Whenever you look into a mirror, you see a reflection. This reflection tells a story of past experiences and choices that molded you into the image reflected today. Although Bay Shore may have only been part of our lives for an instant, it touched our souls in countless ways. It prepared us for future challenges and taught us lessons that will influence us for a lifetime. No matter what memories come to mind while reminiscing, the days we have spent at Bay Shore will live in our hearts forever.

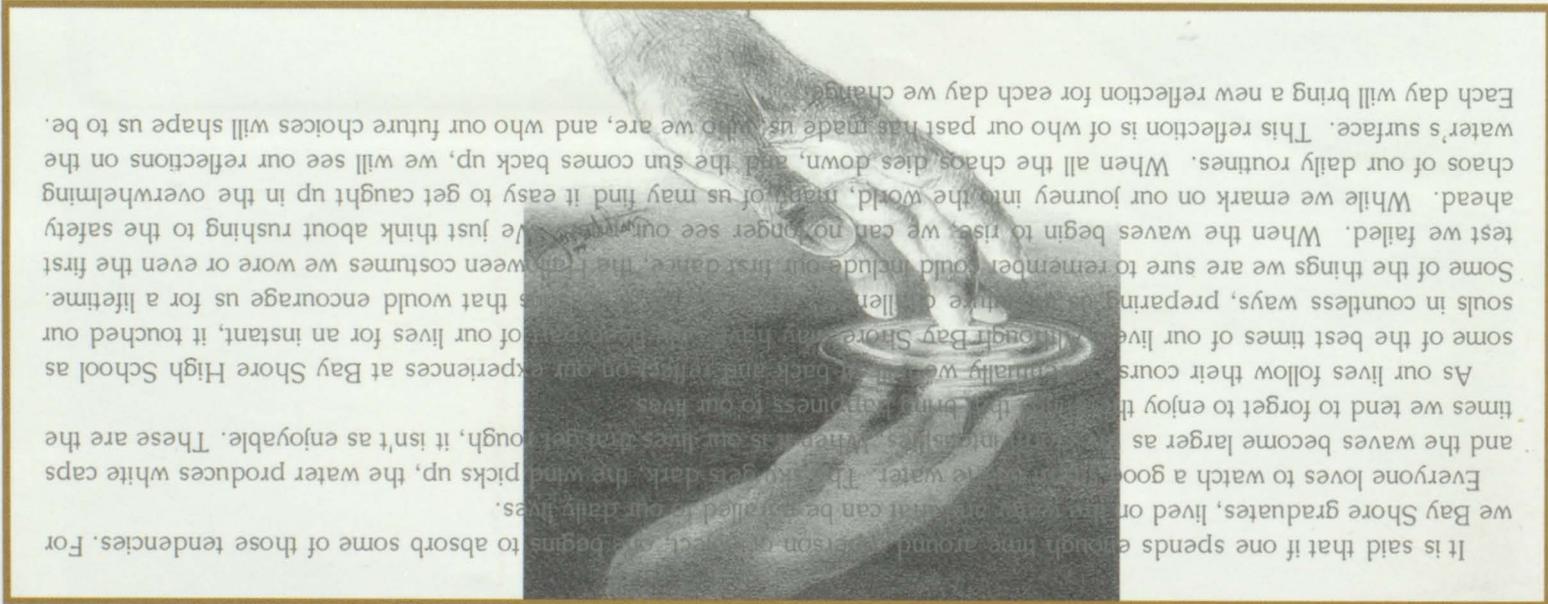

Upon embarking into the world, beginning our individual journeys, we will find it easy to get caught up in the overwhelming chaos of our daily routines. When this happens, just remember that, "Life is for each man a solitary cell whose walls are mirrors."

Throughout the course of your life, make an attempt to take a look around and capture an image of beauty, for when true beauty catches your eye, all your troubles disappear for that moment. In that moment, you cannot help but realize that each day will produce a new reflection for each day we change.

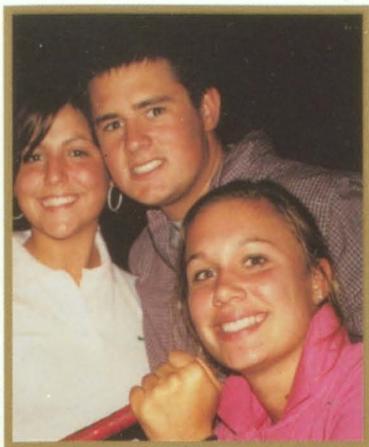

--Richard McWilliams and Nicole Barone

REFLECTION '0

It is said that if one spends enough time around a person or a place, one begins to absorb some of those tendencies. For we Bay Shore graduates, lived on the beach, what can be called our daily lives. Everyone loves to watch a good sunset over the water. The fingers dark the wind picks up, the water produces white caps and the waves become larger as the sun sets. When it is our lives, it isn't as enjoyable. These are the times we tend to forget to enjoy the good things that bring happiness to our lives. As our lives follow their course, we usually we'll look back and reflect on our experiences at Bay Shore High School as some of the best times of our lives. Although Bay Shore may have only been part of our lives for an instant, it touched our souls in countless ways, preparing us for the challenges that would encourage us for a lifetime. Some of the things we are sure to remember would include our first dance, the first between costumes we wore or even the first test we failed. When the waves begin to rise, we can no longer see our future. We just think about rushing to the safety ahead. While we embark on our journey into the world, many of us may find it easy to get caught up in the overwhelming chaos of our daily routines. When all the chaos dies down, and the sun comes back up, we will see our reflections on the water's surface. This reflection is of who our past has made us, who we are, and who our future choices will shape us to be. Each day will bring a new reflection for each day we change.

▲ Ava Culpepper and Ashley Taylor are happy to be back to school to flaunt their smiles.

SENIORS

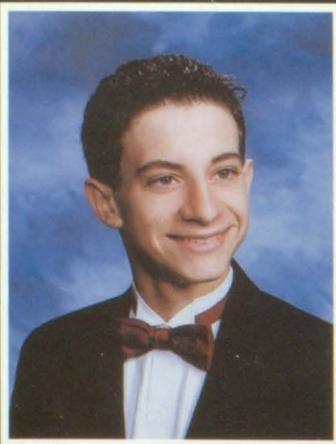

'05

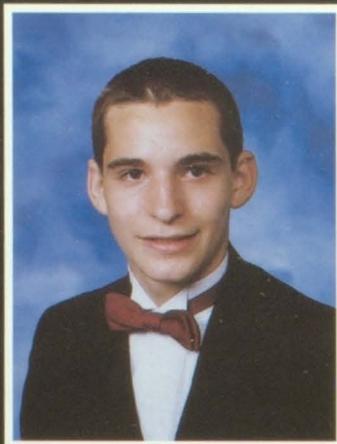

As the Class of 2005 geared up to venture into their future endeavors, they could not help but look back and reflect on their pasts, the pasts that have shaped and molded them into the people they are today. They walk the halls of Bay Shore High School and remember their very first day of school. They remember their freshmen year and how they got lost traveling from class to class. Then they stop, and realize that they still do that every now and then. However, this is not what makes this senior class unique. Each person added a different, colorful piece to the enigma that is our graduating class. Each piece of the puzzle consists of art shows, sports games, academic achievements, idiosyncrasies, private jokes, and so much more.

For the senior class of 2005, Bay Shore High School was a place where students came as adolescents and now leave as young adults. As the seniors look into the mirror on graduation day fixing their cap and gown, they will all have a fleeting moment of remembrance for something, something that has helped them become the people they are, and who they hope to become.

What's old is new again.... Fashion 2005

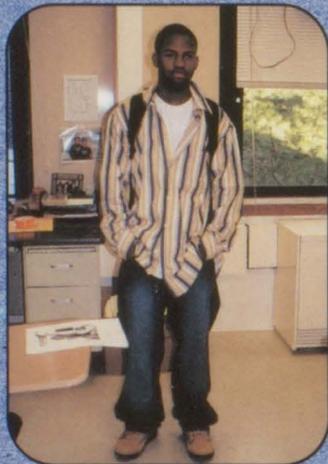

▼ Kuran Dawkins has on his classic style button down shirt along with jeans and the ever famous Timberlands.

▼ Ashley Taylor expresses her own personal style wearing a silk scarf as a belt, ripped jeans and teal suede flats that were so very popular this year.

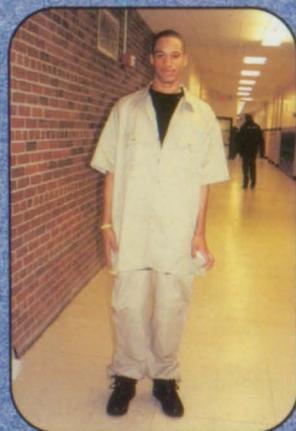

▲ Shannon O' Brien is wearing new Uggs with a flashy skirt along with a striped black jacket.

▼ Taylor Tirotta is rocking a Dickies outfit with some black kicks.

"What is old is new again!" exclaimed Danielle Guinta enthusiastically. Over the past year, we have all witnessed a consistent reemergence of many trends from previous generations. A person's style can tell a lot about his or her personality or emotions. Bay Shore High School has always been a diverse place, and it is easy to see why there was such a large spectrum of fashion this past year. A major influence was the style of past decades, especially the 80's. Capris, flats, bangle bracelets and off the shoulder tops were all popular trends during the past year. Richard Clark mirrored this notion stating, "Vintage is the way to go." However, some trends have come and gone already, such as heels and clashing patterns.

Another popular trend was layering, for both guys and girls. Guys especially, were always found wearing shirts under shirts. Girls sported layers in both their top and even hair styles. A range of Uggs, scarves, ponchos, tighter girls' jeans, cancer foundation bracelets, polo shirts, piercings, large dangly earrings, boys' baggy jeans and dyed hair was displayed throughout a large population of the school.

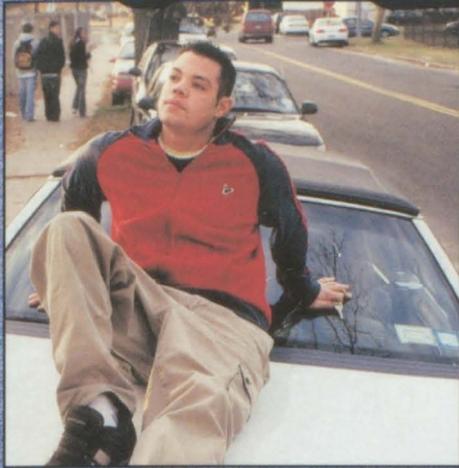

Styles are always changing. By illustrating such a diverse level of fashion in our school, our individual personalities were reflected through the way we dress. Bay Shore's fashion brought out the creativity and spirit of our school.

▲ Courtney Cox and Brianne Corcom sport their day attire: jean skirts and capris are the new trend.

◀ After a hectic day, Sasha McCant and Shera Frias head towards their car after ninth period, excited to head home.

▲ Marlon Acosta and Alcides Fuentes rush out to find their car ready to plan a fabulous Friday night.

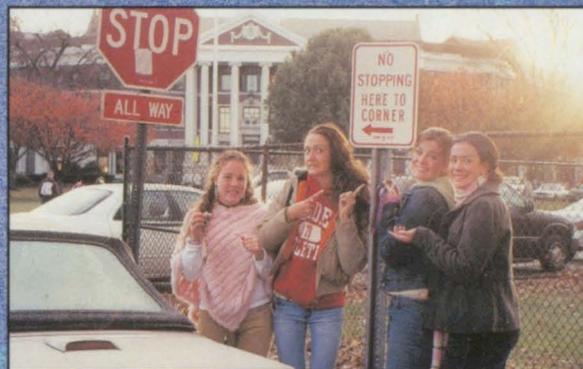

—THE FAST AND THE FURIOUS

◀ Kristofer Fornieri and Eric Lyman embrace celebrating the close of another day of school.

▲ Richard Clark stands like king of the mountain atop Genevieve Waterman's car ready to call it a day.

Every senior class has a characteristic that sets them apart from others. The 2005 graduating class had some of the most memorable cars in Bay Shore history.

"Bridget Williams has the best car," said Kristen Verni. "The red Chevelle just stands apart from everyone else's car. You can tell that it's her from miles away it's so unique."

With little parking due to construction, seniors scrambled each morning to find parking spots. Big trucks, construction vehicles, and SUV's frequently took student spots. But, this construction did not stop seniors from driving. "I like Chris Gloor's Suburban," said Shahan Mamoor. "It's big and comfy, just like him."

