Breaking New Ground . . .

As the world prepared for the beginning of a new millenium, it was faced with many new challenges. The first challenge was to decipher the Y2K riddle which was successful due to public concern around the world. The world broke new ground in the fields of science and technology also. Through scientific research, there were many advancements in the treatments of A.I.D.S., Multiple Sclerosis, and Cancer. Changes in medication and treatments allowed people with such ailments to live longer, more productive lives. Improvement in technology was apparent in the fact that a great majority of the world was already centered around the information superhighway.

Not only did the global community experience ground breaking events, but the Bay Shore community broke new ground as well. With the help of the beautification committee, Main Street was revitalized with new stores, local meeting places, shopping complexes, and the Bay Shore Aquarium. All of these changes were designed to accomodate the growing population of Bay Shore in the new millenium.

In an effort to prepare for the future, the High School underwent many ground breaking improvements also.

In the area of academics, students faced more challenging requirements in order to graduate. This was apparent with the elimination of the local diploma. Bay Shore High School also added new challenging courses to allow students to further their education to prepare them for the Twenty-First Century. Included among these were extra writing labs and an advanced science project course. As the needs and requirements for the students changed so too did the campus. While it retained the facade of a 1940's school, the inside was prepared to meet the needs of future generations of students. Both cafeterias were repainted and modernized for more efficient food service. The library was changed into a state-of-the-art learning center with more computer access and a more modern atmosphere. Even the athletic fields and facilities were re-conditioned and improved.

As man looked with hope and anticipation upon the dawning of the new millennium and the challenges that came with it, Bay Shore faced the future with confidence, ready to go above and beyond its previous accomplishments to break new ground and clearing new paths for future generations.

A GROUND BREAKING OPENING DAY!

While students on Long Island sat and listened to the usual opening day statements from administrators, the High School staff and students sat and awaited the arrival of First Lady, Mrs. Hillary Clinton. Would she really fly all the way from Washington, D.C. to MacArthur Airport to address the high school students?

As the First Lady of the United States stepped onto the auditorium stage, the anticipation ended, and she was greeted with smiling faces, clapping hands, and cheering students. Mrs. Clinton spoke of Bay Shore schools' achievements and excellence in education and teaching. She clearly and directly answered assorted questions from the staff, students, and community members. After her speech in the auditorium, she made a stop in the gymnasium to greet the remainder of the students who were patiently awaiting her arrival. There the marching band played and the cheerleaders cheered as a welcome to her.

It was an unforgettable opening day to set the tone for the school year of the new millennium! It was a ground breaking day for the students and the entire staff to have Mrs. Hillary Clinton at Bay Shore.

Spirit Breaks New Ground

For the last Spirit Week of the millennium, the classes engaged in a fearsome battle to win spirit points and earn a class picnic. Students wore crazy shirts and colorful ties and wore a variety of costumes, impersonating popular celebrities.

The week's activities ended with a glowing bonfire and pep rally. Everyone enjoyed the barbeque, cooked by staff and advisors, while the marching band and color guard performed. The blazing bonfire roared into the cool night air raising everyone's spirits. By the time students entered the auditorium for the pep rally, they were all fired up to show their support for their favorite teams and cheerleaders.

The following day, students and community members lined the streets for the Homecoming Parade as it made its way to the High School. The game ended in defeat, but spirits remained high as students witnessed the crowning of the Homecoming king and queen. As Bay Shore broke new ground heading for the twenty-first century, it clung tightly to its many special traditions.

Opening

From the moment that the class of 2000 entered kindergarten, people have talked about the class that would be the first to graduate in the new millennium. They have conjectured about the challenges and changes that they would face in their lifetimes. Would they be ready for the age of technology that lay ahead? Would they be adequately prepared for the new standards being imposed by the State? The time has arrived when these students will be leaving the hallowed halls of Bay Shore High School to take their places in the world of computers, technology, and scientific research. As they eagerly awaited their graduation, they made their plans for college and future vocations. The events they anticipated as underclassmen, such as the magical thrill of the prom and the excitement of the Senior Fashion Show are now just memories of nights during their high school careers. As they took their final glance at the concrete steps and the brick walls of the front of the building, they will recall all of the memories locked behind the doors and in their hearts.

Bay Shore's Best

Every year, Bay Shore athletes set certain standards of excellence in their sports and it seems that every year these standards are raised. Everyday records are made and broken as times get faster and winning streaks grow longer. Teams develop individual all-stars and winning traditions as they train long and hard all year round. Try-outs and practices begin long before the first day of school and extend far into the school year. Teams break new ground each day as they introduce new strategies and even new players to insure success in their competitive leagues. Coaches are constantly coming up with new, inspiring speeches to enable their players to be successful in all they do; and they are! Not only are the Bay Shore athletes some of the most talented in the state, they are also scholars.

With this unique mix of talent and intelligence, Bay Shore High School athletes have what it takes to succeed in all they do and to insure that Bay Shore's winning traditions will carry into the new millenium.

Slam Sensation

The boys' Varsity Basketball team broke new ground this year and had a great group of players as well. The team captains, Roland Webber, and Cory Hinnant both averaged close to 20 plus points a game as they led their team to new heights of success. Each and every game, both the JV and Varsity players took the court with pride, knowing that they were ready to give it their all. The Varsity Basketball team played the best teams on Long Island, and with few exceptions, demolished all competition.

Coach Mr. K. Parham was looking to continue the success he has had in the past, and he knew that with such a dedicated and hard-working group, this task would not be very hard. The effort displayed from every team member during both practice and games gave everyone who was involved with the teams, including the fans, a sense of extreme pride of what Bay Shore Basketball is all about.

The JV9 and JV squads also had very successful seasons. The teams' fast-paced play left many teams in the dust. JV captains, Chris Bamfo and C.J. Southerland, had exceptional individual seasons and their excellent personal performances led the team to many victories.

With many young, returning players, the basketball team was sure to remain a force to be reckoned with in the years to come.

Nothin' but Net

Swish was the noise that was made when the ball went into the net without touching the rim. As the girls' basketball team practiced long hours to move toward excellence and reaching its goal of achieving a winning record, Ms. F. Schimdt, the Varsity coach, gave confidence, pride, and inspiration to be used in the games. Captains Shidah Jenkins, China Pinkney, and Taniesha Odom, always encouraged and supported their teammates in practices as well as in games. With a very successful season, Makeda Anderson, leading scorer for the Varsity team, played well in each game giving the team a good record. Coach Schimdt said, "The girls worked hard and worked very well together. They were a great group of girls."

The JV team coached by Ms. W. Smith stated that, "These girls are one of the nicest groups of girls to work with. They came along great and worked very well together."

No matter what the outcome of the season, the girls gave everything they had in each and every game, proving that these Bay Shore athletes were both talented and hard working.

Pinning Perfection

Have you ever wondered why you never saw the wrestlers practicing in the High School? Well, that's because they didn't. Their practices were held at the Fifth Avenue School in the basement- also known as the wrestling room. For three hours, over thirty wrestlers, the largest group ever, were cramped into a small, sweaty room to test their strength and practice their moves and holds. The guys remained enthusiastic, and went into all their meets and tournaments with open minds. Under the coaching of Coach Mr. M. Porcelli, Coach Mr. J. Leggio, and Coach Mr. P. Fusco, these three teams, Varsity, JV and JV2 all worked hand in hand to achieve their success. Coach Mr. P. Fusco was new to the coaching this year, and he was a former county champ of Bay Shore.

This season the wrestlers hoped to maintain the tradition of excellence in Bay Shore wrestling. They were proud every time they stepped onto the mat because they knew that they were going to be giving it their all. The teams attitude was their own advantage. "It's an honor to be a Bay Shore wrestler. You put on your uniform, wrestle hard and with pride," said Coach Mr. M. Porcelli.

This year the teams placed second and third in their tournaments where they competed with other teams from around the Island. The coaches were very proud of the hard work and effort shown by the teams.

The Will To Win

"Whether in rain, snow or just about any weather, the only thing keeping the track team from getting on the track was lightning," said girls' captain Boogie Germano. As a result of the teams hard work and efforts the boys had two ground breaking performances. Keldon Walker broke the school record for the 600 meter race running a brilliant 1:24.3. At the Suffolk Coaches' Invitational, Frank Malpigli had a phenomenal performance when he broke his holding record of 9:39 by running a dashing 9:28 in the 3200 meter race which ranked him second in the nation. The boys had made a name for themselves due to the encouragement and hard work of their couches Mr. J. McGlenn and Mr. R Dagnan.

The girls also did very well in their competitions, taking first in the 4x400 at the Dartmouth Invitational and in both the 4x400 and 4x800 at the Zetler Relays. They totally demolished the competition.

Coach Ms. M. Waring expressed tremendous confidence in her team. "This team is one of the most talented group of athletes I have ever seen."

The Bay Shore track team broke new ground, broke new records, and ensured that it will always be remembered for its pride, dedication, and standard of excellence.

Super Strikers

Rumble, Rumble, Rumble, BOOM. That was the sound of the bowling ball going down the lane and ripping through the head pin. The members of the Bowling Team showed their strengths once again this season by showing the other towns of Long Island that they were not a team that they could easily count out.

Arriving at the AMF Bay Shore Lanes with their equipment and a new coach, alumnist Mr. A. Cantore. Mr. Cantore utilized the skills he learned from his previous years as a Bay Shore bowling team member to help guide the team and utilize each of their strengths.

Even with the change of leadership, the team still astounded the other teams time and again. Their record stayed the same as other years, but this time the team won a game against the top seeded team in the county, Middle Country. They also managed to beat out Connetquot, taking two of the three games to win the match. The team felt that they became better as they strung strikes and spares together near the end of the games.

"The team was great this year, we showed the county that we couldn't be looked over," said Kenny Hosek, a team member.

Stroking to Success

The girls' high school swim team went for the gold while stroking to success. The team consisted of three Bay Shore students, Peggy Cihlar, a senior and four year veteran of the team, Shannon Daly, a sophomore, and Brittany Daly, an eighth grade Middle School student. The three girls went all over Long Island to compete as "independent" swimmers representing our district in competitions. In order to compete the girls needed to meet certain requirements by having a minimum of twelve practices under their belt before they were eligible. If the girls met these standards of twelve varsity practices, they then had to place in six out of seven meets to be eligible to compete in the county championships. "The team came a long way in the years it has existed, and we have continued to strive for excellence in the water," remarked Peggy Cihlar. "Our dedication as a team has brought us to new heights," remarked Shannon Daly. The two girls Brittany and Shannon practiced with rival, West Islip High School, and Peggy practiced at Connetquot High School. The practices consisted of 200-500 meter laps and about fifteen minutes of open swim time where the athletes practiced their stroking techniques. Shannon Daly won first place in the 100 yard breaststroke at Eisenhower Park this past November.

"We're small but happy," stated Gymnastics Coach Mr. J. Jackowski about his talented team. The team had only five members, but with their dedication and pride, it seemed like a team with three times that many players. Two new members, junior Eddisbrey Perez, and senior Henry Beriguet, joined the squad this year. These gymnasts had the endurance to get through their season, showing enthusiasm, and teamwork. During their two hour practices, they perfected their routines on the high bar, the parallel bars, the rings, the vault, the pommel horse, and floor exercises. Coach J. Jackowski's goal was to get his gymnasts into the counties. "This season was a vast overall improvement for the team," Coach J. Jackowski stated, "The team had scored much higher than previous seasons, and our averages really improved." Senior captain Elgin Aponte added, "The team may not be large, but we are the hardest working team in gymnastics." He also added, "It has been a fun four years, and I will never forget them." Senior Henry Beriguet remarked, "This team had a lot of potential to achieve our many goals." This talented team showed a lot of dedication and will make new strides to success in the next millennium.

The End of an Era

The boys' soccer teams could be described in one word: determined. The players prepared to break new ground in a tougher league by enduring a grueling practice twice a day in August and equally hard practices throughout the season. As Varsity coach Mr. J. Cody finished his last year of coaching, he physically and mentally strengthened his players through intense training sessions and numerous motivational lectures. "Even though we started off slowly, the varsity team came a long way by the end of the season," said Cody. "It was obvious they progressed a great deal and became a great team that worked well together." The Varsity team faced the challenge of games against many nationally ranked opponents this season. They worked hard, experiencing growth both individually and as a team. The Varsity team closed its season, as Mr. Cody ended an era of coaching, with a tremendous win against Bellport.

The JV squad, under the coaching of Mr. J. Nelson, highlighted its season with a victory over Walt Whitman. The hard work the team endured during the season paid off greatly. "They never gave up. It's been a very tough season, and the boys have given 100 percent of their effort." comments Mr. Nelson.

After each game, both teams left the field with a sense of pride and satisfaction, knowing they had played their best, regardless of the final score. Bay Shore soccer will continue to be a power-house in the new millenium.

Scoring to Success!

As the girls' Junior Varsity and Varsity soccer teams kicked off a new season, they were determined to be successful! They all tried their hardest to work together with new players and a much younger team.

Varsity Coach Mr. K. Pertler said, "The girls didn't quit; they never gave up!" Captains, Amy Flick, Erin Riordan, and Kristie Leggio worked hard to keep the team going and playing strong. "We had a young team this year, and it was unfortunate that we have a new coach every year. In a few years the team will be great!" said Amy Flick.

The Varsity and JV teams both tried their best this year. They practiced six days a week in rain or shine to build their skills. They put tremendous effort into every minute they practiced, always running their fastest and trying their best. The players always put one hundred percent into every practice and game. "They worked like a team, and they have a lot of potential for the years to come," stated JV Coach Ms. M. Cortese. The teams have so much potential for the future because they broke new ground this year by having so many 7th and 8th graders on both teams.

The girls played with pride every game and held their heads high against all competition.

