PULLING TOGETHER

What can be a more fitting phrase for Bay Shore High School then "Pulling Together"? It dominates the daily lives of student body and faculty without much recognition.

Think about all those times we cheered for the Marauder football team in the rain and the hours spent on the preparations for Class Day. Simply take a look around you, there is always a group in the hallway working on last night's killer chemistry question or a teacher explaining to a student how to find the second derivative of a function. These are just a few instances where we see the students and the faculty growing unconsciously into a whole.

Throughout the rest of this book, the year-book staff brings you some of the best memories of the 1990-1991 school year. We hope the spirit of "Pulling Together" will forever be part of Bay Shore.

HOMECOMING TRADITIONS

The excitement began early Friday afternoon when everyone, especially the football team dressed in their home jerseys, started to get psyched up for the annual homecoming traditional activities. The previous weeks had been filled with planning the fun-filled weekend which was kicked off with the Pep Rally and Homecoming Dance. Both of these events were overflowing with excitement as fans cheered their favorite teams and players and then let loose on the dance floor.

The game on the following day had to be postponed due to a thunderstorm that flooded the area, but following the traditional senior breakfast, many seniors participated in a football game in the mud. Floats were displayed on the front lawn on Monday after school, and the big game against Newfield was played with a great Bay Shore victory. The weekend was enjoyed by all and will remain one of the highlights of the senior activities.

SCHOOL LIFE

Bay Shore High School is the hub of excitement and activity after school. No matter where a person looks he will find plenty of action where students are working or playing together. Passing the yearbook office someone will always be there typing articles or looking through the hundreds of photographs. In the auditorium the drama club is always practicing for an upcoming performance. The gyms are mobbed with athletes playing a game or fans cheering on their favorite teams. The courtroom is crowded with aspiring attorneys while other students are gathered in the Time-Out Room working on counseling their peers. The fields are constantly being used all year round by any number of different teams. And then there are those special events like the Senior Class Fashion Show, the Battle of the Classes, and the Donkey Basketball Game. These added to dances, pep rallies, and outings make the High School the center of activity for a great many students. No matter what time of day or night Bay Shore High School is ablaze with lights and activities.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

There aren't too many school districts on Long Island that have active F.B.L.A. organizations. Designed for enterprising students, the club engages in a variety of business and fund raising activities for both the community and the school. Its main goal is give students a foundation and background in business skills that will come in handy in the future. This year the FBLA worked with the community around the holidays. During the basketball and wrestling seasons, members of the club ran the concession stands. The students in this club participated in business competitions, which they prepared for at weekly meetings. All of the activities they have participated in are stored in the club's scrapbook, which along with maintaining records of the club, was put together by the FBLA historian. Not many students are involved with the FBLA, but advisor Mrs. Maloney said "the club looks for quality, not quantity."

Webster defines journalism as "the work of gathering, writing, editing, and publishing news."

The MAROON ECHO is dedicated to the ideal that people should know what is going on in their community, their town, and their school. With a circulation of over 2000 papers, the newspaper gives us the unique experience of having what we write critiqued by the entire student body and a large majority of the Bay Shore populous.

This year, the Coordinating Editors, David Cavuto and Gregg Macey, have chosen to expand the horizon of the paper by including a four-page centerfold entitled "The Maroon Echo Magazine". The "Magazine" contains a collection of literature, short stories, artwork, and poem submitted by students.

The staff has remained diligent throughout the year in meeting its deadlines and wading through mountains of creative writing that was submitted for publication. Everyone on the staff has contributed greatly to a successful year; the seniors leave knowing they have a fine staff to carry on the tradition of an outstanding publication.

Battle of the Sexes

“Luck Helps the Boys”

The struggle for one class to dominate the other has once again taken place only this time within the Class of 1991. Females and males strive to make their gender victorious and gain the satisfaction of a win over their opponent. This time the senior boys seemed to have a touch of luck on their side which resulted in their overwhelming triumph.

The contest which aroused exuberance, buoyance, and the usual controversy consisted of the three-legged race, balloon popping, and musical chairs. The girls and guys battled vigorously to attain glory and prove to each other and the entire school who was the better athlete; unfortunately, that was never achieved. Throughout this exhilarating experience everyone demonstrated a certain attitude which exemplified sportsmanship and a sense of good will. However, I leave this question to the senior boys: What would have happened if we had played a volleyball game? Would the tide have been turned?

Father of the Bride

"Pulling Together" has been the motto of the High School Drama Club for years. To quote Matt Maas, "It's amazing the way everything comes together the night of the show."

This year the Thespian Troupe decided to take a different route from the dramas of the past fall productions. As troupe president, John DiMatteo explained, "We decided to do something lighter than past dramas like "The Miracle Worker" and "The Diary of Anne Frank."

And this year's comedy, "Father of the Bride" was just as successful. This year's show featured Kate Clark as Kay Banks, the lovely bride who marries Buckley Dunstan, as played by Marc Johnson. However, as with most weddings, the family has differing ideas as to how the reception should be held and how many guests should be included. And that's where the humor and chaos started.

As the curtain fell, the cast tucked away the memories of the beautiful bride and handsome groom and began plans for its next production.

THESPIAN ACTIVITIES

An integral part of the drama program and the thespian troupe at the High School is the Backstage Club. The members of this ever-growing organization are responsible for constructing the intricate sets that are so important in any theatrical production. The crew is given the task of turning the bare stage and back wall miraculously into a realistic set and back wall and complement the plot of the production. In just a few weeks, flats are painted, walls are built, and lighting is installed. When opening night arrives, the crew silently and meticulously performs its many jobs behind the scenes of the production as sets and special effects seem to happen effortlessly and sometimes magically. When the cast walks off at the end of the performance, the crew goes back to work to strike the set and store everything away for the next production. It takes team work, cooperation, and dedication to get the job done correctly. Everyone must pull together and do his best if the show is going to be a success.

BAY SHORE MEETS PRESIDENT CARTER

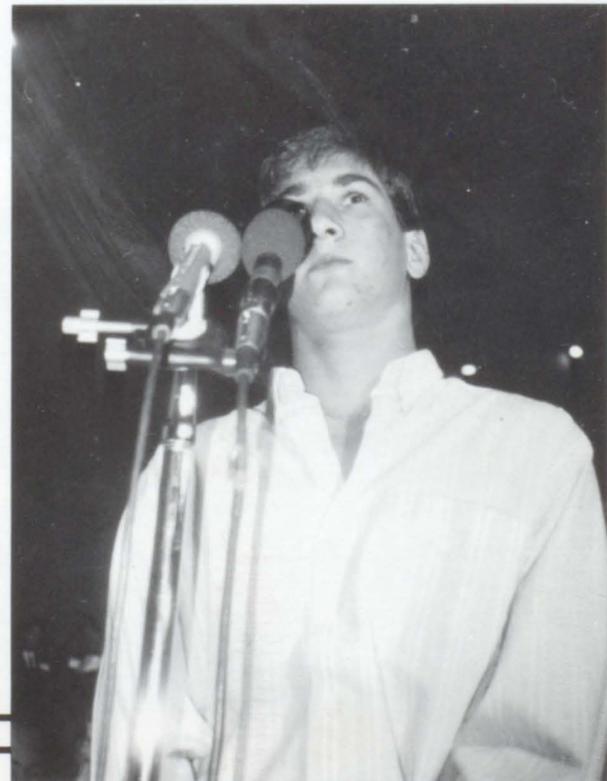

“Keeping Faith”

Mrs. P. Ponzi and Mr. A. Stern's social studies classes attended a colloquium which featured Former President Jimmy Carter. Traveling to Hofstra University by bus, the group was able to hear presentations by Mr. and Mrs. Carter and then address the former President and First Lady with any questions. During his speech, Mr. Carter reflected on his term in office and made comments on the Reagan and Bush administrations. He delivered a stirring speech about human rights internationally. Gripping the podium, he asked the current administration to convince foreign countries, such as Russia, China, and Cambodia, to allow their citizens more democratic rights.

Junior, Matt Siben, asked Mr. Carter if he would have supported impeachment of Ronald Reagan. Mr. Carter responded by saying, “Well, I would have opposed the impeachment of Reagan because no President should be subjected to the assumptions of society and political philosophy.”

At the end of the symposium, Mr. Carter greeted audience members and shook many hands. The students agreed that he had revealed an ability to communicate with people of all ages. On the return trip home, all agreed that Mr. Carter had captivated his audience with his eloquence of speech and his ability to turn a phrase.

The National Honor Society is an organization aimed at helping the school and community through many different projects. It is comprised of a group of students who have displayed excellence in academics, leadership, and character. The Bay Shore Chapter has 22 members, all with different personalities yet similar characteristics- the desire to make a difference.

Led by President Meredith Bauer, Vice-President, Jamison Skala, Treasurer Billie Zider and Secretary Kerrie Knacke, the National Honor Society was involved in a variety of activities this year. The members were often seen helping at school

SHOW CHOIR

In the High School there's a lot more than just a regular concert choir. Consisting of the better vocalists in all four years in the building, the Show Choir takes vocal performances into a new dimension. Under the leadership of music teacher, Mr. Craig Morrow, and choreographer, Mrs. Jean Sorbera, the show choir performed at the major concerts this year. Students were taught to dance, set up sound equipment for performances, organize concerts, and make film videos. Show choir is a lot of fun and gives the students a chance to let their imaginations run wild as they help create dance routines and think up unique settings for their productions.

To many students, going out to lunch or hanging out in the study halls is a form of relaxation; however, for the members of concert choir, being able to express their feelings through song is undoubtedly a remedy that cures the stress from a long tedious day.

Under Mr. Craig Morrow's professional direction, the choir experienced the melodious sounds of the classics, the upbeat rhythms of the eighties, and the sensations of the most current Broadway show tunes. Throughout the school year, members of choir went through extensive voice training, where they learned to control their breathing and expand the vocal ranges. Long, hard practice before the seasonal concerts started weeks before the final performances. The result of this hard work was overwhelming for both the members of the choir and the audiences who were totally impressed and captivated with the beautiful sounds produced in renditions from "West Side Story" and holiday melodies.

CONCERT BAND

Blaring trumpets, pounding drums, and singing flutes were the sounds frequently heard on the second floor as the concert band warmed up and began its regular fourth period rehearsal. While some teachers closed their doors to prevent distractions to their lessons, others left their doors open to enjoy strains of the "1812 Overture" or a medley from "Jerome Robbins' Broadway". Once the winter concert was over the band members prepared for the Pops Concert and their Spring Concert at the end of the year. As students began to turn their attentions to final exams, members of the concert band moved back outside for marching band rehearsals in preparation for the Memorial Day parade and the graduation exercises.

Mr. T. Scalzo proudly announced that drummer David Cavuto was selected for the All-County Band which is quite a distinction and honor for the Bay Shore senior. All of the hours of practicing and rehearsing certainly paid off for Dave and his colleagues in the concert band as they received exuberant rounds of applause at all of their concerts.

