Maroon and White 1978

Past-Times, what does that mean? After long deliberation, we decided to incorporate the two main ideas that we had into one basic theme.

The idea behind this book is to capture a large portion of student life — both in school and out of it, because we realize that a high school student is more than Social Studies classes and formal club shots that look like firing squads.

Also, we would like to instill some memories in your minds. In the color section, we included shots that are familiar to most students. Hopefully, a few years from now, you will open this book and remember them as old familiar spots in Bay Shore.

With these ideas, we tried to blend the old with the new, and the nostalgic with the modern. Together, we feel that we are representing the uniqueness and individuality that this school and all of its students possess.

Thus, we present Past-Times, Maroon and White 1978.

Dedicated to Mr. Anderson

Your classroom comes alive.
 No longer do we read (the classics)
 We live them.
 And somehow
 We have a different life through you
 With you
 learning is like going to Europe
 We leave
 our desks
 our chairs
 our rooms
 And enter a world where we learn that we

Are not that much different than the people in the Iliad
 We are quite similar to the Chinese
 We are lucky
 to get to know them
 They become friends
 you can rely on
 And eternal teachers.

BOCES . . .

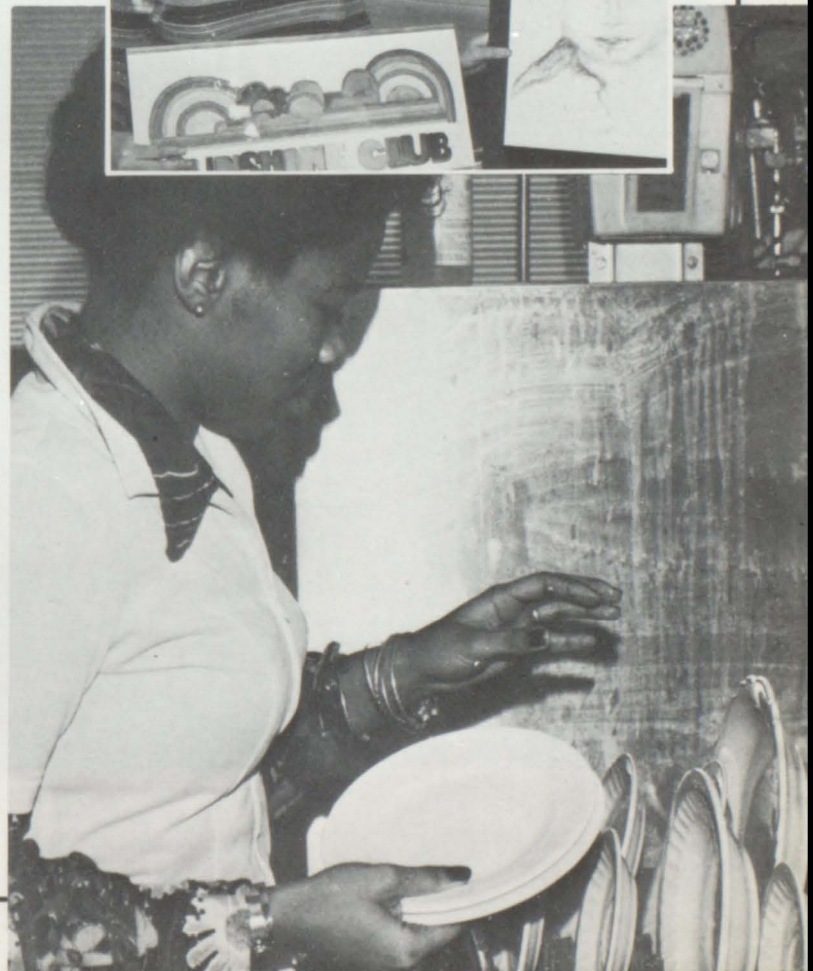

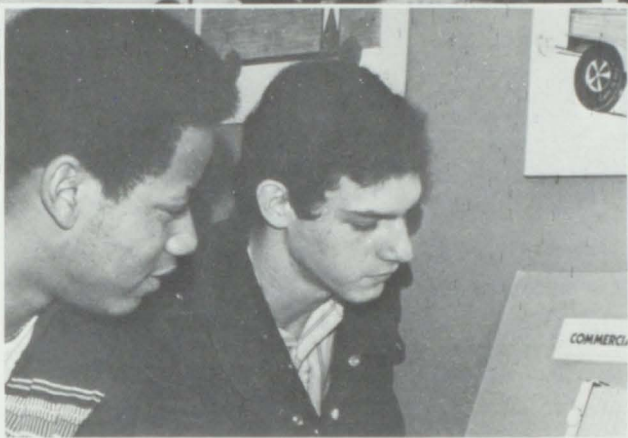

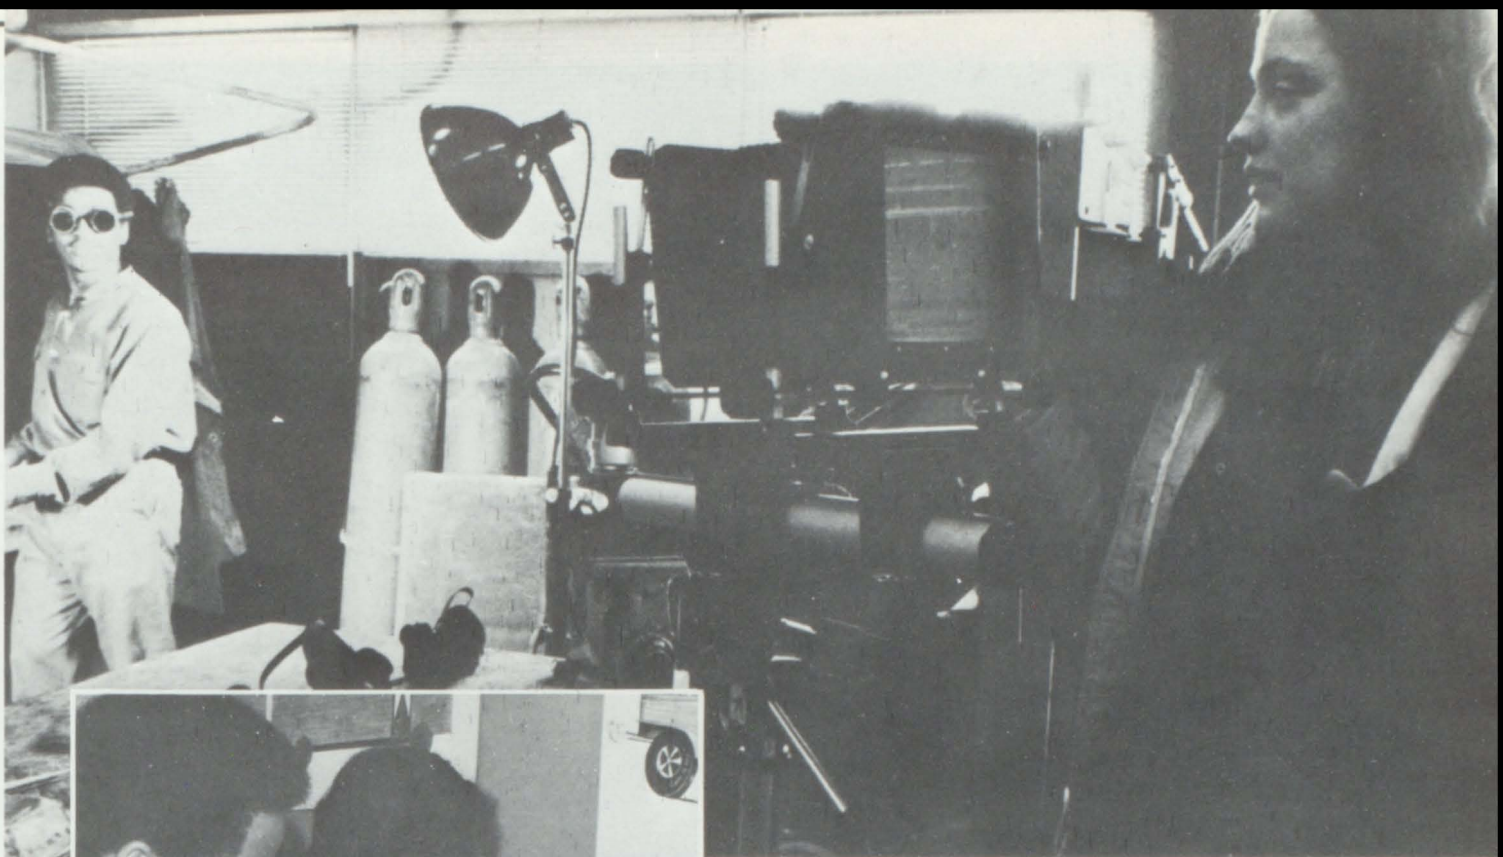

What is BOCES?

It is not only a building where classes are held, but it is an experience; it is a chance to learn a skill that can be put to use once the student graduates.