Successfully Stick-ing Together

With a start at midnight, the girls Field Hockey team was off and ready to begin a great new season. For the second year in a row, the girls started practicing before any other team in the county. "Midnight Madness motivates the team to strive for success, and aids in initiating new players," said Coach Ms. K. Kauer. The night before each game, the girls would meet at a player's house and enjoy a pasta dinner, while discussing their plan of attack for the next day's game. Eight new players pushed the team up to twenty-three members. The girls felt confident that they would have a successful season if they stuck together. The team proved to be strong and was second in the league with an 8-3-1 record. They felt they owed their success to having the senior girls lead their team as the captains. The JV team also had a successful season under the coaching of Ms. P. Seebald with many veteran players.

Helping to enhance the play on the field was the sodding of the striking circle. It gave the girls an edge while playing because they felt that with a new field, they had a better chance to break new ground. The teamwork and persistence of the teams made them able to remain on top.

"We are the universe; you are a driver, not a passenger in life." This quote, from the cheerleading coach, Mrs. D. Kaplar, summed up the whole team's perspective on its path to success. The only senior left, captain Nicole Russo, lead the team with junior captain, Jessica Carlo, to its goal of winning first place at LICCA finals and to do a mind blowing performance at the 'Windy City Classic' in Chicago.

Rooting for Marauder football, basketball, and wrestling teams, the Cheerleading Team consisted of only one senior and an eighth grader. With a season that encompassed both the fall and winter, the girls had a chance to strengthen their sister-like bond. Using that to their advantage, along with their choreographer, they came up with spirited dances to perform at school activities such as the pep rally and football games to get the crowds going. Their perseverance and ambition were apparent in their 5:30 a.m. practices held three days a week.

Nicole Russo, Christine Russo, Maggie Meehan, Heather Haag, and Annie Torres all received All-American titles, and the team received the Spirit Award, the Herkie Team Award, the Superior Award, Jump and Motions Awards, and Bid to Nationals. They hoped to continue their success this year. Christine Russo said, "We really have to work hard this year to get where we want to be, and through our hard work and dedication, I believe we will succeed."

Glorious Gridiron

It started in August; it ended in November. It was football season and both Varsity and JV had impressive opening day victories to remember.

Led by veteran coach Mr. T. Cox, the varsity team came out on top in the opening day game against Riverhead. Although they lost the 1999 homecoming game to Copaque, it did not dampen the team's spirits. They came back ready to play and conquered Walt Whitman 27-13 the next weekend. With many returning players, the team was well adjusted and prepared for all the obstacles it encountered. The players were aware of the expectations of being Varsity football players and were determined to set new records.

Following Varsity was the younger Marauder family member, the JV team. Returning as coach, Mr. J. Sagl assisted the boys in their winning season with a record full of wins. Just like the varsity team, the JV members are "family". Coach Sagl felt that this was a great tribute to their season of success.

Great game playing in a year set with new records resulted in awakening the true Marauder Spirit in each player throughout the season. Both football teams strived to break new grounds in more ways than one, new goals and new aspirations for a winning season.

Volleying to Victory

Mixed with beauty and talent, the Bay Shore girls' Tennis team displayed an amazing amount of skill and adaptation after the loss of old, and introduction of new players. Led by coach Mrs. J. Flatley, the team finished the season in second place with a record of eight wins and two losses. The captains of the team were seniors, Molly Finnerty and Gillian Chapman.

In preparation for their great season, the team had to withstand gruelling practices, which included net drills, suicides, and baseline play. These warmups would put any other team on its back but not this one. Bay Shore looked better than ever before, which could be seen in its performance on the court.

When asked for her feelings about this being her senior year, Chapman said, "This was a great way to end my Bay Shore High School tennis career." It can be seen that under the wing of Coach Flatley there was no limit to what the girls' tennis team could accomplish. This year the all league awards were bestowed upon seniors, Molly Finnerty, first singles, Gillian Chapman, first doubles, Katie Caruana, second doubles and Sarah Easley, third doubles.

Spectacular Spiking

With the loss of longtime coach Ms. E. Eckman and many of the top players from last year, the Boys' Volleyball team was faced with much adversity as it entered the season. This, however, only made the team want to succeed more.

In order to prepare both mentally and physically for the season, the team started practicing in late August. The practices usually consisted of spiking drills, followed by a motivational talk about the day's practice. After a few weeks of this training, the team felt that it was ready for any and all of the teams in the county. This was apparent in their performances in the games. They would go all out to keep the ball from hitting the ground, even if it meant diving onto the hard gym floors. However, none of these painful acts of courage could stop them from giving their all, day in and day out.

The Varsity's season was highlighted by two big wins over two top teams in October, Comsewogue and West Islip. When team member Brad Gibbs was asked why he thought the team won, he said, "We just wanted it so much more than they did. We wanted to win."

The players attributed a lot of their success to their new coach, Mr. J. Keene. He was a very dedicated and energetic coach and planned to spread his knowledge of the game to all incoming players to insure a successful team in years to come.

Boys' Volleyball

Pushing the Pace

At three o'clock, the only place to find the devoted members of the cross-country team was training on the busy streets of downtown Bay Shore. Each day the team practiced with ground breaking efforts.

"Their pursuit for excellence was great," said boys' coach Mr. J. McGlynn. The boys established a name for themselves. This was evident in the fact that for the first time, the boys placed at Brown University and came home with the third place plaque. The boys showed great determination and that they were not a team to be reckoned with.

The girls also showed that they meant business. They earned the League Championship title and placed first at Brown University. "They were competitive and wanted to win," said coach Ms. M. "Mushie" Waring. This was unmistakably apparent in the fact that the girls had been titled "The Team to Beat" by Newsday.

These athletes proved that they were not only physically strong but also mentally strong. "We are a family; that's what makes us so great," said girls' captain Margaret "Boogie" Germano. They didn't just run together; they sang together, danced together, hurt together, lost together, and won together. They were a team, and as a team, they went to the Counties and gave it their all.

The golf team kicked the season off with one of the largest number of senior players in the team's history. All members of the team were bursting with confidence, stemming from the amount of experience that they collectively possessed. Practicing daily, the team pushed itself to strive for perfection. Under the guidance of Coach Mr. B. Mahler, the team took the game very seriously. "Every team member knew well that each stroke could mean the difference between winning and losing the match. Each player had the mental focus to push himself accordingly," stated team member Kevin Brennan.

The team played fifteen matches and finished the season with only three losses. Right from the start they realized that they were in for a ground breaking year when they set a new school record, 199 points in their first match against Connetquot. The team finished well, placing third in its division.

The JV team broke new ground in its season as well. The team ended with a record of 11 wins and 3 losses, the highest win/loss record ever for the JV golf. "We have a lot of young talented golfers on our team this year," said Coach Mr. D. McGilvary, "This team has the most potential I've had the pleasure of coaching."

Last year a few girls came up with the idea of starting a school golf team. They formed the girls' varsity golf team because they didn't want to have to join the boys' team. There were also different guidelines and rules in boys' golf that the girls didn't want to have to follow. They recruited the boys' coach, Mr. B. Mahler, who gladly took on the coaching of both teams. Many of these girls had been playing on their own for many years, so they all had a lot of experience behind them.

This year the team consisted of seven seniors and many new freshman members who added to their success. The girls greatly enjoyed their time playing and helped each other to work harder and to improve their swings. Since all of the girls decided that they were all going to work hard as a team, they felt that they didn't need a captain.

The girls practiced at Oakdale driving range and at Gull Haven in Central Islip. They hoped to move up in their ranking from second in the county last year to the number one spot this season.

On the Water

"Ready all Row!" Coxswain Shani Silverman shouted as the Crew Team rowed to victory in the spring of 2000. The season began in the gyms with members, new and old, rowing on what the team called "torture devices," also known as ergometers. In order to make the team list, each candidate for the team must row a 2000 meter piece on the ergometers with a time of nine minutes and under for the boys and ten minutes and under for the girls. Once this requirement was met, Coach Mr. Bill Blackman took the team to Dowling College to row on the blue waters of the Connetquot River. While on the river, the rowers went through an extensive training routine that would get them focused and conditioned so that they would be able to row in synch with each other as a single unit. "I put these kids through a lot of physical training and technique work so that we will be able to represent Bay Shore with pride," said assistant to the coach, Mr. Alex Werner. The Bay Shore Crew Team was back for its third consecutive year and was ready to take New York by surprise after its victory in the Dowling Regatta.

Spiking Spirit

Rachel Brandt works hard to improve her forearm pass.

The girls' Varsity Volleyball team faced many new challenges at the beginning of the season. With only two upperclassmen returning, a whole new group of players had to train to compete on the varsity level. The team was also working with a new coach, Ms. S. DeBonis. Her intention was to set high goals for the girls and build them up to a high level of playing. "I took these young girls and gave them experience to better prepare them for the future," commented Ms. DeBonis. The team worked very hard this year in hopes of once again making it to the playoffs. Despite the new challenges that stood before them, the team members bonded quickly and prepared to work together. "We became very close as a team," said Co-Captain Amanda Amodio. "We had to learn each other's personal style of playing to enable us to work together better."

The Junior Varsity team, coached by Mr. J. Bayer, worked equally hard. The players spent the season learning the basic elements of the game to perfect their playing skills and prepare them for the Varsity team. The spiking and serving skills that both teams worked on and learned brought them success throughout the season.

S-u-c-c-e-s-s!

From the day practice started until the day the season ended, the boys' lacrosse team worked to the point of exhaustion. After last year's strong season, the team hoped to get to the playoffs and do a lot of damage to its opponents. Led by veteran lacrosse coach Mr. Tim Cox, assistant coach Jim Sagl, the team captains Matt Baglio and Jeremy Martinich, the thought of a playoff birth was a reality.

"I believe we have all the pieces of the puzzle to have a winning season," said Matt Baglio. "We have our whole defense returning and many key offensive threats. I believe we can definitely make the playoffs and have a great year." With the team's confidence and pride high, they stormed into the season with a winning attitude.

The team opened its regular season with a 14-1 win over William Floyd High School. Victories over Delaware (26-3), Westhampton Beach (18-2), and Lindenhurst (10-8) boosted the team's confidence even more than it previously had been.

The JV team also had a terrific season despite the fact that most of the players were only freshmen. The players had a chance to grow with experience and improve together not only as individuals but also as a team. With such a young team, victory was almost assured for years to come.

V-i-c-t-o-r-y!

The girls' lacrosse team had one goal and that was to be Number One. The that had become a reality. Through persistence, dedication, perseverance, and hard work, the girls reached the top. "It looks good, it looks like this year we are going to states" said Jessica Valadez. The girls worked very hard to stay in shape, and to perfect their skills. They focused all of their energy into defeating their opposition; even the second seated team in the league. Coach, Mrs. A. Pfeffer, showed her personal dedication to the team and taught the girls to remain strong and never give up. Winning was their ultimate goal. Not only did they push each other they also believed in sticking together, and no matter what happened, whether they won or lost, they walked away knowing they had worked hard. With a team as strong as this one they're sure to win not only at the game but also at heart. So with dedication on their mind's the lacrosse team had proved to be a strong team of women who loved this sport and soulfully devote their biggest efforts into being all they can be.

Grand Slam

Starting from day one, this year's baseball team was totally focused on winning the Suffolk County championship. They had eight seniors leading the team this year, and the thought of a championship season was on everyone's mind.

Everyday at practice the players gave all they had, preparing both their minds and bodies for the grueling season to come. Their practices consisted of numerous throwing drills to improve accuracy and distance, long hours of batting practice, and various conditioning exercises.

"The attitude out here everyday shows how serious we are about succeeding," said star catcher and senior Eric Miller. "Everyone wants to win and wants to win big!" Their performance on the field displayed that attitude. Players dove without concern for their bodies or any discomforts they might have had. In every game, it was always obvious which team wanted to win more.

Not only is this team determined to win, they are also committed to each other. "Our team is more like a family than just teammates," said senior Captain Paul Fischetti. "Most of our team has been playing together for years through Little League and other clubs and this gives us an edge over some of our top competitors."

With dedication, talent, and camaraderie, the baseball teams were assured success both now and in years to come.

Successful Strides

To start off the spring season, the girls had two of the fastest 4x400 and 4x800 meter relays in Suffolk County and the fifth fastest 4x800 meter relay in the nation. "These girls have trained for so long and all of their hard work has paid off. I look forward to taking these girls to Nationals this season," said Coach Ms. M. Waring.

At the Ross Goldin invitational, hosted by the Bay Shore girls track team, the coaches and the parents were able to successfully fundraise, and the athletes gave spectators an exceptional performance. The girls also had a great day at the Longwood relays. Bay Shore was the third highest scoring team and was rewarded with the meet's third place trophy.

The boys' spring season was strong as well. They had one of the fastest milers and 3000 meter runners, Frank Malpigli, and the fastest 600 meter runners, Keldon Walker, in the county. "Our boys are more versatile than they have been in years. We have every event covered decently," said Coach Mr. J. McGlenn. The track teams practiced and worked hard through wind, rain, and cold climates to reach their goals. Each runner was encouraged to stay focused and go for the gold, and that was exactly what Bay Shore did.

Dare to Defeat

Junior captain, Lauren Bettinelli, beats the ball as she comes into third base.

With eighteen years of coaching under his belt, Coach Mr. J. McGowan pushed his team to the limit. The players started off their season with 5:45 a.m. practices before school as well as afternoon sessions. With the help of assistant coaches, Ms. D. Corrado and Ms. K. Harris, these defending county champions led by junior captain, Lauren Bettinelli, worked to defeat their competition. This young team of one seventh grader, four freshmen, three sophomores, four juniors and only one senior, worked to their fullest potential to continue the tradition of Bay Shore Softball. The team was made up of All-American Scholar, All-American Lauren Bettinelli, and other players who received awards such as All-League, All-Conference and All-Tournament. Bay Shore was named Team of the Decade for the ninties, holding nine out of ten league championships and nationally ranked in '93, '97, '98, and '99.