The sixteen hand-picked members of the Jazz Band had a very busy year starting with a performance on the streets of downtown Bay Shore in December. Playing jazzed versions of popular holiday classics, the band entertained the hundreds of people who turned out for the street festival which has become a tradition these past few years. In addition to regular concerts here in the High School, the jazz band participated in several competitions across the state and won acclaim for its outstanding arrangements. The Pops Concert was the annual highlight of the jazz band season and provided the community with a night of song and entertainment that all will remember. It's hard to believe the sound made by these high school musicians. What talent!

ALL-SCHOOL MUSICAL

Sweethearts, Laurey and Curly, played by Jodi Bianca and Darrin Patterson, reprise the song, "People Will Say We're in Love".

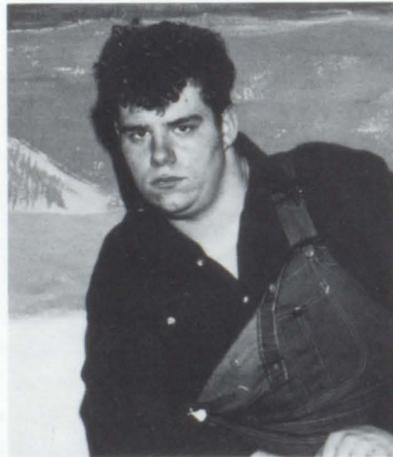

"Oh what a beautiful morning" is the refrain that echoed throughout the auditorium as the curtain went up yet another fantastic High School musical. "Oklahoma," this year's spring production, left the audience standing on its feet and shouting for more. Seniors, Darrin Patterson and Jodi Bianca, left the audience totally enchanted with their beautiful renditions of the Rodgers and Hammerstein songs that have made Broadway history. Will Parker, played by Todd Casale, and Ado Annie, played by Val Nifora, added a little spark of humor to the musical. Dave Balsamo, as the conniving Ali Hakim, was hysterical in his attempts to elude Ado Annie's father and his planned trip to the marriage altar.

Once again the set for the show, as designed by Mrs. Jones and constructed by the backstage crew, far surpassed the scenery done by local high schools. The orchestra and choreography added that magical touch to the whole show which was a delight from start to finish.

The show's director, Mr. D'Antoni, has once again assembled a cast of superbly talented students and directors. The cooperation and enthusiasm that were generated by all concerned with this production were just one more proof of what can be accomplished when everyone pulled together.

As audience members exited after the performance, they wondered what new tricks D'Antoni has up his sleeve for next year.

For those students with an interest in music, there is no better place to cultivate their talent than our illustrious orchestra. On any given day, a masterpiece such as "An American in Paris" can be heard reverberating through the third floor hallway. For months before their concerts, the students strive to improve and perfect the quality of their sound. As with any team sport, this requires a great deal of working and pulling together to attain ultimate success. Those who excelled above and beyond all others were chosen to be part of the Suffolk All-County Orchestra. These included: Gregg Macey, Kerrie Brothers, Jessica Meyer, Jessica Fernandez, Tanika Davis, Joanna Loughlin, and Nicole Notaro.

The best violinists were also selected to participate in the String Ensemble. From their performance with the Concert Choir on themes from "West Side Story" to the Annual Jazz Concert, the String Ensemble has again proven itself to be one of the finest on Long Island.

The combination of talented musicians and the skillful direction of Mr. R. Burns provides the necessary blend to further the fine reputation that has distinguished the Bay Shore High School Orchestra.

GLASNOST HERE IN BAY SHORE

Under Mikhail Gorbachev's new program of Glasnost, Bay Shore students experienced a cultural exchange with Russian students. Americans have always wondered just how different Russians are. What do they wear? What kind of music do they listen to? And the biggest question of all, how do they view us?

All these questions were answered as soon as Mrs. C. Bellamore's introduction was over and the students retired to their respective host families. Surprisingly, Russian teenagers are very much like us, except the language they speak. It was a unique experience for all as they attended classes with their hosts. Whether in the classroom, ballfields, shopping malls, or Joe's Pizzeria, the students seemed to be full of questions. They were anxious to know what we do in our spare time, how we say a certain word, and, of course, how we view them?

While in the United States, these students visited numerous malls including Macy's on Fifth Avenue and did a lot of shopping. From a pair of Reeboks to a Sony VCR, the students seemed to be awed by the variety of merchandise our malls offer.

As their visit came to an end, both the hosts and the students looked forward to spending their next Christmas in the Soviet Union. As Mrs. Bellamore concluded, "This was a truly marvelous and enlightening experience shared by all."

MARAUDER

Just what makes the formal editors and staff return to the Marauder Yearbook office? Is it the piles of photos to be selected, the endless articles to be written, those demanding Friday deadlines, or simply the insanity of it all. Spending four to five hours each day in this carefully hidden room behind room 321 is as natural to the staff as is attending school five days a week.

The creation of an attractive section starts with scheduling dates for pictures to be taken of the different activities. This is followed by drawing layouts, writing articles, and everything is stored on a 5 inch disk. This year, the staff endured greater pressure as it struggled to maintain the excellence of formal award winning issues of Marauder. The staff had never experienced such stress, but were pleased with the high quality, visually attractive appearance of the book.

With the help of advisors, Mr. J. D'Antoni and Mrs. C. Jones, the staff sailed through the hours of hard work. However, all these hours of work were forgotten as the staff remembers the times when they worked together and enjoyed the fruition of their accomplishment. The staff takes a great deal of pride in a book that is now part of the annals of Bay Shore history.

MOCK TRIAL

"Pulling together" is exactly what this year's Mock Trial team had to do, especially due to Mr. Richardson and Mr. Reinhold's illnesses early on in the season. But the team had high spirits and the dedication necessary to make it another productive year. The excellence and industry of the Mock Trial team has brought it consecutive successes in the county championships. "We always come so close to making it to Albany," says veteran Merry Bauer. "But the fun part is trying and working together. It's always a team effort, and there's always a feeling of unity."

With a few deft brush strokes, landscapes miraculously appear as brushes soaked with paint dash across the canvas.

It's at the Art Club that the students learn to express their colorful emotions. With the assistance of Mr. Palumbo, students learn a variety of different techniques and styles of painting as well as skills in other art-related areas.

While they share the pleasant company of Mr. Palumbo and listen to recordings of classical and pop music, the students get a chance to admire what they have created after long hours of work.

The Bay Shore High School chapter of Interact, chartered by the Bay Shore Rotary Club last spring, is one of hundreds of such community service organizations throughout the world under the sponsorship of local Rotary Clubs. From its beginning, this club was received enthusiastically by the students. Last year its members participated in a number of worthwhile activities. This year Interact members were the guests at a luncheon of the local Rotary Club; they visited a local nursing home on a regular basis, and they held a Holiday Crafts Fair in December. The proceeds of this fundraiser were used to sponsor a Senior Citizens Prom in the spring. Senior citizens from the Bay Shore community were invited to an "April in Paris Ball" which were sponsored and organized by Bay Shore Interactors.

In addition, Bay Shore's Interact members attended meetings with other Interactors from Suffolk County where they exchanged ideas about their clubs' activities and planned programs which involved Interactors all of New York State.

Future Interact plans include trying to raise funds for the Gift of Life program in order to bring a needy child to this country for emergency surgery.

Being a teenager these days can often get very confusing. Sometimes a problem can get too big for an individual or his parents to handle. This is where Peer Support Help comes in. This is a program where students help students. During all eight periods of the day, there is someone ready to assist with any problem. What makes this program such a success? The answer is clear- the students who are involved.

The P.S. Helpers have gone through many hours of training on weekends and vacations. Advisor Mr. J. McGowan feels the "trust factor" is also important. Many times teenagers feel they cannot trust an adult or that it will be easier for students to relate to one another. Everything between the Helpers and the person is kept confidential, except in cases such as suicide and abuse.

P.S. Helpers deserve a lot of credit for their dedication and willingness to serve their fellow students. As McGowan said, "It takes a lot of courage and commitment for these students to be a part of this program."

PEER SUPPORT

"Are you going tonight?"

"You know our class will beat those Freshmen!"

Sound familiar? This was a sample of a common dialogue heard between students on the day of Battle of the Classes. When the day arrived, each grade level showed its spirit by cheering on its classmates. Games such as crab-ball, izzy dizzy, and the three legged race, combined with yelling and cheering made for a loud and boisterous evening and loads of fun for the fans and participants.

As each grade level pulled together, the gymnasium was charged with excitement, anticipation and a sense of camaraderie. It's this unity that made this event a huge success.

As the games and events drew to a conclusion, the seniors came out on top, winning the battle. Followed closely were the sophomores, juniors, and freshmen. The night ended in a feeling of triumph and elation.

BATTLE OF THE CLASSES

S*T*A*T*U*S

The STATUS Club is one of the many volunteer groups that serve the Bay Shore Community. Under the supervision of advisor Mrs. C. Thomsett, the Student Teachers Who Are Teaching Usable Skills, helps to tutor younger students both inside and outside of the school. Students, who are members of the club, go to the Clarkson School to work with elementary students who have been exhibiting problems in one or more subject areas. The greatest satisfaction occurs when the tutor helps to motivate his students to learn. The feeling one gets from helping another to realize his fullest potential is the force that drives all members.

Promoting self-confidence and knowledge that's necessary for success in the future generation requires all members to pull together. And the STATUS Club is the perfect example of such.

To promote awareness and an understanding of drug abuse and drunk driving was the goal of the Bay Shore High School chapter of SADD. The club's advisor, Mrs. Alice Stabler, stated that the aim of the club this year was to "continue to promote alcohol and other drug awareness and prevention." Some of the ways in which they planned to accomplish this included having a SADD booth at Open School Night, promoting the Contract for Life, participating in various awareness workshops, and attending the now-well-known Awareness Weekend. In addition, some SADD members spent a weekend at HUGS, the Human Understanding and Growth Seminar, a Shelter Island seminar intended to increase self-esteem.

All of this is intended to help prevent drinking and driving, as well as the abuse of other drugs, by showing people the dangers involved with these activities. The members of this organization are devoted to getting their message out to the student body that they care and are available to help and support in times of a crisis. They have clearly proven their devotion to this important cause and hope that others will join them.

Candid Camera

Capturing the many happy faces of students working and playing in the High School was one of the main goals of this year's yearbook staff. Sometimes we take for granted how much sharing of ideas takes place and the camaraderie our students do have. For many, coming to school is a wonderful experience, a chance to be with friends and to learn in a warm, comfortable atmosphere.

FASHION SHOW '90

Glamor and glitter lit up the night as the annual senior class fashion show and Chinese auction was held on Thursday, December 13, 1990. Organized and run by members of the senior class, the evening proved both entertaining and enjoyable for all who attended. The models had a great time and welcomed the opportunity to strut their stuff on the stage.