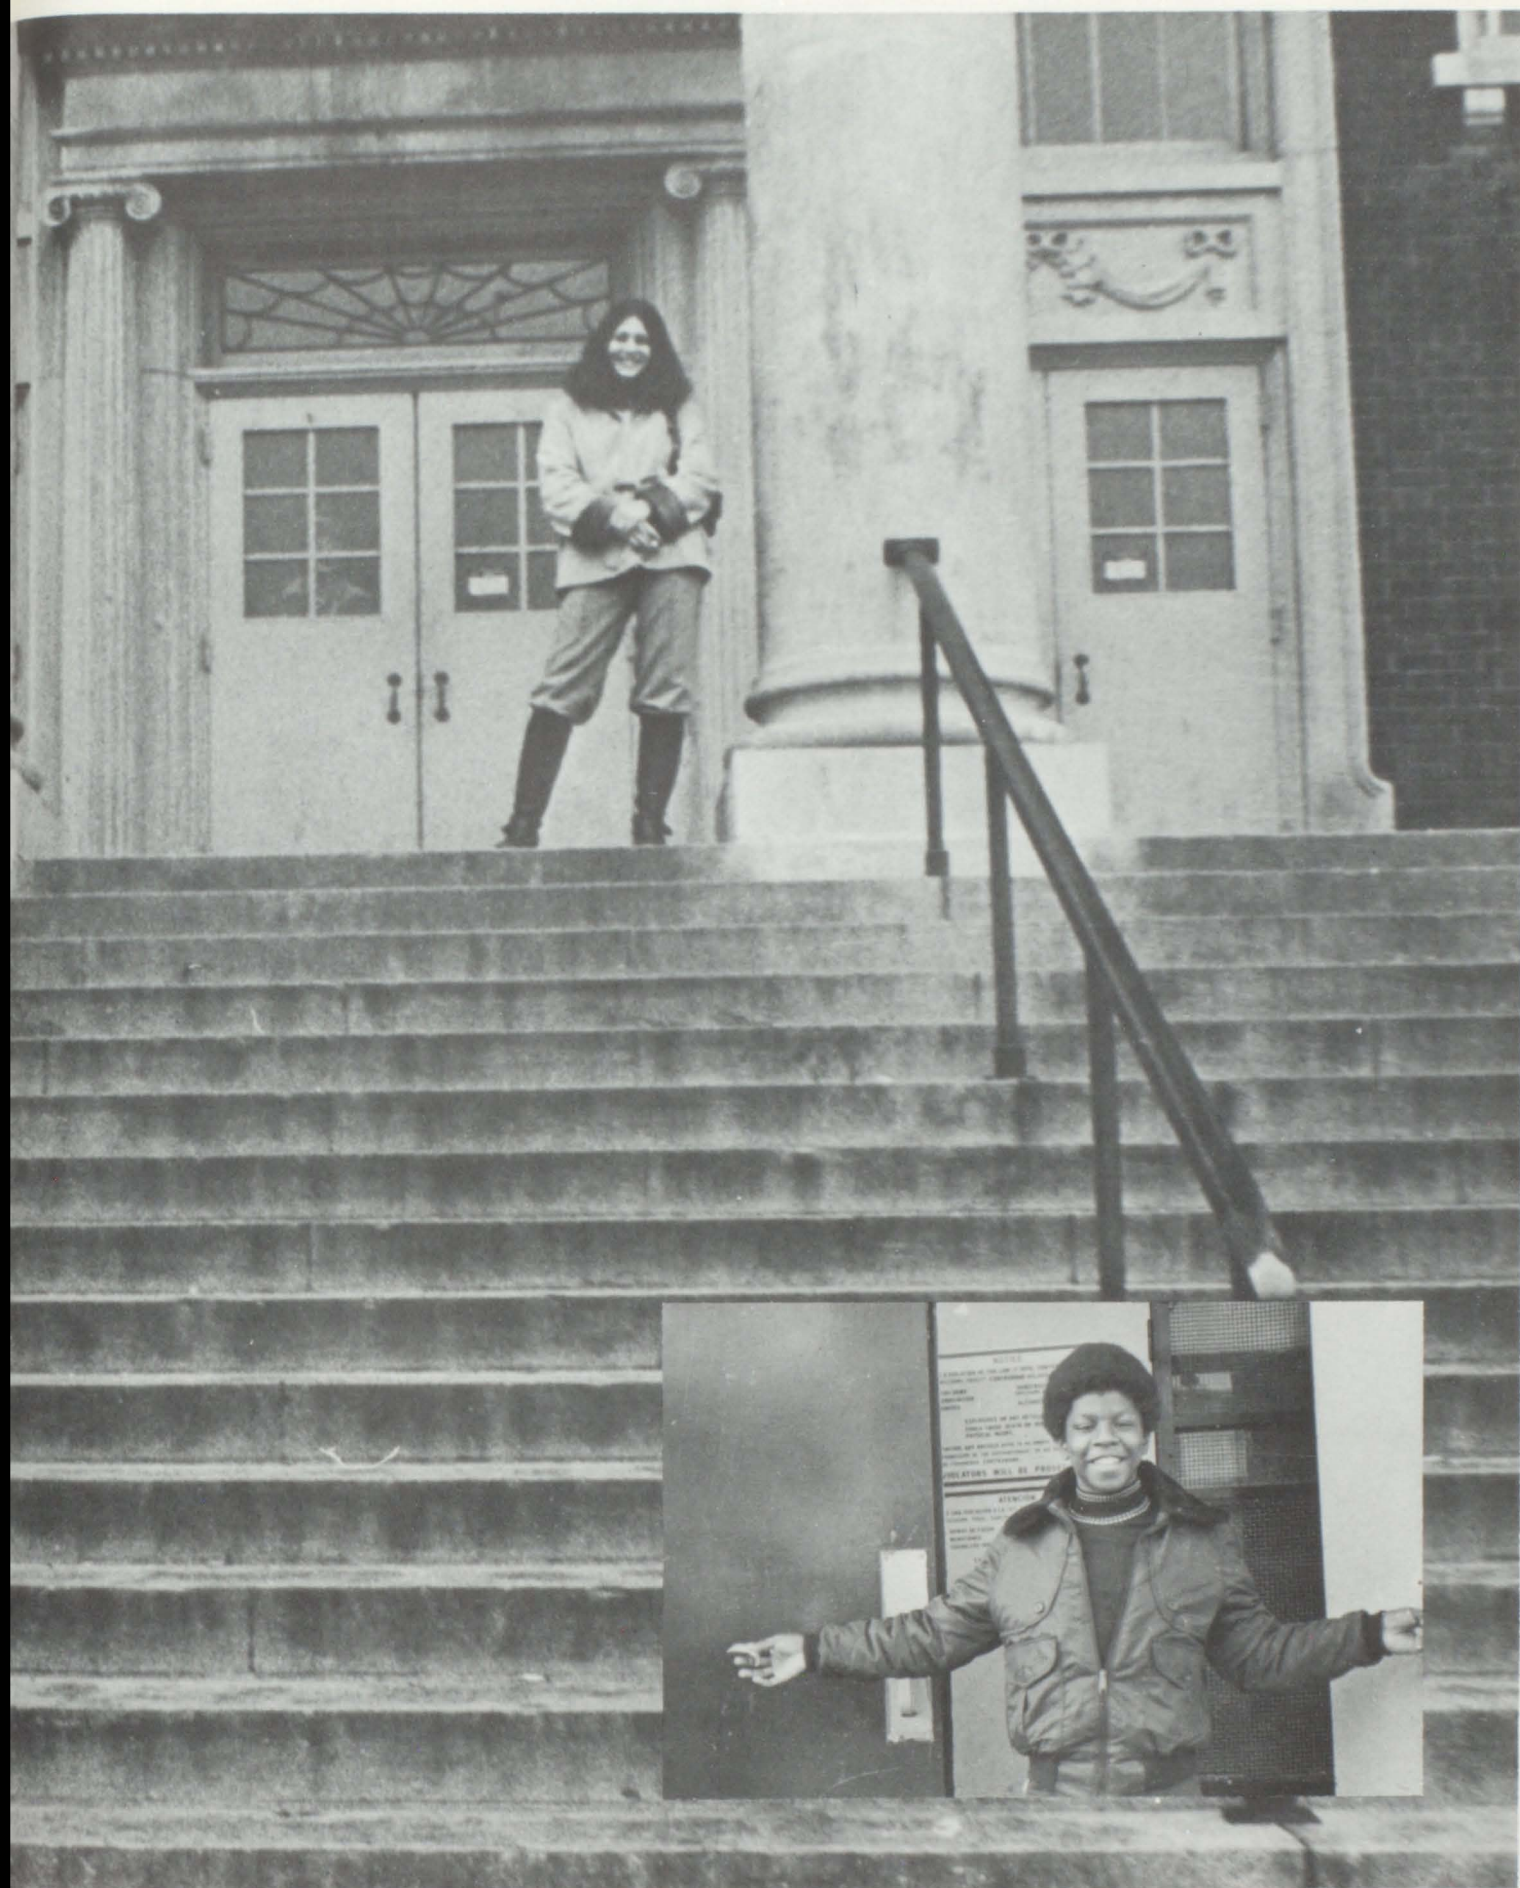

Credits toward graduation are earned by going to BOCES. As one walks through the corridors of the building, no one is seen and it seems that there must be quite a bit of discipline to keep the students in the classrooms. However, as one goes into a classroom, one encounters a friendly banter of comments. Everyone helps everyone else out and at times, photography students are found in other classrooms, on assignment.

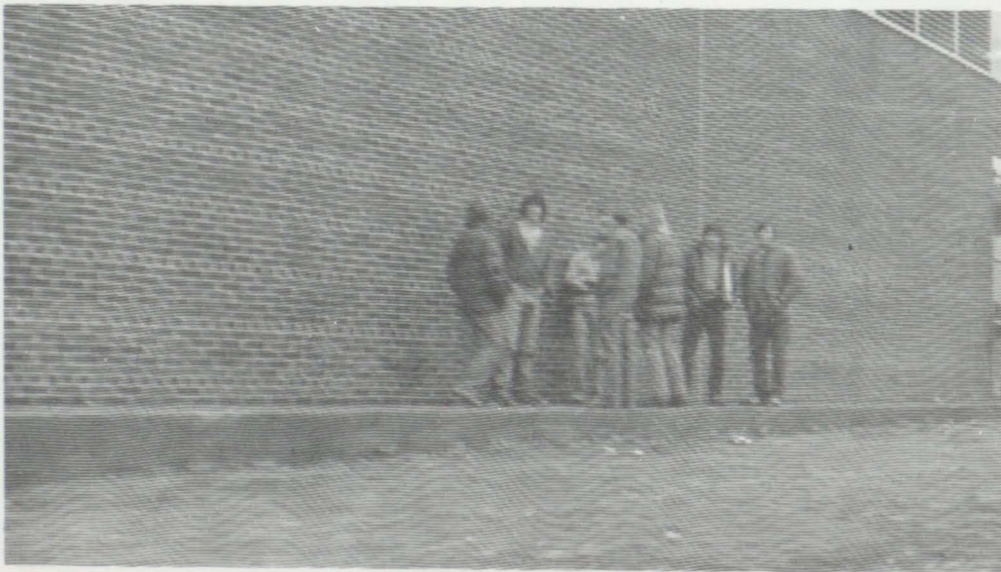

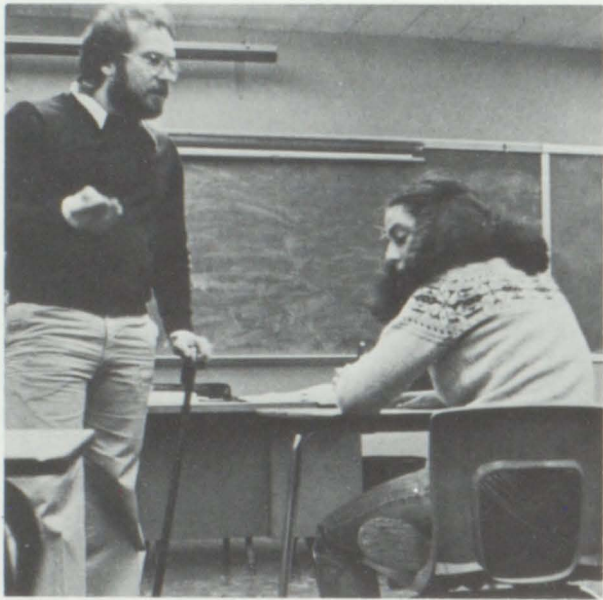

The reason why the corridors are empty is because the students want to be there and they are too busy enjoying themselves in class.

This was not a good season for the mauraders. Despite numerous practices and drills, the mauraders suffered through a disappointing season of 0-8, losing the last game by a forfeit.

The team also suffered many personal injuries. Quarterback Dick Strine, suffered a knee injury that reoccurred throughout the season. Joe Puzo broke his finger in the middle of the season — causing a revision in the team's line up.