Coach Mr. A. Cantore and assistant Coach Ms. J. Hulse worked to strengthen the foundation of the Junior Varsity team's skills. These girls were motivated by their hope to become an important contributions to the varsity team in the future. Coach Cantore had pride in the work ethic of his team and said, "A single player is like a lonely star; only with the team can they form a beautiful constellation."

Swinging Into Success

After the retirement of the former varsity coach, Mr. John Morrison, the 2000 tennis squad entered into a new dimension of their old winning tradition. This year's team was led by, Mr. John Carney, the former coach of the varsity baseball team.

Through the long practices filled with sprints, drills, and challenge matches, you think that they were training for the olympics. Each match was just as important to the olympics to these players, especially the seniors who wanted to finish their high school career on the top of the division. Senior captain, Drew Arbiter, stated that, "This year's tennis squad is definitely the best one that I have been a part of for my high school career. Each individual player is extremely focused on the aspect of just winning. Mr. John Carney definitely helped that."

Through all of the hard work and time spent by each player during the practices, the team showed great improvement from the first two scrimmages with victories of 7-0, and 6-1 through the entire season. The long runs and tedious practices definitely paid off.

Co-editors Emma Katz and Aisha Muhanar admire the hard work that was put into one of the issues of the school newspaper.

For most students, the day did not end when the final bell rang. They would stay long into the evening to participate in the clubs and activities they enjoyed. Those students who couldn't get enough of reading, writing, and arithmetic during the school day always had somewhere they could go after school to satisfy their interests. Whether it was the Math Team plugging numbers into their calculators or members of the Mock Trial Team practicing for an upcoming court case, life could be found in every nook of the school. No one was left out due to the plethora of clubs to choose from that fit any student's interest. The students made the best of their high school years by becoming involved with the wonderful programs offered. When a student joined a club, it not only looked good on a college application it also built character and helped the student become more responsible while gaining valuable leadership skills. The memories and knowledge from being a member of these activities will last these students for the rest of their lives.

Come Home, Come Home . . .

As the fog rose, the beautiful village of Brigadoon magically appeared. From the first note to the finale, the audience was transported to this mystical town and its romantic story. With lively choreography and the polished voices of the cast, audiences nightly rose to their feet to applaud the endeavors of this talented group.

Under the direction of Mr. J. D'Antoni the cast and chorus were able to capture all of the emotion of this intriguing story. Ellen Shave and Andrew Smith portrayed their roles as Fiona and Tommy so well that audiences thought they were really in love. With Mr. Bicknell's sets, the two hours spent in Brigadoon weren't enough.

It took weeks of hard work and practice with their vocal director, Dr. C. Morrow, and orchestra conductor, Mr. D. Persia to coordinate the sound and music. With authentic choreography by Mrs. S. Brenner, a bagpipe band, and a candlelit wedding scene, "Brigadoon" provided first class entertainment for all.

The Sound of Music

The String Ensemble spent the year learning and playing the music of famous composers such as Bach, Corelli, and Handel. The musicians studied many genres of music; from classical pieces like the "Brandenburg Concertos" to more abstract pieces like the theme from "Psycho." Baroque and Jazz were also part of their repertoire. The String Ensemble strived to get further than any other group before. To achieve that goal, the String Ensemble auditioned for the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center. In addition, conductor Mr. R. Burns planned for the Turtle Island String Quartet, a well-known jazz ensemble, to come and work with the String Ensemble to develop their jazz techniques. Mr. Burns said, "This was the best String Ensemble I have worked with in the last several years. I hope to be able to continue to work with such talented students."

Everybody Was Problem Solving

The math team was back for another season of mathematical competitions by putting their brains to the test. In order to be a member of the math team, the new recruits had to go through a series of mathematical problems ranging from sequential one to calculus mathematics. If all went well, the new recruits became known as members and became eligible to compete in the numerous mathematical competitions sponsored by high schools surrounding the hamlet of Bay Shore. The team advisor, Mr. R. Lukaschek, trained the members by challenging them with difficult problems to prepare for their meets. It required a great deal of skill, and the members were those who excelled in trigonometry and geometry. These students have enjoyed competing against other schools and showing off their phenomenal mathematics skills.

Another Openin'

With doors slamming and characters running up and down stairs, the fall production of "Moon Over Buffalo," performed by the Thespian Troupe kept audiences laughing and enjoying themselves. The talented cast of eight thespians kept up the hectic pace from start to finish as they delivered witty lines and double entendres. Under the direction of Mr. J. D'Antoni, the students took on the personalities of their characters. Ellen Shave as Charlotte Hay and Sean Sullivan as her husband George sounded like as actual married couple, faced with problems in their marriage and professional careers. Senior, Kai Mc Neil, literally jumped at the commands issued by his employers. The balcony scene, with George entering in the wrong costume, his mother-in-law's (Lauren Scher) surprise appearance, and their daughter's fiance entrance tied up in ropes, provided humor and an exciting climax to the plot.

All the World's A Stage

Every time the door slammed throughout the performances of "Moon Over Buffalo," audiences expected the wall to shake or something to fall, but not on a Bicknell set. The work of the forty-three backstage crew members paid off as the sturdy set withstood all of the actions of the characters and their many entrances and exits. Built from the floor up, it captured the feeling of a green room where actors prepare to go on stage before and during a production. The set was so sturdily constructed that it remained up to be used for the annual senior fashion show and the winter concerts.

Working diligently for the ten weeks before the production, the crew was responsible for building and painting the walls, as well as all of the props used on stage. The backstage crew, under the direction and creative eye of Mr. M. Bicknell, continued to break new ground in stagecraft.

It's Your Move

If the human brain made sounds while functioning, that would be the only sound you would hear during a game, involving members of the award winning Chess Club, advised by Math Coordinator, Mr. R. Lukaschek, Chess, a game that has been around ever since the sixth century, has always been known as a fascinating game of strategy, being played by only those who dare to touch the ivory or onyx. This past year, five students decided to take the dare and became a part of the Chess Club.

With patience and skill, these students competed against several schools in Suffolk that were all part of the Suffolk Chess League. Bill Dahab took first place in the U.S.A. Chess Federation Tournament, in which the members competed throughout the school year.

"Chess can be very dramatic. One move can make the difference between winning or losing," said Mr. Lukaschek.

Members poured into room 100A after school to kick back and relax while playing some killer games. While some students came to play such popular games as Quake II and Half-life, other members took the time to complete their programming assignments and do extra credit work. Other members also came to learn new computer languages out of class, such as BASIC, Pascal, and C++. One member even programmed a web site to help a teacher distribute her grades. Why Follow When You Can Lead?

Future Business Leaders of America was off to a great start this year having a new advisor running the group. Mrs. J. Fevang, the new business teacher, took over the task of breaking new ground to make F.B.L.A. even better for the students. She gave the students more opportunities to fundraise in the community and throughout the school. The money raised was donated to many charities such as Adopt-A-Family. This also gave them the opportunity to learn of the aspects of the business world. F.B.L.A. taught the students about the business field and gave them the chance to experience it.

F.B.L.A. was lucky to have many returning members to help keep the club running smoothly while being head up by their new advisor. President Blair Silverman said, "This group was very productive this year. The members were very committed."

Breaking New Ground

The 1999-2000 Marauder Yearbook broke all kinds of traditions to highlight the events of the millennium and the graduating class of 2000. From cover to cover, the book was filled by the hard working staff of writers and artists with photographs and stories that covered life in Bay Shore at the turn of the century. A special millennium magazine was included in the book, as well as an expanded senior directory. Under the watchful eyes of advisors, Ms. M. Pesco and Mr. J. D'Antoni, the staff worked late afternoons and evenings to meet all of the rigorous deadlines in order to ensure delivery on time. Maintaining its award-winning status was the staff's ongoing challenge. The Creative Writing for Publication and Layout and Design classes worked side-by-side to make the layouts both attractive and interesting. Each section had its own distinct design and look. The staff will continue to break new ground in journalism and layout design for years to come.

Academic Jeopardy

For the Academic Club, led by English teacher Ms. N. Kalter, knowledge is power. Once a month, the club met at Copaugue High School to challenge students from neighboring school districts in intellectual combat through a trivia game called the Quiz Bowl Challenge. Each week the students met to practice answering trivia questions on a variety of topics. They practiced hard to expand their knowledge of subjects such as literature, math, and entertainment in the hope of making it to the championships. As well as competing in the Quiz Bowl, the Academic Club also appeared on News 12's "Long Island Challenge" trivia game show. Through a special sponsor campaign, the members of the club were able to raise money for the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation.

Leader of the Pack

The students in the Student Council started the year with one of the biggest school events, Homecoming. After that they knew that this year would be great. With the help of their advisor, Mrs. C. DiPane, the Student Council tried to help our community in any way possible. They held their annual Thanksgiving Food Drive, which was a tremendous success. With the school's help, they were able to feed forty-one families. The Adopt-A-Family Penny Drive brought Christmas gifts to unfortunate families.

The Student Council brought the school together by decorating and sponsoring dances. They kept the classes in constant competition by awarding spirit points for all of their fund raisers. During their once a month meetings, led by co-Presidents Ellen Shave and Anna Hsiung, the students discussed ideas for new school events. They were the leaders of the pack this year.

There was also a greater emphasis on student polls and timely school news. Most of the staff agreed that besides the occasional computer glitch, the production of the Maroon Echo ran smoothly. "This year has been the most productive one we've had. The editorial staff was very committed to publish a monthly paper," stated Features Editor Shani Silverman.

The staff of the Maroon Echo worked extra long and extra hard to ensure a solid, newsworthy publication.

Who's The B.S.O.S.S

"This year's B.S.O.S.S. members have tremendous potential to do great things. They shall leave behind a legacy to be proud of at Bay Shore High School," stated by B.S.O.S.S. new coordinator Mr. P. Mclean.

The Brothers and Sisters Organization for Student Scholarship had as its main goal to produce scholarships for graduating seniors while participating in fun, diverse and cultural activities such as the Fashion/Talent Show . They kicked off the year with an exceptional performance by the Steppers at the Renaissance Opening Celebration.

"B.S.O.S.S. is for everyone." said senior member Chateau Butler. The members planned an extraordinary year which included breaking new ground by expanding and promoting a more diverse program for the entire school community, not just the members of B.S.O.S.S. All members were committed to giving Bay Shore a year to remember.

You Drink, You Drive, You Die!

"We're just trying to save the lives of not only those who drink but those who get caught in the middle," quoted Sarabeth Cirillo as she made her way to a meeting of a very devoted club called S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) These students came together to discuss how to stop DWI and save lives. Most of them came on their free time to help. The students are the ones who make everything possible and their advisor, Mr. G. Broadhurst, helps them if needed to stop this ever-growing flame for adults and teenagers.

S.A.D.D. has presented their life saving message to the community by participating in the Homecoming Parade, bake sales at Open House, and had a Grim Reaper Day to remember those who die from alcohol related accidents. Because of their efforts, the awareness of DWI is stronger and will continue to grow for years to come.

Riding The Wave

Surf's Up! As soon as the weather permitted, the members of the Surf Club, along with advisor Mr. S. Fandale, hit the beach and suited up for a day of riding the waves. The members of the club knew the thrill and excitement of taking that ride on a surfboard. The members spent their meeting time discussing surfing experiences and swapping stories. They enjoyed each other's company and found the afternoons interesting and entertaining. In addition, they enjoyed the information and personal experiences of their advisor, Mr. S. Fandale, who has been surfing since he was in high school.

Besides their outings on the beach, members of the surf club spent time planting trees and having environmental cleanups. Of their advisor, Jeremy Martinich said, "Mr. Fandale is a great surfer, as well as a cool guy. He can meet us in the line-up and converse with us in school or at the beach."

In God We Trust

The Bible Club was both fun and educational. It gave the members a place to talk about their religion and express their opinions outside of their churches. "This is my third year in Bible Club, and I love coming together and talking about God. It's great meeting people and discussing things about religion. I encourage all to come out and join the group." said Bible Club president, Juliana Ramos.

The members met each week and discussed their beliefs after an opening prayer for their family, friends, and school. Next came a reading of a section of The Campus Journal, a book which contained short stories about how God related to life. Scriptures from the Bible were quoted, and the members gave their opinions and interpretations of them. The meeting ended in a prayer thanking God for another day among other things.

Marauders March Ahead

Music, dedication, and spirit were what the Marauder Marching Band brought to the field this year. The spectacular music they played along with the dance line and the field show they performed at the football games amazed the crowd. This band was so phenomenal that it left everyone in the dust. This year, the Bay Shore Marching Band was broadcasted on television at the Columbus Day Parade and placed sixth. The band has built a reputation due to the discipline the members gained from the instruction of their band director, Mr. T. Scalzo. A band camp has taken place every year in order to get the marching band together to learn all of the songs and field drills. On the first day of school this year, the Marching Band played for our first lady, Mrs. Hillary Clinton. This Marching Band will lead us into the new millennium with more honor and awards to come.

Divas Live

When the school day ended, the sound of beautiful soprano and alto voices was heard streaming from the auditorium doors. The Madrigals, under the advisement of their vocal director Dr. C. Morrow, rehearsed song and dance numbers such as "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" and performed them in front of audiences at Pilgrim State and the Mr. and Mrs. Club. The members of the Madrigals were not only members of the choir, but included females who enjoyed singing and were unable to fit choir on their schedules. The repertoire of the songs included holiday favorites, jazzy tunes and love songs, just to name a few. This group of elite singers was given the opportunity to enhance and develop its singing voices through the extensive vocal training they received. The melodious sounds impressed their audiences at school concerts and will continue to do so for years to come.