VOC-TECH

With the cost increasing for home maintenance jobs or repairs to home appliances, a club like the Voc-Tech sounds like an organization that every future homemaker and homeowner should join. This club teaches students about life outside the classroom. Everything from fixing small appliances such as a toaster or iron to basic automotive maintenance is studied by the students in this club. Receiving instructions from both Mr. Duprez and Mr. Thompson, these students become proficient in a variety of areas which will be handy now and later on in life.

Mr. Thompson clarifies the main goal of the club, "We stress practicality, and the club is open to all students." Perhaps if everyone of us took a course such as this, we could eliminate the high cost of home repairs and save money in the future.

UNDERCLASSMEN

As any underclassman knows, the memories and friendships that are developed as freshmen, sophomores, and juniors are the ones that will survive as seniors, too. Memories of floats, dances, homecomings, food drives, and outings will linger for years to come. The underclassmen years are the formative years when goals and future plans are made. They are years filled with hopes, dreams, plans, and even disappointments. Through them all the dream of being a senior and graduation is one that is shared by all.

Following the annual election, the Junior Class officers were off to a great start planning activities and getting the class involved. President Marc Berger, Vice-President Rob Sinram, Treasurer Nicole Caradona, and Secretary Gregg Macey planned for the ring design, put together teams for the Battle of the Classes, and coordinated a combined sophomore-junior Pancake Breakfast. With the help of class advisor, Mr. W. Hoffman, the junior class sponsored the traditional candy cane sale in December and organized the annual holiday food drive.

The class, as a whole, selected the motto "talent" to be emblazoned on the side of its rings. The officers helped establish that motto because they feel that their class has displayed a variety of talents in all areas of school life. As the year came to an end, the juniors looked forward with anticipation to taking over the leadership of the school in their senior year.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS

Standing in front of the representative from Josten's Ring Company, members of the Junior Class were faced with a myriad of questions and decisions. What size ring looks good on a small hand? Which color stone is most appropriate? Should there be a special symbol or logo embedded in the stone? These and many others were just a few of the questions juniors asked each other before they made their final selections for their all-important class ring. Parents try to guide their children, but they had few choices if any, when they were in school and can't appreciate the confusion exhibited by their adolescents.

Among the choices, facing the juniors, are stones from every color in the rainbow, talent logos, sports insignias, and over fifteen different sizes and shapes. If the sophomores were smart, they would take a peak at the brochures while the juniors are ordering their rings to avoid any last minute or hasty decisions.

THE CAFETERIA

"Grab a tray, stand in line, eat some food, and feel real fine." It's sixth period . . . LUNCHTIME. You toss your books into your locker and run down the hall. Some make a dash to the cafeteria to get to the front of the line and the hottest food. Others rush out the doors of the building to get to their cars in time to get a ride to a fast food restaurant or the ever-popular Bagel Boss. As they climb back into the car, they quickly devour their lunches in time to get back to their next class. For those without cars and when the weather permits, there is always the local Leggio's Deli.

After two years of cafeteria food, this becomes almost a daily ritual for juniors and seniors. To the freshmen and sophomores, this is just one more privilege that they eagerly await when they acquire the status of upperclassmen.

LICENSED TO DRIVE

Ask any fifteen year old what is the one reason he's looking forward to his sixteenth birthday and invariably the response will be the same, "Getting my permit". Being able to get behind the wheel of the family car and take control is considered to be a major event in a teenager's life. Whether it's the smell of new-found freedom or the idea of going "cruising" with friends, getting that permit is met with anticipation and a flurry of excitement.

Damien Rivera opens his camper for Jennifer Walters and Katie Berka.

But once the excitement is over, reality sets in. Now comes the arduous task of paying for insurance, car maintenance bills, driver's education courses, and the ever-increasing cost of fuel. Many sixteen year olds are satisfied with a junior license, valid for driving to school, work, and driver's ed. only. But whatever the limitations, come their sixteenth birthday, most teens will celebrate on line at the Motor Vehicle Bureau. The acquisition of a driver's permit symbolizes the coming of age and is the first step towards... a driver's license.

SOPHOMORE SPIRIT

"Spirit!" This word was synonymous with the class of '93. This year's sophomore class, led by president Kelly Durant, vice-president Jeff Beringer, secretary Deborah Shiffman, and treasurer Michelle Cappiello, has been the epitome of a spirited class. Their efforts really showed through with outstanding results in the various activities and events in which they participated and helped organize. This included winning "Most Artistic" for the Homecoming float, hosting a successful pancake breakfast with the juniors, and placing second only to the seniors in Battle of the Classes. They also were responsible for delivering hundreds of carnations on Valentine's Day. All the work planning the outing to Great Adventure proved worth it for all of the students who attended the annual trip.

Outside the success of the traditional sophomore activities, the Class of '93 was innovative by adding an ice cream social to the activities and publishing a sophomore newsletter. Through all of these activities the Class of '93 has become more spirited and has proved what can be accomplished when everyone pulls together.

CRUCIAL FIVE MINUTES

While classes are in session only a handful of students can be seen in the hallways, rushing to a class or on their way to lunch or the library. Then suddenly, a bell rings, and students begin their mass exodus out of their rooms. Corridors become jammed with bodies rushing to make their class change within the five minute limit enforced by the next bell.

Noise reverberates throughout the halls as lockers are slammed shut, messages are yelled to friends, and someone lets out a scream. Some students hasten to put away their books, give their hair a quick check-up, or catch up on the latest gossip about parties, dates, and the newest relationships. Sounds of laughter emerge from every corner, making conversation in normal volumes all but impossible. For some students these five minutes at lockers are the highlight of their day. Entire relationships have been based on these crucial meetings. No five minutes would be complete without the meetings of couples who stroll hand-in-hand down the hallway.

Once again the bell rings, and in a hasty scurry for classroom doors, the hallways become empty again except for a few remaining students on their way to lunch or the library.

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

33 to the right, 28 to the left, and then 22 left. It took a few days, but then it became easy to open the combination at our "homes away from home". Despite their outward appearances, no two lockers are alike. Each one has its own personality, just as unique as the person who uses it. Some are neat and well-organized; others resemble the occupant's bedroom at home, cluttered, sloppy, and dirty. Some students decorate the inside of their locker with pictures of rock stars, cartoon characters, or television personalities both males and females. Some students' lockers display an originality all their own. In these cases originality just tumbles out when the door is opened. From one student's locker an entire toy factory was complete with rescue rangers and other assorted toys from McDonald's happy meals. Some lockers come fully equipped with hairspray, mirror, brush and other cosmetics in case there isn't enough time between classes to get to the bathroom. Of course, there's the locker that is the total diaster, complete with dirty gym clothes, old sneakers, and a rotten apple. One student decorates his locker with wads of bubble gum. Although the lockers all resemble each other, when they are opened they reveal their own individuality.

FRESHMEN

Led by freshman class president Randi Paige, the class got off to a great start. The Refuse Cruise really helped to unite the class and get it involved in the school activities. Their outstanding Homecoming float took the prize in the "Most Creative" category, proving what can be accomplished through hard work with everyone pulling together. In the Battle of the Classes, the freshmen captured third place with their perseverance and enthusiasm. The pizza party was a great idea and brought in many new faces to help plan and organize activities. The Dating Game in February was an enormous success and is rapidly becoming a traditional activity here at the High School. According to treasurer Jen Rajkowski, the class has some really hard workers who have a great deal of spirit and ambition. With their help, the freshman class will take its place and definitely leave its mark in Bay Shore history.

We Are Family

A school that attempts to reach its educational goals tries to operate like a well-oiled clock or, better still, like a closely-knit family unit. While many of the clubs, sports, and activities at the High School strive to create a home-away-from-home atmosphere, there are some students who actually bring parts of their home with them to school each day. I am referring to the large number of students whose parents work in the building as teachers, aides, custodians, and secretaries. The list seems to get longer every year, and this year the following students all have at least one parent working in this building: Heather Jones, Doug Rosener, Matt and Bridget Nash, Randi Paige, Jessica Griener, Steve LaTorre, Barbara Bienkowski, Bryan, Michael, and Megan Mahoney, and Meredith Gronert.

Most of these students agreed that there are certain advantages to having a parent in the building to run to if a crisis should develop. Then there are those days when the book bag is too heavy or they forgot an assignment at home on the kitchen table. Having that parent there can resolve either of these problems. One student would constantly pop in on his dad to hit him up for money to go out to lunch.

Along with the advantages, there are a few drawbacks to having a parent so easily accessible to other teachers.

As soon as their grade starts to slide or their conduct in class becomes too raucous, it is very easy for a teacher to contact a parent for a quick conference in the faculty cafeteria. Doug Rosener stated, "I think it puts a lot of pressure on me to do well since my dad is always in contact with my teachers. My dad sometimes finds out that I didn't do too well on a quiz before I even get the grade." Bridget Nash commented that, although there may be disadvantages in some students' minds, she feels that she and her father relate to each other better because he understands the pressures of high school.

MARAUDER MASQUERADERS

Halloween has always been a time for merriment and dressing up in costume. Not to be outdone, some of the High School students helped get into the spirit of the holiday by wearing their costumes to school. Sitting among their friends in classes and the cafeteria, these bedecked students brought a smile to all who saw them.

Some of the students chose to paint their faces to resemble a variety of preternatural creatures, ranging from simple monsters to the living dead. Others chose outfits that seemed totally outrageous in the school environment. There were grim reapers and even vampires, complete with fangs and blood. Several girls chose to come to school comfortably dressed in their pajamas and looked like Cabbage Patch Kids. Whatever their costume, these students proved how much holiday spirit our students have.

SAVE THE EARTH!

Hold that soda can or used newspaper! Before you throw it away, think of the consequences and the alternatives!

The key word among environmentalists today is "recycle". Rather than adding to air pollution or increasing the debris in landfills which are being closed by government order, students and community members have banded together to bring their message to the public. If the world is going to continue to exist as we know it, something must be done today. By recycling paper and aluminum cans, everyone can do his share. A special drive was conducted by several business classes and the Environmental Club to help clean up the community and make the citizens of Bay Shore more aware of the measures that they can take to prevent pollution.

MATH STUDENTS PULL TOGETHER

Mrs. I. Vetsch, ninth grade math teacher, has been piloting a new approach in teaching Sequential I math to her freshmen classes. The system aimed at fostering a better understanding of math concepts relies on the "buddy" system. Students were paired off to work with each other on classwork, homework, and projects. The team could work together on everything except tests and quizzes. Now students use their time to study together, help each other when a problem occurs, and to review to re-inforce what they already know. Mrs. Vetsch believes that this has eliminated some of the pressure students feel when they are struggling to master difficult concepts. She stated, "I feel this system is working very well. Sometimes it's a little hard to teach because of the noise level in the room, but it is good noise, the noise of people helping one another. It is nice to hear. There are arguments among the students, but the arguments are about math."

Another advantage to this innovative approach is that Mrs. Vetsch has time now to work with those pairs of students who may be exhibiting a great deal of difficulty. This system has really pulled the students together and could probably work as effectively in other courses as well.