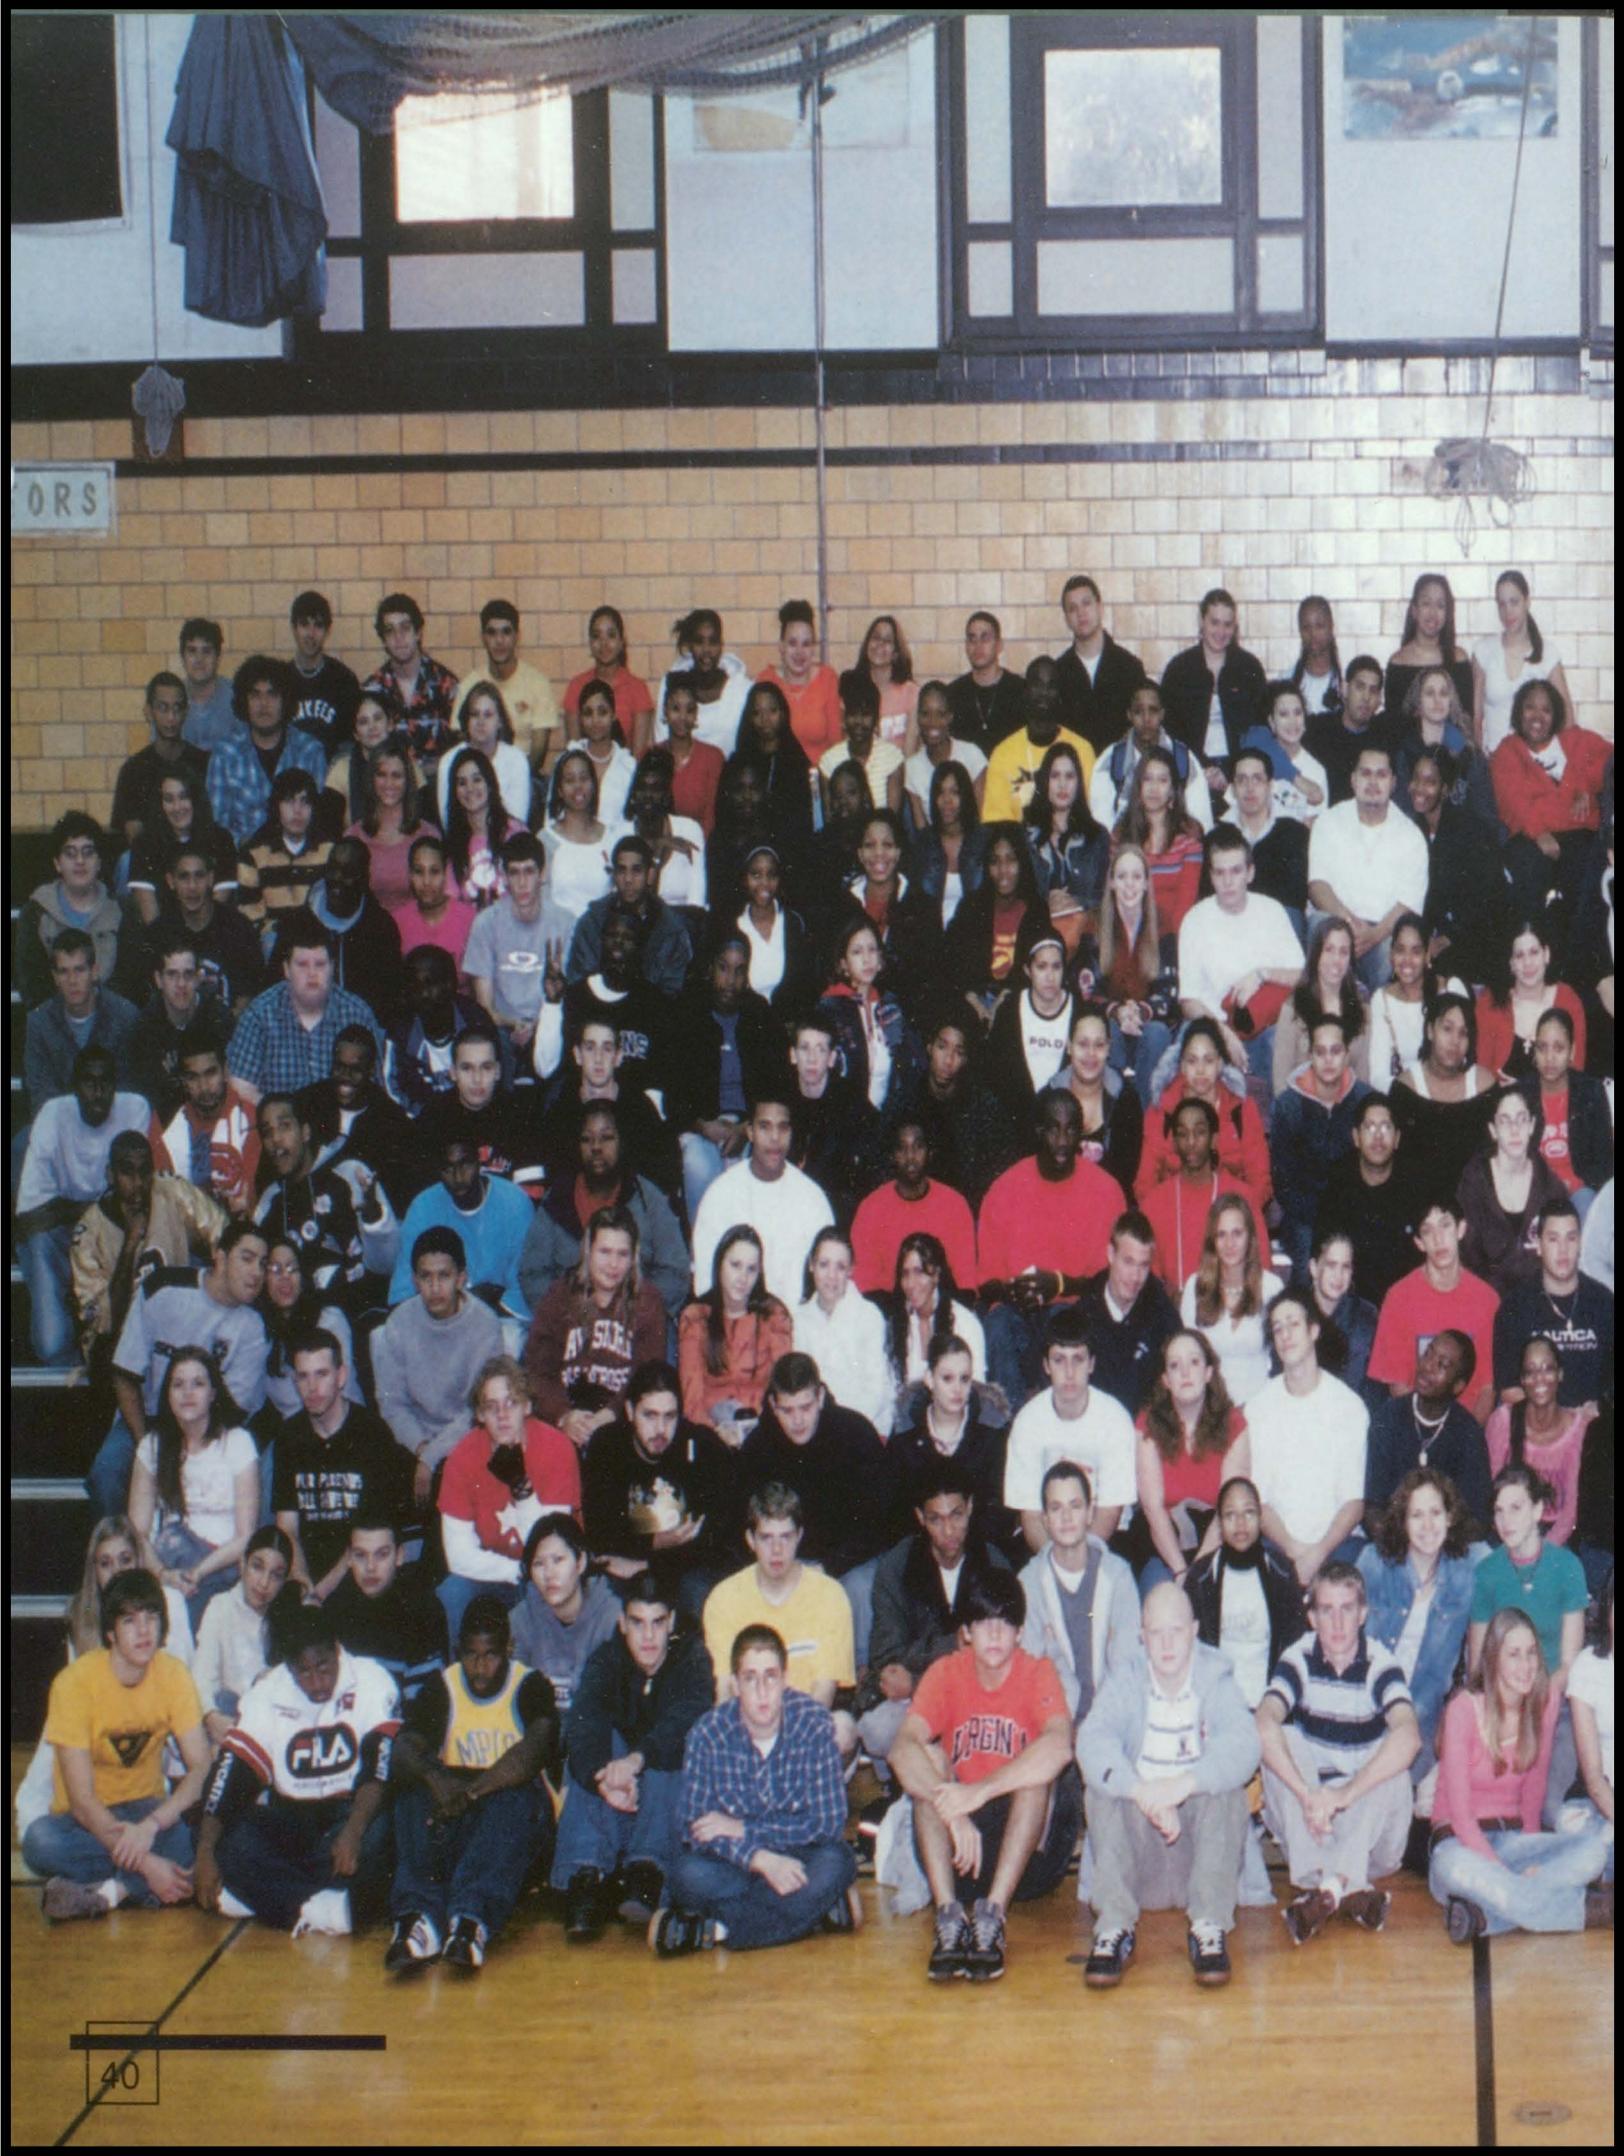

This year was like no other. Graduated students will reflect back upon their high school years and remember the diversity of the cars they drove while smiling.

◀ Taking advantage of her senior privileges, Alison Drew rushes to lunch.

SPORTS

'05

For decades, Bay Shore has prided itself on athletics. This year, teams visibly demonstrated their ability to succeed, always reflecting the true Marauder spirit. As the coaches taught skill and strategy, the players bettered themselves through hard work and dedication to the sport.

The seniors held on to their last year as high school athletes, while the freshmen emerged, trying to prove their competence. Together, their goal was the same: victory. If that was not achieved, it only opened doors for improvement. Teammates encouraged each other, yet displayed good sportsmanship towards their opponents.

When students walk through the gym lobby, in the presence of all the trophies, plaques and medals, they are exposed to the legacy of Bay Shore and it is in the heart of every athlete to hope for that legacy to be reflected in the years to come.

 (bottom row) Nicolette Bertalino, Alexa Leggio

The 2004-2005 Varsity Cheerleading Squad started off the school year with a fresh new start. The major changes of a brand new coach and a less experienced team only strengthened their team spirit. " Their goal for the season was to build a stronger team while upholding their reputation as a winning team," quoted by Coach J. Dineen. They reflected on past experiences to make the year better than ever. "I was glad that we were able to come together as one and prove that we are multi-talented cheerleaders," remarked senior captain Oralee Shelton. With All-Stars, Paige Stickelman, Meleane Millington, and Alexandria Speaks, the team also attended a regional Competition in Disneyland.

The 2004-2005 Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad had an outstanding season. With hard-work and determination, they were not only able to bring spirit and cheer to the crowd, but they were able to help the community by walking for breast cancer. Coach K. Nelson stated that the cheerleaders were always, "dedicated and responsible." This certainly showed through everything they accomplished.

WAY TO GO Cross Country

The accomplishments of the 2004-2005 Boys Cross-Country team proved their stamina. "I want the team to be more competitive this year. I also want the boys to improve their times," hoped Coach K. Carter, at the beginning of the season. An obvious endeavor was made to achieve these goals. The members even ran six days per week. With the experience of returning runners, and the spirit of new athletes, to say the team had a successful season would be an enormous understatement. The boys' hard work was a reflection of their dedication and Bay Shore pride.

