team finished second to Patchogue in League A-2 in 1961. But this does not show the individual efforts of such well proved stars as Gary Hull, a brilliant back-court ace; Paul Powell, a leading play-maker and an excellent foul shooter; Ed Weber, the top scorer and leading rebounder; Ed Brown, the team's "trouble-shooter"; and Whitey Aslaksen, the big tough man. The team compiled a commendable 14-5 record but unfortunately Patchogue (twice) and Amityville (three times) proved their undoing, accounting for all the losses. Juniors Rich Walker, Dick Swanson, Joe Grady, Bill Fehring, and seniors John Berry and Chet Fedorowicz rounded out the squad. All in all the season was very successful and coach Iggy Darson was quite satisfied with his hoop men.

VARSITY WRESTLING

Cliff Clark's wrestling team has been trying for years to have an undefeated season and this year they succeeded. With a 13-0 record they were unbeaten and untied.

A great deal of the success of the team was due to its seniors, Ron Boyajian (109), Kevin Ott (124), Fritz Schabauer (124), Jon Clark (134), Jim Pigeon (148), Joe Easley (156), Richie Samuelson (168), and Frank Farmer (178). The other members of the team did a great job also.

There were many individual champions on the squad who had outstanding records but the big five were the tops, winning over 90% of their matches in their four years of competition. Jim Pigeon was undefeated, Fritz Schabauer lost 2, Samuelson lost 3, Easley lost 4, and Clark lost 5. These boys together hold a number of championships; nine Suffolk County Championships in three years, of which Pigeon holds 3, Easley 3, and the others one each. In addition, Pigeon and Easley were both Long Island Champions one year and Samuelson was second in the Island competition.

The team will lose these fine wrestlers but coach Clark will have nine lettermen back plus many good prospects coming up from Joe Farmer's Junior Varsity Team.

JUNIORS

As understudies to the seniors, the juniors go through three years of training and rehearsal. During these three years they learn how to balance their fun, work, and responsibilities, but, more important, they develop the mood and character which will give them a definite identity as a class in their senior year. This year the members of the Class of '62 have shown how well they can work together. They had minor duties such as selling stationery, taking over concessions and running the "Interclass Basketball Games," but their major effort was the Junior Prom.

On "Moving Up Day" they took their places in the senior section to wait for their cue. Dress rehearsal came in the form of the prom and now they have only three months to go before they replace the Class of '61 as the stars of the show.

LEADERS CLUB

The main purpose of the Leaders' Club is to be of assistance in the different branches of the girls' physical education program. Membership is open to girls from all classes who apply and are approved by the committee for admission. Membership requires an interest in physical education, scholarship and citizenship.

The duties of a Leader are numerous, including assistance in class and in the intramural program. Sport Night, the annual presentation of the girls' physical education department, owes much of its organization to the Leaders' Club. Besides scoring, timing and officiating during the program, the Leaders present a marching routine each year.

BACKSTAGE CLUB

In the parlance of the theater these workingmen and gals are often called the stage crew. We especially like that word "crew," because every time we see a show and watch the performers on deck, these are the hands in the rigging and the toilers in the hold. They never get the applause, but the actors wouldn't either if it weren't for them; they sail the ship.

SENIOR PLAY

Chuckles, belly laughs, and giggles were heard from the packed audience as they enjoyed the shenanigans of the seniors in their play "The Whole Town's Talking" by Anita Loos and John Emerson. From such competent performers as Dan Harris, Ira Tager, Peter Nevin, Kathy Shenton, Molly Foran, Edward Kaufman, Carol Newell, Marilyn Bierer, Ginny Law, Vera Samak, Carol Metcalf, and Meg Ewald, unfolded a humorous story of a small town paint factory owner trying to marry his daughter to his partner; with a movie director, an ex-boxer, and a continental playboy all complicating matters. A hilarious ending, which had the audience completely in the dark, topped off a gala performance and the cast along with their hardworking director, Carl Harbeck, received a well deserved round of applause from the audience. The members of the senior class, through their support and work, made the play a success and the evening proved one of the brightest of the year.