Sailing Toward a Flourishing Future

Last September the first Refuse Cruise was held for freshmen at Hecksher State Park in East Islip. Run by trained juniors and supervised by selected high school staff, the day was designed around various games and activities, aimed at helping freshmen to get to know one another. One of the goals of the program was to give freshmen a feeling of unity as they pulled together with the juniors to develop refusal skills. After a series of talk sessions, games, and skits, everyone was well acquainted. Freshmen now had at least one upperclassman whom they knew well enough to turn to for help, advice or support. The day focused on helping freshmen take the initial steps in refusing all types of peer pressure. Following a barbecue of hot dogs and hamburgers, the freshmen completed their exercises and returned to their regular routines. Hopefully, they were better prepared to start their high school careers. Most agreed that the day was quite worthwhile and highly successful.

SENIORS

SEN*IOR*I*TIS (sen yor it es) infectious disease that attacks general student body in final stages of high school career.

The much anticipated finale of high school is now a reality for the graduating class of 1991. They have achieved the status of being the oldest students in the building, and they have reached the end of their education here in Bay Shore. They have inherited the undeniable privileges for which they have struggled. Suddenly, they find themselves thrust into the role of seniors, able to participate in such activities as the Fashion Show, Class Day, the Spaghetti Dinner, and the all-important commencement. Now they face the task of college applications and job interviews. They try to emulate their predecessors while maintaining their own individuality. The faculty and staff watched as the Class of '91 took the leadership and prepared for the future.

For these four fleeting years, they have learned to be tolerant of each others' differences and even become an integral part of each others lives in a way that will affect them forever. Although they will continue their lives in a manner that suits them, they will never forget their roots in Bay Shore High School. The time has come for all of the seniors to enter a world of new experiences and take with them the memory of their past. Whatever their futures might be, there is one common characteristic possessed by each and every individual of the Class of 1991----UNIQUENESS.

By senior year everyone knows the purpose of the school's two cafeterias. Their warm ambiance and quiet atmosphere provide seniors with many opportunities. Here they can study for an upcoming test, finish a written assignment, or get help from a friend while munching potato chips and fries. It is also a great place to plan game strategies for the football team. And of course, it's the perfect meeting place for guys and girls to discuss current affairs, make weekend plans, and catch up on local gossip. Many students pass the cafeterias but don't take the time to appreciate their many functions.

HOMECOMING '91

Torrential rains caused the postponement of some of the Homecoming festivities for the first time in several years, but the rains didn't dampen spirits at the Pep Rally and Annual Dance. Crowds gathered in the big gym to cheer on their favorite athletes and teams and then proceeded to crowd the dance floor in the north cafeteria.

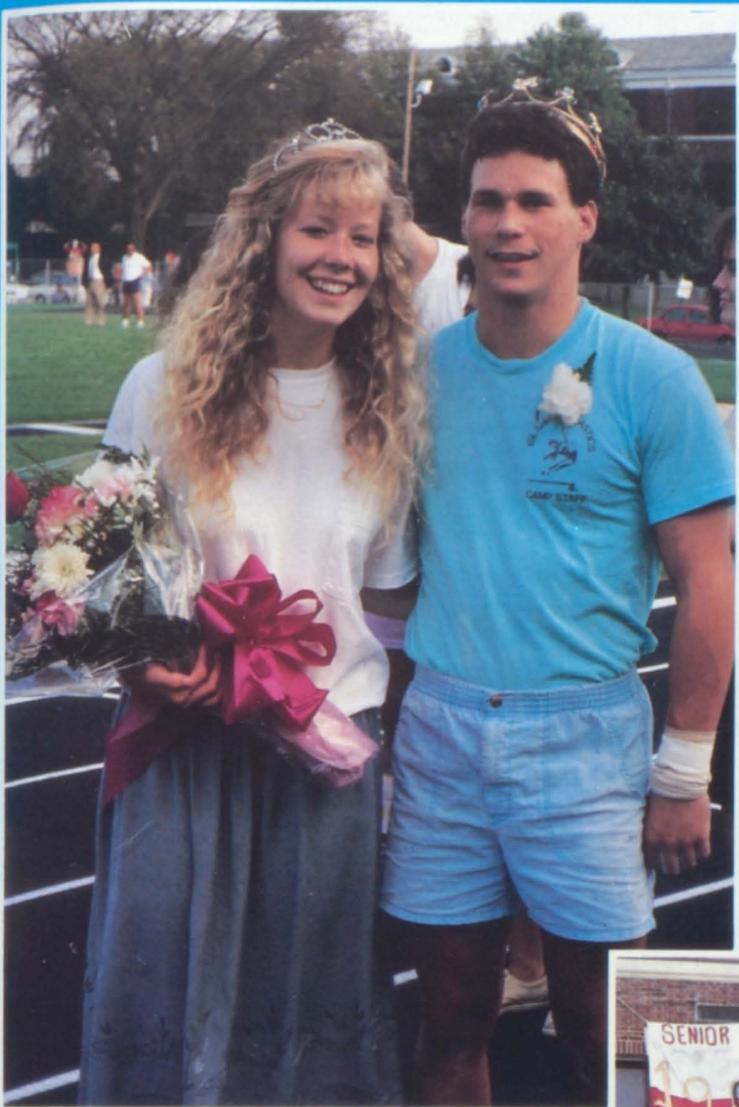

At 10:15 counselor Mr. Frank Pitelli announced the Homecoming Court and the 1990 King and Queen, Steve Silipo and Kerri Knacke. Floats were displayed and judged on Monday afternoon before our home game against Newfield High School. What a game! Bay Shore really ruled and won with a score of 38-0.

Over the many years that they have been attending classes together in Bay Shore, students have come together on the field, in the classrooms, and around the building. Friendships have been made and in many cases have lasted throughout the years. As students, they have pulled together to bring victories on the playing fields and kudos for their academic accomplishments. Bay Shore seniors can achieve anything they set their minds to, and with their friends ready to lend support and assistance they become a force not easily reckoned with.

ACADEMICS

As the students returned to their academic lives, they were greeted with temperatures in the high eighties and low nineties. Faced with an extended summer heat wave, students and teachers quickly turned in their fall wardrobes for their shorts and short-sleeved shirts. The heat wave lasted sporadically through November. Since classrooms were so unbearably hot, students found it difficult to focus on anything other than a return to the beach.

Despite the weather, business was carried on as usual. Teachers maintained their schedules, realizing that curriculum had to be covered, and exams would still be given on time. PSAT and SAT tests were still administered in October as seniors rushed to fill out college applications and visit campuses. No matter what anyone else may say it is the classroom teacher and the support services offered to the students that make this building a terrific place for learning. With their creative lessons, dynamic teaching methods, and dedication, these educational leaders guided and assisted students to attain new heights and reach their educational potential. The Bay Shore student body and entire staff were complimented by the Middle States Evaluation Team for their dedication and professionalism.

Administration

Making the Grade

After a year of planning and preparations, the long-awaited Middle States Evaluation Team arrived at Bay Shore High School on October 24th for its three-day visit. Following a get acquainted banquet, the team attended classes, toured all parts of the building, and interviewed staff and students. The building looked terrific with displays in the lobby and conference rooms and students on their best behavior. And were the members of the team impressed! Consisting of teachers and administrators from districts throughout the state and east coast, the members thoroughly enjoyed their visit and the hospitality shown by all.

The visitors found the student body and staff members extremely cooperative and helpful. They were equally impressed with the classrooms and facilities available to the student body. Among those areas cited for commendation were the writing center, computer labs, technology department, and library. The team was impressed with the guidance department which was serving so many of the needs of the student body. Equally impressive were the elective course offerings and the law programs which are part of the social studies department. The foreign language department was commended for its positive learning climate.

In all, Bay Shore High School still continues to offer the students a well-rounded education with its diversified curriculum and extra-curricula programs.

Leadership

Mr. Okulski Speaks Out

When Mr. Okulski heard the theme for the '91 Marauder, he gave his full support and approval. Since his arrival in this building three years ago, he has always emphasized the amount of "Pulling Together" that exists among staff members, students, and administrators. The job of educating students is one of the most important in the world, according to Mr. Okulski, and can only be effectively accomplished when all of the participants work and pull together. Our Awareness Weekends are one of the many activities specifically designed to create the right environment and relationships here. Accomplishing this task in a diversified school such as ours is an important step in spreading this message to the entire community.

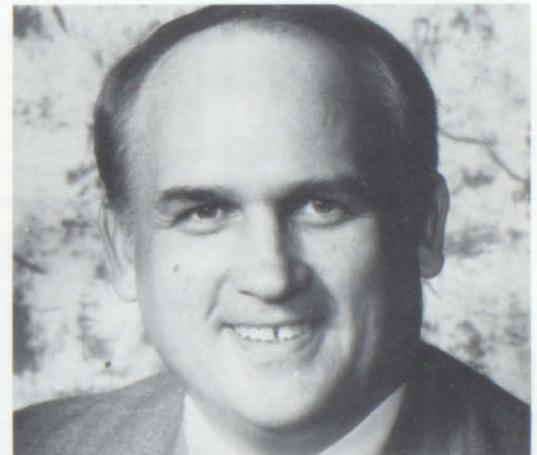

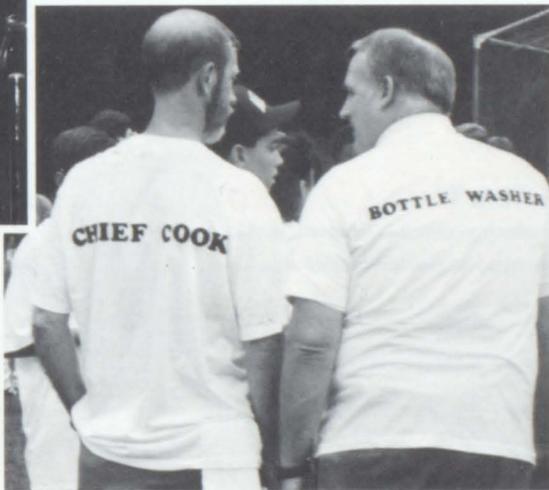

Mr. Okulski feels that this has been a good year for everyone at the High School. Everyone pulled together to make the Middle States Evaluation a tremendous success, and the committee even mentioned how impressed it was with the commitment that was demonstrated by staff and students alike.

Mr. Okulski is very proud of all the courses and services provided here at Bay Shore, and with everyone's ongoing cooperation and pulling together, we will continue to strive for excellence in education.

Cultures Around The World

Students Spend A Day In Jail

Every year Mr. Richardson's classes embark upon a forty mile journey to quite another world. It is perhaps the strangest field trip of the year. The trip is to the Suffolk County jail. Approximately thirty students per trip are taken on a tour of the holding tank and a male and female cellblock. These cellblocks actually look worse in person than they do on television. The inmates are housed in zoo-like conditions. After the tour, the students are led to the prison chapel for a talk with selected inmates. The inmates speak about their crimes and what jail life is like. They use harsh language in an effort to convince all who listen that jail is truly a horrible place. After the talk the students enjoy lunch at a local fast-food establishment and leave Riverhead with memories of their "day in jail."