The 2004-2005 Girls Cross-Country team shined in many ways. Coach S. Borbet's outstanding team of 32 girls had the opportunity to run among National Champions and win the League Championships. The team has won 7 county titles, 17 division titles and 23 League Championships since 1977. "2004-2005's runners are more experienced and it is nice to have a mix of young runners alongside experienced runners," Coach Borbet commented. Their hard work, consistency in training, and determination reflect the true spirit of Bay Shore. They have created a legacy that is sure to continue for decades to come.

Field Hockey

Beginning the season with nine seniors and a new coach, the Varsity Field Hockey team was ready to leave their mark and go all the way. When it came to playing, the girls were ready to allow all the skills they acquired over the years to reflect onto the field. In games, as well as practices, the girls were devoted and willing to work hard. As coach Persson said, "The team is filled with great attitudes and leaders. We are having fun and making wonderful memories along the way."

The season finished in the second round of playoffs, an accomplishment that had not been achieved in years. Reflecting on their accomplishments, the Varsity Field Hockey team had a great season and succeeded in leaving their mark.

This year the Junior Varsity Field Hockey team got "pumped." The new coach Erin Moody said, "The team was eager and excited to start the season off right." The girls came to practice everyday with positive, go-getting attitudes ready to play their game. Their hard work really reflects what Bay Shore Field Hockey is all about.

Bay Shore Football has been in existence since 1927. Throughout the years, it has maintained a rich history and glorious tradition. The 2004-2005 Varsity Football team could be characterized as determined and eager to learn. The main goal of Coaches J. Sagl, S. Musso, and M. Bellacosa was to teach the players the game as well as generate further participation. "We really wanted to accomplish our goals which were not only to win but to become a better team," said Coach Sagl. Although the team may not have had a great season, team members had a positive attitude of the season. "I feel like our team has become tighter despite our record," said Senior Darryl Ralph.

Since the inception of the Little League Football Program, the community has become more involved with the game of football. During A. Roccaro's first year coaching, the Junior Varsity Football team worked to better football players and to prepare them for the next level of competition. When asked about the team Coach Roccaro had this to say, "Throughout the entire season this team showed that they have great character, heart, and the ability to persevere." The team reflected the heart of Marauder pride through their effort in attempting to turn their team around.

The 2004-2005 Varsity Boys Golf team had a very solid season. Not only did they place second in their division for the second year in a row, but they succeeded in qualifying for the County Tournament that took place in May. When asked what special attributes the members of the team possessed, Varsity Coach A. Sullivan replied, "The boys on the team all have incredible dedication, patience, and integrity." It is this very dedication that allowed the team to excel throughout the season. The Boys Varsity Golf team was looked upon highly by other communities, and, "were welcomed at every golf course they played on." The Varsity team left lasting impressions that would be remembered for years to come.

The Junior Varsity Boys Golf team had an amazing year as well. Under the guidance of Coach J. Morrison, the team flourished. According to Coach Morrison, "These seven golfers prepared themselves for Varsity level competition by becoming students of the game." Coach Morrison said that the team demonstrated, "Patience, dedication and coordination," while playing this skilled sport. The team consistently reflected the sophistication of Bay Shore by dressing appropriately and "observing proper golf etiquette." It was truly a season to remember.

The 2004-2005 Boys Varsity Soccer team led by head coach J. Nelson had a remarkable winning season. Five-year Varsity coach Nelson had high hopes for the team's success. Co-captains Neil Vellecca and Nick Campo believed, "The team worked incredibly hard to improve their overall record and advance further in the playoffs." This year's team was more experienced than teams of the past, and the core veteran group was the key to their successful season. Coach Nelson commented, "Due to their deep pool of talent, this year's team was better overall." The team's success often brought the community together at the games. The fans loved to support the team because they truly reflected the community's spirit. One never found the stands of a soccer game vacant. Said Nelson, "Not only did the team stare adversity in the face, but it rose to the occasion with persistence, hard work, and enthusiasm."

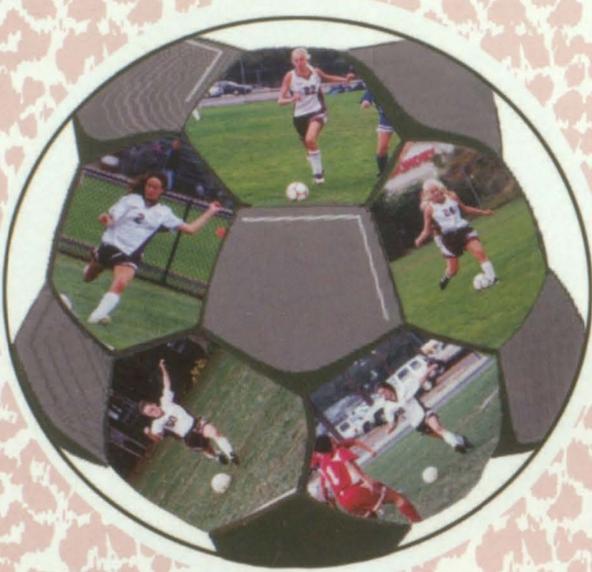

The Junior Varsity team mirrored the Varsity with its winning attitude. This led them to a winning season. Led by Coach S. Love, the team did outstanding. They worked extremely hard and at the same time made the season a fun and memorable one. "In the beginning of the season, we were not working well together, but as the season went on and we got to know the new coach, we began to work much better together," said Junior Mike Udasin. The team's chemistry on and off the field was truly noticeable. They got along well and this cohesion enabled them to work together on the field.

GIRLS SOCCER

The Girls Varsity Soccer Team, led by Coach D. Otto and Assistant Coach K. Green, overcame hard times but looked better and better each day. "We wanted to improve last year's record and make the playoffs," reflected Coach Otto. The team consisted of players from grades eight to twelve including captains Alex Voorhees and Jessica Wiegand. No matter what happened, the girls never gave up. Their team work and dedication truly reflected the spirit of the Bay Shore community.

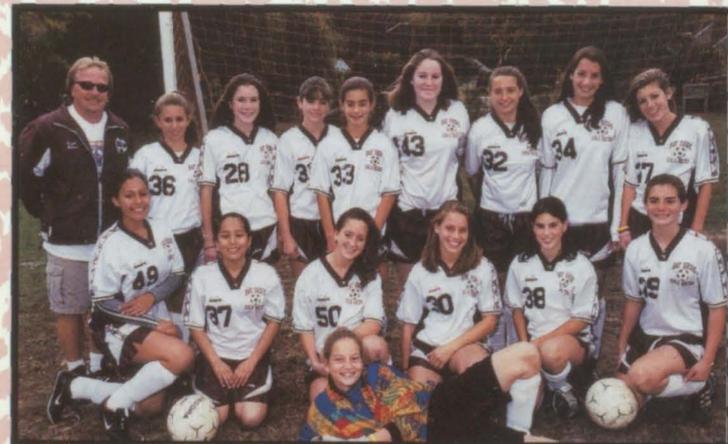

It was Coach D. Atkins first year leading the Girls Junior Varsity Soccer Team. He had high expectations for the girls. "I wanted the girls to learn the proper techniques and strategies for a competitive game of soccer," said Coach Atkins. Although the team was made up of different grade levels, they all worked together to reflect the sportsmanship of Bay Shore Soccer.

With high aspirations, the 2004 Girls Varsity Swim Team dove into the season with waves of excitement. In only its third year as an established program, the team not only drastically improved their times, but also developed a special bond as teammates through participation in fundraisers as well as coordinating a swim clinic for elementary school students. "This year's team seemed to be a lot closer than in previous years," said senior captain Amanda Florenz.

Whether it was during grueling practices or thrilling competitions, the Girls Varsity Swim Team always reflected the heart of Marauder pride through their dedication and commitment.

Coach M. Borkowski remarked, "The captains set the bar really high in terms of what it is to be a good swimmer, sportswoman, and an all-around athlete." These girls certainly proved they could work as a team and finish off the season with great success.

The larger, more diverse Girls Varsity Tennis Team had an amazing season. The girls strived to make it to the playoffs and to have some players named All-County. Although the team was bigger this year, the girls were extremely close. They incorporated their individual skills of playing singles and doubles while still working as a team. "The girls were extremely spirited. They cheered on other teams on their days off or after practices, and they won the Spirit Award at the Pep Rally for being the most enthusiastic towards other teams," said second-year Coach J. Fitzharris. These sixteen girls were not only spirited, but they were involved in the community as well. They worked with the Service Honor Society and the Stream Team, two programs that proudly serve the community. These girls were the epitome of Bay Shore spirit and pride.

Having fun and working hard translated into a victory for the 2004-2005 Junior Varsity Girls Tennis team. Coach J. Carney provided guidance by, "Making each individual a more complete and competitive player." As Coach Carney took on the challenge of his first year coaching, he set out to, "Win, win, and win!" On October 30th, all of the girls participated in the dedication of the new Bay Shore Tennis courts. With young athletes ranging from grade eight to grade eleven, this team displayed a competitive attitude. They finished the season with a record of 10-0 in leagues and an astonishing 14-1 overall. Coach Carney's previous job of coaching the Varsity team allowed his skill and experience to positively influence this younger team.

Under the leadership of third-year Coach Jill Leake, the 2004-2005 Boys Volleyball team never experienced such unity. The eleven athlete team consisted of an eighth grader, five freshmen, two sophomores, one junior and one senior player/manager. Coach Leake's main goal was to prepare this young team to be as competitive as possible for the season and future seasons at the Varsity level. The competitiveness started with co-captain Mike Dauernheim, who was starting setter last year as well as this past season. Coach Leake reflected, "Mike is a true leader who pushes the team to work."

This year's team had many differences from last season, and everyone was refreshed and ready to compete. The Bay Shore Marauder Boys Volleyball team's sheer determination has kept them together and it reflected in each and every game. The team meshed together throughout the season displaying their true unity and cohesiveness. Coach Leake will always strive to be the best. "The avid nature of our fans gives us tremendous support and extreme enthusiasm that makes it a special experience for us," reflected Coach Parham. As time progressed, they continued to enhance their skills and add finesse to their plays. Led by senior co-captains Bryant Lassiter and Aikeem Vanderhorst, this Varsity team was able to make it far in 2005. Commitment and sacrifice were team concepts that were instilled in the boys by Coach Parham and M. Petre. Holding their heads high, the boys stepped onto the court with the determination and confidence to become number one.

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team continued to stay successful throughout the 2004-2005 season. With dedication and pride, the boys worked hard to improve their skills and eventually reach the Varsity level. "Your private practice determines your public performance, quoted by Co-Captain Nelson Shaw. One of the top contenders in their league, Bay Shore girls basketball was making sure no one forgot this unbelievable season.

The Girls Junior Varsity Basketball Team started out fresh this year. With new a coaching staff, led by Coach Mazzie and Assistant Coach Pasquerella, the team was sure to go all the way in 2005. "Although there were no upperclassmen, these girls were all leaders," proudly stated coach Paz. Every practice was intense and when the game was on the line, the girls were able to reflect upon what they had learned in practice. This enabled all opponents to not underestimate these girls. "We couldn't have asked for a better bunch of girls to work with. The passion in their hearts drove them to not just be better basketball players, but better people," commented the coaches. BOWLING Bay Shore is notoriously known by other school districts for having a superior track and boys basketball team. This year however, the bowling team worked its way to that ever growing list.

The bowling team had another unbelievable season this past year with a 12-0 record. With a dedicated and collective team being lead by senior Cliff Callazo and junior Daniel Lishak, the 12 member team had never been so unified. Jason Elliott optimistically had a vision into the future, "For the most part this team will stay together for next season, and we'll hopefully be able to duplicate the success we have had." The team credits their success to the togetherness and mutual support the players have for one another. With some hard work and superb play from the team's premiere player, Dan Lishak, this will not be the end of the team's winning ways.

WINTER TRACK

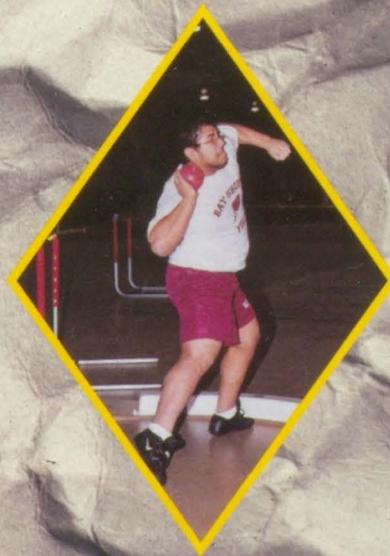

Devotion and determination are just two words that described this year's Boys Winter Track Team. With intense practices held Monday through Saturday from 2:41 to 5:00, the team had only one thing on their minds, and that was to win. The team went in as the underdogs and came out on top. "We had a strong solid team this year," said Coach Carter, when asked about the team. "We worked very hard to get to where we got this year."