VARSITY BASEBALL

At the outset of the season, coach Komoroski is mildly optimistic. With a mixture of newcomers, Jayvee boys, and returning lettermen, he is looking forward to a successful season. After contending with wind and rain, they developed in time to take the opener at Babylon. By winning the opener, the team showed the potential they will need in their drive to win the A-2 pennant. As the yearbook goes to press, it looks like a winning season can be achieved on the diamond with lots of hustle and a lot of luck.

Track—T. Greco, R. McAdam, H. Siska, R. Sachs, W. Elliott, D. McIntosh, P. McArthur, J. Long, B. Turner, W. Lacey, M. Conneally, B. McLean, D. Wicks, M. Radice, B. Dennis, G. Russell, D. Mugford, B. Coach Mohr's track and field team had a good turnout in 1961 but nevertheless the team did not rank with the best this year. Although the cindermen had some good individual showings there was depth missing. With Mr. Mohr's and assistant coach Isacksen's hard work, most of the new boys and veterans alike improved steadily through the season. Conscientious practice and the ability to keep up team spirit resulted in some moments of victory for many team members.

Golf—H. Loy, E. Neu, P. Kjeldsen, W. Danchuk, E. Brown, D. Melton, W. Roos, G. Hull, G. Hall, Mr. Sullivan—Coach.

GOLF

Coach John Sullivan is looking forward to a successful golf season this year. Returning to action to form the nucleus of the team are seniors: Gary Hull and George Hall, juniors: Richard Suttmeier and Bill Roos, and sophomores: Richard Singer, Mark Kennedy and Eric New. Coach Sullivan expects the teams toughest opponents to be Sayville and Central Islip.

Varsity Tennis—K. VanNostrand—Coach, B. Beardslee, T. Moreland, C. Fedorowicz, P. Nevin, A. Van Nostrand—Coach, E. Kaufman, P. Stern, D. Morrison, F. Kassman.

TENNIS

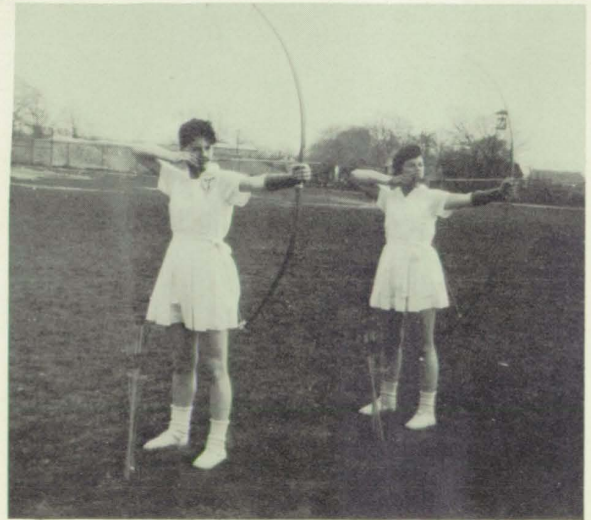

Coach Al Van Nostrand completed his second year at the helm of the maroon netmen by leading an experienced group of players through a successful season. The team lost only a few matches and also finished near the top in the county championship.

The singles spots were held down by Tom Moreland, Chet Fedorowicz, Ed Kaufman, and Peter Stern. Bruce Beardslee and Fred Kassman composed the number one doubles team while Peter Nevin and Dave Morrison played in the second slot.

Next year's outlook is none too bright as Stern and Morrison will be the only returning lettermen.

MAROON and WHITE

Here's the company that brought this show to town:

Producers—The Seniors, or to put it on the square side, The Class of 1961.

Directors—Kirk and Lepak: Joanie and Gary, that is (that's alphabetical order, not top billing).

Business Manager—Ron Marks: we hear he's going to retire on the profits at the end of the run.

Publicity—All the guys and dolls who spread the word and helped us sell tickets (more than we've ever sold before).

Stage Crew—All the guys and dolls who did the work, and whose names never go up on the marquee. All our thanks.

Stars of the Show—We thought we'd leave this one for the audience.

Hit?—We hope so but we thought we'd leave this to the audience too. (advance notices were good).

Last Word—Bringing one of these to town is always about four times as much blood, sweat, and tears as anyone dreams it could be. But we had a ball anyhow. Just don't ask us to take the show on the road.

CLASS DAY

The Class of '60 chose Olde English as their Class Day theme. They sat on the stage and watched their seats being taken over by the Class of '61, all realizing that they, as a class, would never occupy them again.