The Man, the Myth, the Math

been designated as his personal "countdown corner" wherein he kept an updated count with his remaining days as a classroom teacher. Throughout his long career as a teacher, he has always strived for excellence whether in his math class or on the basketball court where he was a varsity coach.

After retiring, he plans on taking it easy by catching up on his reading. He joked about returning to the High School to attend faculty meetings which have proven to cure his insomnia at night. The staff and student body will miss the man and his gentle humor. All wish him well as he enters this new phase of his life.

Windorf Retires

With many fond memories of Bay Shore High permanently ensconced in his brain, veteran English teacher, Mr. John (Jay) Windorf, bids a fond farewell to the classroom at the end of this year. Although he looks on his retirement as an adventure to a new and unexplored world, he leaves the High School with mixed emotions. This has been his home and his career for the past twenty-nine years. In that time he has taught all grades from nine through twelve but admits that his Film Study course has always held a special place in his heart. Founded in the seventies, this course allowed him to share his enthusiasm and fascination of the celluloid media with his students for the past twenty years.

Mr. Windorf will be remembered by the staff and students for his many years of devoted service to the High School. He summed up his feelings with the following words, “The past has been good to me; I trust that the future will be good.” Mr. Windorf takes with him our wish for the same and our thanks and appreciation for having enriched all of our lives.

Labs, Experiments, and More

Interesting Developments

Are you looking for some interesting developments in the field of scientific discovery?

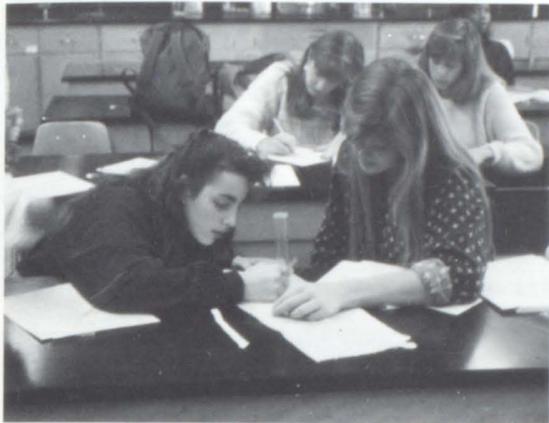

Science classes are conducting some unique and unusual experiments these days in an attempt to challenge and stimulate the intellectual curiosity of their students. Newest member of the department, Mrs. Peggy Parker, led her class in an experiment to extract various pigments from leaves. All in the class agreed that this was a fascinating project.

In Mr. Campbell's chemistry class, students were playing alchemists in an attempt to create silver by purifying certain chemical compounds. Perhaps the class will start turning out silver jewelry in the near future.

In physics classes a trip to Great Adventure was being planned, but instead of enjoying the rides, the students were going to measure the gravitational force exerted on the passengers of some of the rides.

These new twists in the science classroom keep the students involved and motivated. Who knows what surprises may be in store for next year's classes.

Mr. Martin, Spanish teacher, holds a special place in the hearts of students and staff alike. His genuine concern for his students was shown through his constant demand for their best efforts. Although he was serious about his work, there was always time for a joke and a smile.

After his unfortunate illness, several students decided to return a little of the devotion that he had shown to all. A collection was taken up in the homerooms, and students gladly chipped in their spare change. Together they bought him a bathrobe and flowers to remember us by.

Hopefully, Mr. Martin will recover soon and will be able to enjoy his retirement.

Bay Shore High School students are provided with a special opportunity to get a head start on any one of a wide range of great careers. Course offerings from the Occupational Education Department are varied and of benefit to all.

In the business strand, students can select courses such as personal keyboarding and progress through such courses as word processing, accounting, and business law. Technology students can learn many skills vital in the modern world. Courses include woodworking, carpentry, and automotive repairs. Students involved in the Occupational Education department also have the opportunity to learn skills in the areas of homemaking and computer technology.

With a little advanced planning, a student can be well-prepared for the future with vital business, career, and homemaking skills.

What does it take to become an outstanding violist and a member of the Long Island Youth Orchestra? It takes hours of practice and years of dedication, not to mention private lessons, rehearsal time, and perseverance.

Jessica Meyer has achieved the distinction of being honored with the third chair in the All-County Orchestra. She qualified for this position by receiving an A+ score on her NYSSMA Festival solo. As a sophomore Jessica received the Howard Koch Memorial Award, sponsored by the Long Island String Festival Association. Jessica is proud of her accomplishments and feels that all of her work has certainly paid off.

In addition to her musical endeavors, Jessica is a well-rounded student who has been involved with six productions of the High School's Drama Department and held the position of Secretary of the Thespian Troupe. Jessica is a credit to her family and the many teachers with whom she has studied.

Keeping Fit

Spotlight on Mr. Jones

Mr. Dave Jones has been a teacher at Bay Shore High School for thirty-one years and still counting. Through these years he has taught over a thousand impressionable high school students such diverse subjects as general science, biology, and health.

Mr. Jones is a teacher who cares about his students and likes to keep the class interesting by adding a joke here and there. He also tries to keep a good rapport with his students by talking of current issues that are vital to our health in our modern world. Some topics covered by the course include drugs, alcohol and AIDS.

Over his many years of teaching at Bay Shore he has seen little change in the school community. The Health curriculum, however, has changed drastically to keep abreast of current topics and issues very current. The AIDS curriculum was started as early as 1980, when the disease was in its early stages and the world knew so little about it.

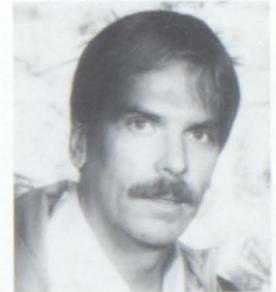

Mr. Jones has also been very active as a coach here at Bay Shore High School. He coached wrestling at the Junior High School, as well as on the freshmen and J.V. levels from 1959-1967. He started the Bay Shore lacrosse program in 1967 and served as varsity coach until his resignation in 1976. His greatest success was found with the school football program. Mr. Jones lost only 40 games in 22 years while gaining 112 wins and compiling one of the most successful records in school history.

Today, Mr. Jones is the senior class advisor. He clearly enjoys teaching here at Bay Shore High School and the many friendships he has made while working with the students. He has found satisfaction in the relationships he has developed with his students, the people he works with, and the Bay Shore community.

Not many people realize how many different tasks and services are provided by our Guidance Department. In order to provide for the needs of the entire student population and the staff as well, the Guidance Department employs the services of five full time counselors, one psychologist, one social worker, and four secretaries. The bulk of the paperwork and scheduling is handled by the secretaries so that the counselors have the time to meet with students and their parents to help resolve problems and conflicts.

The secretaries perform many specialized duties, such as preparing the department budget, ordering all supplies, handling the BOCES registration, and making student appointments with counselors. It is the secretaries who maintain the important schedules of the counselors, prepare scholarship bulletins, and type teacher or counselor recommendations. They send college applications, track the records of new students, update schedule changes, and even prepare working papers.

The Guidance Department plays an important role in the day to day life of every student in the building and is an invaluable resource for all.

Mrs. M. Petralia and Mrs. R. Shaughnessy work together to keep the guidance office running smoothly and efficiently.

Reaching Out

True Competitors

Each year since 1969, Bay Shore High School has had students compete in the Special Olympics. These students, under the guidance of Mr. Jim Thompson, have repeatedly done very well and have shown that Bay Shore High School students know how to pull together.

Students compete in a variety of events which include: track and field, snow-shoeing, running events, relays, swimming, and other various activities. In these events, the students compete individually, rather than as a team so they have a greater sense of self-accomplishment.

At one of the recent events in which the students participated, several celebrities attended, one of whom was Bill Cosby. Needless to say, our students were overjoyed that they had a chance to meet him in person and get his autograph.

Rory Byers and Marcus Sanders received high honors in the track and field competition, as well as other students who placed well in other activities. These students, who participate in the Special Olympics, are true athletes and true competitors. Above all, they continually demonstrate good sportsmanship on the field and continue to be a credit to their families and school.

Keeping a Watchful Eye

Spotlight on Mr. Charles Roye

There is one face that has become quite familiar to students who have attended evening functions and after school activities in the High School. One man seems to have attended everything from music concerts, to drama club performances, to sports events. And with him he usually has his trusty camera ready to preserve that special moment on film. As soon as the film is developed, he usually presents a duplicate copy of the photograph to the students involved. That man is security guard Mr. Charles Roye who has been an integral part of the staff for the past five years.

Retired after thirty years in the business world, Mr. Roye enjoys being around the younger generation and serving as a role model for them. At his post in the front lobby, Mr. Roye views his job as an opportunity to communicate to students the standards of acceptable social behavior both in school and out on the streets.

Mr. Roye frequently has to de-fuse a situation before it erupts into a major altercation, and always he handles the problem with tact and diplomacy, earning for himself the respect of all with whom he comes into contact. Mr. Roye enjoys his work in the building, and although some days are rougher than others, he can always be seen at his post wearing his friendly smile and greeting everyone who passes by.

SPORTS

For years the athletes of Bay Shore High School have kept alive the rich tradition of excellence that was established by their predecessors. In recent years, many records have been broken, and new ones set by the athletes. The gymnastics, volleyball, and basketball teams all placed high in their respective league championships. It is not only their determination that makes all of these teams winners but also their pride in the Bay Shore community. At all games there is always a large turn-out of spectators who come out and support the teams. The energy that emanates from the crowd always is felt by the players, helping them to always strive for success. The continuous uplifting spirit, provided by the avid fans, prevails throughout the entire year, bringing our young athletes to new standards of excellence.

Marauders pull together for a victorious season.