The Boys Winter Track team was different from previous Boys Winter Track teams in Bay Shore, due to the fact that it was not about individual runners doing their best, but about the team as a whole working together to beat the odds that were stacked against them. The team reflected what Bay Shore athletics is really about. In all, they had a great season.

WRESTLING

▲ Co-captain Nathan Valle warms up before a match.

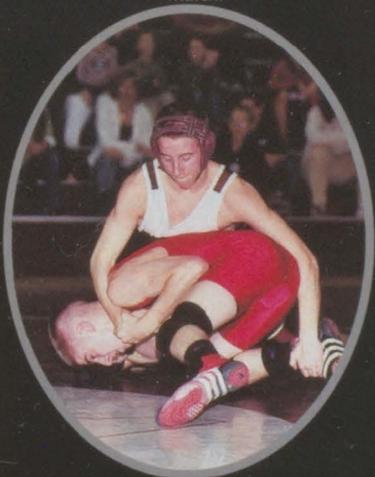

The 2004-2005 Boys Wrestling Team had an amazing season. Led by Coach R. Thompson, the team practiced willingly every Monday through Saturday. It was a lot of work but the team was determined to be reach the top of their league. They worked hard and competed among the best on Long Island. Charlie Flood enthusiastically stated, "Through hard work and dedication, everyday we will succeed."

The team had strong support from the community. This support was seen through the attendance at meets and their efforts to raise funds. The wrestling team was comprised of many underclassmen and had only two senior members. Those members were co-captains Nathan Valle and Charlie Flood. Since the team was so young, they had a lot to learn and experience. The team had to reflect on past years in order to continue to succeed. And succeed they did. Although they lacked the experience of past years, they certainly mirrored the hard work and energy. In doing so they achieved their goals.

After reflecting on eleven years of getting up early and taking that cold shower in the morning just to wake up, it is kind of hard to think about what life would be like without school. This is a concept the Juniors had to grasp as they prepared to step-up and take the place of their college-bound senior friends. This time was a point in their lives that brought on new forms of stress. It was like that speeding ticket that seemed to pop up out of nowhere. Students were faced with the challenges of the new SAT exam, the many many NYS Regents exams, being harassed by the security guards to show your ID every time you wanted to leave school grounds for lunch, and the idea that in just one more year they would be out in the unforgiving world of reality outside the high school. "Time is slipping from my hands faster than I can realize it," stated junior, Carissa Zino.

All of these obstacles, along with the new attendance policy, were just some of the things the Junior class had to deal with on a daily basis. Some students were excited to be reaching the point in their lives that they would soon be entering the outside world. Jennie McAllister was quoted saying, "It's a relief to only have two years left!"

Led by co-presidents Morgan Boulton and Michael Millan, the Sophomore class had a great year. They truly exemplified their spirit by making every effort to win a picnic at the end of the year.

The 2005 Sophomore class was one of the most dedicated classes Bay Shore High School has ever seen. They met once a month to come up with ideas to raise money for good causes such as the Celia Cruz Fund and the Thanksgiving Food Drive. The sophomores were also very helpful in setting up for school functions such as the Homecoming Dance and the Junior Prom.

The class certainly created a strong bond throughout the year. They were friendly in the hallways, hung out on weekends, and always had a good time. Jennie Remauro reflected back on the year and said, "It was another year of lessons learned, memories, and friends. Our days as sophomores have come to an end."

All in all, the sophomore class represented images of young adults. They proved that underclassmen could still be mature. Melissa Cook agreed adding, "This year went by fast; it was fun but I can't wait to finally be an upperclassman!"

HALLOWEEN

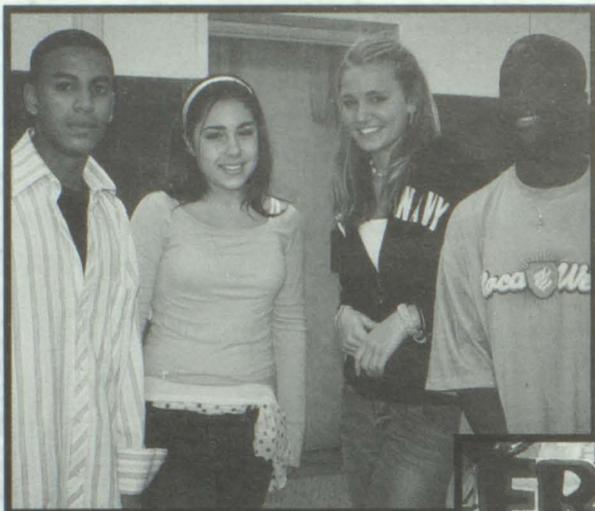

Every October 31st, Bay Shore High School students, faculty and staff dress up in the spirit of Halloween. There is an annual contest held in which the top three winners from three different categories are awarded prizes for their costumes.

CONTEST WINNERS

▲ The colorful banner led the way through the parade clearly demonstrating the enormous amount of Freshman spirit.

▲ Gabriela Grijalva, Julio Echevarria, Janelle Bonilla, and Genie Ozuna stop to capture a moment while eating their lunch.

▲ Brandon Agosto concentrates and fully focuses while taking a difficult exam.

▲ Megan Bradley, Sarah Baker and Taylor Rock march enthusiastically down Main Street during the Homecoming Parade.

As in past years, a new class of freshmen entered Bay Shore High School with all the fears and thrills of joining a new surrounding. One freshman, John Paul Cain, remarked, "Coming into the high school this year was so exciting! There was more freedom and it is more enjoyable than the middle school." Within a few weeks, freshmen began to feel at ease and fell into the routine of day to day life at Bay Shore High School. The shock of immense responsibility and independence subsided, and many freshmen found that the high school was not just a place for learning. They began to explore sports and other after-school activities. With the assistance of their class adviser, Ms. Acunzo, many freshmen were also able to get involved in volunteer work such as Stuff-A-Bus, Stream Team, and the annual Breast Cancer Brunch.

Freshmen also participated in small competitions between grade levels, such as Spirit Week, and Penny Wars. Melanie Meyerson, a Junior, commented, "Freshmen this year are very dedicated to their causes. They are working hard to make their first year in their new school unforgettable." As a result of their perseverance, freshman showed a tremendous amount of maturity and growth. By the end of the year, the class of 2008 left an impressive reflection on the entire staff and student body of our school.

ACTIVITIES

'05

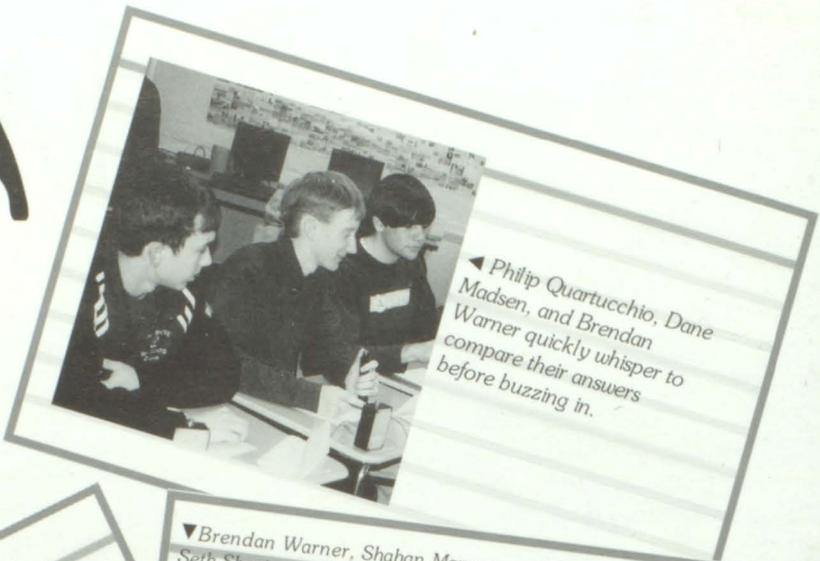

Bay Shore High School students are fortunate to have so many different activities to choose from. Maintaining these different choices allowed students to reflect upon their personal interests. Not many districts have such a vast variety of activities for students to choose from. The students of Bay Shore High School are fully aware of the strength of this district.

Every day of the week during the 2004-2005 school year, there was something going on for students to participate in. Every fourth Monday, students were found in Student Council meetings. On Tuesday nights, students faithfully attended Jazz Band where they filled the air with harmonious sounds, and on Wednesday afternoons, students could be found in Ms. Scoca's room sharpening their knowledge for the Trivia Team. On Thursday afternoons, the Bay Shore Model United Nations met to discuss world issues with Mrs. Litrel. Each Friday, S.A.D.D. discussed further ways to prevent drunk driving. These are only a few of the vast number of activities that helped keep this school buzzing throughout the year.

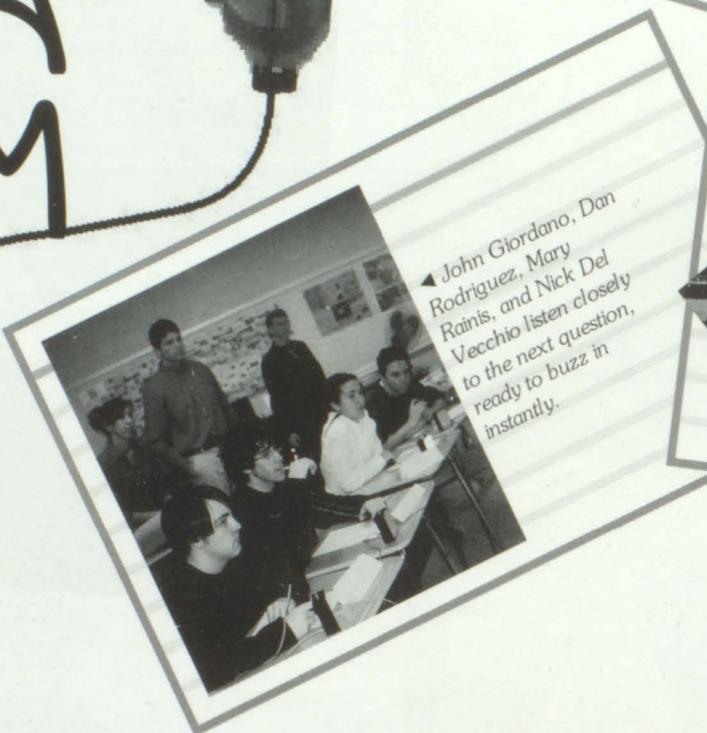

All of these clubs and activities helped to enrich the lives of the students here at Bay Shore High School. The plethora of choices the students maintained helped allow them to become the well-rounded leaders that they are.

--Danielle Guinta

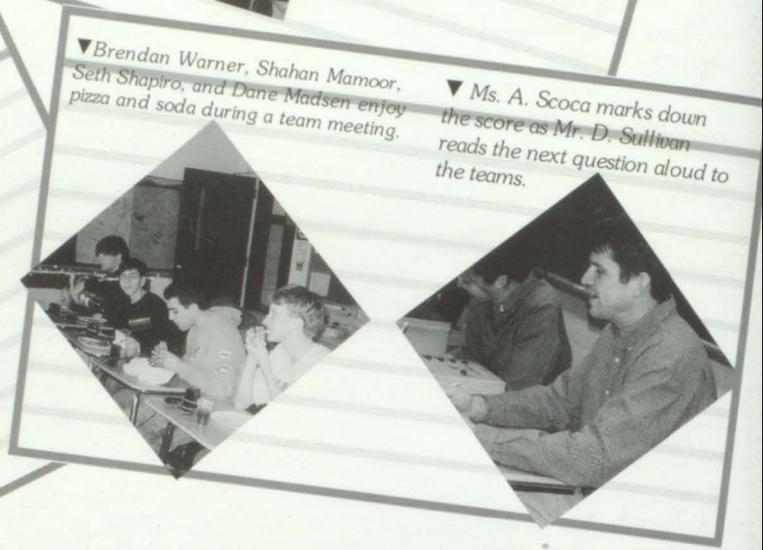

TRIVIA TEAM

◀ Philip Quartucchio, Dane Madsen, and Brendan Warner quickly whisper to compare their answers before buzzing in.

◀ John Giordano, Dan Rodriguez, Mary Rainis, and Nick Del Vecchio listen closely to the next question, ready to buzz in instantly.

▼ Brendan Warner, Shahan Mamoor, Seth Shapiro, and Dane Madsen enjoy pizza and soda during a team meeting.

▼ Ms. A. Scoca marks down the score as Mr. D. Sullivan reads the next question aloud to the teams.