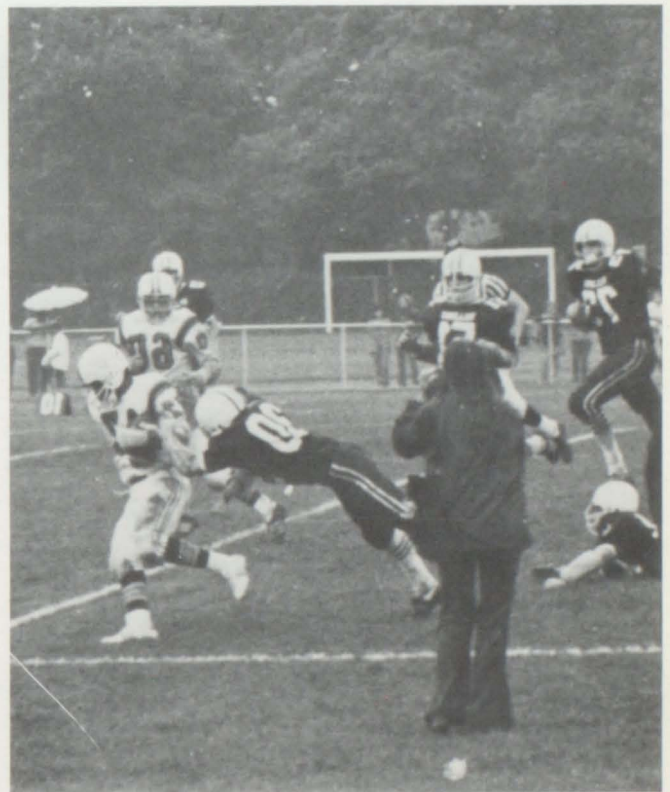

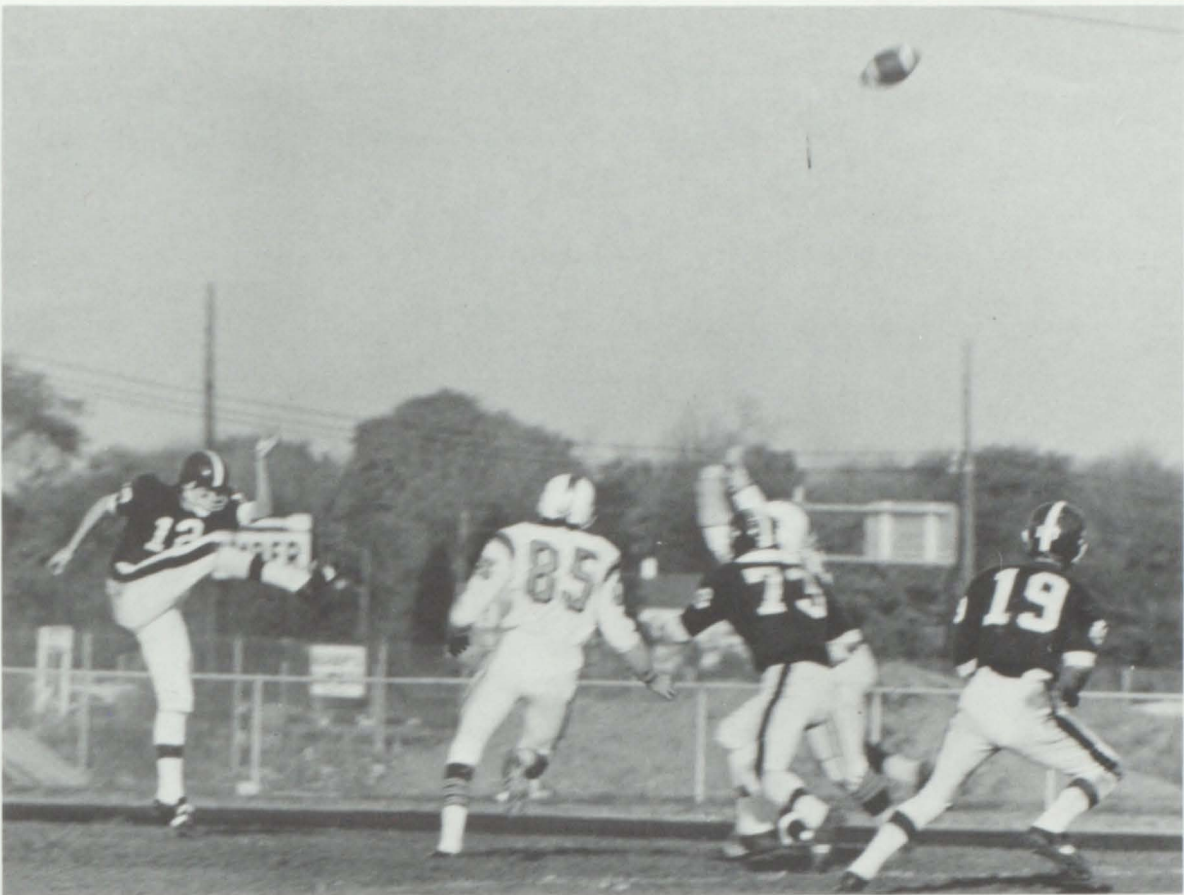

The second game of the season against Smithtown West, was the closest game for the mauraders 21-20. Andy Parucci scored three touchdowns and gained over 100 yards on the ground.

The last game of the season was to be played against East Islip but ended in forfeit. Sadly, it was Coaches Joe Erickson & Dick Strine last games as coaches. The team hoped to bring Mr. Erickson career victories to 99 but the forfeit caused it to remain at 98.

The circumstances surrounding the forfeit dampened the morale of the team considerably. "I guess it was just a lack of team effort throughout the season and losing the last game this way makes it all the more obvious," concluded one team member.

The team had strong individual performances from punter Aaron Martin, Andy Parucci, Scott Baer, Pete DeNatalie, and Gary Arnold. Besides being an outstanding player and co-captain, Ken Romanzi was the only member of the team to be named All-League.

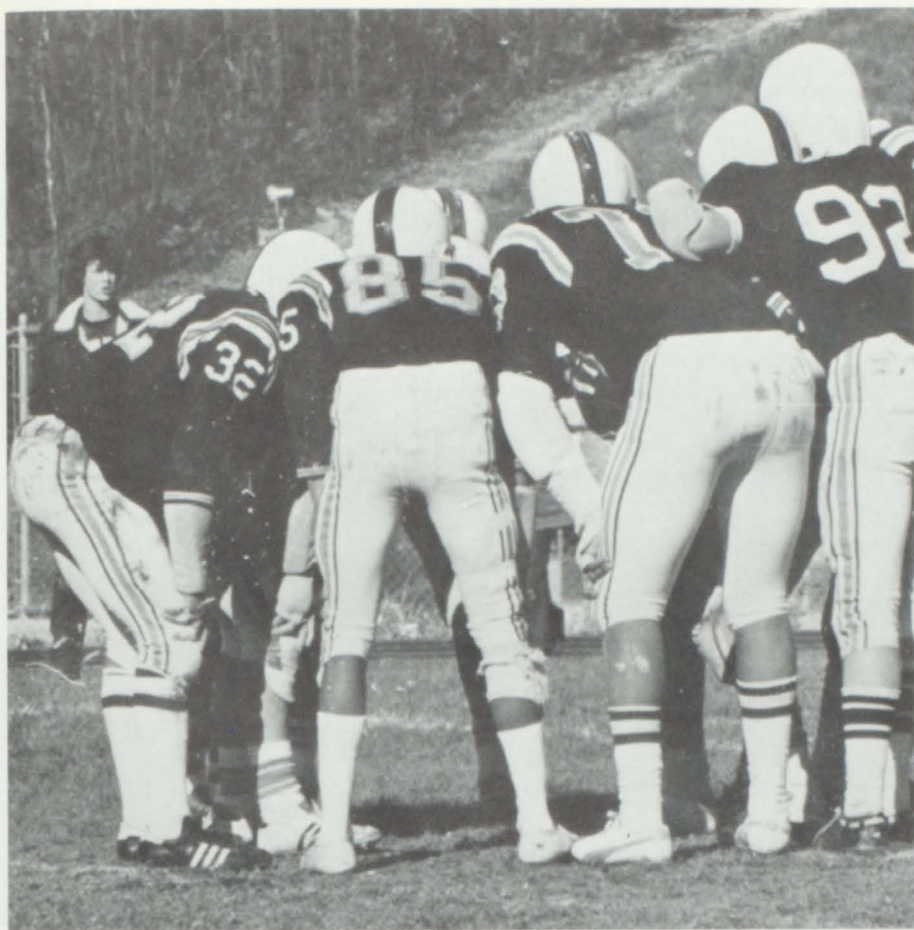

The team's coach Joe Erickson displayed undying faith in the boys' ability despite the disappointing season. He concluded, "If I had to, I'd do it all again."

Marching Band ...

Every 5E, one could go out to the football field and listen to the popular songs of the year. Why? Because the marching band was practicing out there and they played and performed to popular music. In fact, under the playing, one could almost hear the players counting to themselves: one, two, three, turn left, eight paces, turn left again and then two steps to the right.

The performances during half-time at home football games always out did the one before it.

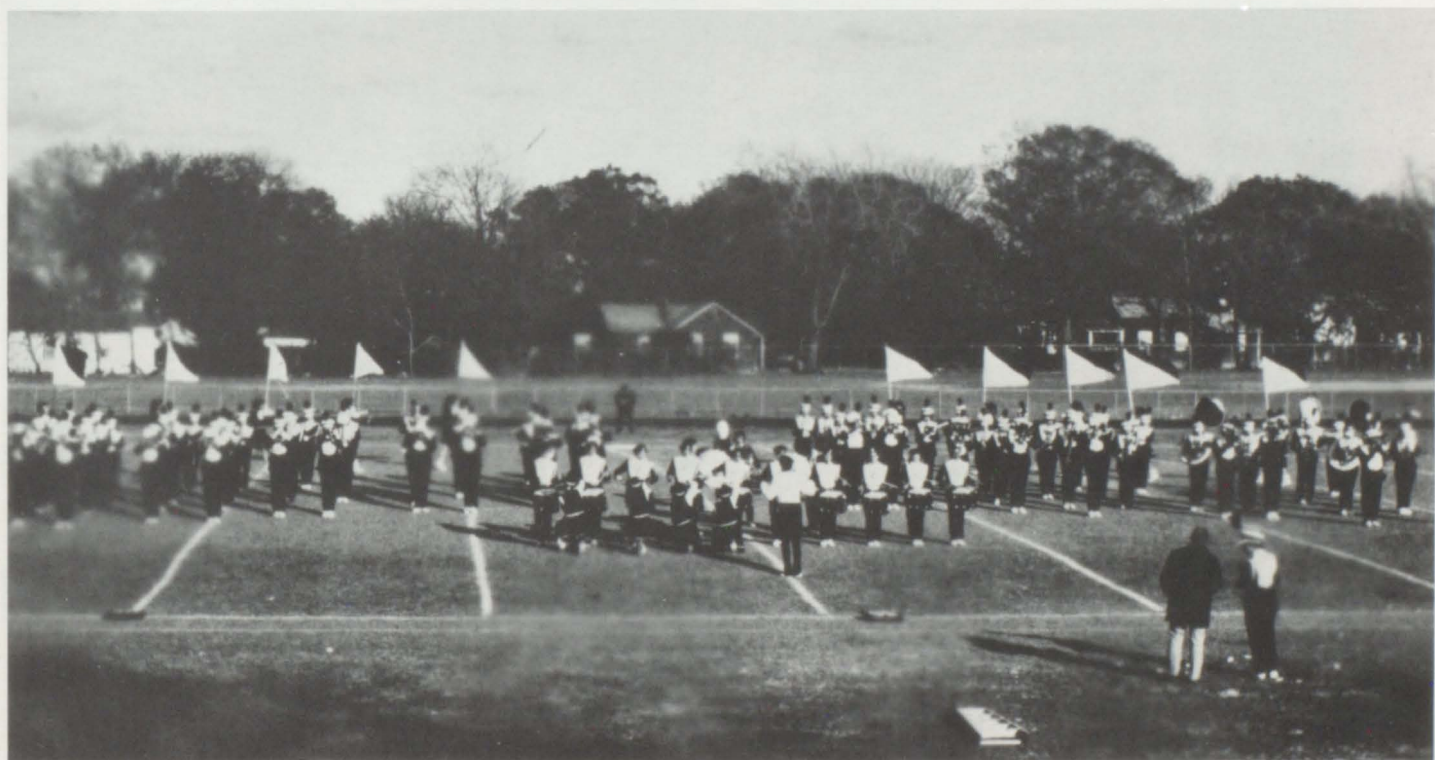

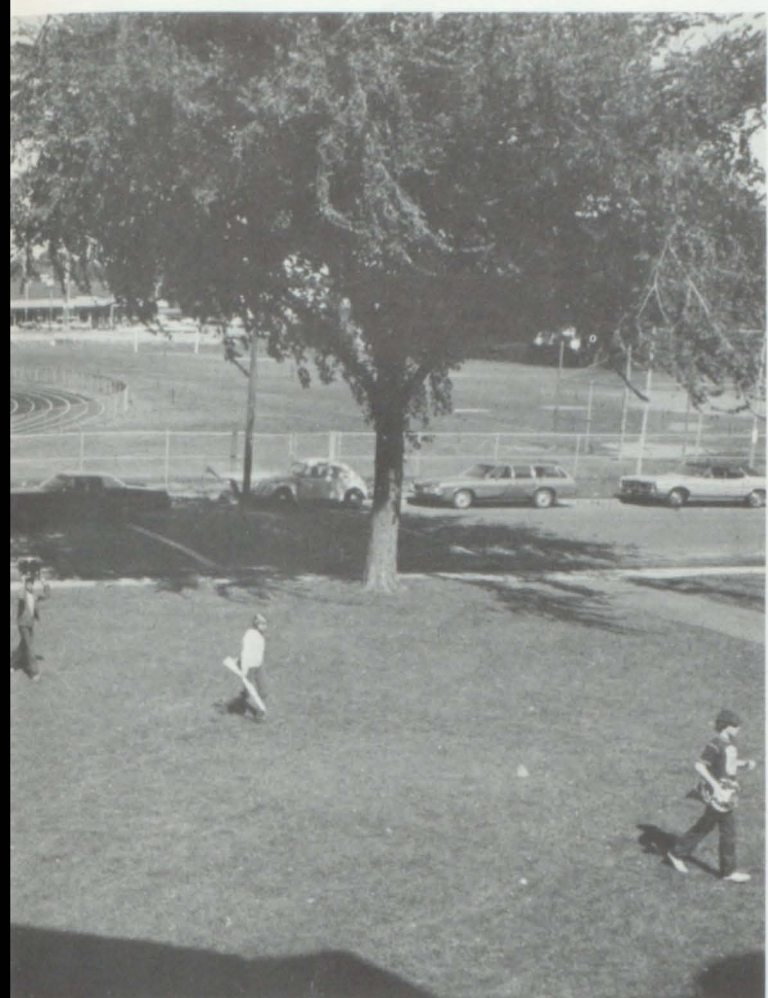

However, they were not merely fair-weather musicians, as long as the rain maintained itself at a drizzle or a mist, the marching band was out there practicing. They had to get used to it: football games were not cancelled because of rain and if no other spectators showed up, at least there would be the marching band to cheer them on.