All That Jazz

The Hip Katz was composed of students who wanted to take their jazz music to the next level. To be selected the students had to pass a rigorous screening and auditioning process. The Hip Katz, directed by Mr. John Mendolia, played a variety of different songs from the swing era when swing and bebop music were at their peak. Included in its repertoire are "Spain" and "Basie Straight Ahead." Commitment from everyone in the band was vital for the group to achieve its big band sound. The bands' hard work and success brought them to Break New Ground. On February 12, the band attended the annual SCMEA Jazz Day which featured All County Jazz members, Jon Pereira and Jeff Green. Once again the band received accolades from the judges for its outstanding performance.

The High School broke new ground by offering several new after school clubs and activities to meet the interests and needs of the students. Among the new clubs was the Creative Writing Club, organized by English teachers, Mr. M. Pasca and Mr. J. Nelson. The club was founded on the premise that there were many writers who wanted to expand their minds and ideas and explore the deep connection between writing and life. The members of the club enjoyed the warm, friendly atmosphere in which they were able to write, explore ideas, and share their writing with the peers and teachers. Many of the writers are aspiring journalists who would like to pursue careers in writing or who write for the enjoyment of expressing themselves on paper. Jay Hansen stated, "Creative Writing Club is a great way to get your poetry out into the minds of others and to realize how powerful writing can be."

Web Wizards

The school broke new ground by arriving on the world wide web this year thanks to the talented and dedicated members of the Web Design Team.

Members met in the Theory Lab under the guidance of Mr. T. Scalzo to establish the school's presence on the Internet. The team had a tremendous amount of financial support from the district to help get the site up and running. The lab was outfitted with two high tech Apple Macintosh G3's, a digital camera, a digital video camera, and the latest software to help maintain the site. The team added many new features to the site, such as a teacher database which has a picture and a list of courses that the teacher teaches. They also added a Guidance site which contains important information to help students choose their colleges and assist with advice for the SATs. The team looks forward to adding many new features over the coming years.

Respect Yourself, Protect Yourself

The A.I.D.S Educators' Program boasted many outstanding accomplishments throughout the year. Students who went through an ongoing training program were able to offer assistance and advice to their peers about the possible consequences of engaging in unprotected sex. Conferences and counseling sessions were held in the strictest confidence so that the Educators could render the most assistance. In addition, the A.I.D.S. Educators conducted programs and presentations at the Middle School to inform students of the dangers and risks. At weekly evening meetings, the members listened to presentations from guest speakers and developed new strategies to bring their message to the student body.

"It feels good to know that we are teaching the next generation about this incurable disease," said educator John Zuhoski. Hopefully in the new millennium, scientists will be able to find a cure for this disease.

History in the Making

"Four score and seven years ago," Lincoln's famous words from the "Gettysburg Address" which will live in people's minds for eternity, was just one of the many topics covered by the History Club this year.

The club, under the guidance of Mrs. C. DeJose, participated in competitions which were debates and contests at Great Neck High School. The debates focused on topics from Long Island History to the Korean War. The team broke new ground by entering a New York State competition called "History Day" for the first time. The team had to prepare a skit along with an essay about New York State history. The main effort of the club was to create essays which could win scholarships and other prizes. One of the more important essays, which was about the Korean War, had a prize of a trip to Korea. "I liked working on the history essays," said Juliana Ramos. "It gave us a good opportunity to win scholarships."

Head of the Class

One of the ways that students received recognition for their academic successes, in addition to the Renaissance program and honor rolls, was by induction into the National Honor Society. As a requirement, students needed to maintain a high G.P.A. and receive recommendations from their teachers. Following their induction, the students then became involved in a series of community activities. Students volunteered their time and service to a tutoring program for underclassmen. They coordinated the annual food drive at Thanksgiving to help less fortunate families within the community, and they also participated in the Adopt-a-Family program at Christmas to supply gifts to needy families.

According to Advisor, Mr. G. Schechter, Honor Society members were not only part of a national organization but they proved their dedication and commitment to their community on a local level as well.

Professionals at Work

"Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth so help you God?" Talk about a challenging question, but that would only have been the beginning of many questions asked of members of Mr. Richardson's Moot Court Club.

A Club that has done only the most exciting and intense cases, Moot Court has given students the opportunity to appear as witnesses, attorneys, and judges in a courtroom setting. Just like real attorneys, students spent hours upon hours learning about the law and preparing for their chance to take a case. Dressed in their finest of courtroom attire, these future lawyers wasted no time going to trial.

Whether the students acted as the attorney for the defense or the attorney for the plaintiff, they wasted no time putting people on the stand. These well-prepared students were able to withstand everything from being questioned as key witnesses by the prosecution and defense.

Court's in Session

As the judge took his place on the bench and the court was called to order, the lawyers started to argue their cases as the adrenaline started to run wild. The mock trial team started to act out the case at hand. The team was practicing for its trial competition at the end of the year. The team was compiled of some of the school's most intelligent and brightest young minds. They spent countless hours of preparation for their cases. The team met at least three times a week and worked hard gathering much needed information such as testimonies and preparing briefs for their trial. They consulted with professional lawyers who gave them important advice and suggestions for handling themselves in the courtroom.

Under Mr. R. Richardson's watchful eye, the team's members conducted themselves in a professional, knowledgeable manner that impressed lawyers and judges. Together they worked to achieve the title of best on Long Island.

No matter where students travelled in the building, they encountered teachers who talked about the new state standards. Students needed more regents exams and credits in order to graduate. With a new nine period day, they had an additional period in which to take elective courses or see teachers for extra help. The number of electives available to students increased tremendously as new English, computer, and law courses were added to the curriculum. From early morning English review classes until late in the afternoon, students could be seen working with their teachers to improve writing skills and performance on class assignments.

A dedicated staff of teachers, administrators, counselors, secretaries, and custodians kept the building running smoothly and successfully as the new millennium was started. Teachers took additional courses to be able to assist their students with the new technological era. With everyone's help and support, the students completed another year and the graduates left to expand their skills on higher levels.

Music- End of an Era

Mr. Hopkins retired after twenty years of being the head of the Cultural Arts Department. During his tenure, he introduced many technological advancements in the music department and was responsible for the creation of the Music Theory lab. He has fostered many community art shows and displays for all grade levels. The theater programs at the Middle School and High School have grown to become some of the finest on Long Island.

Mr. Hopkins worked diligently throughout his career and served as an active member of the Arts Endowment Committee and Cultural Arts Committees. He said, "Being involved with art, dance, music or theater, I believe, is essential to the human spirit. At Bay Shore, I have been enriched by talented and dedicated faculty, promising students, a supportive community of parents and a Board of Education committed to fostering excellence. I will always remember..."

Occupational Education

Kenny Hosek and Frank Hieronymus sand down their wood in order to finish their project.

Giving students an edge on the business world, the Occupational Education Department, under the supervision of Mr. H. Ruter, introduced new courses to accommodate the increasing enrollments in technology courses. The department broke new ground when it initiated a college computing course in which students learned word processing skills, spreadsheets, internet use, and Powerpoint while earning three college credits from St. John's University. The traditional introduction to occupations and advanced accounting were also taught.

Mr. J. Carney, introduced a sports marketing course which had twenty-five students designing their own stadiums and learning about managing athletes. Mr. B. Raskin taught the wood technology and design courses so that the department had a new diversity, aimed to assist students going on to college or out into the business world.

Plans for next year included a Web Design course so students could create their own web pages.

The Ultimate Crescendo

With their powerful sound and dedication to music, the concert bands under the direction of Mr. T. Scalzo and Mr. J. Mendolia continued to impress audiences at all of their concerts. With their renditions of such challenging music as "Harlem Nocturne" and selections from "South Pacific," at the pops concert, the bands continued to receive recognition for their outstanding performances. At the spring concert, they played a collection of Irish tunes dedicated to Mr. Hopkins's retirement who for twenty years supported and encouraged the growth and development of all of the performing arts programs.

Due to high enrollment of musicians, separate ninth and tenth grade bands were created, as well as the eleventh and twelfth grade wind ensemble. Mr. J. Mendolia director of the ninth and tenth grade bands found that this new system worked quite well and gave him an opportunity to feature more of the instrumentalists. His motto: "Concentration from both bands is vital for success." led the band through one successful concert after another.

Choir and Orchestra

The music programs aimed to break new ground by rehearsing more challenging musical selections, entering more competitions, inviting new guest artists, and performing in more concerts for the community. Under the direction of their teachers and conductors, the members of the orchestra and choirs set new standards of achievement.

Under the direction of Mr. R. Burns, the orchestra worked hard and impressed audiences with their "Salute to the Big Apple" and theme song from "Psycho." The string section contained some of the best musicians that Mr. Burns has seen in recent years.

The choirs also impressed their audiences with their dynamic sound and renditions of "Brigadoon," "Stormy Weather," and other vocal pieces. Under the direction of Dr. C. Morrow, the choirs continued to grow in size and popularity.

The choirs made several community appearances when they performed at the annual tree lighting ceremony and for patients at the Pilgrim State Psychiatric Center.

Advanced Research

This year, the science department broke new ground with the help of one of the newest staff members, Dr. R. Occhiogrosso, by offering a course called the Advanced Research Program. The Advanced Research Program put an emphasis on Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics, and Social Sciences while encouraging students to research in areas of personal interest.

The main goal of the course was to prepare a research project and exhibit it throughout the state at various competitions. The students competed in many competitions, including the Science Olympiads and the Long Island Science Congress, where students presented their research projects. The research projects were very advanced for students who are currently attending High School, with topics ranging from encephalitis to curing blindness by implanting microchips inside a human brain.

"The Advanced Research Program is an excellent class that allows a student to delve into the topics of science that they most love and enjoy," said John Feeney, one of the students in the class.

Science- Cody Retires

Following a brief stint in the Connetquot School District, John Cody joined the staff of the Bay Shore Middle School. He taught science, particularly earth science, for thirty-six years. He enjoyed being in the classroom and working closely with students. His dedication and commitment were evident in everything that he did. When the ninth grade moved to the Senior High School, Mr. Cody transferred over also. He has been happy at the High School where he also coached the varsity boys' soccer team. Mr. Cody was an excellent coach who worked his players hard in practice but let them play the game when on the field. Mr. Cody was an inspirational teacher and coach who approached both positions with a quiet passion that was a model for his students, athletes, and colleagues. He still enjoys hearing from former students.

Mr. Cody is an avid reader who plans on completing some novels that he has had on his bookshelves. He has a home in Arizona where he may do some teaching. He looks forward to the warm climate and a chance to relax.

Art- A Variety of Talent

What do you see when you open the door to room eight on a Thursday from 2 — 3:30? You see students stirring about the room, looking for canvasses to paint on, paper to draw on, clay to mold, or assistance from one of the four art instructors. What goes on behind the door of the art room is amazing. Students can do whatever their hearts desire in the field of art. As you look around the room, you see students from grades nine through twelve working on different projects for one of their art classes, sculpting vases, and sketching dreams. They're painting flowers and people that are set up around the room, drawing still lifes that are set on the center table, and working with many different mediums. Students can go to art club just to have fun. There is no need to be in one of the art classes to go to the club after school. Students in eleventh and twelfth grade can plan their vast portfolios for college with Ms. L. Allen, Ms. M. Pesco, Mr P. Palumbo or first year teacher Mr. J. Scinto. There's a ton going on behind the door of room number eight.

Languages- French Club

“Parlez-vous francais?” The French Club started up this year in early December and opened the doors to a culture that few people know much about. “I wanted my peers to appreciate the French Culture as much as I do,” said founder and president of the French Club, senior Alex Dunkel.

On Thursday afternoons, students went to room 115 and learned to appreciate the French through their music, food, and games all native to the country. Many regular French students joined in the festivities, hoping to increase their knowledge of this culture. Members, however, were not required to speak the language to join in the fun. The only requirement was that they had a love of the French people and their culture. Many students, who had never spoken a word of French in their lives, joined this club, hoping to learn how to read a menu or greet people with a little “savior faire.” The French Club became the first language club in the history of the school this year and hoped to keep the club just as popular in the years to come.

Math- Faraci Retires

After twenty-four years of teaching mathematics and French, Mrs. Jane Faraci was ready to settle down and enjoy some time with her husband and grandchildren in their summer home in Maine. Mrs. Faraci was born in the busy city of Manhattan where she developed a love for the game of baseball. Away from the hustle and bustle of city life, she grew up in the rural town of Oceanside, New York. Unlike most girls her age she had a passion for the game of baseball. While teaching mathematics to her students, she would often refer to baseball statistics and game scores to make the curriculum a little easier and more exciting. Her unusual teaching skills helped many Bay Shore students go on to become very successful business people. She enlightened so many but asked nothing in return. She was a dedicated professional who enjoyed her job and enjoyed working with students. "It has been a pleasure working with the students and faculty of Bay Shore. I shall miss everyone very much." says Mrs. Jane Faraci.

English-Theory Club

(below) Brad Gibbs and Tom Dintrone look through the T-Files to find research they've been looking for. (bottom) With Dan Odsterom and John Feeney looking on, Durin Platnick adds another entry to the Big Book of Theories.

What started as a group of students sharing ideas and pondering thoughts turned into one of the newest clubs that was offered this year. The Theory Club, advised by Mr. M. Pasca, gave students the opportunity to expand their minds. The members created their own theories about everything from science to general life, then explained and explored these thoughts with other members of the club through research and discussion. "It's a place where students can come together to theorize and philosophize things that aren't taught in school," said president John Feeney. After coming up with a theory, they created T-Files which held all of the research and information they discovered to prove or disprove a theory. Their final project, The Big Book of Theories, combined all of the theories the group had come up with for future members to enjoy. The club was an excellent way for students to work together and use their intelligence to explore mysteries of the world.