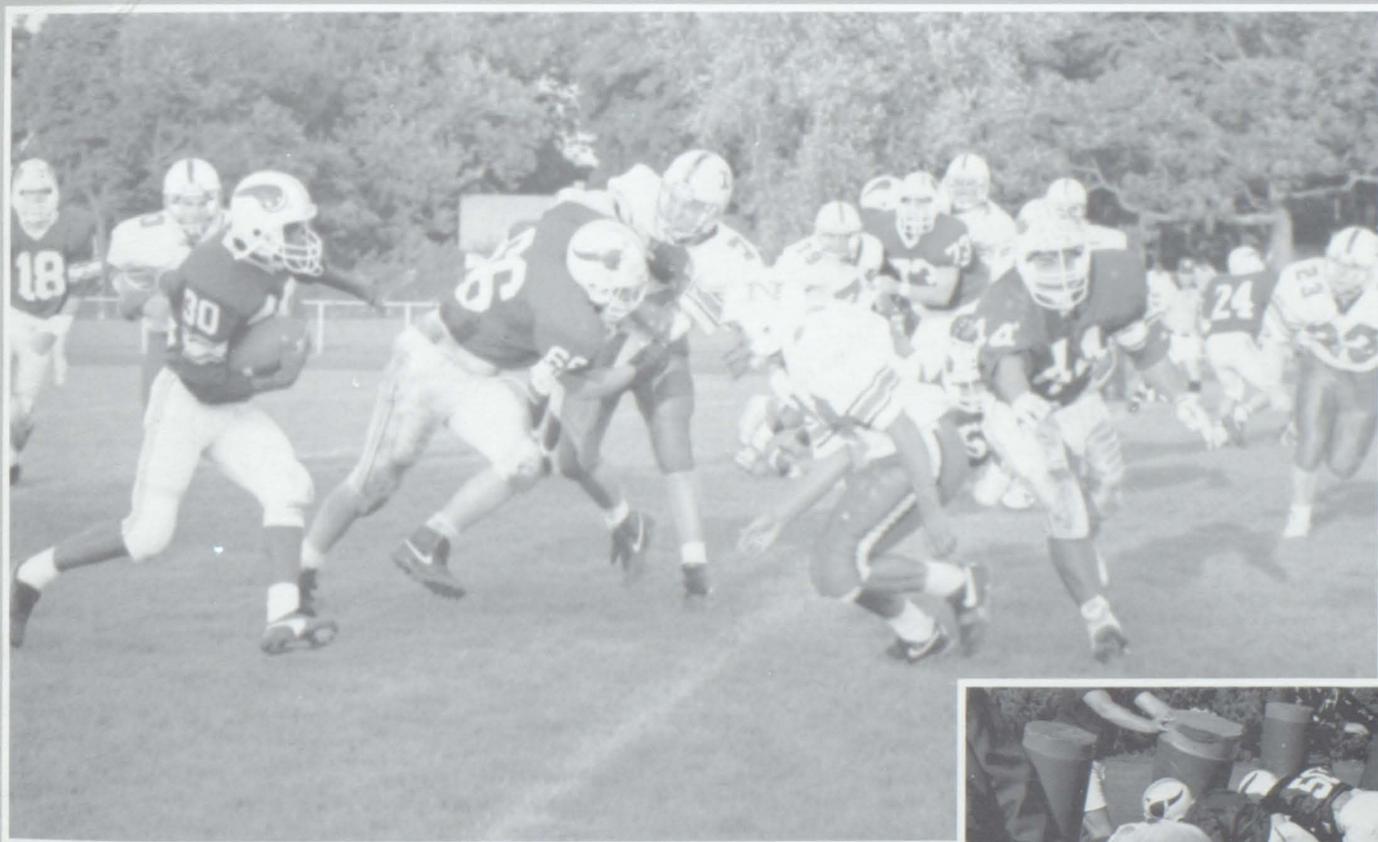

On Nov. 12, the Bay Shore Marauders finished what many players believed to be a great season. Coach Mr. T. Cox said that the team was one of his best teams to carry the burden of a previous losing season, to turn the tables around to a 4-1 league and 5-3 overall. Said tri-captain Rob Sullivan, "With losses to the two teams that both made the finals, and another to decide a league title, we shouldn't hang our heads about the season."

The Marauders' first playoff game was on Nov. 5, against Central Islip, and the team was both nervous and anxious about the game. Bay Shore waited hand-in-hand in their pre-game ritual, silence filling the locker room. Coach Mr. T. Cox walked in carrying a letter by Pat Clark, last year's "Best Defensive Player." The letter was a huge inspiration to the team, but a better team awaited to take the fire out of Bay Shore. Central Islip defeated Bay Shore 28-0, and went on to win the championship game against Connetquot.

Bay Shore had one last chance for a victory after their playoff loss, and the seniors especially wanted to win their last game of Bay Shore High School Football. On a freezing cold afternoon November 12, Bay Shore was far from being beaten by Half Hollow Hills East. Jeff Tharpe was the game's only scorer as he ran in three touchdowns in Bay Shores 22-0 victory.

No matter where the fans were on the field, they could always catch a glimpse of the cheerleaders jumping, clapping, or leaping into the air. Although some of the girls got off to a late start, they made up for the time they missed and developed into a unit that not only looked great but sounded great as well. Both the Varsity and J.V. squads could be seen practicing every afternoon in the fall, always working to improve their technique and form.

"What I enjoyed most about being a cheerleader," said senior captain, Elaine Cooper, "was the friendships that were started because all of us had a common interest and goal. I'll definitely miss being a part of this squad next year."

In November the Varsity squad won the "Spirit Award" at the Brentwood Competition by performing an extremely difficult routine. That same month the J.V. team took fifth place at a Longwood competition and brought home a beautiful trophy for its efforts. "Each time the girls go to a competition, they increase their scores. I am very proud of our talented girls who always work so hard," stated Coach Mrs. D. Kaplar.

GYMNASTICS

Keeping Their Balance

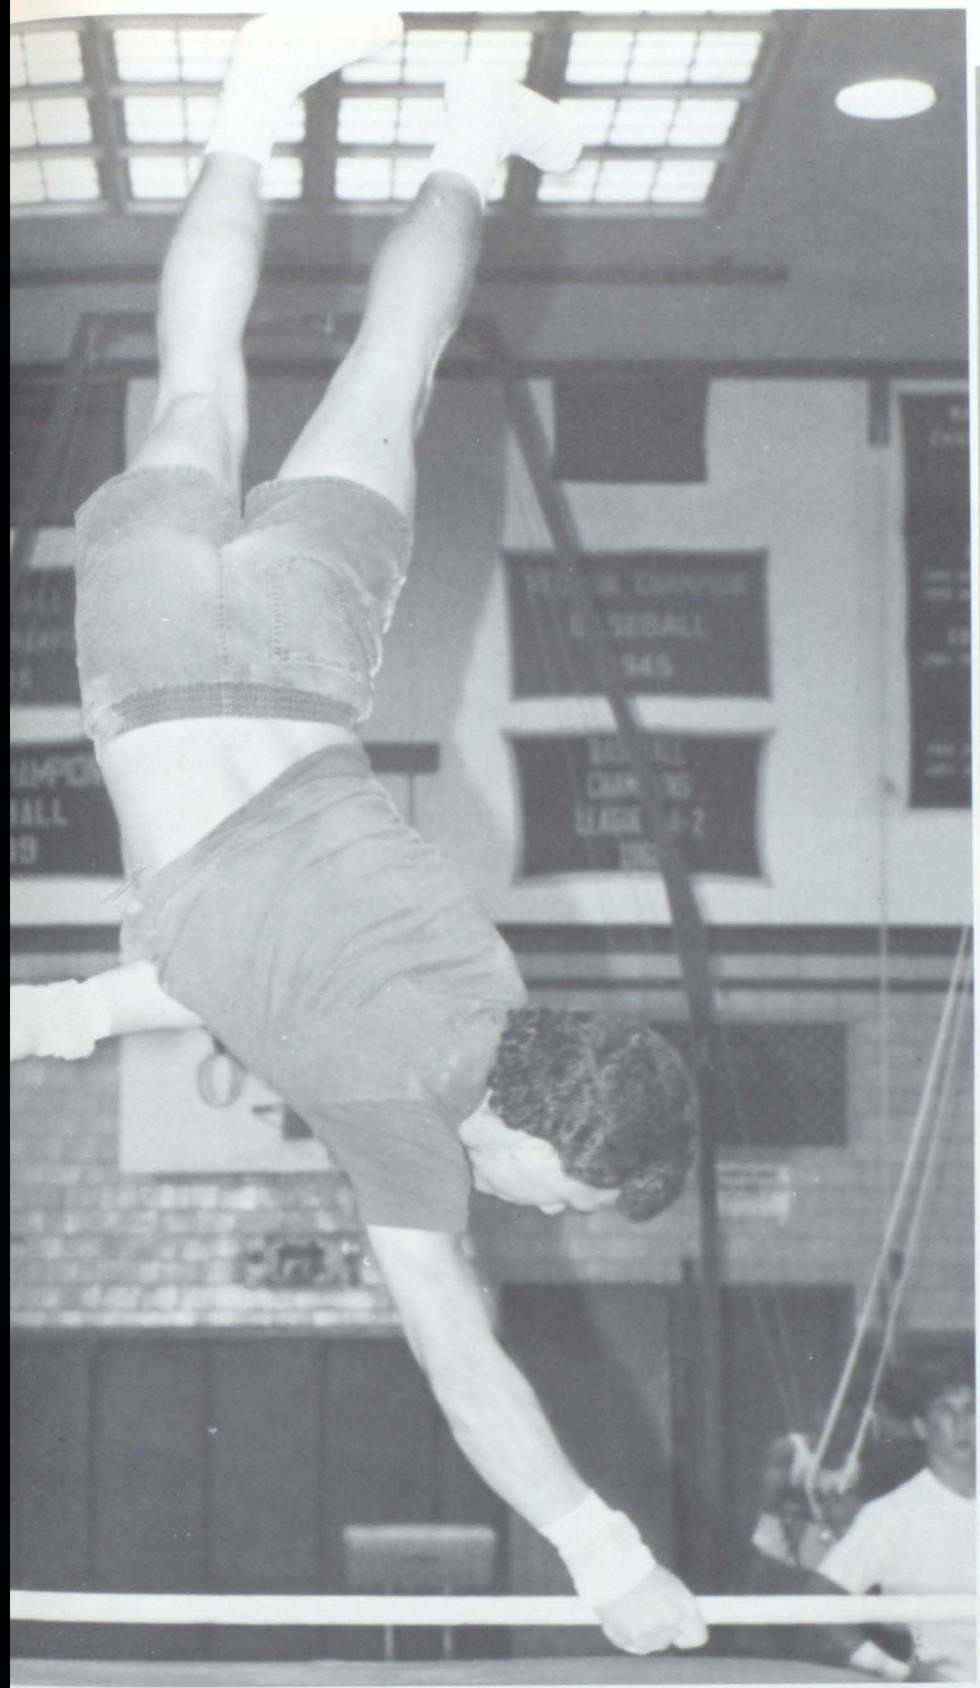

The 1990 boys gymnastics team ended their season on a positive note this year. Led by senior co-captains Joe Jackowski, Steve Silipo, and seniors Stephen Kraft, Paul Cesario, Frank Zammetti, and Phil Gianetto, the Bay Shore Gymnastics team finished a respectable third place in Suffolk County, fourth in New York state, and for the first time in ten years qualified as an All-American team. Outstanding performances were executed by juniors Marty Golden, Jesse D'Elia, Steve Garcia, Matt Siben, Pat Niebling, and sophomores Diallo Powell and Keith Kastner. Freshman Scott Golder also showed signs of talent for the future. The team's success is attributed to the hard work of coaches, Mr. J. Pfeffer and Mr. E. Dunton, and the dedication of the team as a whole.

BOYS' SOCCER

A Soccer Tradition

Soccer in Bay Shore has been a popular sport for a number of years. Players who began with the Bay Shore League as children have remained with the sport throughout their school years. Some of the players, like senior Robert Murray, have gone on to playing soccer for select travel teams across the country. As Coach Mr. J. Cody said, "I have been constructing this team for a number of years." With the number of years that some of his players have been involved in the sport, he had hoped to have a championship team. Team captains, Robert Murray, Rich Paige, and David Knoth, played major roles in bringing the team together.