The members resigned themselves to their fate quite stoically; once it was known they had to be there, they set out to have a good time. And a good time they had: they brought not only confetti to the games, but also school spirit and although it had no effect on the other team, it usually managed to unnerve the visiting spectators. By the end of the season, the Marching Band knew every cheer possible.

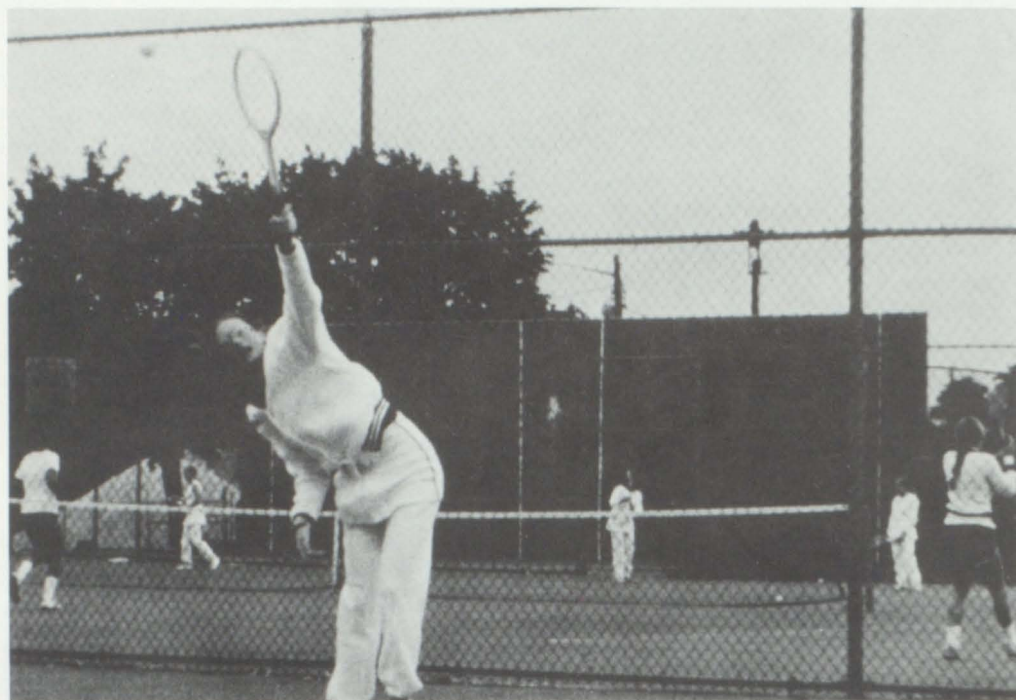

But even when football season is long over, one can still imagine that he hears echoes of music and one, two, three, turn left ...

From I View

Varsity Tennis

The girls varsity tennis team ended one of its most successful seasons with a league record of 14-0, placing first in the league.

Lissa Tuffin and Kim Tidwell represented the team at the New York State regionals as the number two doubles teams in Suffolk County. The girls went on to win the Consolation Finals of New York State.

The team is still growing, as most players will be returning next season. Top three single players Jane Van Nostrand, Adriane Tilbor, and Allison Ettlinger will also be returning.

Coach Eleanor Eckman commented on the teams winning season, "This is the best team I've ever had in the way they worked together as a team and as individual players."

The girls' Varsity Field Hockey team finished up its season in fourth place scoring 5-5-3 overall and 4-5-3 in its league.

"The team is much better than the scores indicate," commented Coach Karen Kauer. She cited the teams' solid defense and solid offense as prime examples.

Strong individual performances were given by Edith Polvay, who led the offense with six goals, Donna Cronin, Novis Witherspoon and Lee Anne Tierney with one goal each.

The defense was led by Pat Skala and Lisa Pappas, who were selected for All-League. Pat Skala was also selected for All-Conference. Goalie Lorraine Vecchio had 56 saves for the season.

Although this season was not as effective as previous years, the team looks forward to regaining second place next year.

Girls' Junior Varsity Field Hockey

Front Row: Kim Cambria, Laura Vesey, Suzie Given, Sue Metzger, Sharon Dudley, Dana Burns, Jeanne McCormick.
Back Row: Denise Busch, Robin Schneider, Tammy Goodger, Joanne Doeblor, Jennifer Aries, Karen Dozier, Carol Atterbury, Vicki Hubbard.

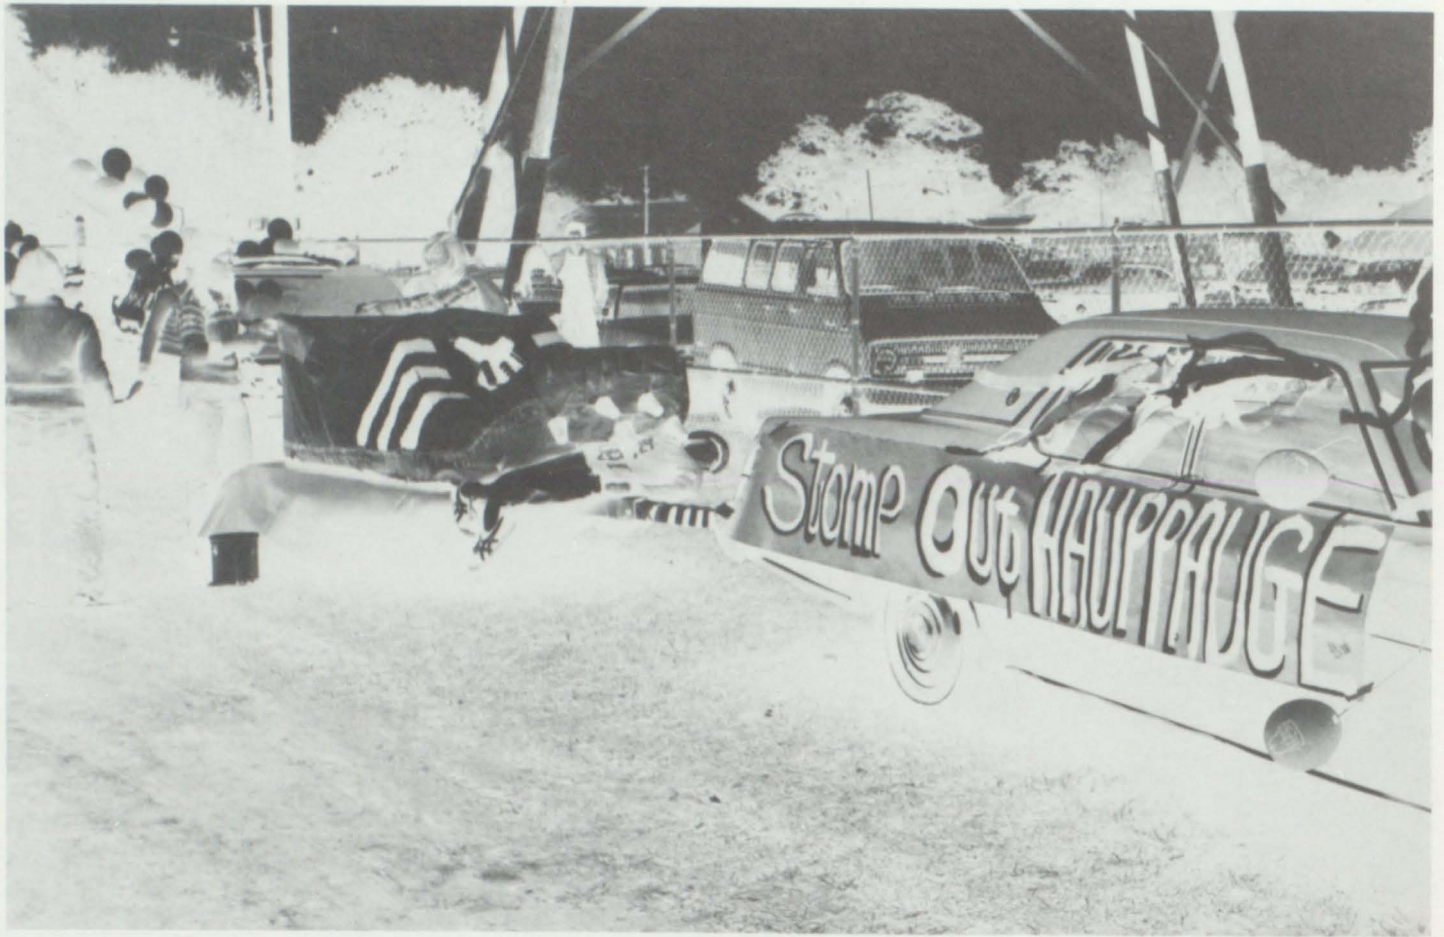

The girls' Junior Varsity Field Hockey team had a very successful season — suffering only one loss, to Smithtown West — their rival for first place.

The teams hopes were surpassed when they were able to play more games than they had anticipated but still had time to brush up on basic skills.

The team tied the game with Smithtown placing them in line for first place.

Sophomore Jennifer Aries summed up her feelings for the season by commenting, "We work together and we're close. Our basic skills are excellent."

Homecoming '78 ...

Homecoming weekend, a somewhat buried event in the past at Bay Shore High School, enjoyed a spirited revival this year. On October 22, a crowd rivaling any other that has strained the creaking timbers of the bleachers turned out for the homecoming game against Hauppauge.

Weekend festivities began that Friday evening as the fall teams were introduced at a pep rally and bonfire. The boisterous crowd displayed a great deal of enthusiasm in anticipation of the upcoming game.

A great deal of planning went into planning the successful weekend. Each class and several clubs constructed floats which were presented at half-time. The entries paraded around the track while the band played a special selection of music.

At the end of the performance each of the varsity cheerleaders received carnations from the football team's offensive line. Then, while the crowd remained silent, the Homecoming Queen was announced. Lorna Davidson was awarded this honor by the varsity football team.

First prize in the float contest went to the class of 1978 which constructed a football cleat "stomping out" Hauppauge. Classes of '80 and '79 received second and third place respectively. Maroon Echo and BSOSS received honorable mentions for their contributions.

"We didn't win the game," concluded senior Diane Clehane, "but it was great. This is the most school spirit I've seen in the three years I've been here."

For the first time in Bay Shore's history, the girls gymnastics team won the league banner — ending their best season ever. The team was undefeated in the league championships and their season record stood 8-3.

Captain Debbie Gravina, Terry Graziani and freshman Karen Jao represented Bay Shore in the league championships.

Outstanding players of the season were Karen Sammis on the floor & uneven parallel bars, Maureen Costello on the beam, and Debbie Bonilla as an all around gymnast.

Despite the change in season, which cost the team fine players, they seemed no worse for it.

Senior Terry Graziani summed up her feelings by saying, "It was a very rewarding season filled with spirit and determination."

One of Bay Shore's largest and oldest organizations, the drama club, has extended itself into the community.

The club became involved in the town's beautification project by painting old buildings on Main Street.

"The play's the thing" was the club's unofficial motto as drama club members participated in the Performing Arts Department's fall production of Guys and Dolls, under the direction of Mr. Ronald O'Neill. In the spring, the drama club presented the comedy *M*A*S*H*, also directed by Mr. O'Neill, the club's advisor.

Mr. O'Neill and the club members take their work seriously. The productions take months of preparation. Benefit performances for senior citizens also are part of the club's services.

Besides the major presentations, the drama club has given major contributions to the community in the form of time and energy.

The Backstage Club; the people who make sure that the sets are built, the lights are right, the scenery is changed at the right time. And yet, they never get recognition. Oh, sure, they're asked to come out the night of the show, but they never share the glamour or adoration of the crowds the way the actors do. The night of the show, they are still in blue jeans, T-shirts and sneakers.

But the lack of glamour and prestige did not dissuade a small group of a dedicated few to join the ranks of those who are never thanked for the countless hours after school. All day Saturdays working to get the job done in time for opening night.