Secretaries & Paraprofessionals

After dedicating twenty-five years to working in the library, Mrs. C. DeLouise retired this year. She worked happily with many students and said it is those students that she will miss. Mrs. DeLouise plans on spending more time with her grandchildren.

After a twenty-six year career as a secretary, of which three and a half were spent in High School offices, Mrs. A. Concu retired. Known for her pleasant smile and eagerness to assist, Mrs. Concu plans to catch up on her reading, traveling, and family. She says that she will miss the students and staff the most. "Working in Bay Shore has put me more in touch with the Bay Shore community," said Mrs. Concu.

For twenty-three years, Mrs. H. Collins has worked as a secretary for the assistant principals. She chaired the retirement breakfast committee and worked closely with administrators and teachers. Mrs. Collins plans on enjoying her children, grandchildren, and traveling. Mrs. Collins said, "All the memories I have of the students and staff I will hold deeply in my heart."

Special Ed. & E.S.L

Omayra Anchirya and Edith Grijalva are happy with the grades they received from Mrs. L. Solis.

"We work as a team," said Mr. Giattino. With a small class, teachers and students frequently worked in one-on-one situations. This created special bonds and relationships and made it easy for the teachers to cover a lot of material this year. The Special Ed and E.S.L. departments worked to meet new, more challenging requirements which meant taking the Regents exams instead of the R.C.T.'s. Not only did the students learn in class, they also extended their learning outside of the classroom. On December 15, Ms. Waring and Mr. Giattino's class went on a trip to New York City.

to see the Broadway musical "Miss Saigon." After the show, the students walked along the streets of New York and enjoyed the beautiful sites. They learned about the architecture of St. Thomas Episcopal Church and the religious history of the St. Patrick's Cathedral. The E.S.L. students also scheduled a trip to the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island hoping to learn more about American history than they could in any textbook. In an effort to prepare their students for the future, the E.S.L. and Special Ed visited Stony Brook University for a Pre-College day.

Offering a Helping Hand

College preparation for senior students can be very stressful. This was why the Guidance Department started the process early. As the freshman class entered high school, the students started on the career program. They had the option to work on the computer questionnaire program to get an idea of jobs that fit their interests. Also, the freshmen counselors made sure their schedules were academically sound because they believed that the classes taken early affected their future. Going into their junior year, students were given a timeline of deadlines and expectations so that they could start early and have less pressure in their senior year. Special programs were instituted among which was an interest inventory to get students focusing on specific colleges and careers. A college night was held which invited alumni to present their views and talk about their experiences during their first year in college.

"This program was very useful to the students preparing to go on to college because they had the chance to hear their peers point of view. Coming from another student, the information would be more beneficial," said Mrs. K. Bonnici.

A Physical Adventure

"Billet on" and "Climb away" are just a few of the phrases overheard while participating in a fun-filled period of Project Adventure. The main purpose of the Project Adventure program was to help students overcome their fear of heights and to teach them to push themselves to the extreme. They also learned to develop trust and confidence in their peers who were holding the ropes and assisting them. The Project Adventure program encouraged students to push a little harder to complete their goals. Whether scaling a wall or dangling from a rope, students reached new heights under the watchful eye of their instructors. Andrew Smith stated, "The Project Adventure class has been extremely beneficial in helping students to build trust among their peers and in teaching leadership skills for the future."

Initiated by Mr. R. Damore, the course has been incorporated into the regular gym program, giving students the option to take a traditional gym class or project adventure. Few graduate without having been suspended high over the field at least once.

Social Studies- Humanities

To assist students to understand the relationships among history, literature, and art, the Humanities program was created several years ago and continued to grow as we entered the new millennium. The program suggests that this will be the way students will continue to learn in the future. Although taking three courses in two periods may seem like a lot of work, it provided students with numerous opportunities to work in groups and do research on the internet. Most students found the classes challenging and enjoyable.

"Humanities classes provided students in grades nine, ten, and eleven, with an integrated approach to learning. Students see the connections between literature, history, and art. The courses have been very successful, and the faculty would like to add a twelfth grade program in the near future," said English teacher, Mr. D' Antoni. The students in the program have been very successful in college and continued to have outstanding results on the Global Studies, English, and U.S. History Regents exams.

Computer Technology

With the dawning of the new millennium, the district made sure that its students would be at the front of the technology race. The High School, along with the rest of the buildings in the district, was fitted with wiring to enable computers to handle internet surfers. With the support of the community through a district-wide bond issue, all of the buildings received the necessary equipment to train students to take their places in the new technological age.

Students learned keyboarding as they prepared to enter the world of business by learning how to create spreadsheets and resumes through Microsoft Office 2000. Students went to the Writing Center where state of the art computers enabled them to do research for many of their classes via the internet. Even the MARAUDER yearbook was planned out on computers. Each page's layout was created using a program which allowed the staff to design the placement of articles and pictures.

The district is dedicated to meet the needs of students as technology continues to advance rapidly.

On The Move

Coming in as one of the largest classes ever, this year's freshmen made their mark. The Student Council run by Ms. C. Acunzo, and Presidents Whitney Boulton and Max Manthos and Vice President Stephanie Miranda led the ambitious group with spirit in events that took place. With the help of Treasurer Alex McLean, Secretary Kyle Coyne, and Executive Chairman Tyler Lombardo, Freshmen Student Council gave all their effort to the community.

Starting off the year on the right foot, Freshmen Student Council walked in the Homecoming parade. They helped decorate the school's gym for the junior prom, contributed to make food baskets on Thanksgiving and they also participated in "Adopt a Family." The class of 2003 hoped to win the spirit points competition this year and make their mark in the millennium. Along with showing their pride for their school, they broke new ground by participating in new school traditions such as the English lab classes and the six hour English Regents. Striving to achieve in the community and in school, the freshmen class moved forward.

Leadership and Orientation

Spanish teacher, Ms. J. Side, organized the Freshmen Orientation program with the Freshman Leadership Club. Working from the end of last year through the summer, freshmen leaders set up a program to alleviate the incoming freshmen's fears about entering the High School. Coming in a day earlier, the class of 2003 had a chance to learn a few things before the upperclassmen came in.

The Freshmen Leadership Club and members of the Thespian troupe worked to demonstrate the policy known as R.I.C.E., "Respect, Impulse, Control and Equity." The RICE philosophy would be helpful when confronting situations both in school and at home.

As the freshmen toured the building, they learned about some of the school's policies, procedures and activities from their freshmen leaders. They quickly learned that they would have more freedom in high school, but with that freedom came additional responsibilities.

Thanks to the Freshmen Leadership Club and the upperclassmen leaders, the class of 2003 had a warm welcome.

Helping Out

The sophomore class broke new ground this year by having all female officers. The four officers were LeTrice Ewing, President, Vanessa Miranda, Vice President, Laurie Beth Hughes, Secretary, and Claudia Sandoval, Treasurer. These girls headed the sophomore class meetings along with the sophomore class advisor Ms. A. Marino.

The sophomore class officers were determined to win the spirit points again. The sophomore class won a picnic at Cassamento Park for winning the spirit points in their Freshman year. While grades nine, ten and twelve had to sit in their classes the sophomores were out at the park having fun in the sun for the second half of the day. The picnic went great for the sophomore class. They ate hero's and salads, played ball games and laid in the sun. They were enthusiastically waiting for another chance to have a picnic again next year as juniors.

The sophomore class upheld the tradition of serving food and helping with decorations at the junior prom in December. When the sophomores were done helping, they had the opportunity to boogie down with the juniors. The sophomores were a huge help to the juniors at their prom.

In January the sophomore class was in second place until the scores were tallied for the penny drive. By the end of January they were coming up close in third place. They were determined all through the year to win the spirit points again as sophomores.

Halloween Hijynx

"Look at the big banana," someone yelled as Crystal Adams walked down the hallway dressed as the big yellow fruit. She was just one of the many students showing their spirit by dressing up for the last Halloween of the millennium. "It was nice to see a majority of the students participating," said senior Jennifer Bartalini.

No Halloween could be complete without a costume contest. The group of boys, Anthony Puccio, Jeremy Martinich and Paul Fischetti, dressed as the 70's boys, won first prize. Matt Baglio and Chris Leone posed as Fred and Barney from the Flintstones took home second prize. Sean Sullivan, dressed as a jedi from "Starwars," came in an impressive third. "The guys dressed in the 70's costumes were great. They all had afros and just looked funny. Fred and Barney were pretty creative also," senior Sarabeth Cirillo commented.

The whole school got into Halloween this year. All grades earned spirit points. Seniors came in third place, juniors came in fourth, sophomores came in second, and freshmen took the lead with first place.

On The Move

Since the moment that the class of 2001 entered the high school as freshmen, they were introduced to new challenges and responsibilities. Realizing that they were heading towards their last year, the junior class anxiously waited to earn the highest status as seniors. In order to reach this higher level of status, they had to conquer the new standards that were imposed on them by New York state. These higher standards included the new Regents requirements for English and social studies classes and the P.S.A.T. requirements for colleges. They took all of this in stride and emerged successful.

Despite all of these concerns, the juniors still found time to get involved in sports and drama, and to show their spirit at a variety of school events. They will cherish the memory of their junior prom; Ring Breakfast, and other events that made their year so enjoyable.

— Anthony Nieves

Junior Prom

With the use of icicle lights, balloons, and glitter, the gymnasium was transformed into a Winter Wonderland for this year's Junior Prom. Combined with the planning of the Junior class with their advisor, Mr. A. Sullivan, the service provided by members of the Sophomore class, and the delicious food donated by parents, the prom was a huge success. Students enjoyed dancing to the music, getting their picture taken amongst a winter scene, and having fun with their friends. Awards were given out in the categories of Best Dressed, Best Hair, Best Dancers and Best Couple. It was a memorable evening for the eleventh graders. A good time was had by all, and the Juniors look forward to their Senior Prom, only a year away.

High School Treasurers

For many students the piece of jewelry that they treasure the most is their class ring. It seems as if they had to wait an eternity to become eligible to buy a senior ring, the visible proof that they had reached the highest point of their secondary education. Many had saved from their freshman year to buy the long-awaited treasure that was delivered in February. "I feel like my time of graduation is coming closer, and closer," said Cynthia Carrion who was one of the many excited juniors waiting to have their measurements taken for their ring.

Faced with a myriad of choices in stones and designs, the juniors carefully made their selections, deciding which symbol would be permanently engraved into the side of the ring. Standing before the showcase with their order booklets in hand, many knew exactly what they wanted while others pondered the choices very carefully.

Once the rings were ordered the juniors waited anxiously for their delivery and distribution at the annual Junior Ring Breakfast. When the students received their rings, they proudly displayed them to family and friends. They treasured their most valuable possession.

Senior Directory

The Senior Directory contains a listing of all of the students in the class of 2000. The directory contains messages to parents and friends and future plans. As the students make their final farewells, they know their messages have been recorded to be read at another time. When alumni look back on their yearbooks in the future, they will have the parting message of their friends to remind them what life was like at the close of the millennium.

*Sarah,
Good luck and Godspeed on your journey.*

*I am a part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch where through Gleams that untraveled world whose margin fades*

*Forever and forever when I move.
How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use!*

From "Ulysses," Alfred Lord Tennyson

*Love,
Mom, Dad,

*Lisa,
From adorable toddler to lovely young woman, you've always lit up our lives with love and laughter.*

Follow your star were behind you all the way.

*Love,
Mom, Dad, and Chrissie*

*Dear Lisa,
You are what every

To my daughter, my twin, my baby sister;

Shalea N. Dowdell

These four years have been quite challenging but yet rewarding, for we have seen you grow in all directions. So we reward you with the medal that these four years have been your Silver Years.

You are now heading off for the next four years that we will mark as your Bronze Years. Knowing who you are we will conquer through your own uniqueness.

But through this all remember that life itself are your Golden Years. For as your mother and we as your sisters, challenge you to continue to go after life and all it has to offer with that drive, tenacity but gracefulness that you hold with such high standards.

We celebrate you in your achievement upon entering this new millennium.

Congratulations to you and your entire class of 2000.

With our deepest love,

Mommy, Ayanna, Sharee

WE LOVE YOU!
MOM, DAD, LISA AND NICHOLAS

CONGRATULATIONS CORINNE

WOW! Can it really be that you are graduating so soon?
The time has gone by much too quickly.

Now, our beautiful daughter is on her way to reaching her dreams.
Go for it and give them all you have.

You have made us so very proud already. We wish you all the best as you reach for the stars.

Thumbs up!!
With all of our love,
Mom & Dad

Mochia,

We are proud, so proud of all you have achieved,
Your thoughtfulness toward others
and caring for their needs.
Pursue your hopes and dreams,
They won't be hard to conceive
If you stay on the path you've chosen and in God and self believe.

Loving You Always,
Daddy & Nana

Best Wishes To The Class of The
"New Millennium"

Paul (always our P.J.),

You have grown from a beautiful child into a young man full of promise.

Keep learning and growing.

Our wish for you is that you find happiness and fulfillment always.

Congratulations to you and the Class of 2000!

Love,

Mom, Dad, Suzie and Biscuit

Dear Irfan,

You have made the past seventeen years such an exciting journey. We have watched you grow from the shy little boy who used to sing "Karma Cameleon" to a young man marching into his future. You have been nothing but a constant source of pride for us. As you embark on your voyage into the future, always remember our love and support. Follow your heart and let Almighty Allah guide you towards success.

We love you!
Abbu, Ammu, and Tani

Congratulations to Irfan
and the Class of 2000.

To our twin Pearls of the South Pacific,

Sparklers and fireworks heralded your birth on the 4th of July and the commotion has never ended. You are truly our shining stars in all that you have accomplished and in the wonderful young ladies you have become. Your warmth and love has touched the lives of many. To say we are proud of you is just a tiny part of how we truly feel.