The J.V. team had a promising group of young and talented players who are anxious to play again next season. Their coaches were proud of their accomplishments last fall and are confident that they will lead Bay Shore on to victory in the future.

GIRLS' SOCCER

Dribble, Shoot, Score!

Under the coaching of Mr. F. Pitelli and the leadership of captains Christine Anderson, Kathy Kuhlman, and Shelley Kutin, the Varsity Girls' Soccer team had a fun-filled and exciting season. Although the team had many strong players and even two girls who made All' County, Denise Owen and Christine Anderson, the season's record was not as good as had been hoped. But the girls never lost their spirit and determination.

The J.V. team, on the other hand, had an outstanding season! With a relatively young team, consisting of freshmen and a few returning players, this team ended its season with a 16-1 final record. The girls certainly knew the meaning of pulling together and are looking forward to doing even better next year.

CROSS COUNTRY

Running that Extra Mile

This year's cross-country team, led by coach Mr. R. Goldin, has had an exceptionally good season. For the fifth consecutive year the team has become league champs and has won the conferences the last four years. As if these achievements were not enough, they also finished second in the county qualifying them for the state meet. Seven members of the Varsity girls team had an experience they will never forget. They went to Syracuse to run in the most important meet of the season. Despite the pouring rain, their running ability was not impeded, and the girls placed tenth.

Chante Daily and Emily Germano, both in the seventh grade, were recruited by Mr. Goldin for the Varsity team because they are both extremely talented runners. Along with Kristen Kroger and Danielle Morello, they made the All-Star team this year.

Bumping, setting, hitting, and spiking are what the sport of volleyball is all about. Bay Shore's boys have all the right moves to bring the team through a successful season. A relatively new sport at the High School, volleyball isn't wasting any time growing into a popular sport that Bay Shore can be proud of. According to coach Miss. E. Eckman, "Boys' volleyball has a bright future in Bay Shore." Captains Steve Carroll and Doug Rosener did a terrific job of pulling the team together and helped spur the team on to success."

GOLF

Eagles, Birdies, and Pars

With the return of all the members from last year's squad, the golf team was determined to make its mark this season. With the help of Mother Nature and her better than average temperatures, the team was able to perform better than it had in the past few years. Dressed in casual clothes, the team departed for neighboring golf courses at the end of each day ready to play another sixteen holes and practice their shots. Jamison Skala, the captain who made All-League, and a host of other players, who ranked in the top thirty players in the league, helped the team to finish in second place with a record of 7-5. Although next year's team will bid farewell to the first and second men, Coach Mr. T. Ford feels that the remaining players still have plenty of potential and he looks forward to another season with them next year.

The ball stood near the rival team's goalie's feet. Bay Shore passed and then pushed to make a goal, and it was a score!

With few returning players and a handful of novices, Coach Miss. K. Kauer had her work cut out for her at the beginning of the field hockey season. To get the team into shape to play would be a difficult feat, but one which was accomplished through perseverance.

The team's spirit was high with the help of Casey Leggio, who was not only one of the four captains but also the high scorer for the team with a goal in almost every game. The 1990 girl's Varsity Field Hockey team showed enthusiasm throughout the season and ended the year with four wins, two losses, and six ties.

CHEERLEADING

Cheering with Success

The Bay Shore Varsity Cheerleaders, under the superior coaching of Mrs. D. Kaplar, had a very long season this year. Unlike most fall sports, cheerleading started during the second week of summer, when the team attended summer camp and continued right through the spring. During this busy season there were many games, competitions, and fund-raising activities.

At summer camp, the cheerleaders learned intricate stunts, cheers, dance routines, and jumping skills, along with communication and trust skills. One of the cheerleaders, Joann Phifer, was nominated NCA All-American and had a chance to go to the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. At the last camp evaluation the cheerleaders won the mega-spirit award, a spirit stick, and the superior ribbon.

In between football and basketball seasons, the cheerleaders attended competitions, and this year hosted a competition of its own at our school, in which our team scored the highest out of all the varsity teams.

An easily observable change on the squad this year was its new white uniforms. The fund-raising for these uniforms began over the summer with activities that included a car wash, bracelet and ice cream sale, and a yard sale.

As the cheering season came to an end, the squad started preparing for a regional competition at Great Adventure and getting ready for another year at summer camp.

BASKETBALL

Shooting Its Way to the Top

With seven players returning from the 1989-90 County Championship team the boys' Varsity basketball program was once again expected to be a serious contender in the 1990-91 season. Although the team struggled early on in the non-league schedule, as can be seen by their 1-4 start, they rebounded strongly to win 11 straight games and once again earned the respect of league and county opponents. Much of the team's success was owed to standout sophomore Gary Williams, who as one of the top big men on Long Island averaged 23 points per game, and the superb outside shooting of Jayson Townsend, who averaged an impressive 20 points per game. The fine play of these two underclassmen, combined with the solid play of seniors Craig Brewer, Ron Hill, and Rawle Howard, helped propel Bay Shore to another excellent season. Highlights of the season included a come-back victory at Smithtown East, the toughest league rival. Bay Shore trailed by 13 points at the end of the third quarter and rallied back to take the win and insure a repeat of the League III title. The team, built on an explosive offense and a fierce, pressing defense, made an impressive showing in the playoffs and a serious run for the County title.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Vim and Vigor

The intensity and the excitement of seeing the basketball beating to the floor is awesome. Speeding bodies charging up the court toward the net filled every game with excitement and tension. The Varsity team, led again by Coach Mrs. L. Holoman, with senior captains Sebrina Jones and Karleen Duval, had a great season with a 6-6 record. The girls worked hard in order to achieve this success.

The Junior Varsity team, coached by Mr. F. Pitelli, had many new incoming freshman players. The girls showed great team effort and spirit. Many of these players are looking forward to playing basketball in the future.

Both of the girls basketball teams exhibited outstanding performances throughout the season.

WINTER TRACK

Running with the Wind

The girls' and boys' winter track teams were very lucky to have an unusually warm winter this year. This gave them the opportunity to have a lot of, hard practices outdoors.

Under the guidance of Coaches Mr. R. Goldin and Mr. W. Estes, they were able to place very well in the league and conference championships. Captains Diane Sullivan and Cathy Richards helped the girls' team to reach the full potential. Also, James Dolny and Arthur Henry led the boys' team to a very successful season. The whole team gave lots of positive advice and a great amount of support to each other.

With many of the enthusiastic team members returning next year, the coaches see a lot of potential for another outstanding season.

The opponents stared coldly into each others' eyes, testing and waiting for the perfect time to dodge at each other. Both were anxious to pin each others' shoulders to the mat. Suddenly a cheer broke from the audience as the match intensified. Inevitably, one emerged as the victor.

With dedication and hard work, the captains, Steve Silipo and Steve Kraft, led the Bay Shore wrestlers into another successful year. This year's team was composed of several freshmen who gained valuable experience with every win and defeat. With each match, they achieved a higher level of accomplishment. Freshman Scott Golder, who has been considered to be a quite talented wrestler, said, "Wrestling is a test of strength and agility. With a strong squad of underclassmen, I have no doubt we can continue the Bay Shore winning tradition." Coach Mr. R. Rosener looks forward to coaching his returning players into another award-winning season next year.

BOWLING

No Gutter Balls!

Studies have shown that America's favorite recreation sport is not football or baseball. It is bowling. For many years now, bowling has been the sport that has attracted attention from players on rainy afternoons through a variety of community and school leagues. The anticipation felt when watching the ball roll down the alley seconds after it has been released from your own hand and the exhilaration felt when all pins are knocked down for a strike are unequalled in the world of participation sports. Of course, Bay Shore High School has its own entry in this exciting world. The bowling team, led by coach Mr. J. Morrison, takes to the alleys in search of the elusive strike. Led by seniors Dave Stack and Frank McHugh, the team was enthusiastic about its chances against formidable opponents in the extremely competitive league. Win or lose, the team always made sure to have a good time.

Student Athlete Leaders

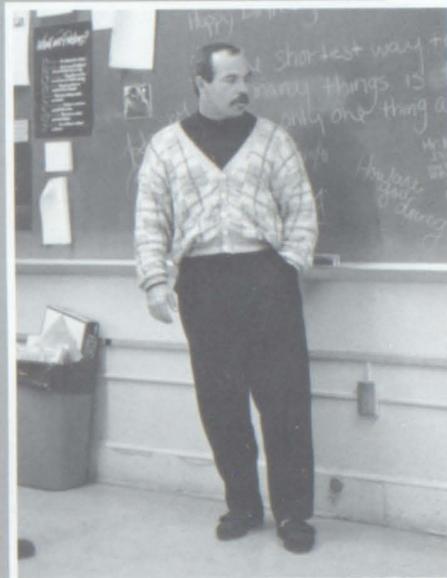

Making a Difference

The two year-old Student Athlete Leadership Program is an organization which benefits not only our school but also our community. The students are dedicated to teaching their peers and younger, less-experienced elementary students the effects of drug and alcohol abuse. Their main objective is to get these students to pledge themselves to remain drug and alcohol free.

The athletes in the organization have distinguished themselves as outstanding students who have proven themselves to be highly motivated and talented both in the classroom and on the playing field. They have demonstrated an interest and ability to work with youngsters and their peers and have been recognized by their teachers, coaches, and classmates for their achievements. Their primary goal is to gain the respect of fifth graders to whom they speak and serve as role models. They give them their help and support and help them to realize that there is an alternative route to drugs and alcohol which lies within the soul of each distinct individual. Under the guidance of Mr. J. McGowan, the students of Athletes Helping Athletes hope to relay this message of peace and abstinence throughout the community.

BOYS' LACROSSE

A Winning Tradition

Lacrosse, the fastest sport on foot, is considered by many to be the most popular spring sport in the High School, a sport with a definite winning tradition. This year was no exception with twelve returning players from last year's team and some very talented newcomers.

The team was led by long time head coach Mr. R. Damore and assistant coach Mr. T. Cox. With the team boasting an all-round squad, the players were looking to become one of the best teams in the County.

This year's J.V. Lacrosse squad, coached by Mr. J. Cody, showed much promise for success with a balanced team and a fast-paced attack. The J.V. team contained some extraordinary talent with high aspirations for next year's varsity team.

BASEBALL

An All-Star Lineup

Baseball is a sport of great strategy, great ability and great overall athletic skill. Players such as Jose Canseco did not succeed without first putting forth a full effort. From the first crack of the bat during spring training, the 1991 Varsity Baseball team coached by Mr. P. Todaro and Mr. D. Maloney looked to be a strong, surprising contender in the race for the Suffolk County baseball title. They were led by a solid infield featuring seniors Larry Torres, Craig Brewer, and Pete Blumenauer, and junior Jim Schneidman. Seniors Tom Fitzpatrick, Tom Finn, Pat O'Boyle, Ron Vigliotta, and junior Jerry Dambra provided important speed and stability in the Bay Shore outfield. A dynamic pitching staff consisting of Blumenauer, Brewer, Dambra, and Finn, stood tall on the hill, blowing away the competition with an array of blazing fastballs and perplexing curveballs. On the receiving end of this battery was senior catcher, Keith Kaczynski.