Every Wednesday of the 2004-2005 school year, a battle of wits took place among an enthusiastic group of students in room 322. Mainly consisting of seniors, with a few juniors and a single freshman, this team spent the year representing Bay Shore at monthly trivia meets against other Long Island teams. The Trivia Team had already earned a fierce reputation when they made it to the News 12 Long Island Challenge semi-finals last year, winning $1000 in prize money.

This year's goal for success was no different, and the team reflected a growing determination under the guidance of Ms. A. Scoca and Mr. D. Sullivan. The Trivia Team presented themselves as a group, "who wants to have fun with trivia, and occasionally win," according to Senior Captain Shahan Mamoor. Brendan Warner, a second Senior Captain, agreed, explaining, "It's a great opportunity to display the wealth of knowledge you've amassed throughout life."

The teamwork displayed by the student members was also something to be proud of. These intelligent students learned to combine their individual strengths and work together, leaving a lasting impression as a solid Bay Shore team.

A. I. D. S. Educators

The Peer A.I.D.S. Education Program at Bay Shore High School consists of mature, responsible, caring and community-orientated students. Kristen Kenedy, a junior member of the club stated, "A.I.D.S. is a really good program to be involved in because it is not only fun but we are helping to educate our community."

The program was led by Mr. C. Kasman, Mr. Hyshiver, and Mrs. Arcardi. The students met every Thursday for two hours to prepare and practice lessons that would be taught to the eighth graders of Bay Shore at the end of the school year. The group had a combination of experienced and new members. However, the majority of the members were female. The group has expanded from previous years because there was more understanding about the program and more people were eager to get involved.

The discussions and lessons were run smoothly because the group was so cohesive. "I am extremely proud of the students who participate in the Peer A.I.D.S. Education Program," Mr. Kasman stated. He added, "This year's group is very enthusiastic and energetic. They are looking forward to presenting their knowledge to the middle school students." The response that the group received from Middle School students and faculty has been favorable and receptive. A reflection of its community, this group is also dedicated to making an impact.

ART CLUB

◀ Matt Colon comes to Art Club to finish up yet another of his creative masterpieces.

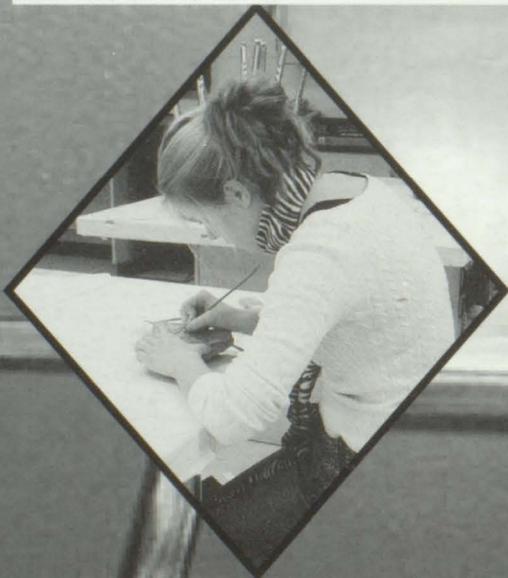

▶ Always a positive role model, Mr. Scinto intensely works on his own art project.

▲ ART CLUB:

Jenna Young, Mr. Scinto, Nina Yang, Matt Colon, Erick English, Ann Dolinar, Jenifer Auricchio, Paredez, Mike Rujjary

▼ The girls of Art Club enjoy themselves as they each work on unique projects.

▲ Etching into a stone, Ann Dolinar tries hard to complete her artwork.

To Art Club Director Joe Scinto, Art Club is a place to come and contemplate art. It is a place to come and design a masterpiece from within your mind's eye. One may work with many medias such as plaster, cardboard, clay, wire, latex, or alginates. Alginate is an art media that casts exact copies of the object of your choice. "This is where the magic happens," said the students of the 2004-2005 Art Club. To them, Art Club is a place of enjoyment where they can go and express themselves through the ideas of new artwork. No matter what, the artwork was always a masterpiece.

The students of the 2004-2005 Bay Shore High School Art Club always knew how to craft a great piece of art. Mr. Scinto was always in a great mood and more than willing to help the members of the Art Club with the projects that they are working on. He helped to build up the skills of participants and allowed them to become better individual artists as a whole. This year's Bay Shore High School Art Club has truly reflected the meaning of the word "artist" through the artwork of its members.

▲ Freshman Delores Moore smiles proudly after performing to the best of her ability.

▶ Diana Viville and Kendra Culpepper stand in surprise after learning a new routine.

So much to do...so little time. In 2005, Bay Shore High School's B.S.O.S.S. Club was up and ready for a new and outstanding year. Although this year held B.S.O.S.S. club's smallest number of participants, they were ready to get started. Planning a miraculous fashion show and running a Black History Month Show were just a few ways they raised money for scholarships this year.

With thirty members, including adviser Perry McLean, President Whitney Powell, and officers Melvice Lightfoot, Tamasia Booker and Sandra Dunel, B.S.O.S.S. accomplished many of their goals. Although they would have appreciated more members who were involved with community service, this lack of participation never stopped the Brothers and Sisters Organization for Students Scholarships' inspiration to strive to do the most possible.

Meeting every Thursday in the teacher's cafeteria to collaborate on how to have the most successful year, they always made time for the community. They adopted a family for the school year and according to adviser, Mr. McLean, "We should always aspire to do more for each other and our community." The dreams of raising money and helping the community became a distinct reality in 2005.

▼ BIBLE CLUB:

Leading the spiritually faithful into her 12th year of running the Bible club, Mrs. Pfeffer and club leader Allison Bouton held powerful, moving meetings every Thursday. The club consisting of 15-20 members, about half being seniors, did not require members to attend every week, just as they wish. The group prided themselves on all the positive things that they had done this past year, including participation in all the food drives, Adopt-A-Family, and donating winter clothes for the Iraqi people. Allison Bouton shared a common belief among members, "It is so much fun to hang out at school with students of your faith." For students who wish to take part in readings of the Bible and discussions, all were welcome. The only thing the club asked is that members are from any Christian denomination (they believe in Jesus Christ).

The club worked together for the good of everyone and the community and because of this they reflected the potential goodness of Bay Shore High School students onto the Bay Shore community. For feelings of spiritual togetherness, the club read Matthew 18:20, "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them..."

This year was the first time that Ms. Anna Capezza and Ms. Danielle Sutera were in charge of the new Renaissance Club. Renaissance consisted of about fifteen members and met once a week. This year they wanted to increase student and faculty involvement in the program and to "rebuild" it to become the best it could be.

Students in each grade level were eligible to receive a gold, maroon, or yellow card depending on their grade point average. This year, there was a lot more involvement than in the past, and the members were excited about keeping that a consistent goal. A gold member was required to maintain an A average, a maroon member a B average, and a yellow member a C average. Also, no cuts or suspensions were allowed. Many stores in the community offered rewards and discounts to students who did well in school. Renaissance reflects the ideals of Bay Shore by sharing ideas with others while being involved and striving to do the best that one could do in school. Stated by advisers Ms. Sutera and Ms. Capezza, "Renaissance can only succeed if we have the support and collaboration of the students, faculty, staff, and community." The advisers also mentioned, "We are very proud of our Renaissance Committee. They are very dedicated and enthusiastic about the program."

In addition, this year, Color Guard had a new adviser, Ms. J. Side, who stepped up to the plate to help. The girls were happy to have her as a part of the team. For the seniors, "This was a truly fun and memorable year."

This year, the girls participated in events such as Hofstra's Newsday Marching Band Festival and marched in the Columbus Day Parade in Manhattan. They were also a part of all the home football games as well as the Homecoming Parade and the Pep-Rally. Even though the senior girls will be leaving the team, they will be leaving behind their legacy which will help girls for years to come.

Computer Club

The 2004-2005 Computer Club was made up of 30-40 students and was advised by Mr. Eggert. The club learned how to beat the hardest of computer games every Thursday from 2:30 to 3:30. This club gave students a chance to not only learn more about computers, but gave them a chance to relax and enjoy one of their favorite pastimes: playing games with their friends.

A member of the club stated, "This year, there was a mix of underclassmen who were willing to learn more about computers." The club advisor, Mr. Eggert stated, "The club is no different from any other year, every year we just have fun." Everyone was accepted no matter who they were. Computer Club is a reflection of our schools willingness to help find meaningful activities. And, although the students compete to win, they never have problems helping others in need.

Every Friday afternoon, a catchy tune seeped into the hallway signaling the start of another Creative Writing Club meeting. Many students flocked to room 310 at the end of the week as a "safe haven to express feelings, thoughts and oddities freely," explained Mr. Pasca, Creative Writing Club adviser. For the past six years the club had enticed students to begin displaying their emotions poetically. Since that time, the club had grown to include over eighty members.

However, the club has done so much more than just writing through the year. They successfully ran many Poetry Jams and created Solstice, a publication sold at the events. As well as The Writers' Block, the school's literary magazine, which also included student short talks and poems. When asked how the Creative Writing Club reflects the spirit of Bay Shore, Mr. Pasca eloquently answered, "We are an open-minded, multicultural, multiracial group of funny, thoughtful, creative individuals who, through art and a firm sense of community, hope to improve our own lives and those of others."

"Shakin' for all the right reasons," was the 2004-2005 Dance Club motto. The team of 45 girls and two guys attended class every Tuesday and Wednesday from 5:30-7:30pm to either get some exercise or to practice for a performance at the Bay Shore Marauder Boy's Varsity Basketball games. The art of dance was expressed through the great choreography of Ms. Lotonya Talbert and Ms. Michelle Dinino with the purpose of challenging the participants with difficult dance movement. Performing at local and school events with a positive attitude was what the Dance club strived to accomplish.

Involving a mixture of hip-hop, modern dance, jazz, and ballet transformed the ordinary vibe of 2005 into a reflected dedication of all of the participants. As Whitney Powell, one of the Dance Club members stated, "One of the best parts of Dance Club was the collaboration of both types of teaching from Ms. Dinino and Ms. Talbert in one."

With a yearning passion to explore the business world, students came together to join F.B.L.A., Future Business Leaders of America. The club helped students gain experience and insight to various careers and business opportunities. This year, the club set many goals and achieved them through numerous community service projects. They held holiday bake sales where profits went to charitable locations such as Schneider's Children's Hospital. They helped out at the Special Olympics, adopted-a-family for Christmas, and ran a school-wide Toys for Tots to help out less fortunate children. President Noelle Brown stated, "I am proud of all the community service we have done. It is great being part of a club that not only has fun but helps others."

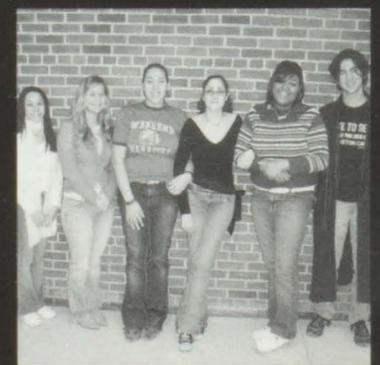

F.B.L.A. truly reflects the determination of the Bay Shore students by paving the way to business opportunities. This year was F.B.L.A.'s first time marching in Homecoming. By bringing a cheer to the crowd, the future business leaders managed to successfully gain peers' recognition and awareness. Club advisor Mrs. Fevang stated, "This club and these members are truly creative and dedicated individuals. They have brought forth many new ideas, helping to give back to our community." With determination and generosity, F.B.L.A. proves to be an important asset to Bay Shore High School.

The 2005 Bay Shore High School Film Club had yet another spectacular year filled with nothing but creativity. Each member embraced his or her love for film to the fullest with the help of their adviser, Ms. Nell Kalter. "I am continually moved and impressed by the level of sophistication and decication the young filmmakers of Bay Shore High School exhibit," commented Ms. Kalter proudly. She has been running the club for six years now.

Not only did the Film Club provide an artisitic outlet for students, it gave them an opportunity to share their work with the community. Last year, their Annual Film Festival was held at the Boulton Center for the Preforming Arts. This was a big success because it allowed the public to acknowledge the talent of Bay Shore's young filmmakers. In the spring of 2005, the Film Festival was held again, with hopes of reflecting the victories of the previous year. The turnout exceeded their wildest expectations, and the festival was declarerd a "big hit."

"It is our belief that film, like literature, should be studied for the impact it collectively has on our culture," stated Ms. Kalter and it was certainly undeniable that her students agreed.

Solis consisted of students from different countries, such as the Dominican Republic, Vietnam, Bangladesh, Ecuador, El Salvador, Korea, Pakistan as well as many other countries around the world.