Without this group, the actors would be almost helpless and the members of the Backstage Club offer their assistance at every turn. And so, on behalf of all, we thank them for their dedication and devotion in helping make the theatrical productions at Bay Shore High what they are.

Boys Basketball ...

Varsity

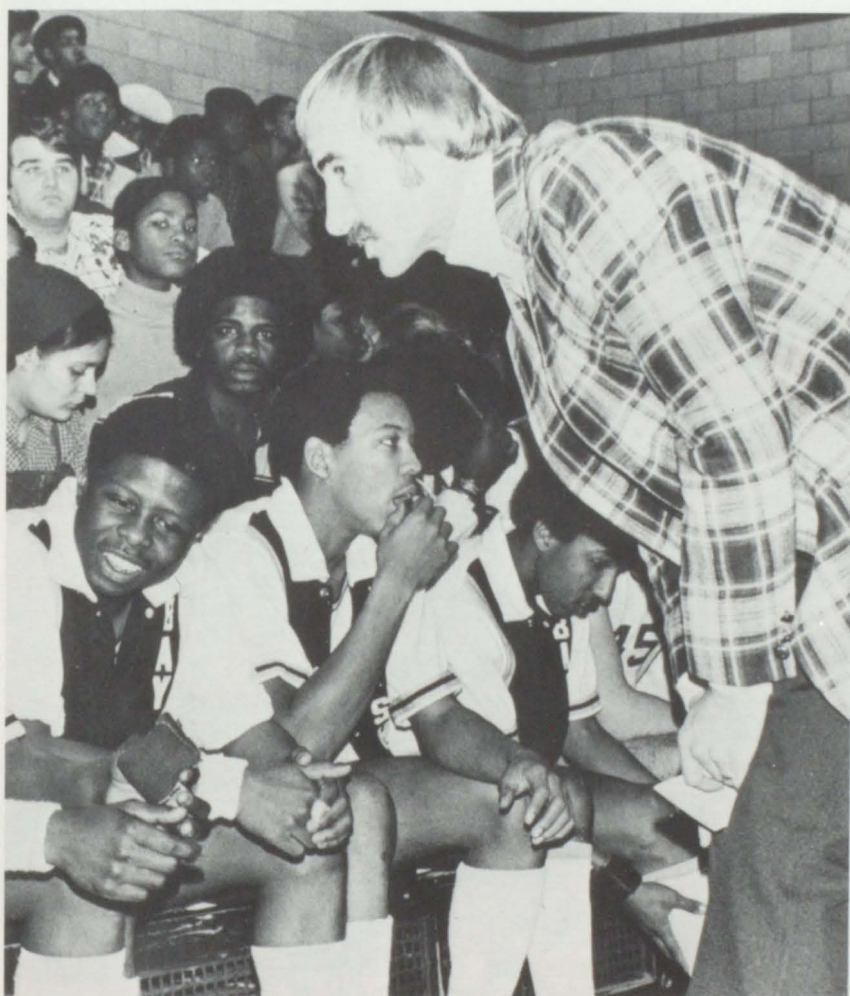

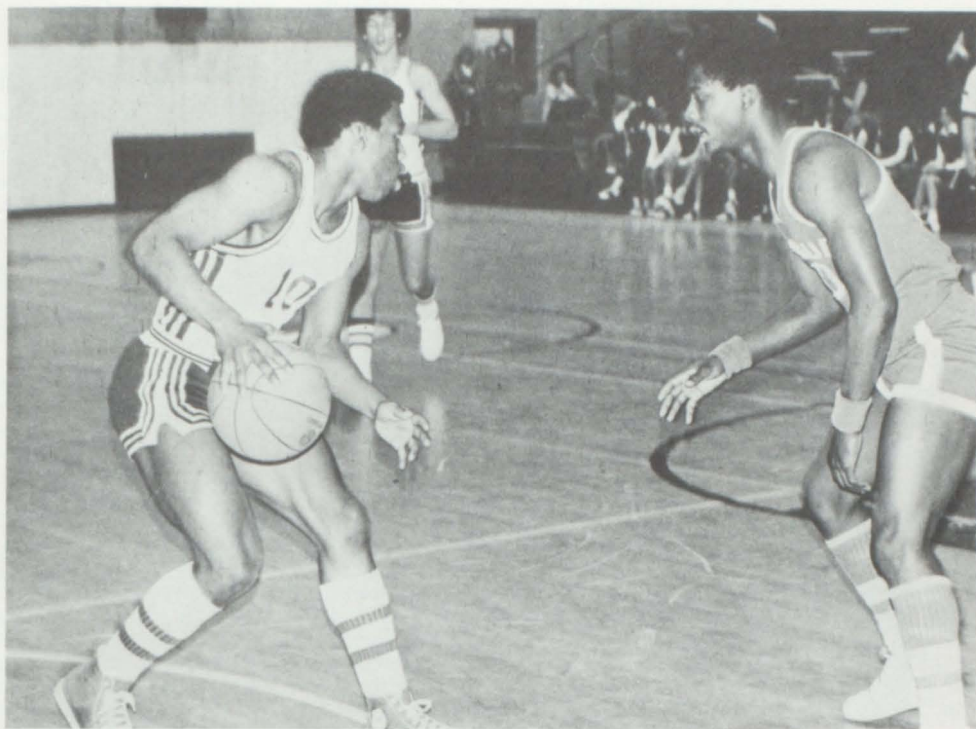

After a somewhat disappointing beginning, the varsity basketball team pulled a surprising comeback. The teams record (league and non-league was 7-5).

Coach Ben Mahler explained the team's turn about as, "Mistakes — thats all. In the beginning we were making a lot of mistakes and it cost us. Then we really started to work and it showed."

Key players for the season were Allen Jonathan, Jon Schwartz, Waverly Patrick, Keith Belfield and Ralph Barns.

Although the team will have to say good-bye to many senior members the team is confident about next year because of the successful season of both the J.V. and freshmen teams.

J.V.

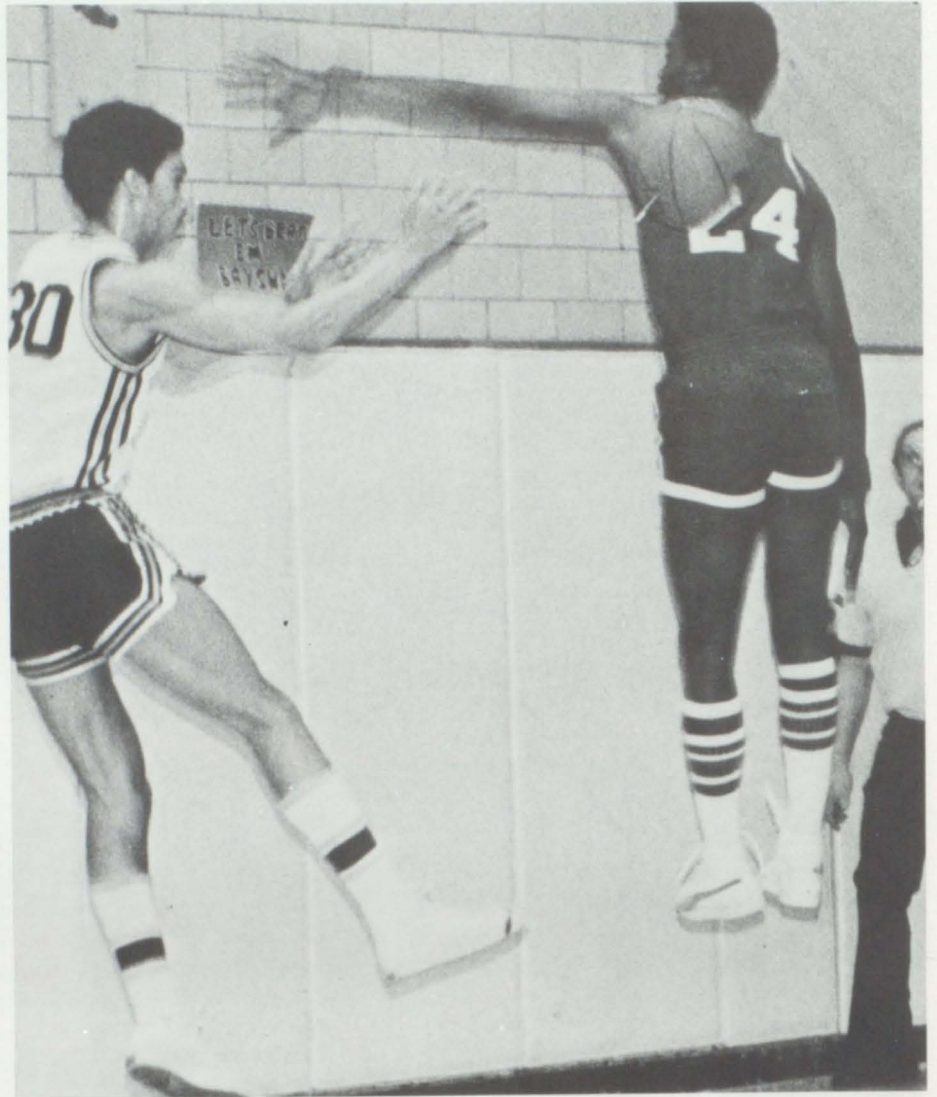

This year's J.V. basketball team has proven to be one of the best in Bay Shore's history.

With an overall record of 11-3 it captured first place in its league.

The team had to contend with a serious problem — lack of height. Fortunately the team's talent carried the problem. Freshmen Mike Schlegel joined the team in mid-season and became one of leaders in scoring and rebounds.

Other key players noted were Mike Brown and Derek Easley.

Coach John Cody commented on the winning season by saying: "We worked as a team not as individuals and that's the key to our success."

Girls' Varsity Basketball ...

Kneeling: Jomari Jefferson, Maureen McClendon, Kim Pacheco, Pam Wightman, Iris Holoman. Standing: Sue Metzger, Pat McCaffrey, Novis Witherspoon, Gina Day, Lee Anne Tierney. Missing: Edith Polvay, Karen Dozier. Coach: Miss Kauer.

The girls' varsity basketball team did not have one of its better seasons. The team placed fourth in its league with a 4-4 record.

Inconsistency was cited as the team's major problem and good shooters was noted as the team's strong point.

The team's top two scorers were freshman Kim Pacheco and senior Novis Witherspoon. Iris Holoman led the defense.

Coach Kauer notes the team is optimistic because most of the team is returning and this will enable them to regain their higher standing in the league.

Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball ...

As basketball has always been one of the school strong points, this season proved to be very disappointing to the girls.

Their record for the season stood at 3-9; they attributed their poor showing to lack of height, the teams tallest member being 5'8".