With ten veterans and ten rookies, the team planned on a fantastic season, through the playoffs and into the county tournament.

The Junior Varsity team, coached by Mr. V. Agoglia also look to attain such lofty goals. Ranked as one of the best JV teams on Long Island over the last four years, the squad had unquestionable talent.

SOFTBALL

Runs, Hits, and Errors

The girls' softball team set out to leave its mark on sports history. Led by seniors, Amy Jao, Laura Merenda, and Darlene Anderson, the team routed its most formidable opponents. Coming off a very successful 16-7 season, a second place finish and their eighth consecutive playoff appearance, the girls remained quietly optimistic. The league championship was one of the primary goals for this year's team. In the words of Coach Mr. J. McGowan, "The girls have pride in themselves and each other, due to their hard work and commitment."

The team had a nice blend of veterans and newcomers. The team was inspired by the successes of Co-captain and M.V.P. Amy Jao, the only player in League III to earn all-county status.

She led the team in most offensive categories. Her fellow Co-captain Darleen Anderson handled the catching duties and was ranked one of the top players in the County.

The girls were quite pleased with their success following the 1991 season "because they were willing to sacrifice and work hard and to establish very achievable goals," stated Coach McGowan.

BOYS' TENNIS

Following the Pros

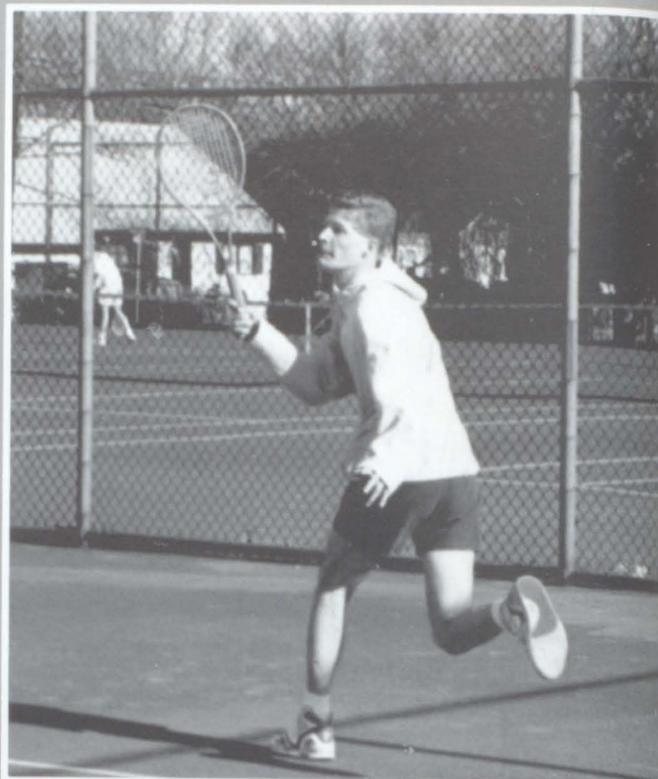

Serving up aces that would make John McEnroe proud, the Bay Shore High School Varsity Tennis Team embarked upon another thrilling season. Under the instruction of head-coach, Mr. J. Morrison, the team experienced a memorable year. After months of inactivity, the players worked to build up their agility and strength. From drills to actual practices on the court, the players strived to achieve ultimate success. Led by Captain Brian Moynihan, the team proved tough despite the pressure throughout the season.

Coached by Mr. C. Jones, the Junior Varsity team showed great promise as it opened the season with intense optimism. The aspiring young athletes hoped to play well enough to gain a berth on the Varsity squad once the seniors have graduated.

Following in the footsteps of such notable young professionals as Andre Agassi, Pete Sampras, and Micheal Chang, these players are ready to conquer the world of tennis.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

Marauder Magic

With its exposure every four years during the olympics, volleyball has grown to become one of America's most popular spectator and participation sports. In keeping with the sport's growing popularity, Bay Shore High School has its chapter in this excitement filled sport.

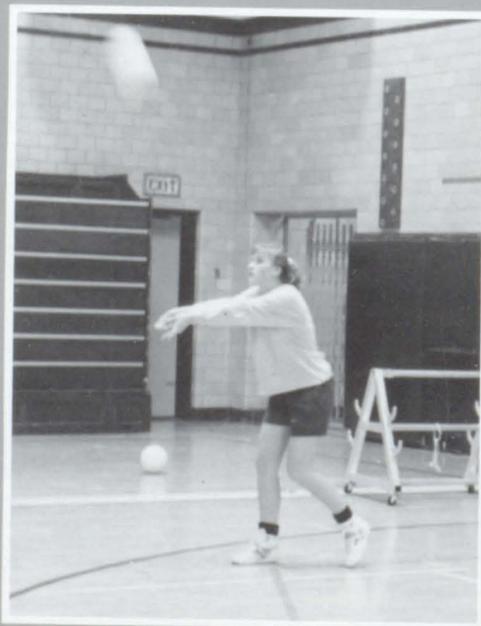

The Bay Shore Girls' Varsity and Junior Varsity Volleyball teams experienced another successful season. After being named League III Champs last year and being seated fourth in Suffolk County, the Varsity team thrived on the glory of the previous season and regained its title. Hard work, determination, and dedication are a clear symbol of this team. With the leadership of Captains Denise Owen and Kathleen Kuhlman, the year was filled with memorable victories. With only four returning players, the team became one with each other under the coaching of Ms. E. Eckman.

The J.V. team led by Coach Mrs. B. Kane demonstrated talents as they showed great promise with every victory. Looking forward to becoming members of the varsity squad, the girls strived to achieve their goal.

This year's squad was seen running through the streets of downtown Bay Shore trying to get back into condition after the long winter. With their daily workouts they were in the best condition of their lives and were ready to take on all of the competition. Under the leadership of coaches Goldin, Miller, Imbro, Hawkins, and McGlynn the squad of over fifty-five runners looked forward to another outstanding season.

GIRLS' LACROSSE

The Real Thing!

Despite some teasing, and discouragement, the girls finally managed to start a lacrosse team of their own. With many positive attitudes and a great deal of determination, the girls expected to advance even further than predicted. Under the guidance of Coach Mrs. A. Hornowski and Coach Mr. J. Pfeffer, the girls have picked up the skills rapidly and are looking forward to out maneuvering their opponents. Although the rules are different from the well-known boys' lacrosse, the girls believed that the form of the sport they exhibit is closer to the Native American roots of the game and is, in fact, the REAL thing.

BARBELL CLUB

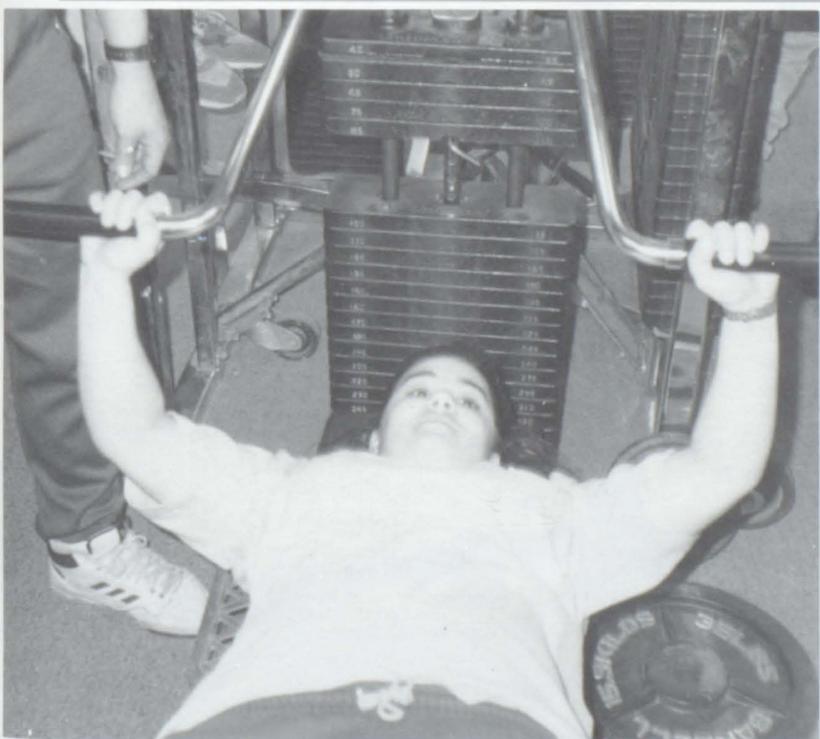

Weightlifting Champions

One of the more active rooms in the building, especially during lunch periods, is the weightlifting room on the first floor. Here students and staff meet daily to pump up and develop their bodies. Both males and females participate in this activity as they work to tone up their muscles and maintain good physical fitness. The highlight of the year is the annual weightlifting competition held each winter. Students compete to see how much weight they can lift and press. There are divisions based on competitors' sexes and weight classes. The activity is coordinated by Mr. J. McGowan and is enjoyed by spectators and participants alike.

Pulling Together

As another year at Bay Shore High School comes to an end, the staff of the MARAUDER bids a fond farewell to the members of the class of '91. By working together throughout all the years of their schooling in Bay Shore, these students have learned what can be accomplished by hard work and a spirit of camaraderie. The staff of your yearbook hopes that you will continue to enjoy this year's book long after the year has ended and the graduates have gone their way to college or the business world. The stories, photographs, and feature articles all have a message to tell of another outstanding year in the classrooms and on the ballfields. Year after year Bay Shore continues to hold its position in providing its students with the best possible environment for learning.

The staff of the yearbook, too, has learned the importance of pulling together as the members have learned the difficulty of meeting deadlines and working harmoniously to plan and organize another award-winning book. Publishing a 208 page journal of what life is like here at the High School is not an easy task, but through perseverance, cooperation, and dedication the staff members have risen to the occasion. The yearbook office is actually a microcosm of the real world. Pressures can be handled, and seemingly impossible feats can be accomplished when everyone "Pulls Together".

Colophon

The 1991 Marauder was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas under the supervision of Mr. Neil Sanders, our Taylor representative. Photographers, Doug Brehm and Dave Lamb, from Riviera Studios in Bay Shore took all of the official photographs and senior portraits while Greenberg-Biello did the underclassmen pictures. The cover is printed on white lithocote with maroon lettering and Birch endsheets. 625 copies of the 208-page book which includes two color signatures and one four-page full-color tip-in on #80 matte stock were printed. A student supplement will be added to the book to cover the closing activities of the year. The standard type used was Garamond, which was submitted on diskette by utilizing Taylor's Type Vision and Directory Vision Software Programs. This is a student publication under the direction of Mr. Joseph B. D'Antoni and Mrs. Carol Ann Jones.