From 2:30 to 3:30p.m. they gathered together to discuss and share with their peers about their native countries. From dancing to language use and jokes, they enjoyed their time together and never wanted to leave. Mrs. Solis described the club as, "A home base where international students can feel comfortable in expressing their individual cultures and ideas in a non-threatening environment." The International Club had much to offer to everyone. Most importantly, it provided a chance to gather different parts of the world into one room.

Maroon Echo

The 2004-2005 Bay Shore High School Maroon Echo has done it again! In this past year the 45+ members, lead by Mr. Walt Fishon, have soared to new heights. The members of the Maroon Echo were creative and eloquent when covering every story from the war in Iraq to the hacky-sack craze. "The students are great writers, but they are also concerned about their school, highly motivated and willing to go the extra mile," stated Mr. Fishon. The Maroon Echo is like a mirror, it reflects what is happening at Bay Shore High School. The students were not only the journalists but also the layout designers, page designers and photographers all comprised together forming the voice of the school and the community.

Two of Maroon Echo's goals for the year were to increase the number of publications from the previous year and to win gold award at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, a nationwide contest. Editor in Chief, Kristen Verni believes, "The diversity of the members has added to the success of the years sensational articles." Active member, Lillian Udell concurred that "The different faces of the Maroon Echo brought fourth a good representation of the student body", and was very impressed with the dedication that was reflected in every edition of the 2004-2005 Maroon Echo.

This year's 2005 Marauder Yearbook Staff was more dedicated and enthusiastic than ever before. This class overcame many obstacles this year and was able to produce an award-winning yearbook. Staying organized, learning the complicated computer design program, staying focused, and meeting deadlines were all essential attributes of a successful yearbooker. Adviser Ms. Kelly Cuozzo brainstormed ways to organize the class to function in the most productive way. "We wanted to take full advantage of the ideas and possibilities that the students had to offer," said Cuozzo. She also added, "This group of students had the most innovative and imaginative ideas I have ever heard. I wanted to provide them with the opportunity to see those designs take flight."

The imagination and drive that filled room 321 daily was apparent from the very first day of class. The students had many decisions to make, such as choosing a theme, color schemes, choosing pictures, and ultimately creating page and layout designs. The hours put into each page and the yearbook as a whole were innumerable. There were countless tasks that needed to be completed daily to secure that the yearbook came out on time. Fundraising, advertising, taking pictures, spell checking, editing, are merely a few of the arduous tasks facing a yearbook staff member. "We could easily just hand things in that are not up to par, but the yearbook is only as good as the effort put into it," Ms. Cuozzo stated.

This year, the staff really thought out of the box and accomplished the unthinkable. "We are no longer satisfied with the standard," was heard throughout the yearbook office. "We need to spice it up a little," was a common thought heard among members.

Yearbook is not like regular classes or clubs; it is one that affects the entire school community. If one did not do his or her work, then the yearbook would not be published until the summer and the whole school would be affected. Although the staff felt pressure throughout the year, it was something that propelled these students to work even harder.

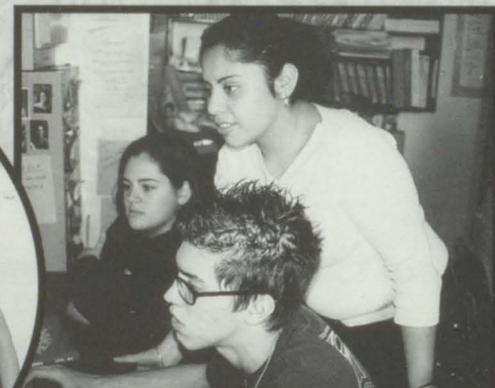

Each year, the Marauder Staff reflects upon past years to pull out innovative ideas and make improvements. The 2005 staff wanted the 82nd edition of the Marauder Yearbook to be the book that future students can look back on and become inspired by.

"Objection, badgering the witness!" and "Sustained," were some of the law terminology that could be heard on Thursday afternoons in room 24. This was where members of this year's Moot Court Club developed their skills to advance and become a part of next year's Mock Trial Team. The group consisted of primarily 9th and 10th grade students and was described to be, "A group of young and energetic members," by their second-year Adviser Mr. J. Selzer.

The students, who have taken or expressed their interest in taking law classes, put on cases that could be seen in courtrooms or on television court shows. "The team is very diverse and are all working toward the same goal. They carry themselves like professional attorneys," remarked Selzer. Using the proper courtroom etiquette, they withheld the perception of the community, proving that they were one of the best teams on Long Island.

Bay Shore High School's 2004-2005 Model U.N. Team once again outdid itself with another outstanding performance. The group consisted of 15 members, as well as adviser Mrs. S. Litrel, and assistant adviser Ms. H. Thompson. All participants had high hopes of developing Long Island's Model U.N. Circuit.

This year the Model U.N. club was different from years past due to the fact that the members were much more active. This year's group had success in the Deer Park Model U.N. Competition, coming in first and third place. Shahan Mamoor, a leading member of the club, represented Chile on the Security Council, and was also part of the national team who represented Haiti.

The seniors on the team reflected on their past performances and agreed that this was the high point of their career in Model U.N. Mrs. Litrel quoted Margaret Meade in saying, "Never doubt that a small group of people can make a difference. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has." This year's group proved the authenticity of Ms. Meade's words.

Peer Support

Every Wednesday at 2p.m. in the little theater, one could find a group of approximately 150 sophomores, juniors, and seniors who came together to be the Peer Support leaders of Bay Shore High School. Led by co-advisers, Mr. J. McGowan who has successfully run the club for over fifteen years and Ms. S. Handley, who has been a committed member for four years, this club has been a growing success each year.

This year, the group tried to become more "service-oriented" by helping the community at large as well as school. The club was made up of responsible students who were looking to help others. Some of the activities that the students took part in were role playing, Christmas Magic and Bay Shore High School's ever-successful Awareness Weekend.

All of the activities that the club took part in made a strong impact on both our school and community, "Our students' willingness to help their peers is admirable and inspiring," commented Ms. Handley. The Peer Supporters truly reflected the spirit of the many kind-hearted people who live in Bay Shore and all the good this community has to offer.

There were many new students who joined this year as well as a large number of returning upperclassmen. This year, the Robotics Team looked for bigger and even more complicated challenges and truly hoped to create an even more complex robot than the previous year. They hoped that it would be able to accomplish many tasks simultaneously.

"The Robotics Team works well together as a whole, and utilizes everyone to create the best robot possible and come out champions," proudly commented team member Ashely Ferguson. Students were able to enter the club with no prior knowledge of robotics and leave with a vast knowledge of computer programs, construction and design. ▼ Officers, Anthony Biondo, Charlie Flood, Tamara Furshpan, and Brendan Warner lead S.A.D.D. into a discussion about their upcoming car project.

"S.A.D.D. today alive tomorrow." For at least a decade, Mr. Geoff Broadhurst has been advising students against drunk driving. On Fridays while everyone else had raced out to get a head start on another exciting weekend, approximately 30 S.A.D.D. members met in room 18 to talk about how to inform their peers of the dangers of drinking and driving. Grim Reeper Day and Red Ribbon Week were some of the annual events sponsored by S.A.D.D. but this year they planned to follow through on an idea that would not only impact the school, but the Bay Shore community as a whole. Early in the year plans to make a permanent S.A.D.D. car display at the entrance of the football field became the group's biggest goal. The car reflected what could happen if you decided to drink and get behind the wheel.

This plan had been discussed in past years but action was never taken. S.A.D.D. planned to make it a reality this year. "I could not have imagined being associated with a more positive and outgoing group of young adults; ones who were not afraid to tackle a serious issue that affects our society today. With them, I feel the future is in good hands," said Broadhurst.

The Spanish conversation club has helped students for almost four years. They function under the advisement of Mrs. Pachon-Abbot. "Our club is a forum for discussions and creative activities about language and culture," said Sam Mott, a club officer. Thespian Troupe

"There's a place for everyone," said Mr. C. Bilella while talking about the 2004-2005 Thespian Troupe. This year's troupe put on two successful productions while also learning the different aspects of theater. The students involved in Thespian Troupe were a mix of all grade levels, and were skilled in singing, dancing, and acting. The troupe not only performed for our school but also performed at the Bay Shore Arts Festival, the Annual Community Summit, and showcased their talents at the Honor Society Spring Fling.

The fall show for the troupe was "Laughter on the 23rd Floor," a comedy that involved a small but extremely talented cast. The spring show, "Anything Goes," was a musical that involved tap dancing and a much larger ensemble. The shows put on by these two wonderful casts will definitely be remembered for years to come. "Drama involves a group effort, a team effort, and it includes all students regardless of age, talent or ability," said Mr. C Bilella. His pride was evident and the talent surely shined all year through.

Combining the latest technology along with their up to date computer skills, the 2004-2005 Web Design team kept the schools web page up to date with the latest information concerning the community and school itself. With the school under so much construction, the website was consistently being updated with pressing news. They were able to post pictures of the progress and allow community members to see the transformation taking place.

Led for the past six years by Ted Scalzo, the team had a rigorous schedule, meeting everyday until 3:30 in the music technology lab. Although the club may have consisted of only four people, they were all dedicated students that truly reflected the hardworking students Bay Shore has to offer. Mr. Scalzo stated proudly, "We are the very best Bay Shore has to offer, it is amazing what students can accomplish."

WOODWORKING

▲ WOODWORKING:

The Wood Working Club certainly left its mark on Bay Shore High School in the 2004-2005 school year. This club expressed an image of creativity using only blocks of wood and their collective imaginations. Provided with machines and numerous tools, the participants' artistic skill showed how amazing the human mind can be.

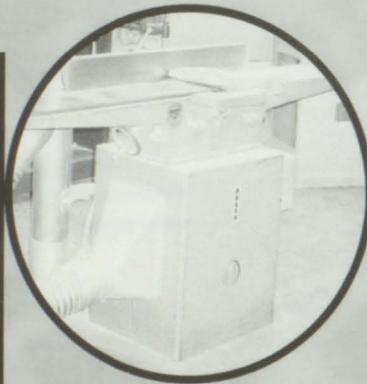

A group of 12-16 students alternately met every Tuesday to work on their projects that would be displayed in either their homes, or the art showcase in the technology room. The Wood Working Club inspired adviser Mr. Raskin to take time out and advise once a week to accomplish the many goals the club. The strong desire to construct something was the club's only requirement to join. As Mr. Raskin said, "I am only here to help the students learn how to properly use the machinery and to answer any questions they may have. The rest is up to them." Compared to the previous years he has had advising this club, this year, Mr. Raskin had more freshman and sophomores. With a large variety of students of all ages, the majority of participants were male. An interesting feature of the Wood Working Club was the fact that each person had an interesting project that he or she designed and constructed by themselves.

Because the participants are largely on their own, they may sometimes, "bite off more than they can chew," Mr. Raskin reflected. The club was successful in completing everything they started and that is all that mattered in this year's organization.

Awareness Weekend is a place for the students of Bay Shore High School to relax and enjoy some good quality time with teachers and other students within the school. The students were able to get to know the teachers more socially and become a little closer with them emotionally. The students were also able to get to know other students of the school in which they never knew they could relate to in a more social and emotional manner. This truly unique weekend allows for some deep bonds among Bay Shore's student and faculty.

There were activities where each student and teacher was involved in helping to get the whole group into the spirit of a true Awareness Weekend. Mr. McGowan motivated all participants on their journey to find themselves within several activities done together in family groups. A family group was a group of students along with two teachers and a student facilitator. Greg DiLeva commented, "Awareness Weekend is an experience that everyone who goes to Bay Shore High School should experience for themselves."

This year's Awareness Weekends were truly helpful to the student body here at Bay Shore High School. It allowed the students the freedom to express themselves and reflect upon their lives outside of school. This year's awareness weekends truly mirrored how united the Bay Shore community truly is.

ACADEMICS

'05

Bay Shore has many excellent academic clubs and activities. Students expanded their intellectual horizons with activities that incorporated music, theatre and knowledge. Students stayed after school to prepare for tests, put on concerts, and expressed their many different talents in activities such as Science Olympiads and Poetry Jam.

With the proper guidance, they were able to improve their skills and became more successful young adults. "The academic opportunities offered at Bay Shore High School have certainly allowed me to branch out and grow into a more rounded person as well as provided me with a stronger understanding of other cultures," said Junior Josh Rhein

While conquering busy schedules, students found time to prepare for SAT's and their essential New York State Regents exams. Some students had to juggle work, school, and extra-curricular activities. "This year was very hard, because I have to go from school to activities, to baby sit and then to work," commented senior Melissa Parrington. Somehow, students were able to accomplish their goals and build their academic resumes that aided in preparing them for the road ahead.

TTT BAND

Wind Ensemble

Symphonic Band

Concert Band

To graduate from Bay Shore High School, every student needs at least one music or art credit. For some, band is merely a credit, yet for those involved, the music is a source of enjoyment. "I'm staying in the band for all four years because it becomes almost like a family," said Sophomore Sean Wilson.