May both your futures be as bright as your smiles, and may you have as much happiness in your lives as you have brought to ours, and to the lives of others.

*We love you with all our hearts,
Mom, Dad, Matthew & Sophie Hannah*

P.S. 4th of July fireworks will always be just for the two of you!

For Our Son Michael,

In the words of Rod Stewart...

Forever Young

May the Good Lord be with ya down every road you roam. May sunshine & happiness surround you when you are far from home. And do unto others as you would have done to you. Be courageous and be brave & in my heart you will remain...

Forever young
Forever young.

And when you fin'ly fly away I'll be flapin' that I served you well. For all the wisdom of a lifetime no one can ever tell. But whatever you read you choose, I'm right behind you, win or lose.

Forever young, forever young.

For ever young

For ever young

For! For! ever young.

For ever young.

May good fortune be with you, may your guiding light be strong. Build a stairway to heaven with a princess or a bag of bones. And may you never love in vain. And in my heart you will remain
Forever young, forever young.

June 2000

Best wishes for a long, happy & healthy life.

Love,
Mom, Dad & Jason

Dear Sheila,

"We love ya." You have been a joy and a blessing to us from the moment we saw your lovely face. Your enthusiasm and zest for life have kept us in amazement. Although the youngest of five, you stood out from the beginning as unique. You were the only one who read to your mother all the "Nancy Drew Mysteries." You taught me how to relax by those lunches and massages. We both enjoyed your undaunting zeal to expand your horizons with drama, sports, mock trial, and advanced courses which left us breathless. We are probably one of few parents who say slow down and never have to say do your homework. You started mock trial in St. Joseph's and opened up a whole new experience for over a dozen girls and got your father out of the office before 6 P.M. for the first time in years. Some of your cases were much more interesting than mine, and I was so proud of your command of the "courtroom." Dreams do come true, but remember being the youngest you have a lot of people rooting for you and that if you ever need someone, we will be there for you to share the joys and disappointments. But most of all we love you for just the way you are. We thank God everyday to have a daughter like you. We are very proud of you and will be there for you all the days of our lives.

Love always,
Mom and Dad

Oh the places you'll go! Congratulations!

Today is your day; we are so proud of you. Always remember that on your many journeys we love you and will always support you. It's now our turn to say these words to you: Sheila — "You're off to great places; you're off and away; your mountain is waiting so get on your way."

Love,
Jenny and Billy

I know you'll be a great success and I'm looking forward to being your financial planner and advisor.

Love,
Marc

Sheila,

WOW! I can't believe that my little twin is graduating from high school. I am very proud of you. You have become a strong, beautiful, intelligent woman, and you are going to go very far in life.

Follow your heart, and all your dreams will come true. I wish nothing but the best for you!!

I LOVE YOU!

Always remember: California, North Carolina, Ocean Beach, borrowing my clothes and never returning them, parties, IDs, car talks, late night talks, Wendy's, Chucky Cheese, car copycat!! Are you two twins?! Spice Girls shoes, cherish your family and friends. The memories I did not mention and the million more to come

I Love You!
Rachel

Congratulations Jesse!!

Live one day at a time. Enjoy Life. Never forget where you came from or loose sight of where you are going and always remember, we are there for you.
Oscar, Virginia & Mel

Congratulations Dan-the-Man!

You are the sparkle in our lives, Dee...

The future is yours, Go for it!

*Love,
Dad, Mom and Chip*

Dear Nicole-

Part of us is happy for you!

Part of us is very proud of you!

But every part of us will miss you as you start this new season of your life.

May the lord bless you and keep you in his care.

As Jonathan would say:

We love you this much-
Mom, Dad, Lauren, Olivia, and Jonathan

Katie,
“As I walk through this world searching for light in the darkness... there’s one thing I want to know; what’s so funny about peace, love and understanding?”
E.C.

We continue to admire you for simply being true to yourself.

Congratulations and
Love,
Dad, Mom, and Mike

Congratulations Peggy-Anne you made it!!

Through all the ups and downs (and all the swim meets), know that you are truly the shining light of our lives.

As always, we are very proud of you.

All our love always,
Mom and Dad

Congratulations Matthew, You did it!

To our beautiful son, with his free spirit, quick wit, and warm caring heart.

Matt, you have been a special joy from the moment you were born. You set your goals high, complained bitterly, but in the end successfully accomplished more than you ever anticipated. Watching and helping you grow has been an interesting adventure and sometimes a challenge but always rewarding and filled with love.

We are so very proud of you. Continue to enjoy life to the fullest and strive to make a positive difference. Believe in yourself, let go and soar like an eagle. You will then find there is no limit to what you can achieve. Most of all, remember we are your greatest fans and will always be cheering you on, loving and supporting you.

*Love ya,
Dad, Mom, Allie and Mike*

Dear Danny, Brian, Steve, Jim, Rich, Tim, Pete, Pat, and Matt:

You are absolutely the most fun loving, risk taking, adventurous, enthusiastic group of boys I know! You have grown up together and supported one other through many fun filled and awesome adventures, not to mention some hair-graying times for us parents.

As a whole, you are the greatest group of boys any parent could wish for. Each of you has a unique talent, but as a group, you are dynamic.

My wish for all of you is to succeed in following your dreams. As you fulfill your goals in life, may your friends always remain close in your hearts.

Love, Mrs. Zaffuto

Dear G.A. —

You have done such a wonderful job!!! Congratulations and always continue to learn something new everyday.

*Love,
Mom*

Christine—It seems yesterday you were our shorty pie, and overnight you turned into a young woman—you'll never know how special a daughter you are; how complete you make our family and the fun and joy you bring. Is that your eye in there?

Steph, Follow your dreams. Love Mom, Dad, Ray, Jill, Jennifer, Keith, and Keith Jr.

Andrew- Attentive, Available, and Awesome- you are our hero too. For you all, class of 2000, Do the right thing. Love Mom, Dad, Tim, Mike, and Katy.

Tricia, Congratulations on four great years. We're proud of you! Love Mom, Dad, Robert, and Billy.

Peggy, We have watched you grow into a SUPER young lady. Congratulations and best wishes in all your future endeavors.

Mom & Dad: Well you're baby is finally all grown up-no matter how hard that is to believe. The youngest one is out the door and going to be on her own. Thank you for everything you have given me and for your support and encouragement and most important for always having faith and believing in me. I appreciate all the sacrifices you have made and the hard work you have done to make me the person I am today. Dad- you understood more than anyone my love for acting. You always encouraged me and did anything for me if it had to do with acting, we could always enjoy the movies- watching them as well as talking about them and the actors, I have always enjoyed your sense of humor and how you would hide things on me until I went crazy, and I'll never forget coming home to find you playing Scrabble, Yahtzee, or a computer game always by yourself, and you always spoiled me as best you could. Mom- You have taught me a tremendous amount. You taught me to be the strong woman I am today and that women are never second best. You taught me to stand up for myself and never to give up on my goals and dreams. I'll always remember our gir bonding, watching "Murder She Wrote", and the way you always wanted me to be happy and smile. To the both of you: I would never be the person I am today without you both, you have influenced me and taught me well. I love you with all my heart! Jenny: You've always been a second mother to me, from when I was little and called you mommy, even when you didn't want me to, like the time I said it when you were talking to a guy on the beach and you didn't want him to think you were a 16year old with a child. I'll always remember your wedding shopping, NC, brushing your hair and doing makeovers, sharing our birthdays, and we will always have Jim Carrey-Harry your hands are freezing! Your boobs are huge I mean...mama!! I just can't do it captain I don't have the power! And then there is always our speed marathon. Where would I be in my life without my other mom I love you! Billy: I don't think I would have ever passed a science course in my life if it were not for you. Remember me calling you last minute for every project i had to do and you helping me anyway? Never forget visiting you in NC, snorkeling, Six Flags, working with model planes and boats. We have always had our special bond and my life would not be the same without you. Marc: I love how you are not the macho brother type but you have always been there for me and I know if anyone ever tried to hurt me you'd knock them out. I've always been able to go to you for practically anything. You've always been able to give me the boy's point of view on my clothes and situations with boys in my life. I'll always remember watching cartoons together, Action Park, our ski trips together, white water rafting, trips to Boston (who else in the family could I go clubbing with?). I love your sense of humor and the way you never treat me like I'm too young and you always try not to leave me out. I love you with all my heart! Rachel: Well my twin where do I begin? You are probably the most influential person in my life. I have always been able to go to you for anything and everything. From the time when you lived at home until now when I call you at school no matter what time it is you've always helped me- giving advice on guys, friends, and mom and dad. I'll never forget stealing everything from your Jem dolls and hairbrush to your clothes and jewelry, you finally letting me use your ID, trips to Delaware, SOHO, kayaking, parties at the house, the Dave Matthew's band concert, Halloween-yea kris kross, and we will always have our trip to California. Remember: finally getting our convertible rollerblading in SB, shopping, playing pool all night, me convincing you to get fake nails, taking a million pics, you losing all your money at the casino, everyone loves Raymond, the pic of us at Santa Cruz on the rollercoaster, locking the keys in the car twice- I'm still convinced that the first time it wasn't my fault, water skiing, wave running, parasailing, eating seafood- trying shark, COCO's, how did we always manage to get the last room in the hotel, and hey we swam the pacific-what were we thinking!!! Well Rach you may not be my actual twin but you are definitely my other half and I would not be the person I am without you. I love you with all my heart and hope you realize what you mean to me!

ML,MC,MF,BL,CF,SC,LH,MH,PC,SKA,CK,CH,KH,KF,NC,GC, hey chicas want to go play catch ball! ML, remember St. Pat's days and when you switched out of my class-who knew we'd turn out to be best friends, me at your house everyday and then actually moving in when my house was under construction, hmmm...convenient! MOCO- Chinese food & movies,SOHO, did you ever leave my car ML&MOCO- why is it always the three of us? LNBE, staff parties, Greg, Ian, Tad, my beeper, driving in my car, Dave, Meat of unit, my faces, lunch breaks. MF- walker beach, advice swapping, 4th of July, on FL, ocean beach nights. MF&MI: Barenaked Ladies concert and the train ride, Betsy- having lobster out to dinner, us being mean when we get together, ocean beach nights, St. Pats, Columbia. COFIN- ocean beach nights, finding you wandering the streets a mess. Beth&Coll: I'm just chillin on the hammock! Sarah- always being my date, want to go to the movies? Crew(burkelet, our actual double date, art classes(that is really how you draw), our marathon, and of course "PENNIES." Lorie- 4th of July of FI. Meesh- Jeff, you always having a boyfriend, art classes. Pam- Ryan and Tim, bringing your sister out. Ska- you're grand, art classes, crew, talking about our boys. K&Nicole yea crew. Gillian-yea queen To all the girls remember: Christmas at my house, Billy concert, girls night,(GC), sleepover at my house, sweet sixteens, mine in the city, BIGGY, Caitlin's bar, Senior shirts(which made everyone love us), my car, Quick Check, Moon Eyes, parties at my house, homecoming, the JP, Sarah's house, Beth's(after the pep rally), Pammy's house(yea homecoming), CANADA, manhunt, Southold, Fleetwood Mac, singing at every part, Kris Kringle, dancing, Lane's house, call me Al... or coll is it out? Girls you mean the world to me. I love you with all my heart! No matter what they say you know our friendship will never die! Roland,MattR,Paul,Roo: Ro-ro - talking on the phone at all hours when you are away, you've crossed the line, Pams house(you know what I mean), precious ha! And the way you dance. Matty- I don't know how I would have survived science without you. I'll never forget you letting me copy your HW, tutoring me no matter how busy you were. Paul- you always saying what? And being confused and always making me laugh. Roo- I know you want me back! Boys remember parties at Matt's house, my house, and actually going to Paul's house once, sweet sixteens, biggy. Well boys I love ya! My high school years definitely would not be the same without you guys. You guys are of my closest guy friends and I know we will continue to stay friends over the years. Although you better ask for my autograph now for when I'm famous. PJ, Jamie, Greens, Dru, Andrew C, Dom, Eric, Matt P, Nick, Schoenberg, Anthony, VinnieT, Casey, Matt A, Billy: remember homecoming, pep rally, Junior Prom, all the parties we had an I'll never forget you guys cleaning my house for hours and then hanging around the house all day watching movies and cooking food, I swear you guys lived at my house that entire weekend. Pj- the spot, you, Moll and I hanging out, sorry I can't help but be on your "nugget" that's how Tennessee red hot sauce is. Dru- that tongue ring really makes you sexy. I'm trying to control myself from being with you. Eric- mock trial, us going through our phases with each other but always ending up being friends. Z- you are hysterical, please let me have the horn. Casey- wordddd! You hanging out at my house till I am with Dru when everyone's gone telling me everything, can I be a client, going to that horrible movie, can I borrow your silverware? Hanging out in my driveway in your car all night after Sarah's I can't even tell you how long we talked, you being a jerk(j/k), are you sure the diner lady can't have your #, art class, as you said we really did click this year. Andrew- thanx for breaking my microphone, you being annoying in the morning, B pong at my house. Although some of you didn't hang out until this year senior year would not have been the same without all of you guys. I love you all!! Ellie, Katie, Kristie, Tina, Christina L, Liz, Erin, Holly, Caitlin and all the other girls: Ellie- mock trial, talking about our boys, you being a midget, billy concert I could go on forever. Katie- my apprentice I hope I have taught you well and oh god drama. Holly and Cait- crew yeah AOTP!! Cait don't forget you're my daughter! Well girls high school has been a blast with all of you! Remember all the parties and the good times, I love you all!

ALL THE TIME
by Green Day

All the time, every time I need it.

What's the time?

I'd say the time is right.

Here's to me.

Let's find another reason.

Down the hatch and a bad attitude.

Salud.

Wasting time

Wasting time down a bum... road.