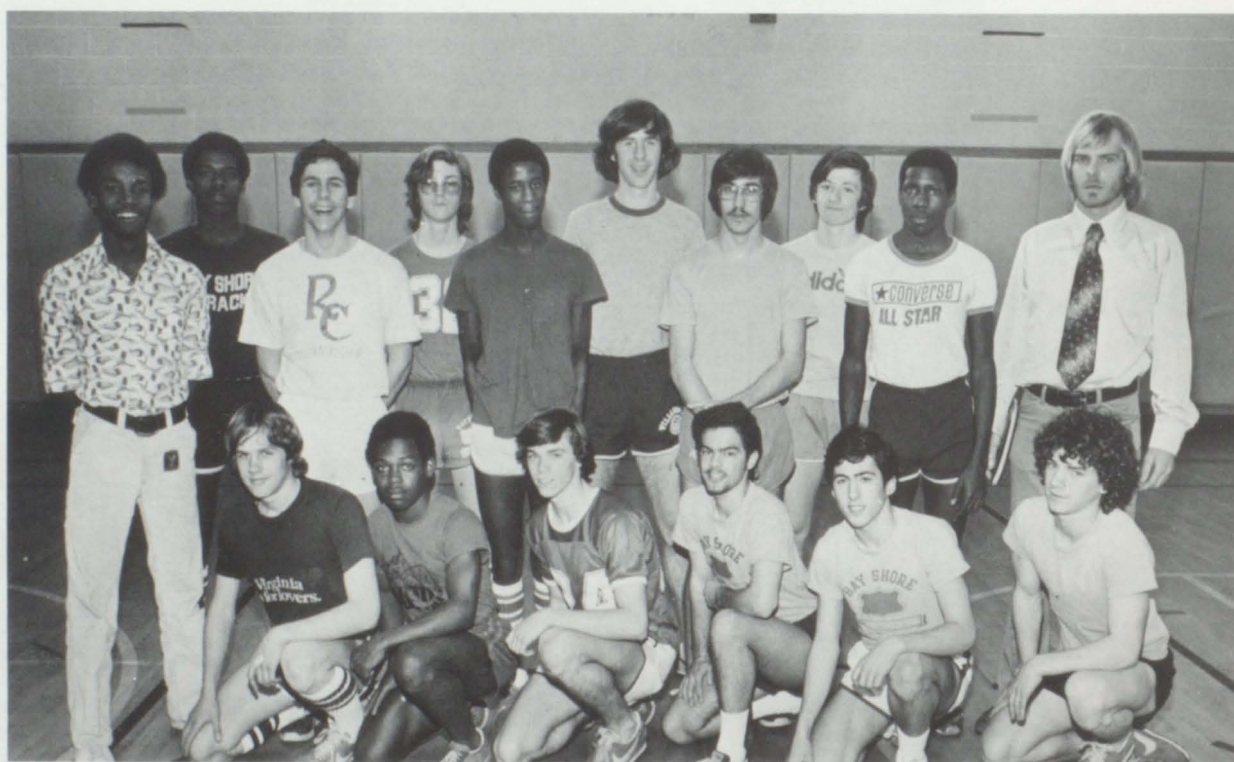

Good performances for the years were given by Tracey Brown on offense and Alvin Scott on defense.

Kneeling: Marlene Cimino, Dana Byrne. Standing: Jackie Sells, Kim Cambria, Darrell Doeblor, Tracey Brown, Eileen Reilly, Tawanna Wallace, Anna Amador. Coach: Mr. Paul Powell

Top: Bob Komoroski, Mike Alfano.

Braving the winter blizzards and biting cold, the winter track team had a tremendous season. With the largest turnout ever, led by members of the cross country team, the team took command of its league early in the season — quickly defeating Hauppauge, Northport, and Smithtown West. The only real competition forseen by the Marauders was Centereach — the champions for the last two years, who felled the Mauraunders 64-37.

Many an afternoon had been spent practicing on the second floor of the high school — which proved to be a successful training ground.

The team's many outstanding players included co-captains Lance Jackson, Jon Perrotto, and Mike Alfano, Joe Fischetti, Larry Brown, Mike Baratta, and Doug Winter.

The team captured the league county and conference championships under the direction of coaches Mr. Steve Borbet and Eddie Barnes. The team's most definitely the most successful of any of the high school has ever had. It went farther in any events than any of the winter sport teams in recent years. Another happy addition included a girls' team to accomodate the exceptionally large number of girls on this year's team.

"It's a big responsibility to be on a winning team," commented one member, "but I love it and I'm very proud."

The Brothers and Sisters Organization for Student Scholarships (B.S.O.S.S.) raises money for those members who wish to continue their education after graduation. The organization is open to all students, and this year's B.S.O.S.S. had over twenty members.

B.S.O.S.S.' various fund-raising activities included selling popcorn at football and basketball games, dances and car washes. The proceeds from these activities were divided among members of B.S.O.S.S. who graduated this year and are going on to college.

Bowling Team ...

Mr. John Morrison, Frank DeRosa, Ed Sconzo, James Jackson, Laurence Hoch, Billy Birkmeier, Linden Hoch

Led by defending Suffolk County Singles Champion Frank DeRosa, the Varsity Bowling team came back from a frustrating start, winning sixty of the last sixty-six points to finish in third place in League III with a record of 73-59. DeRosa had the highest average on the team (176) and received capable support from Jeff Roberson, Mike Collins, captain Laurie Cafaro, Ed Sconzo, and Jim Jackson. Lindon Hoch, Bill Birkmeier, and Jeff Bloom completed the roster.

Chess Team ...

Seated: Pam Giltman, Stephen Holtje, Charles Coulverson, Norman Oder. Standing: Charles Vozzo, Glenn Karmer, Mark Weinberg, Steve Isaacs.

Kings were captured and knights were duelled. This was not a line from sophomore studies history text but rather one member of the chess team assessing his latest match.

Every Tuesday afternoon the small group of players met with veteran advisor Walter Titus for mental competition.

The team has placed first in its league for the last five years and they managed to hold that position this year.

Steve Holtje played first board along with Steve Isaacs, Norman Oder, Charles Coulverson, and Charles Vozzo. The back up team included Mark Weinberg, Mert Sells, and Pam Giltman.

Chess is not a simple sport (the members actually study moves, theories, and logic in order to play better). Many members are tired of being labeled "egg heads", but if that's what it takes to be number one in the league, then, as the entire team sees it, it's worth it.

Math Team ...

$\frac{\sqrt{a^2-b^2-4ac}}{2}$ may seem impossible for some, but to the "Mathletes", it's the classic challenge.

The team consisted of an A and a B team; each had five members who competed in six questions. The letter was not an indication of the member's skill on the team, but that is how the team was divided.

The top scorers this year were Norman Oder, Glenn Kramer, and Bruce Yirinec. Junior Norman Oder scored a perfect six this year — a feat that has been accomplished three times in Bay Shore history.

Coach R. McLaughlin reflected by saying, "These kids are good as long as they work at it. I only hope that our next season is as successful — I think it will be, as long as the underclassmen who are now on the team return."

Government Club ...

Sitting: Carol Lamont, Kathy Kraven, Mike Flemming, Adam Schaeffer. Standing: Mr. A. Stern, Rich Tremmel, Bob Friedman, Walter Schlemmer, Gary Spruch.

A long standing activity in Bay Shore High School, the government club has spent this year organizing activities that benefited the entire school.

Career day, which was sponsored by the government club, proved to be successful last year, and the club prepared a successful repetition of the activity in April. The Day included seminars exploring many different fields of endeavor.

A model congress was also part of the club's agenda. Advisor Andrew Stern felt the group's participation in the congress was an enjoyable learning experience. It gave the members a chance to see democracy in action as well as affording them an opportunity to exchange ideas with other students.

"It was fun", commented one member, "but I learned alot at the same time."

Mrs. Ponzi welcomes a new member during the tea.

After a year of inactivity, the National Honor Society was resurrected.

With one of its largest memberships, ever, the society encountered many initial problems in getting started, but it was later able to organize some major events.

To kick off their year of activity, the Honor Society organized an induction tea for new members. The tea gave the students and teachers (all were invited) a chance to talk and socialize.

Early February, a handful of members organized a rummage sale which proved to be a financial success. Some non-profit activities included an intra-school tutoring program and visits to nursing homes.

The society officers and advisors, Pat Ponzi and Sharon Hetkowski, were able to get the organization back on its feet reinstituting ceremony but most of all — academic pride.

"We may never get to the Nationals, but ... "

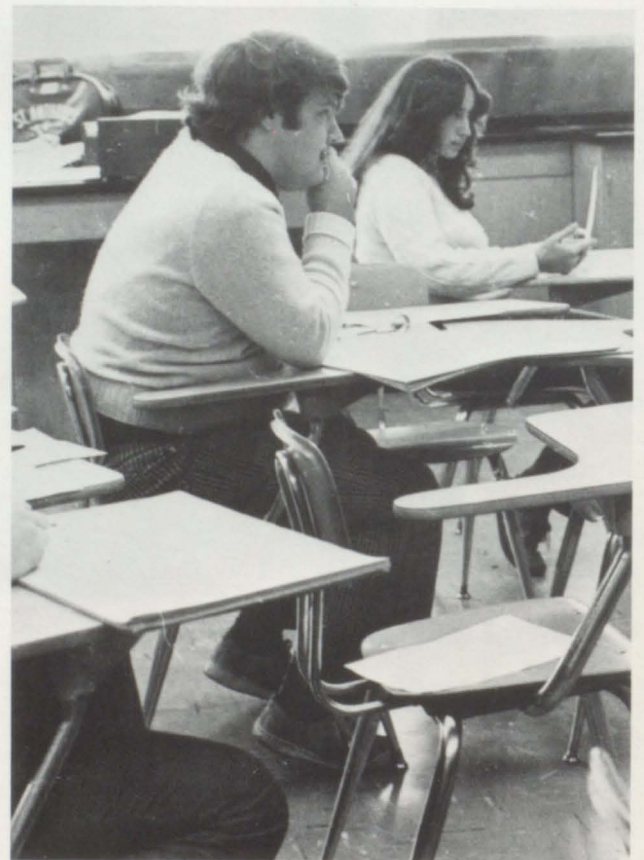

Henry Birdenkapp, Rita Caprino, Lynn Patterson, Mark O'Malley, Steven Levy, Todd Pilch, Mark Mancuso, Greg Ryan, Steve Holjte, Mr. R. Ficon

Almost every Monday afternoon one would pass room 13 and hear "We need more research" or "You did a good job, but ..."

For the first time in Bay Shore, there was a debate team. Mr. Robert Ficon, who was also in Bay Shore High for the first time was coach. Never did he yell when the team lost — as long as it was a fair debate. Starting the year with about fifteen interested students, the year was ended with between eight and ten enthusiastic debates.

A continual optimist, Mr. Ficon started off the year by telling the team when "states" were — a debate where all the best debate teams debate against one another for state trophies and the possibility to debate on the national level — by January, he was telling the team when nationals were. The team never got there, but they had a good time trying. Mr. Ficon admitted, "We may never get to States or Nationals, but we have good debaters on this team. Their problem is that they don't do enough research."

A constant thorn in each debater's side, research had to be continuous. Yet it always seemed that the other teams had more. One reason for that is the Bay Shore team started several months after most on research. Yet, such a drawback did not stop the debaters from trying. Yes, there was much talk on the way to each debate about ways to make the affirmative cases better, and on the way home, there would be talk about other cases by the negative team, but the Bay Shore debate team tried their best.

Reflections ...

"Reflections", the literary magazine enjoyed a spirited revival after a two year absence.

Advisor Evelyn Rosenbaum explained the situation as a matter of money, citing the renewed budget funds as reason for the magazine's revival.

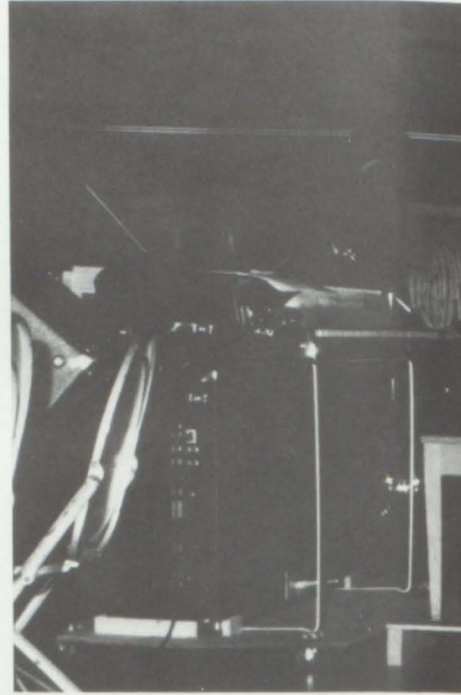

The magazine included creative writings and art work of the students and art work of the students and past graduates.

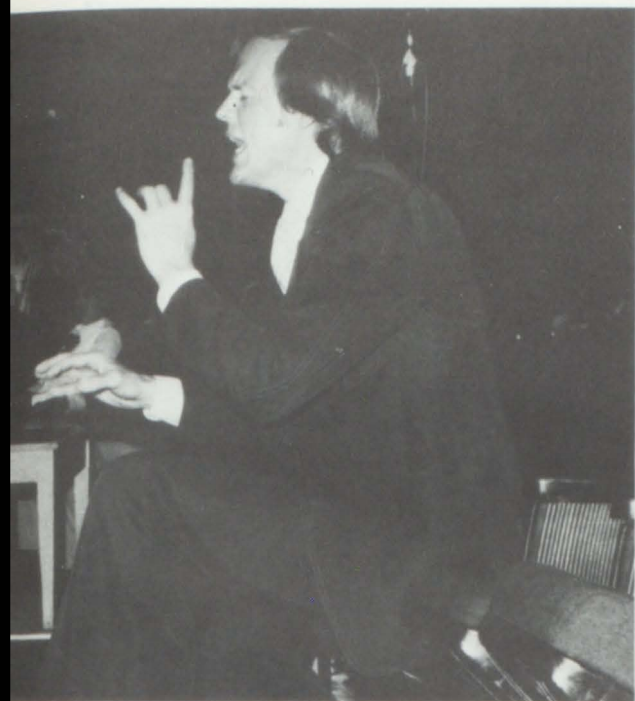

The editors of the magazine had many contributions to examine and felt this showed as reviving student interest in writing creatively in expressing their own feelings.