When a student enters the high school, they are placed in the ninth grade Concert Band. Here they refine their technique and increase the level of difficulty of the music they perform. This prepares them for the Marching Band season, and the Symphonic Band or Wind Ensemble. "This year has been the most challenging yet rewarding year in my career as a teacher. Both the Symphonic Band and the Concert Band improved greatly," said Mr. Mike Rotello, director.

The award-winning Wind Ensemble has competed in numerous competitions throughout Long Island. With the help of its officers, they attended Philadelphia for a day this April.

Each group exemplifies the community service, and the bonds that can be found within the Bay Shore Community.

--Nicole Barone

Choir

The 2004-2005 choir members surpassed other years with their amazing voices and performance skills. Led by Dr. C. Morrow and assisted by accompanist Loraine Williams, this chorus group was able to improve their soft quiet voices into beautiful loud vocals.

With more members and student interest, the singers expressed their acoustic talents in various shows. They were involved in many community service projects as well, such as performances at Southside Hospital, the Pilgrim Psychiatric Rehab Center, and the Brightwaters Treelighting. "Audiences are entertained by musicians who are able to perform a variety of styles," stated Loraine Williams proudly. The singers and performers of this year's choir reflected the discipline and creativity of Bay Shore.

Using their voices as instruments, they hoped to reach their numerous goals, some of which were performing at community concerts and the Six Flags Festival. Dr. Morrow stated, "The foundation of expression is rhythm and the foundation of rhythm lies in the metric pulse."

Tuesday Night Hip Katz

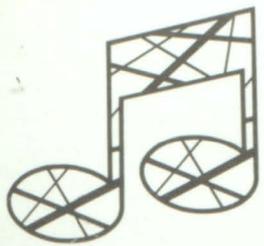

Thursday Night Jazz Project

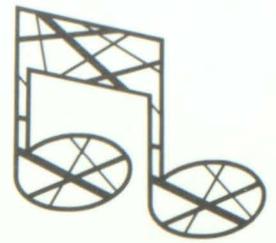

What does a typical Tuesday or Thursday night mean to a Bay Shore High School student? Well, to about 50 students, these two nights of the week mean going to the high school from 7 to 9 p.m. to play jazz music. The two Jazz Ensembles consisted of a blend of, "tremendously talented students from different grades, all with their own unique talents," said Mr. M. Rotello. Both groups strived for one thing: to improve their improvisational skills. When reflecting upon the groups from previous years, Mr. T. Scalzo, director of the Tuesday Night Hip Katz, and Mr. M. Rotello, director of the Thursday Night Jazz Project, were in agreement that the groups from this year seemed more energetic and enthusiastic about music.

In addition to their dedication and talent, the groups also had the chance to perform publicly throughout the year for the community. The ensembles received only positive feedback from the people who had the chance to enjoy their performances. According to Mr. Scalzo, the ensembles, "epitomized what it means to teach in Bay Shore. Set the mark high and they will achieve." Because of students and directors like these, Bay Shore will be filled with wonderful and melodious music for years to come.

--Jackie Masciana

Orchestra

Bay Shore students have the opportunity to take music classes as their art credit, which is a graduation requirement. One music option is Orchestra. When one thinks of Orchestra, one thinks of strings, right? However, there are also band members involved in the Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra, which was comprised of a mixture of seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, had high hopes for the 2004-2005 school year.

Ms. M. Senatore, director of the Symphony Orchestra, pulled out some challenging and exciting music for the Orchestra to play, and they pulled it off flawlessly.

Previously, Ms. Senatore was the orchestra teacher at the middle school. When asked what was exciting about her transition to the high school she said, "It's exciting to see my students grow as musicians. I always appreciate their hard work." As she reflected on previous years, Ms. Senatore commented, "The freshmen were particularly strong." The few words of advice that she did give to the members throughout the year was, "Practice makes perfect," and practice they surely did.

▲ Kathryn Tortorici takes time one afternoon to help Mike Millan study for his upcoming math exam.

▲ Mrs. Parker and Chris Gloor stay after the meeting to discuss plans for next week.

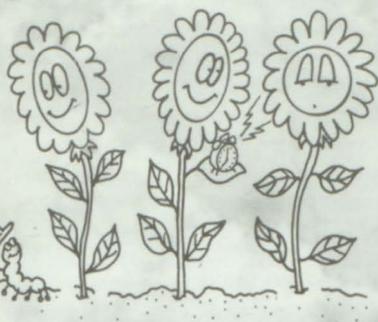

The National Honor Society has been skillfully advised for the last two years by Mrs. P. Parker. This school year, the club was involved in Adopt-a-Family, Spring Fling, peer tutoring, and ushering during school plays. The club is offered to juniors and seniors who have maintained a 3.8 grade point average or higher and have readily participated in extra curricular activities.

This group was different from last year's on account of its tremendous leadership, scholarship, character and service. "If you think of what you ought to do for other people, your character will take care of itself." This quote from Woodrow Wilson was an ideal strongly embraced by Parker and all the club members. It is an honor to be a part of this nationally recognized club because members are chosen by the adviser and in addition, each member must submit teacher recommendations.

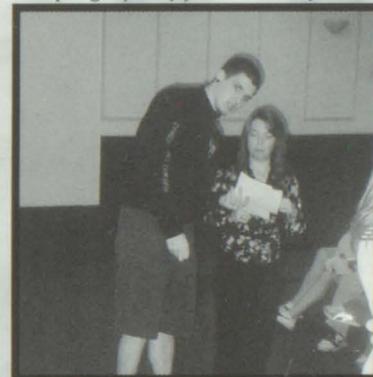

The Bay Shore Chapter of the National Honor Society represents the true spirit of Bay Shore. These students are reliable, strong academically, and extremely active in the community. In other words, The National Honor Society truly represent the cream of the crop of Bay Shore High School.

This year's Service Honor Society continued its amazing success thanks to the efforts of three year adviser Mrs. M. Cardone and her amazing participants. The group included over 200 Bay Shore High School students who offered their services to the Bay Shore community. All of the students went through an induction in which they were to complete a minimum of 15 community service hours.

Along with being students who dedicated their time to academics, they also devoted themselves to helping their peers and the community. Mrs. Cardone described them by saying, "I can't think of a group of students who would be more inspirational to work with. They consistently give of their time and of themselves to help make someone else's life a bit easier." Service Honor Society not only reflected what all Bay Shore students strived to become, but they also cast an ideal image of what a truly hardworking teenager is.

Bay Shore High School offers a variety of electives, some of the most popular being law classes. Early this year, active participants in the law program were given the opportunity to try out for the 2004-2005 Mock Trial Team. Head Coach, Mr. J. Selzer, assisted by Attorney Coach, Mr. L. Mazzola, auditioned students in September, looking for members that, as Coach J. Selzer stated, were, "able to think on their feet and argue complex legal questions." Bay Shore High School's Mock Trial Team is known throughout the county as a team to be reckoned with. This group has made it to the County Championships nearly every year since 1984, and this year's team was just as successful.

Heading into the year's competition season with the goal of reaching and even winning Suffolk County Championships, the 2004-2005 Mock Trial team began meeting everyday after school in the courtroom, beginning in early January. This diverse group of eighteen sophomores, juniors, and seniors had an outstanding season to show for the end, reflecting the many hours of hard work they put in throughout the year. However, Coach J. Selzer explained that their successful season was no surprise, since this year's team was, "the finest, most hard-working, and dedicated group," he has ever had the pleasure of working with.

SCIENCE OLYMPIADS

The 2004-2005 Bay Shore High School Science Olympiads, advised by Mr. Lowen and Mrs. Pagan, had a very successful year. Unlike previous years, this national organization did not only include the twenty-four members from the after school club, but also the students in the new half-year elective which met everyday in the MST room. Members of Science Olympiads excel in an area of science such as physics, chemistry, biology, earth science or engineering. As Mrs. Pagan stated, "Students don't have to excel in ALL areas of science- just one!" Each year the members prepare different science projects to compete at the end of the year.

In particular, this past year's goal was to place in the top ten of our region, and number one out of approximately twenty-five other high school teams in Suffolk County. The epitome of Bay Shore's spirit was reflected in each member by their determination to compete at their highest level and succeed in all eighteen events. Mrs. Pagan's statement, "Both Mr. Lowen and I very much enjoy the spirit of the competitions and watching our team get better and better each year," shows the dedication put forth by the advisors as well. In Mr. Lowen's fifth year and Mrs. Pagan's fourth year, they both have kept their energy up by joking around with the kids. One statement that Mrs. Pagan says that stands out in particular is, "Participation on the team also looks great on high school transcripts!!"

This year's Student Council was one filled with responsibility, integrity, and passion. These qualities were extended beyond the seniors, to the underclassmen as well. "This year, there seems to be more active involvement from the underclassmen," verified Ms. C. Acunzo, who, along with Ms. J. Side has been advising Student Council for the past four years.

There were a total of twenty class officers, four for each grade level, and four Student Council officers, who regularly met in a Student Council homeroom. However, meetings were held the last Monday of every month, where everyone was welcome. "Student Council is ideal, because students are in a position to be heard, and to organize school events," stated Ms. J. Side proudly. In Student Council, there is no obligation, students attend meetings according to what events and fundraisers they desire to plan, and assist with. And assist and plan, they certainly did.

Student Council reflected the good nature of Bay Shore students. They planned such events as Stuff-A-Bus, and Adopt-A-Family which earned respect from the community, and with a Tsumani fundraiser, they were recognized around the world. "We just want to thank the Student Council members who are consistently active in helping the community," proudly commented Ms. C. Acunzo.

On April 15, 2005, 500 students from Bay Shore and 30 neighboring schools attended the annual Ethnic Pen Student Writers' Conference. The nationally recognized conference, which focuses on ethnic diversity, was developed and organized by former English/Language Arts Director, Ms. Nina Wolff. Bay Shore High School has been fortunate to house such an elaborate and informative conference highlighting the art of writing. As a result of the efforts of Ms. Wolff and her student coordinators, students from all across Long Island have had the opportunity to attend this festival and enrich their writing talent.

Said Ms. Wolff, "This year's conference theme, 'Building Bridges That Melt Ethnic Boundaries', underscores Bay Shore's commitment to creating harmony among people. By examining ethnic literature, drama, film, and art, we learn that people are more similar than different." In keeping with the theme of this year's conference, Building Bridges, students were asked to relate this theme to their own lives for the Ethnic Pen Writing Conference. The question, "How do we build bridges to reach out to other cultures?" received tremendous response.

"This year, we got more responses than typical," commented English teacher Ms. Nell Kalter, whose Film Study/Multi-Media classes presented a workshop for the conference. "Students seemed to respond well to the theme because they were not fenced in by only writing about their ethnicity but how their ethnicity connects them to their community."

First, second, third-place, and honorable mention winners in both the poetry and prose categories received Barnes and Noble gift cards at the awards assembly held on Ethnic Pen Day.

Throughout the conference, students were exposed to critically acclaimed authors, and renowned documentary film directors. After listening to these interesting keynote speakers, students broke up in to the workshops they signed up for earlier in the year.

Without the direction of Ms. Wolff, and the help of her student coordinators Meghan Sullivan and Shahan Mamoor, as well as other contributing committee members, the Ethnic Pen Conference would not give students the opportunity to embrace the differences among people. This enriching experience truly celebrated the diversity found in Bay Shore.

The unwavering intention of the biannual Bay Shore Poetry Jam was to put on a great show, complete with live music, creative original poetry, and complimentary food. One of the most amazing characteristics of this program was its ability to attract such a diverse crowd to participate by reading or just listening in on the works of others.

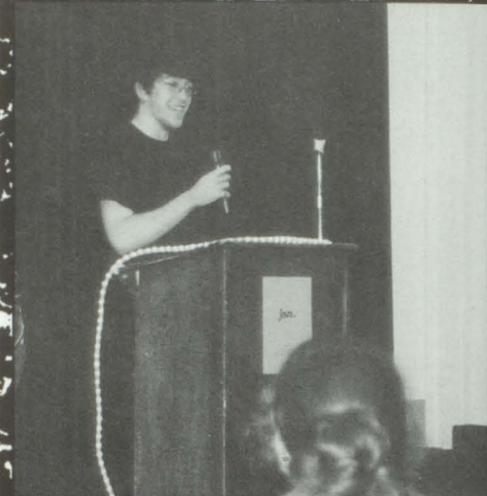

This year's jam followed in this tradition with a great turnout including 40-50 readers, two live bands, and 140-180 attendees in total. Poetry Jam was an event that was open to and appealed to students of all persuasions and backgrounds. Art is a unifying force in our lives, and the Poetry Jam exemplified the many connections we share as human beings living in the 21st century. Jon Nelson, English teacher and former Creative Writing Club Adviser proudly stated, "I am always amazed at how many students show up to listen to poetry after school. Sometimes there isn't an empty seat." Parents from the community regularly attended Poetry Jams, and usually had nothing but wonderful things to say about the participants and the event as a whole.