And I don't know where the...it'll go.

Heirlooms and huffing fums, and I'm picking up pace

and I'm gonna smash straight into a wall.

All the time.

A "New Year's Resolution"

How soon that we Forget.

Doing time

Loving every minute.

Live it up on another let down.

Colophon

This seventy-seventh volume of the Bay Shore MARAUDER was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Texas under the supervision of Mr. Neil Sanders, the Taylor representative. Quasar Photography, a subsidy of Life Touch Studios, Ms. Margaret Pesco, and Mr. Joseph D'Antoni were the official photographers. The cover was made from red binder board with gold silk-screened lettering and a silver-foil stamping. Four hundred copies of the 232 page book which includes two four-color signatures on #80 glossy stock were printed. A special millennium magazine was included to highlight some of the events of the twentieth century. A student supplement will be added to complete the book and include the closing activities of the 99-00 school year. The standard typeface used throughout the book was Nouveau, and all text and layouts were submitted on computer disks, utilizing Taylor's Ultravision software. The yearbook was produced by the Creative Writing for Publication and the Graphic Design and Layout classes taught by Mr. D'Antoni and Ms. Pesco.

What On Earth Happened?

The world spent much of the past thousand years making some pretty amazing history. As the millennium began, Druids practiced dark rituals, while the Byzantine Empire dominated Eastern Europe. Conqueror Genghis Khan put the Mongols on the map in the 1200s, and the Great Wall protected China against would-be invaders.

The Middle Ages, though plagued by feudalism, heralded gallant knights and the governing ideals of the Magna Carta. The Renaissance and The Enlightenment both saw great achievements in art, science and exploration, followed by Romantic and Revolutionary periods in France and colonial America.

As industry and capitalism grew, so did Communism in the Soviet Union and beyond. The World Wars and other 20th century conflicts brought struggles for power amid vast advancements in communications and technology.

History's movers and shakers included Joan of Arc, the teenager who led France to victory against England in 1429, and Martin Luther whose religious reforms shocked the 16th century. King Henry VIII of England kept his head while several of his spouses lost theirs. Sir Winston Churchill helped England stand courageously against Nazi Germany. One recent hero is Nelson Mandela, South Africa's first black president and anti-apartheid activist. Time marches on...and the next chapter is already being written.

And The Wall Came Tumbling Down

In 1961, the Berlin Wall was erected to prevent residents of Communist East Berlin, Germany, from fleeing to non-Communist West Berlin for a better way of life. In 1989, the East Germans opened the Wall, lifted immigration restrictions and reunited Germany. Tearing down the Wall symbolized the end of the Cold War, which started when the Soviet Union created "Iron Curtain" countries isolated from the Western world. In the '50s, fear of communism in the United States resulted in the "Red Scare."

...With A Star On Top

The Christmas tree began as an evergreen decorated with apples, symbolizing Eden in a December medieval German play. By the 1600s, trees in German homes were trimmed with candles, fruits and cookies. Currently, Christmas is a multi-billion dollar business with wreaths, mistletoe, stockings, movies, outdoor decorations and cards.

In A Flash, A-Bomb Creates Nuclear Age

On August 6, 1945, a U.S. plane, the Enola Gay, dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, Japan, annihilating the city and nearly 130,000 of its citizens. Japan surrendered soon after, ending World War II. Because of Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, resulting in America's participation in the war, and the Holocaust atrocities perpetrated by Adolf Hitler's Nazi Germany, the destructive effects of World War II would live in infamy.

Crusading Towards The Holy Land

When Muslims took control of the Holy Land during the Middle Ages, Christians from Western Europe vowed to recapture the area. Nine major Crusades were organized with kings, nobles, peasants, and even children taking part. None was successful. Holy wars have continued to rage in such places as the Middle East, including the Six-Day War between Israel and Egypt in 1967.

The Royal Flush

Where would the Ty-D-Bowl Man and bathroom libraries be without the flush toilet? After septic tanks and modern sewage systems were improved, civilizations significantly reduced the risks of severe illnesses and epidemics which were so common during the Middle Ages. Concerns prompted public health improvements, including garbage collection and disposal, water treatment and food processing.

Setting Off An Explosion

With the world population now topping 6 billion and increasing at an annual rate of 1.6%, more people are living now than have ever died. The population is rising because of high birth rates coupled with much lower death rates as a result of better living conditions.

Hoop'n It Up

Super Stock

With the correct hip action, the bright round plastic Hoola-Hoop could rotate for hours. When Wham-O introduced it in 1958, stores couldn't keep Hoops stocked and sales topped $100 million. Who could forget Yo-Yos, Super Soakers, Slinkys, Pogo Sticks, Clackers, Wiffle Balls, Silly Putty, Frisbees and all those other preoccupying pastimes?

The Answer, My Friend, Is Floating In The Ball

"Outlook Good." "Yes Definitely." In the '60s, important decisions were made by turning over the Magic 8 Ball or putting fingers on the Ouija board. Holy Dionne Warwick! Perhaps these were even more reliable than the Psychic Friends Network. Through the ages, fortune tellers and the supernatural have fascinated seekers of the unknown. Was all this stuff for real, oh Magic 8 Ball? "Don't Bet on It."

The Craze That Wouldn't Lettuce Alone

Picture Quest

The threat of war may have loomed in Lebanon, but the real fighting broke out in toy stores between frenzied parents who found Cabbage Patch Kids in short supply before Christmas in the '80s. No sooner had consumers recovered from this invasion when they were hit with Power Rangers, Tickle Me Elmo, Beanie Babies and Furby manias. Dolly, can you say "Buy, Buy?"

She's Got The Skinny On The Mini

Reuters

The miniskirt caused a sensation in Swinging '60s London and beyond. The mini series led to the ultra-short micromini, ankle-length maxiskirt, calf-length midiskirt, hot pants and virtually every look ever shown in music videos. Hemlines have risen and fallen throughout history—from hoop skirts and gowns to '20s flapper dresses.

Stare And Stare Alike

The 3-D thrill of the Viewmaster was love at first sight. Then along came Magic Eye, random dot stereograms that revealed 3-D images hidden in colorful graphics with holograms that practically jumped out. Life had become a virtual reality.

As The Rubik Turns

More than 200 million people twisted their way to the 3-D solution of the Rubik's Cube puzzle in the '80s. Some tried memorizing the cube's configuration while it was still in the package. Preoccupation with puzzles dates back to the first jigsaw puzzles in the 18th century. The world is still trying to solve crosswords, word searches, "Where's Waldo?" and other brain-busting challenges.

That's Pretty Fad-tastic!

Leaders. Followers. The millennium caught every generation a bit off-guard, but folks quickly had the lingo and the look down. When Elizabethan life got ruffled around the collar, everyone copied. Then poof! Powdered wigs, some several feet high, got nobles noticed in the 17th century. How about wooden teeth in Washington's time? By George, it beat having none at all!

As the years passed, women wore the bustle and disco freaks did the Hustle. The '50s poodle skirts bred '70s dog tags, '80s spiked dog collars and '90s Old Navy mutts. Who knew there'd be just as much fur-vor over Davy Crockett coonskin caps in the '50s as with raccoon coats in the '20s?

While some slipped on shining armor, carefree flapper dresses and Calvin Klein jeans, others followed different fads. Joysticks maneuvered Pac-Man into the arcade hall of fame. Suddenly everyone cared for Pet Rocks, squeezed into phone booths, pounced on Pog, pierced body parts and chose CB radio handles. Will there be as many "must haves" next millennium? Only the Magic 8 Ball knows for sure.

Arts Imitate Life

Super Stock

Nearly every civilization during the millennium expressed its culture and defining events through art and architecture. Great painters, musicians, authors and sculptors vividly captured the emotions of their day. Early Romans built coliseums and staged comedies. Byzantine mosaics and icons reflected Eastern Christian beliefs while Chinese painters produced deft landscapes.

The Middle Ages fostered the rise of Gothic cathedrals, poet Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" and finely woven tapestries. In the Renaissance, William Shakespeare pumped up a volume of still-popular plays.

Super Stock

Michelangelo busily sculpted his marble marvel David. Novelists such as Jane Austen characterized the Romantic Movement of the 18th century while the 19th century promoted Impressionist painter Monet, socially-conscious authors including Charles Dickens and the riverside adventures of Mark Twain.

Ballet legend Nijinsky leaped on the 20th century arts scene. Picasso broke with tradition to pioneer Cubism and Dali turned dreams into surreality. Don't forget Dadaism, Momaism and Norman Rockwellism. Opera was a trill a minute with stars including Beverly Sills and Luciano Pavarotti.

Stephen King and Ann Rice chilled with horror novels, while Ernest Hemingway and John Steinbeck proved more down-to-earth. Broadway was Neil Simon-ized, then "Lion King"-ized.

Deep Thought
Number 2,714

When 19th century French sculptor Auguste Rodin created his bronze work, The Thinker, he used his knowledge of anatomy and movement to capture intensely human emotions as great Renaissance and Baroque sculptors Michelangelo and Bernini had done before him. Many 20th century sculptors crafted more experimental works, such as Marc Chagall's mobiles and Marcel Duchamp's creations from discarded materials.

Smile. You're On Canvas Camera

Renaissance master Leonardo da Vinci's 1503 portrait of Mona Lisa, the wife of a silk merchant, was extraordinary with its dramatic dark/light contrasts and ultra-mysterious smile. A face immortalized in history was a cinch if one happened to know such artists as Rembrandt, Van Gogh, Toulouse-Lautrec or Wyeth. Many painters, however, opted for religious scenes, still lifes and landscapes.

Call it the face that launched a thousand album covers, t-shirts and manic-depressive sufferers. Norwegian Edvard Munch's 1893 painting, The Scream, was an anguished cry of isolation and fear that influenced the 20th century Expressionist movement and reminded us of our own stressed-out lives. Vincent Van Gogh and Edgar Allan Poe were among other desperate artists and authors of the time.

Willie Make It Now?

AP/Wide World

Sixty-year-old Willie Loman spent his life way out there in the blue, riding a smile and a shoeshine, a salesman extraordinaire. Arthur Miller's drama, "Death of a Salesman," became one of the most riveting plays ever staged as it questioned the American dream and explored the depths of failure. During the 20th century, audiences have witnessed other gripping dramas such as "A Raisin in the Sun" and "The Glass Menagerie."

Clawing Its Way To The Top

After Andrew Lloyd Webber picked up T. S. Eliot's Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats at an airport, he grabbed the theater world by the tail as creator of "Cats," history's longest-running musical. The 20th century set the stage for vaudevillian singing and comedy acts, as well as some of the greatest musicals to hit Broadway: "Showboat," "Porgy and Bess," "Phantom of the Opera," "Hello, Dolly!" and "The Lion King."

Sometimes You Feel Like A Nutcracker

In 1892, Russian composer Peter Tchaikovsky turned the The Nutcracker into a beloved holiday ballet with his remarkable suite. Twentieth century dance gained popularity as composers wrote musicals that were imaginatively choreographed, including George Gershwin's "An American in Paris." Music and dance partnered dramatically with the Tango—followed by the carefree Charleston, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers' ballroom elegance, the Jitterbug, the Twist and Disco.

Souper Imposed

Andy Warhol did much "Mmm' Mmm! Good!" for the art world when his silkscreen print, "32 Campbell's Soup Cans," was exhibited in 1962. From there, the white-haired artist commented on popular consumer culture, coining the term "Pop Art." His other creations involved striking images of mass-media icons Marilyn Monroe and Elizabeth Taylor. Warhol helped other pop artists including Roy Lichtenstein and Leroy Neiman, enjoy their 15 minutes of fame.

Music of the millennium started on a somber note with the Gregorian chants of monks and ended on samba, "La Bamba" and "Living La Vida Loca." Beethoven, Mozart and Tchaikovsky crowned the classical music of the 18th and 19th centuries. Strauss then waltzed in to share the spotlight and Sousa marched over to greatness. The birth of the Blues and Jazz brought Billie Holiday and Duke Ellington, followed by Big Bands and the easy-going Swing era.

AP/Wide World

With a twist and shout, Rock & Roll cruised in from Elvis Presley, Chuck Berry, Jimi Hendrix, KISS and Aerosmith. "We Are the World" provided musical relief and Farm Aid helped heal the heartland. The Gloved One's 1982 "Thriller," containing such hits as "Beat It," became the best-selling album ever. Before the rhinestones, there was Detroit's Motown label, which signed Michael and his Jackson 5 brothers when he was still learning his "ABCs." With the toast of '60s soul—The Supremes, The Temptations, The Miracles, Stevie Wonder—music couldn't get mo' betta than Motown.

It Came From Deep Inside The Jukebox

"Put another nickel in" beckoned the jukebox, the first electrically amplified automatic phonograph. From the 1930s to the 1960s, it held memories of teenage years and breakup tears. Going After A Cure

AP/Wide World

Despite numerous medical milestones, curing diseases such as AIDS and cancer eludes the population. In the '80s, Ryan White, a hemophiliac, contracted HIV through blood transfusions and later died. The AIDS virus is the latest epidemic civilizations have battled. The Bubonic Plague killed 40 million by the 14th century and the Typhoid Fever outbreak of the early 1900s claimed countless lives as well. Vaccines now prevent such diseases as smallpox, but any mutations could pose a threat again.

It Does A Body Good

Consumers have become more concerned about keeping healthy, germ-free and well-groomed from head to toe. During the Middle Ages, baths were rarely taken, but today showers and baths are taken daily in order to keep clean and healthy. Today toothpaste, deodorants and mouthwash are used daily. Vitamins and natural herbs are popular and medical advancements keep folks functioning better.