Choir . . .

Every morning the third floor was filled with the sound of voices singing. It was a progressive kind of training: September, the voices were straining up and down the scales; October, simple songs with no harmony were imposed on the ever-vocal group, by November, the choir was introduced to Ta Da! — harmony! The group was in top shape for the Winter Concert surpassed only by their performance in the Pops Concert.

The choir proved that no matter what time of day it is, they are capable of singing their best.

"The deadline is tomorrow?! But I thought you said you'd give me another week ..."

And so goes another year of the Maroon Echo. But it wasn't typical by measure. This, the fiftieth year of the Echo's existence, boasts the school newspaper's largest membership ever with about seventy-five members. New writers, typists, photographers, and business people were always welcome at the wednesday meeting under the paper's "open door" policy.

The Maroon Echo's Golden Anniversary was commemorated with a five-page supplement in the December issue entitled "An Echo From the Past". It included excerpts and editorials from past newspapers.

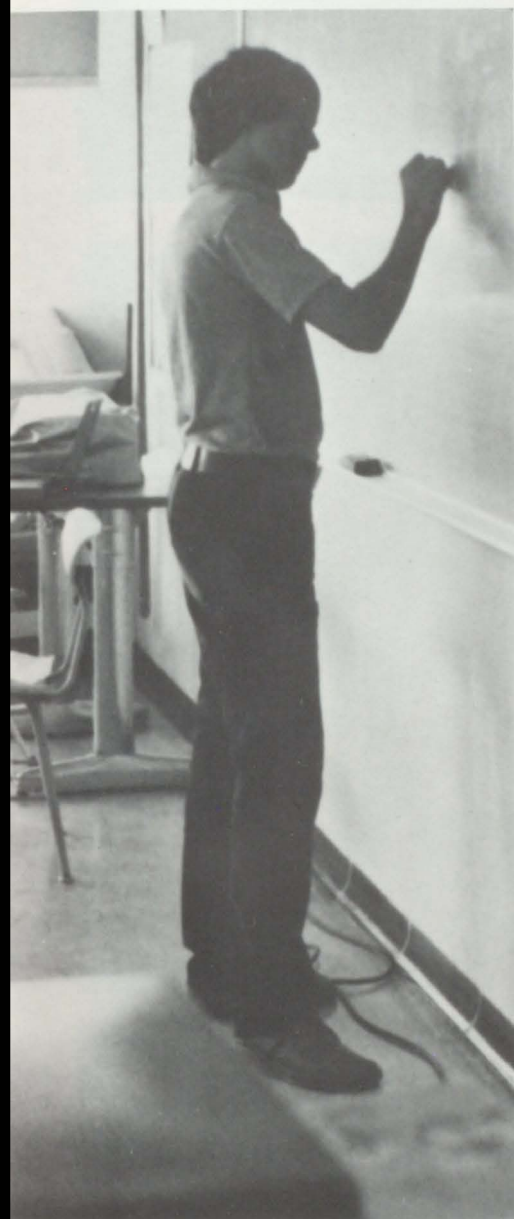

Mr. J.T. Nash, the moving force and adviser behind the Echo for the past twelve years, announced his retirement from his advisership this year to pursue a Master's degree at night school. Ms. Vera Meyerson has taken over his duties as head adviser, and Ms. Eileen Mulcahy has been appointed assistant adviser.

A cry of "Hey sexy, wanna' take an article?" marked co-editor-in-chief Scot Safon's reign. His perversity and way with the female staffers (and advisers) went a long way towards keeping up the Echo's notoriety.

David Goodman's repeated attempts to overthrow the high school administration were the trademark of his term as co-editor-in-chief. Suspicious advisers and a worried co-editor-in-chief aborted his rise to power — but he promises to return.

The Echo continued to win awards for its work, receiving an All New York rating for being one of the best newspapers in the state. Erica Scher (Class of '77) won a second place award for best interview story in the state, while Steve Solomon won third place for best interview story. The most recent laurel went to David Goodman, who won the award for best feature story in the country for his article on sororities.

With the end of its fiftieth year, the Echo still has bold plans for the future. The hectic pace, surprise deadlines, and midnight layouts promise to return. Braving blizzards and other assorted crises, the Echo '78 is now history — but the frantic cry of "Where's your article?" will still strike up fear in the hearts of seasoned Echoites.

Past-Times . . .

After much consideration the staff and editors of the MAROON AND WHITE '78 decided to change and add different sections. The biggest and most noticeable addition is that of a new Academics section; after all, without classes there would be no school — and hence no yearbook.

After that, there are changes that make the book more interesting. Now one can tell who are sophomores and who are juniors. The teachers are put into departments; if you want to see a science teacher, look to that page.

Also, candids were put in the senior section (but not everyone in those pictures is a senior.), and in the color section we have presented Bay Shore as it is in 1977-78. We also remind you about that lovely snow storm that we had in February — the worst in thirty years; we didn't have school for a week. Remember?

It was our goal to present student life in as many ways as we could. We think we've achieved that goal. Of course, we had a few problems: starting with a staff of thirty, and finishing with final deadline panic, copy falling out of third story windows, editors getting stuck in bathrooms, doing layouts with tonsillitis, and taking pictures while battling the flu. Through it all, we survived, and managed to get a book produced. So it seems that our pastime was and our past time was spent producing a book that we hope you will like.

"Santa, I Love You!"

December '77 proved to be full of Christmas spirit for Bay Shore High. Mrs. Chris Martin, a secretary in the principal's office, thought it would be nice if the students donated money to buy the Christmas tree for the front lobby, and she started to collect money. She planned on asking everyone in the High School to help decorate it.

After talking to several people, the idea came up to ask the children from the Day Care Center across the street to help decorate the tree. Once that was cleared with the people at the Day Care Center, everyone got into the Christmas spirit to prepare for the children. The secretaries arranged for Santa to be there when the children arrived, and after their long journey, cookies, cupcakes, punch and candycanes, handed out by Santa, were waiting for them.

At about 10:30 on the appointed day, about thirty little people came across the front lawn to the high school. Once in the school and after seeing Santa, the children became very excited. One little girl broke into tears, yet one other little girl expressed the feelings of the entire group. On seeing Santa, she ran up to him. As she threw her arms around his neck, she proclaimed, for all to hear, "Santa, I love you!"

After a belated beginning, the sophomore class managed to schedule major activities that raised money needed for the class in the future.

"Superstar Competition" held early in March pitted the three classes against each other in all kinds of sports events. It had never been done before, and it proved to be very successful.

President Clif Mulry also scheduled the standard cake sales and car washes along with a donkey basketball game.

The class looks forward to the future and hopes to raise enough money to have a large class trip next year.

Juniors ...

The class of 1979 had great expectations for the school year of '77-'78.

Class president Terri Klein helped get the year underway with a successful homecoming float which placed second to only the senior class float in the competition. Other activities during the football season included selling refreshments during the home games.

Other fund raising activities included weekly bake sales held in early fall during eighth set to pick up where the snack bar left off.

The traditionally familiar pancake breakfast was planned and ready when the entire school was set back by the severe snowstorms. The juniors quickly re-organized and rescheduled the event. The juniors also sponsored the donkey basketball game.

"The year turned out well," concluded Terri, "but I hope more people get involved next year."

After a somewhat belated beginning, this year's senior class pulled itself together to accomplish one of its most successful years.

The task of finding a class advisor was accomplished in early December. Mr. David Jones supplied unending time and energy to the spirited seniors.

This year's Senior Council numbered well over fifty people who participated equally in all the year's major events.

The first project undertaken by the class proved to be one of the most successful. On January 19, the Senior Class Fashion Show and Chinese Auction drew a capacity crowd to the boys' gym and raised six hundred dollars for the class. The project took three months to organize, but chairperson Diane Clehane commented on the event by saying, "I loved every minute of it. It was a lot of work but there were so many people involved and everyone seemed to love it. I think that when I remember the fashion show, it will bring back a lot of happy memories."

Senior class president Anita Peyser planned many activities — almost one a month. Following the fashion show came a first: a dance marathon, followed by the traditional spaghetti dinner.

The spirit of the class really came together at the end of the year during the senior class camping trip and senior cut day.

"It was great," commented Beth Petrone, "senior year really proved to be fun and I hope the juniors have as much fun next year as we did."

Class of 1978

Dedication . . .

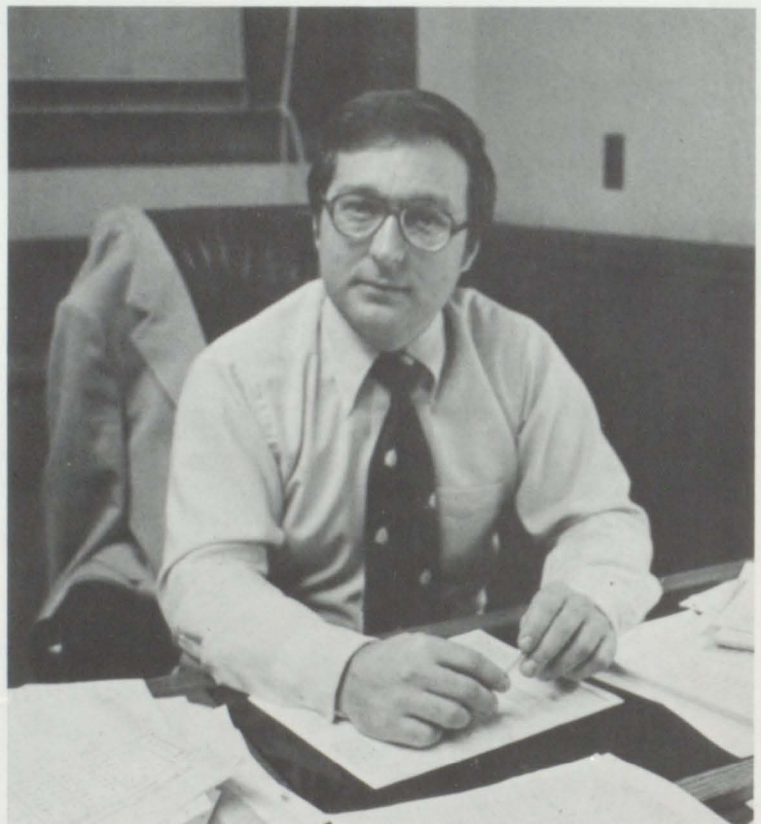

This year, the class of 1978 has voted overwhelmingly to award the dedication of its yearbook to a man who has brought great changes to Bay Shore High School in this last year.

One can walk through the halls and see him talking to students, teachers, administrators, and anyone else who wishes to talk to him. Along with this outgoing friendliness is his constant smile. He always seems happy to talk to anyone; he never seems too busy. The man about whom we write is Mr. William H. VonNovak.

This past year has been quite a busy one for him: in May '77, he was an Vice Principal; in June '77, he was named Acting Principal, and by December '77, he was made Principal.

One example of his casualness is the case of his sign. Fearing the principal's office sign that is outside room 203 would be stolen (a tradition that has been continued for the past several years), he placed a sign on his door with his name on it, under it, he put "Acting Principal". Once named principal, he simply crossed out "Acting" and thus the sign remained.

In the past year, a spirit of increased student enthusiasm has continued to grow. This enthusiasm is personified in Mr. Von Novak. Thus, the class has decided to award the dedication of its yearbook to Mr. Von Novak, a man who has been a guiding force to all those in the building and who has himself been completely dedicated an involved in all facets of the high school.

Thus, it is an honor to dedicate Past-Times, Maroon and White '78, to Mr. William VonNovak.

Appreciation . . .