The program delighted all with singing and fortune-telling but the highlight of the day was the knighting of Mr. Douglas as the Maroon and White dedicatee. The Seniors marched proudly down the aisle flanked by an honor guard of juniors, received their yearbooks and made their way into "the wide, wide world."

SENIOR CLASS

Under the sterling leadership of Joe Stevens the Senior Class forged ahead with new ideas, successful activities, and a "heck of a good year". From the hundred pounds of spaghetti in their dinner to the shenanigans of Class Day, the Seniors showed their characteristic drive for pushing an activity to new-found heights. Breaking attendance and monetary records throughout its high school career, the Senior Class proved that it deserved to be ranked with the best graduating from Bay Shore High School.

But the Senior Class has been more than a successful activity promoter. It has been the group of veteran actors in the play, being looked to for an example of how to act by the novices and being imitated by them. If the Seniors act their parts well the rest of the performers are bound to follow. Their duty has been to act as they should; a demanding and responsible role. The Class of 1961 hopes that they, in their turn, have shown the rest of Bay Shore High School how a company of top-notch players should present the play.

If "prince" still had the same meaning for us that it had for those of older days, we could know that we had said all there was to say when we used just that one word to describe Bob. For in all the things that he did—and no student ever did more for his school—but, even more, in the way that he did them Bob was "the one of highest rank". And his true nobility was the nobility of spirit that only the humblest and most dedicated know. How can we tell you how much we will miss him and how much we will cherish his memory? For all of us who knew him will, always.

May we simply rely upon our first word and say what Hamlet's friend said?

Good night, sweet prince,
And flights of angels sing thee to thy rest!

IN MEMORIAM

BARBARA E. TREAT

We were Miss Treat's last juniors, the last of the Junior Classes to which she, as advisor, gave her own gracious and unstinting help. Perhaps you will know some part of how dearly we hold her memory if we use the words that Tennyson used in speaking of the loss of his dear friend:

I hold it true, whate'er befall;
I feel it, when I sorrow most;
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

May each of us, someday, attain some small measure of the quiet grace and depth of spirit that were Barbara Treat's.

SOUNDS

From afar, flung spray dashing down on decks of teak
Sends sounds of the sea soaring and
Jumping, making its jocose, jovial laughter.
It has a language of its own
That lingers loosely in the depths of my mind
And lulls me into thoughts of peace and solitude.
The white foam covers my soul and softens
In its silken, silvery way.
Depths of green stare endlessly into themselves.

RAINDROPS ON THE WINDOW PANE

Did you ever stop and stare at drops of rain sliding down a window pane? If you have you will find a certain carefree pattern as the drops bump into each other to form bigger drops which slide down the window. There is something very natural and living in this common phenomenon. The drops somehow look like people who are on the same plane of success. Some group together and hurriedly travel a path to more riches while others are satisfied and remain in the same position. A few are swallowed in the mad rush of the others to reach their sacred goal. Some drops fall leisurely to the path of success while others race to the same goal. But do you know, they all disappear when they reach the bottom!

ALONE

I lie alone in grassy meadows staring at empty suns.
And cast no shadow as I walk
Lost—
Out of favor with the world.
Plaything of hollow wind. Buffeted
Midst true love and false fate.
There is but one glowing star.
. . . Fickle idleness is bliss;
Youth's passion has died,
Leaving ageless slumber.

HEAR, OH ISRAEL

I can remember those beautiful Judean hills
outside Jerusalem,
Like pancakes: one piled on top of the other—
I can remember the hot, blistering sun
of the Negev,
And we were always climbing hills at noon.
I can remember separating the good carrots from the bad ones
at Kibbutz Nachal Oz,
And after six hours I could never more eat carrots.
I can remember the pure blue and green glitter
of the Mediterranean,
And the undertow was fantastically strong.
over the Kinneret,
And joyous tears glided slowly down my face.
I can remember the mountain climb at 3:30 a.m.
to the top of Massada
And the splendor of the sunrise over the Dead Sea.
I can remember the oasis in the desert
the welcome Eilat,
And a refreshing swim in the Red Sea (which is blue).
I can remember my most beloved city
Oh my Jerusalem,
And I shall remember it most of all.
I can remember many more places and things and people,
And I see Israel, and I cry in my heart.