Super Stock

Numb And Number

Prior to the use of anesthesia during operations, early surgeons and barbers cut veins to drain "bad" blood, or sucked it out with leeches to cure patients. Boiling oil was sometimes poured on wounds to sterilize them. Before nitrous oxide and ether were introduced as anesthetics in the 1800s, most operations weren't performed at all. Surgical conditions were unsanitary, causing infections to spread rapidly.

Double Cheese-- Hold The Diet!

Workers on the run were sold sandwiches from horse-drawn lunch wagons in the 1870s. America's fast food frenzy hit the road with the diner in the '40s and it's been burgers, fries and vending machines ever since. McDonald's put fast food on the map in the '50s, and its Big Mac Attack proved unstoppable. KFC, Arby's and Taco Bell have even sprung up in school cafeterias, airports, grocery and convenience stores. Would you like Beanie Babies with that?

The Fact of Life

In the Middle Ages, the average life expectancy in Europe was about 30 years; today it is more than 70 for both men and women. Improved nutrition, sanitation, disease prevention and disease treatment are some of the main reasons for the increase.

RK and LASIK procedures make contact lenses and glasses obsolete for many, and hearing aids are almost invisible. Heart, lung and other transplants give new hope, as do today's medicines compared to the quack cure-alls of the 1800s.

Curling Irons

Bodybuilding became a pumping iron passion after ex-97 lb. weakling Charles Atlas promoted his "Dynamic Tension" muscle-producing exercises in the early 20th century. In the '80s and '90s, Arnold Schwarzenegger wannabes bench pressed and lifted weights in the gym so they could burn fat and get fit. Harmful steroids were replaced by sports drinks, creatine and protein bars to fuel performance.

Health Yourself

The mysteries of medicine, better health and longer living were revealed as the millennium unfolded. Diseases prevalent in early times were conquered through improved medicine, sanitation, immunization and eating habits, although other factors such as high cholesterol, smoking and junk foods brought on such foes as heart disease, cancer and obesity. The Food and Drug Administration now ensures proper processing to kill bacteria and preserve foods longer.

In the 1800s, Austrian monk Gregor Mendel formulated the basic rules of heredity that led to genetics, and better understanding of human makeup. Florence Nightingale brought reforms to nursing in the 19th century including more sanitary conditions and scientific care for the sick. Instead of the guesswork so common in the Middle Ages, doctors now work to control, cure and prevent illness. Medical specialties were created, producing such authorities as pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock who knew all about babies.

Exercise became almost an obsession as gyms, jogging tracks and Jane Fondas sprouted, and personal trainers zeroed in on targeted areas. Take a deep breath and say hello to yoga, stress reduction therapy, medications to feel happy/energetic/calmer, wrinkle creams, alternative medicines, just name it. Either people are living better or just becoming more high maintenance.

Coming And Going Attractions

Getting around was slow and hard during the beginning of the millennium but somebody had to do it. In the Middle Ages, horses got saddled with pulling wagons transporting goods and passengers for long distances. Viking ships found rough sailing to Greenland and later America, but compasses and better construction of vessels in the 1400s made voyages and overseas trade possible.

Canals and paved roads hastened travel in the 1700s and the first major U.S. Highway, the National Road, created road rage in the mid-1800s.

After Robert Fulton invented the steamboat, British inventor Richard Trevithick helped develop the locomotive.

Life quickened as travel and hauling freight became more economical.

Electric trains, streetcars and gasoline-powered engines drove transportation into the modern era. Suddenly automobiles putt-putted along and sprouted everything from running boards to fins. Airplanes soared, subways roared and spaceships explored. The risks of progress have also been great, such as the loss of pilot Amelia Earhart and her plane on an around-the-world flight in 1937, the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion in 1986 and numerous airplane crashes.

Tomorrow's transportation could include human teleportation and faster-than-light travel. The ride's been pretty good so far, but inevitably some still ask, "Are we there yet?"

Gas Transit

Once steam-powered engines invaded 18th century Europe, a steam car, or horseless carriage, seemed a natural. The gasoline engine and pneumatic tire, however, made automobiles practical. Henry Ford's 1908 assembly line mass production of his Model T made owning a car affordable. This led to the growth of suburbs, superhighways, motels, road-trips, traffic jams, malls and, of course, fuzzy dice.

In the 1860s, the Central Pacific Railroad laid track eastward from Sacramento, California and the Union Pacific Railroad laid track westward from Omaha, Nebraska. Today's subways, light rail and ultra-fast bullet trains move commuters like crazy and make good action movie sequences.

Da Plane! Da Plane!

Leonardo da Vinci dreamed of flying machines with wings, but it took centuries to get the concept off the ground. The Montgolfier brothers were full of hot air when their balloon ascended in 1783. Orville and Wilbur Wright had the right stuff and flew the first successful airplane in 1903. Charles Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart flew far and solo, and Chuck Yeager broke the sound barrier. Today, airplanes carry millions of business, pleasure and military passengers. But airline food still hasn't improved much.

Oops...that last one's already happening. It's called the re-introduction of the Volkswagen Beetle.

We Get Game

Sports gained popularity as time lunged forward. While forms of games resembling soccer were played during the 10th century, life rarely allowed time-outs for recreation. Thank goodness for the 1600s, when the English played Rounders, a baseball predecessor, and Scotland saw early rounds of golf. By the 1800s many people led the sportin' life, including James Naismith who invented basketball, and the students of Canada's McGill University who scored with the first hockey rules.

Native American athlete Jim Thorpe won fame in early 20th century Olympic track and field, as well as football and baseball. Babe Didrickson, his female counterpart, excelled in golf as well as track and field.

As baseball became a pastime and football a passion, Babe Ruth and Hank Aaron belted pitches "outta here," Jackie Robinson broke color barriers, Joe Namath threw footballs and John Elway busted Broncos loose in the Super Bowl.

Today sports revolves around such stars as heavy-hitter Ken Griffey, Jr., golf sensation Tiger Woods and hoops immortal Michael Jordan. Amateur and school sports are also serious stuff. Millions are on the fast track with NASCAR auto racing, on the edge for extreme sports and in the ropes for wrestling.

Champs For Sale

What really makes an athlete like home run king Mark McGwire a hero? Getting on General Mills' Wheaties cereal box, of course. There's nothing flaky about the morning mania created since 1924 by "The Breakfast of Champions." Sports merchandising—from corporate-sponsored Bowl games to endorsement deals—seems like the hottest game in town.

Before modern boxing was introduced in the 1700s, the sport was brutal, with no rest periods or gloves allowed. Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis and Rocky Marciano emerge victorious in the 1900s. He also made heavyweight contributions to the community and human rights.

Served With Love

In the 1100s, the French originated tennis, calling it "jeu de paume" (game of the palm). Today it holds court as a major spectator and leisure sport. Star servers have included Don Budge, Helen Wills Moody, Arthur Ashe and 1973 "Battle of the Sexes" rivals Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs. Recent top seeds such as Pete Sampras and Martina Navratilova have settled for anything but love by dominating Wimbledon and other championships.

How Did It Come Into Play?

Baseball, bowling and other familiar sports didn't just appear out of the blue. Here's a roster of some game origins.

Baseball: Cooperstown, NY 1839. Abner Doubleday based his new sport on bat-and-ball games such as "one old cat." He adopted the diamond-shaped field for his game and assigned playing positions.

Bowling: Germany, third century. Every German peasant carried a club called a kegel for protection. In church, faith was tested by setting up the kegel as a target (representing the heathen) and rolling a stone to try to knock it down. Those who succeeded were considered free of sin.

Fencing: Italy, 16th century. Fencing began in ancient times as the practice of swordsmanship to prepare men for duels and warfare.

After Thomas Edison invented the commercial motion picture machine, the Kinetoscope, in 1893, projection machines greatly enlarged a film's image. This led to one of the 20th century's most popular forms of entertainment, the movie. Sunny Hollywood beckoned such film directors as D.W. Griffith, who revolutionized film editing with The Birth of a Nation in 1915. Silent films made quiet stars of comedian Charlie Chaplin, handsome Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Rudolph Valentino and Jean Harlow.

In the 1930s, audiences heard voices when "talkies" caught on after The Jazz Singer's premier in 1927. Screwball comedies including It Happened One Night thrust such stars as Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert into the limelight. Alfred Hitchcock made classic thrillers, and Frankenstein was a chiller. Casablanca dramatized war and Dr. Strangelove spoofed it. Marilyn Monroe and Audrey Hepburn lit up the screen, and Charlton Heston found fame of biblical proportions. John Wayne saved the day, and James Bond was never shaken or stirred. The Rat Pack cruised the Vegas strip and the Brat Pack cruised the halls in The Breakfast Club.

Blockbusters have ruled recent movies. Sylvester Stallone punched up Rocky. Harrison Ford dodged madmen and meteors in Star Wars and Raiders of the Lost Ark. Armageddon and Titanic astounded audiences with their mega-dollar budgets. Tom Hanks, Julia Roberts and Will Smith became idols at 24-screen multiplexes.

Seen In 3-D

Weapons flying past! Spaceships zooming above! Bwana Devil wowed tinted glasses-wearing crowds as the 3-D movie phenomenon burst from the screen in 1952. But high cost and poor quality made 3-D fall flat. Disney's Captain EO gloriously revived 3-D in the '80s and became an audience-grabber at Epcot Center. Now seven-story IMAX theaters, IMAX 3-D technology and simulator rides truly immerse viewers in movies.

Fate of the Union

From the wilderness came a nation ready to fight for freedom and survive all odds. Native Americans had lived in the continent long before European explorers and colonists arrived in the 16th century. Thirteen British colonies formed, and the Revolutionary War erupted when England tightened control, and Paul Revere warned of the oncoming British invasion. Independence and the United States of America were both declared in 1776.

The new nation weathered heat from France and Mexico, but acquired new territory such as the Louisiana Purchase. After gold in California was discovered in 1849, America heard the roar of the Civil War, Reconstruction and Native American warriors such as Geronimo. Industry growth fueled prosperity until

World War I and the beginning of the Great Depression. Two heroines, Rosie the Riveter and First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, emerged during World War II. Peace efforts chilled as the Cold War, Korean War and McCarthyism isolated the U.S. from Communist nations.

Life prospered in the suburbs and man rocketed into space, while civil rights struggles ignited. President John F. Kennedy was struck down, as were countless soldiers in Vietnam. Then President Richard Nixon struck out after the Watergate political scandal. The Gulf War, pollution and tragedies such as the Oklahoma City bombing hit hard in recent decades. Yet Americans still rally around the Stars and Stripes.

Betsy Ross was a well-known Philadelphia seamstress. In 1776, the young widow was approached by George Washington's Continental Congress committee to sew the first official U.S. flag per their 13 stars/13 stripes design. With the speed of Paul Revere, she finished it off as a July 4th accompaniment to The Declaration of Independence, which laid the foundation for the United States of America.

The 1920s roared with prosperity until October 29, 1929, Black Tuesday, when the New York Stock Exchange crashed and millions of shares of stock were suddenly dumped, plunging many into poverty. Franklin D. Roosevelt defeated President Herbert Hoover in the 1932 election. Roosevelt worked to end the Great Depression with the New Deal. Since then, America has survived inflation, recession, tax cuts, and somehow, lunchroom food.

A Divided Nation

Super Stock

President Abraham Lincoln called it "A House Divided." The United States was unofficially split between the North (the Union), which sought to abolish slavery and modernize America, and the South (the Confederacy), which favored preserving slavery and an agrarian lifestyle. From 1861 to 1865, the bloody Civil War raged until General Robert E. Lee's Confederate army surrendered to General Ulysses S. Grant's Union force. Slavery was abolished and the United States became one nation again.

"I Have a Dream that my children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Washington, D.C., protesters in 1963.

His non-violent approach helped advance civil rights for all races. Other warriors for racial equality include anti-segregationist Rosa Parks, and Jesse Jackson, who pushed for African-American economic power.

It was a simpler time called "The Good Old Days." The front porch, or stoop, was the nightly gathering place for several generations of family and friends. Role models such as astronaut Sally Ride and Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor opened still more doors.

In the late 1800s, some newspapers took Freedom of the Press too far. To gain new readership, some of America's leading newspapers began sensationalizing accounts of Spanish oppression in Cuba to provoke America's entry into the Spanish-American War. After this outbreak of "yellow journalism," news media took great measures to heighten credibility, though tabloid-style reporting still exists. On the flip side, investigative reporting gained popularity in the 1970s by exposing government corruption, such as Watergate, as well as improper business practices.

Ring Ma Bell

"Mr. Watson, come here," said Alexander Graham Bell into the telephone he developed in 1876. It's become one of today's most valuable communication devices, linking people throughout the world at lightning speed. From the telephone's humble beginnings have emerged high-speed fiber optic networks, fax machines, cellular phones, computer modems and videophones. There's some connection here.

Get The Message Already?

People spoke, wrote letters and sent messengers before this millennium but communication was usually local and slow. Most Middle Ages books were religious because church leaders were among the few who could read. Monks copied books by hand and town criers were heard since they announced news. Printed books of the Renaissance allowed the masses to read the Bible and other works. By the 1600s, newspapers enabled inquiring minds to read ship schedules. Benjamin Franklin helped establish regular postal service in the 1700s and the Pony Express ran mail cross-country in the 1800s.

While steamships and locomotives sped the spread of news, it wasn't until Samuel Morse invented the telegraph in the 1840s that coded messages were transmitted rapidly. Cameras, the typewriter, telephone, phonograph and motion pictures put communications on an even faster track.

Advances came in short and long waves when Guglielmo Marconi invented radio. Television was perfected, and tape recorders came into play. Since the 1960s, communication satellites relayed TV, radio and other signals across the planet. Computers and modems instantly processed data, and the Internet linked the world. Broadcast journalists, such as 20/20's Barbara Walters, fueled the rise of information junkies. Fiber optics, VCRs, CD-ROMs and HDTV not only furthered technology but gave adults lots of expensive new toys.