It's the dedication to her work, her understanding of her students, and her graciousness in helping us to put this yearbook together, that has caused us, the Editors of the Maroon and White 1978, to give this appreciation to Mrs. Vera Meyerson.

After eleven years on the staff of the Bay Shore High School, Mrs. Meyerson became head advisor of the MAROON ECHO this year. She and Mr. John Nash run the News Workshop class to produce our B.S.H.S. Newsletter. Despite all of this, she still managed to find the time and energy to help us this year with our yearbook. For this, we are truly appreciative.

Caring
I want to reach out and touch you
to show that I care that caring is something that no one should be afraid of that if I say I love you It's because that's how I feel for that moment
not seeking a commitment
not seeking a reply
just to accept my feelings that I can love
that caring is not obsolete
In my caring
I am making no threat upon you and though
I am continuously risking rejection my only request of you is that you do not abuse me.

A Taste of Seventh Avenue

The Sr. Class Fashion Show

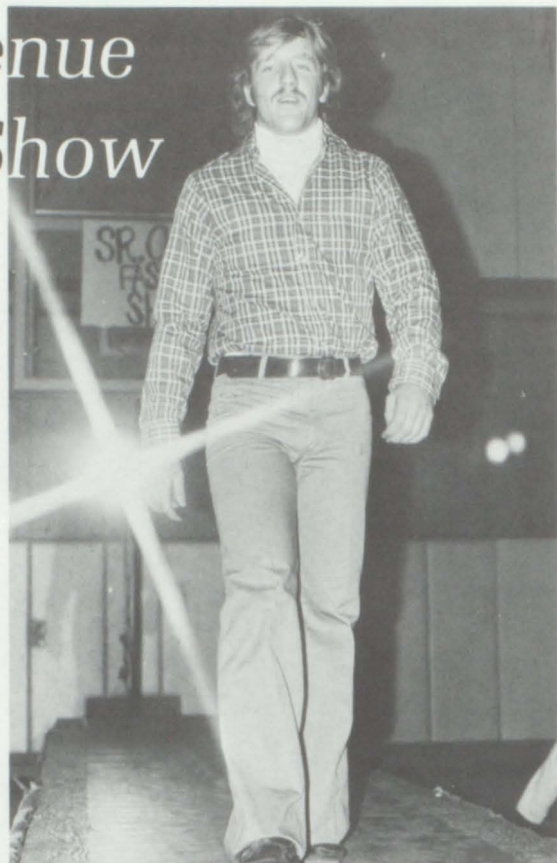

It was a night to remember. After two months of preparation everything fell perfectly into place. The weather was threatening but a capacity crowd filled the boys gym.

Over seventy members worked on the show along with chairperson Diane Clehane. President Anita Peyser and Lisa Swinson coached various aspects of the project.

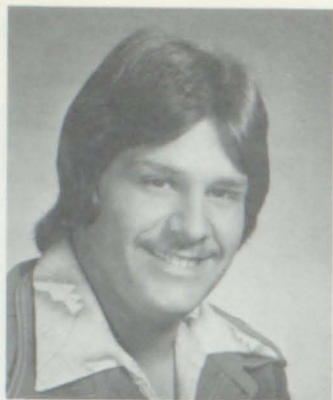

Clothes were modeled by students and teachers and donated by local merchants. R.S.V.P. provided the show with a first for the high school as well as for Suffolk County — the presentation of a lady's tuxedo.

"The show was so much fun for everybody. I loved wearing the tux and seeing everyone have so much fun. The show is one thing about senior year I'll never forget," reflected Diane.

Besides being a successful fund raiser (over six hundred dollars) the audience loved it. "It really looked like the real thing," commented sophomore Dottie Gilman, "I can't wait to do it when I'm a senior."

The Adult

By: Karen Ann Ramsden

Child, Child unaware,
fresh and new like morning air.
Nothing owed to anyone,
playing, laughing, having fun.

Older, older, running scared,
alone in a world where no one cares.
First time you're on your own,
not your fault that you have grown.

More and more you need to know who you are and where you'll go,
but all that was clear is dark and blurred;
your place not known and unsecured.

Gather the things you'll need tomorrow:
Rules of Life that must be followed.
Accept your duties and you will then be placed high among fellow men.

You've placed responsibility on yourself and with your problems, you have dealt.
You have become and you will be an Adult who reached maturity.

The Ratrace

By: Rita L. Caprino

James Graziano

Good morning, Sun,
Mother of all beauty,
Gifted daughter of God.
Why do we, mere mortals,
do this to you and all you help to create?
Why must we scan the "horizon" for some sign of light?

Is everyone too busy to notice?!

Can't anyone see what isn't out there?!

Perhaps we've been away too long.

Too long, living on other people's roofs.

No trees, no flowers,

Not even a rat.

To think, some people will live their entire lives
without hearing a bird sing,

Without seeing a mare and a colt run together,

Never seeing a chipmunk scurry away with his mouth full of treasure.

And yet, we did this to you,

Rather, we did all this to ourselves.

Therefore, it is ourselves who will suffer because of the misdeeds of the past and the present.

Suffer, for it is a definite crime not to see a bird in flight, a tree spreading its full grandeur in spring,

Not to ever see a field of flowers.

A crime because they now know nothing of where they came.

Nothing save the racing and running against one another.

And now I shall end,

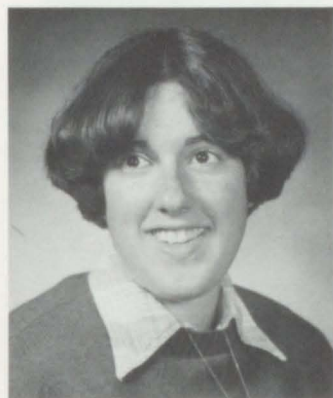

Pitying those who have doomed themselves,

To never know the simple pleasures of life;

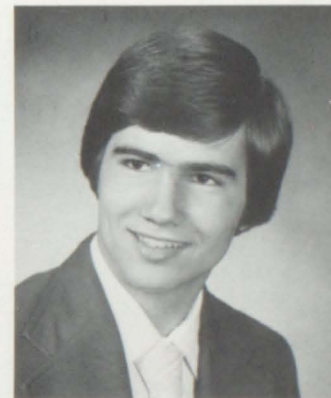

To only know what some call: The Ratrace.

Growing UP: by Jeff Nelson

Don't ask me why I change
 Just know that I must,
 The young boy you saw yesterday
 Is the young man you see today,
 Only similar in that they are housed in the same body,
 That boy hasn't left completely, and never will,
 But he will never be the same person again,
 The past is not to be forgotten,
 Not to be forgiven,
 I don't look back on what I was with shame,
 But I know that much I've done shouldn't be repeated,
 Every day for me is to be a fresh start,
 Don't remind me of what I was yesterday,
 I hope memories of what I was
 Are remembered with fondness
 But do say goodbye to them,
 And that person in them,
 I can't remain the same person for anyone,
 So, forgive the wrongs I didn't mean,
 Be glad for the happiness we've shared,
 Come with me while I figure myself out,
 It'll take a lifetime, but it will be time well spent,
 And let's change together.

The time has crept upon me now, I must be free to roam.

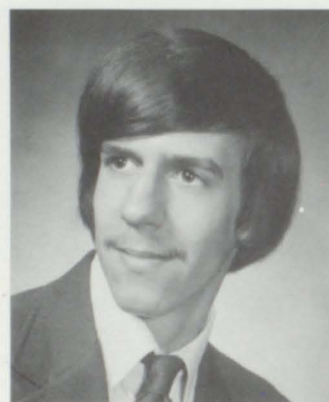

Not just anywhere upon this earth, but within the Tomorrow carries treasures for those who seek to find.

But if your mind is vacant, you'll probably stumble blind.

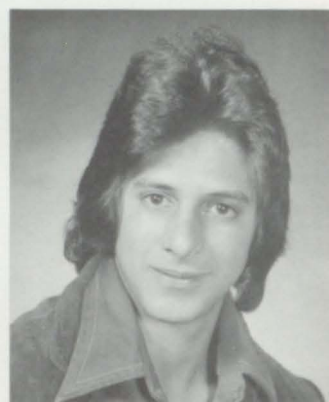

Today will bear the mystery from behind each fallen star.

The mystical, mymsical, frolicking way, that is forever going far.

Remember

This world that sheltered me from outside harm
Now seems opened up to foreign arms
This place where time has let me be;
A place 'til now I've just been "me"

Have I gone from each day while its all slipped away
While I've still got songs to sing and words to say

Times taken to mind loved and so hard to find
About to part while denying anothers about to start

Untouched by time we will return to reminisce about what we've learned
But this will not come out of some book
just times we've shared & dares we took
And when we've all gone astray virtue talking us away
Childhood games we've grown to old
to play

Will return us to each others dreams not nearly as idealistic as we once seemed

To conquer the world, forgotten in the new value set judged by those we will
and haven't met

But we hold fast to dreams no matter how complex
we seem as returning one day leads us to find
we will never leave this part of our past too far find

A Golden Anniversary . . .

Every year is special to every teacher in some way, shape or form. This year is an extra special one for Mrs. Evelyn Rosenbaum. The class of 1978 has the honor of sharing with her the anniversary of her graduation from Bay Shore High. But it is not an ordinary anniversary by any means, this, 1978, marks her fiftieth year from her graduation from the great hallowed halls in which she still walks. Being an alumna of fifty years, Mrs. Rosenbaum, as is tradition for some alumni from the fiftieth anniversary graduates, will be at commencement, not as a spectator, but as a participant.

In 1962, Mrs. Rosenbaum returned to Bay Shore High School — as a teacher, and, for the past fifteen years, has been a fixture in the High School English department. Countless students have had the pleasure of being taught by this dedicated teacher.

In addition to teaching, Mrs. Rosenbaum has found the time to be the advisor for the recently resurrected literary magazine, Reflections.

"Mrs. Rosenbaum is the type of teacher who really gets you interested in all aspects of English," stated senior Jeff Nelson, "She's a tough lady, and pushes her students to reach their full potential in English. She's also a warm, sweet lady, so that people not only respect her, but they care for her."

Class of 1928

Blizzard of '78 ...

After being literally attacked by almost two feet of snow, we (everyone along the Eastern seaboard), were bombarded by even more snow, making this year the whitest winter we have seen for years, (of course we had no snow for Christmas, and in fact, it rained Christmas day).

The early winter was cold but mild and some were predicting an early spring, but by February second, some people were trying to bribe the groundhog to stay out of his hole — a sure indication that spring is on its way. But it didn't seem to work and sixteen days before spring we were covered by another layer of snow. By this time people were beginning to wonder if they would ever see their crab grass again.

Yet the real story is the snowstorm of February

5-7; it lasted three days and left us with two feet of snow and four foot drifts. That storm immobilized not only individuals, but towns, counties, and states for several days.

Bay Shore was no different from anywhere else. School was closed for the entire week because of the snow and the following week, February 13-17, Bay Shore had no school because of a scheduled break. By the end of the two weeks, mothers wanted to kill their children because they were constantly complaining that they were bored. On February 10, the kids finally realized that the vacation was over and that they didn't want to go back to school. But the morning of February 20 came along; the buses ran, the walkers walked and the doors were open again.

Few people know how much hard work and how many long hours go into the preparation of this book. Some people go uncredited for the long hard hours that they helped us. For this, we give a special thank you to:

Dr. Lester Faggiani — Our hard-working advisor.
Mr. Hal Epstein — Our talented photographer.
Mr. Rick Delin — Our yearbook representative.
The Staff of the Bay Shore High School
And our fantastic parents who had to put up with so much.

THANKS!

... The timelessness in you is aware of life's timelessness.

And knows that yesterday is but today's memory and tomorrow is today's dream.

... Let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing.

ST — TIMES . . .

About the cover: the Marauder is not meant to be a tasteless joke. Rather, he represents a comment — slightly wry, slightly satirical, but a comment on the attitudes of the students of Bay Shore.

The student body has spirit, yes, but is not longer the standard — the thoughtless, rigid — spirit. We value traditions, but we have a good time.

We are more comfortable with our surroundings and ourselves. We enjoy the good things in life, but we do so with an almost carefree flair that so characterizes this school and all of its occupants.

So, do not look at our (and your) Marauder as a joke. Rather, when you look at him, we hope that you will smile and laugh with him, while you remember 1977-'78.