Bay Shore High School students are extremely fortunate to have programs such as the Poetry Jam available to them. The sense of community that was apparent throughout the duration of the Poetry Jam reflected the cohesiveness of the students. Mr. Mel Farberman, Director of Language Arts commented, "It was a wonderful forum for student expression."

Most Embarrassing Moments...

► Limel Small
Grade 11

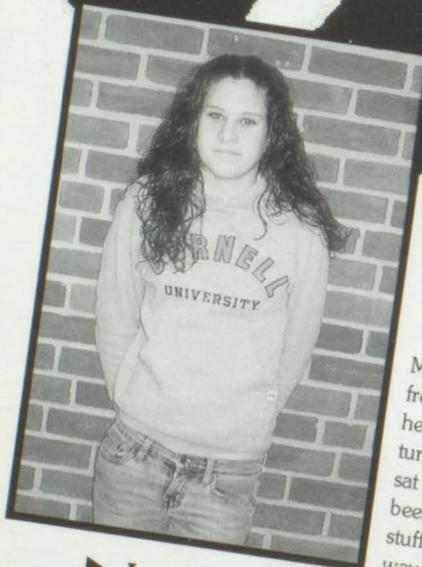

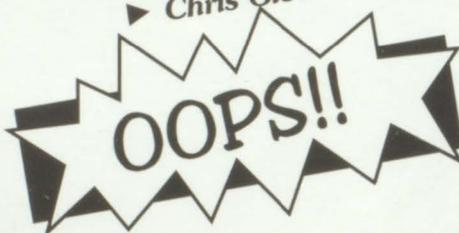

When I was about seven years old, I was riding my bike around the block and I turned into my driveway to go in for dinner. I fell off my bike and cut my knee really bad. I went inside to look for a band-aid and couldn't find any. I found my sister's maxi-pads and thought they were band-aids so I put one on my knee and folded it around. Later, my sisters and my cousins walked in my room to find me with a maxi-pad on my knee, unaware that any of this was strange!

► Chris Gloor Grade 12

I went to Florida with my baseball team in October. One night, we went to Joe's Crab Shack for dinner. The parents sat on one side of the restaurant, while the team sat on the other. The team decided to play a joke on me and the waitress. It was my birthday, so she brought me out a straw hat and one of those sticks with a horse head on it and asked me to ride around the tables while everyone sang, "Happy Birthday."

When I started to protest, the parents started cheering me on. It took a while but finally I did it and got an ovation from the whole restaurant. I must admit it was pretty funny.

► Jen Rogan
Grade 11

My most embarrassing moment occurred in my freshman year. My goal was to be "seen and not heard." Well, the people at my lunch table took turns with who would throw out the garbage. We sat next to a table of senior guys, all of whom had stuff, I quickly agreed to make the trip. On the way there, however, with the boys staring at me, I slipped on a napkin. I fell right on my butt and the garbage landed on me. The whole cafeteria started laughing, and one boy came over to me. I was still on the ground and he was laughing and pointing. I was mortified.

One embarrassing moment I had was when Valerie Reyes and I were telling each other jokes. All of a sudden, while I was laughing, a really loud fart came out. We were laughing hysterically. I was kind of embarrassed, but we laughed so hard!

When I first started in Bay Shore, I was the Department Chair for Special Ed. and was split between the high school and middle school. On my first day, I went to meet the middle school teachers. As I walked into the school, by the auditorium doors, my heel got caught on the mat. I tripped and both feet went up in the air and I landed on my butt. Just as this happened, Mr. Burns was walking by and he came over to help me out and see if I was okay. He then introduced himself and said he was a Special Ed. teacher. I laughed and said I was his new supervisor. Great first impression!

One day last year, while I was in the mall with my friends, we went into KB Toys. One of my friends found a loose football, picked it up, and threw it at me. I wasn't paying attention, so the football hit me right in the face. I tripped on a toy and I fell into the shelf behind me. The shelf flipped over on top of me. A bunch of people tried to help pull it off me, and a worker even called security to come help. Since I wasn't hurt, my friends and a group of girls began laughing at me hysterically. It was pretty humiliating.

One time while I was working on an English project, (filming a scene from Hamlet on the third floor) I was in the cut through near the elevator, and it was pretty secluded, so I got really into the scene. Halfway through the filming, a teacher came through the elevator door and found me shirtless, half-way through a strip tease.

I remember one of my most embarrassing moments like it was yesterday. It started off like any other day in elementary school, where all I thought about was getting ice cream later that night. As the day passed, my class was informed of a double gym period, and we all became excited. The only problem I faced was the fact that I was wearing my school uniform. It was a navy blue skirt and white blouse. Then, we went on to gym and everyone voted on playing basketball. As everyone was playing, one kid that I liked decided to bounce the basketball while I was about to shoot my ball, and it ended up lifting my skirt. After that day, I never wore that uniform again.

My most embarrassing moment happened to me when I was a little kid. My brother dared me to do a double flip on the monkey bars. I told him I would only do it if I got a dollar. He promised me, so I began to climb to the top of the monkey bars. While I was climbing I slipped, my head was stuck on the monkey bars. My brother went home to get my mom, who brought a bucket of Crisco and had to smear it all around my head. It was slippery for a week.

Several years ago, during the High School Graduation ceremony, I introduced the Valedictorian and Salutatorian. In mentioning the colleges they would be attending, I had written the wrong ones in my speech! The students immediately corrected me on stage in front of over a thousand people.

One morning, during my first year teaching, I arrived at school and realized that I was wearing two different color shoes. The same shoe-one brown, one black! I hoped no one would notice, but of course my students laughed at me all day long.

I thought I was calling a local theater to schedule a performance for my class. I know that the days are usually quiet, so I was sure that I would get a hold of someone. However, the line was busy. I called at least four more times throughout the day, becoming more and more frustrated at the busy signal, before I realized that I was actually calling the number of the phone I was using in the English Office.

The 2005 Senior Banquet was a night for delicious foods, memorable laughs, socializing, and of course, dancing. The night was filled with fun as the senior class danced the night away. "It was a once-in-a-lifetime experience," commented Sam Roberts.

The Class of 2005 showed their "Senior Pride" that night in an astonishing manner. It was truly a night that no one would ever forget. As the photographer called all of the seniors for a group photo, a bunch of them jumped on the table, and that was truly a mistake. Unfortunately, the table collapsed beneath them. A roar of laughter ran through the crowd as the students got up to recover from the fall. Despite a few mishaps, the night continued with a soul train line that even enticed the chaperones to hit the dance floor. "I had an awesome time," proclaimed Erick English. As the DJ filled the room with a variety of music, students were able to bond with their classmates and feel the love existant within the class of 2005. "It was a great thing to see the entire senior class blend together and dance as a whole," reflected Katie Hughes.

The night could not have been better and there was even time for an ice cream social, which allowed everyone to share one of their last moments together before prom and graduation. This was a great cap to a wonderful evening. The Class of 2005 truly enjoyed themselves that and felt this was truly a magical night.

Music of

ZERO POTENTIAL

MEMBERS: Felipe Gonzalez (drums), Jake Sawyer (guitar), and Tim? Smith (bass and vocals)

GENRE: Grunge and Punk

INFLUENCES: The Vines, The Cure, and of course, Nirvana

ABOUT THEM: Zero Potential is undoubtedly one of the great up and coming bands of the Bay Shore High School. Diligent, and talented, it is hard not to praise this group. "Zero Potential has inspired me to start my own band...they are incredible and I would like to be half as good as them! Their song "Cavity" makes me weak in the knees. It's that good," admired sophomore and fan Lori Finizio.

MEMBERS: Keith Caylor (drums), Allan DaSilva (guitar), David Hahn (vocals), and Moises Hernandez (bass)

GENRE: Funk, Rock, Jazz, Hardcore.

GOALS: To be the greatest musicians ever known to man!

ABOUT THEM: The B-Movie Stars have been one of the hardest working bands in Bay Shore High School, and their many fans were proof: "I tell them they can be famous NOW!" said Becka Lukeman. They have made buttons, and stickers, as well as performed many shows, and have built a huge fan following. They were extremely dedicated to their music, and have continued to be both loved, and admired by the Bay Shore High School.

B Movie Stars

MIND FLAYER

MEMBERS: Marc Christopheridis (drums), Ian Harvey (lead guitar) and Pat Smith (bass)

GENRE: Metal and Funk

GIVING THANKS: Ian Harvey thanks: Nichole, Mike, Jackson, Pat, Marc, Christina, and Keith.

ABOUT THEM: "Mind Flayer is awesome...they're really great!" said Mike McCloure, and to not admire Mind Flayer, would be unfair. Through their many achievements, and outstanding sound, they have earned Bay Shore's support. With a piano interlude in the song, "Nosferatu," and a bass solo in "Haster," Mind Flayer has proven themselves to be successfully experimental and unique.

Our Lives

LACK OF BETTER DAYS

By Nichole Ghougasian

MEMBERS: Greg DiLeva (guitar and vocals), Matt Modula (drums, screams), Keith Morse (guitar), Mike Seyford (bass), and Gavin Walsh (vocals)

GENRE: Emo, and Punk

ACHIEVEMENTS: Not only do they play shows, but they have two cd's, shirts, and a music video for one of their most beloved songs, "Forget the Hatred."

ABOUT THEM: Lack of Better Days is one of the best known bands in our school. "They really have a professional sound...they are really great!" stated long time fan, Kevin Scheriff. Their goals are to get signed, and to go on tour...and with an amazing sound and fan base, the sky is the limit for Lack of Better Days!

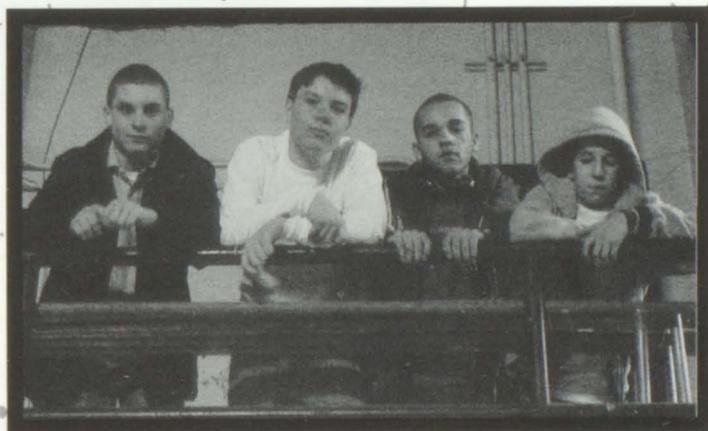

MEMBERS: John Paul Cain (vocals and guitar), Will Cattouse (bass), Zack Colon (lead guitar), and Sal Dilegge (drums)

GENRE: Alternative Rock

INSPIRATION: Green Day and Saves the Day

ABOUT THEM: "I watch them practice, and I know they will be famous!" admitted Diane Picariello when asked what she thought about Seize The Day. After performing many shows and working hard together, Seize The Day has demonstrated a true dedication to their music. "We just want to keep playing our music," said John Paul Cain, "that is what really makes us happy."

SEIZE THE DAY

P.R.K.

MEMBERS: Kasra Hooshmond (guitar), Roman Rodriguez (drums), and Paplo Torr s (bass)

GENRE: Spanish Rock

INSPIRATION: Stevie Vai and Santana

ABOUT THEM: A different twist on Bay Shore Bands, P.R.K. has taken rock and added a Spanish twist. "We just want to get the satisfaction of our fans," said Kasra Hooshmond when asked about P.R.K.'s goals. They have brought a different style of rock to Bay Shore High School, and have been openly accepted for it. "I really like that they represent the Spanish speaking community. It makes me proud of my ethnicity," proclaimed Angie Rosado.

"To My Fallen Angel"
Bosco was everything I needed in one person. He was my motivation, guider, best friend, my boyfriend, but most of all my guardian angel. I love Bosco with all my heart and soul and I will never forget the love we shared. I will always cherish every memorable moment we spent together. Isaiah will always have a place in my heart.
P.S. See you on the flipside. I love you.

"My God's Given Gift"
Isaiah and I bonded from the moment he would talk to me about his thoughts and personal feelings. As time passed, Isaiah and I grew to have a mother-child relationship. I loved Isaiah like he was my child and losing him was like losing a child of my own. I cherish the time and joy he brought into my life.
Love Always --Zoraida Crews

"Bosco"
It's all still a dream to me, I can't understand why God would take such a great person from us. Losing Isaiah was like losing a brother and it hurt me deeply to see him go. Bosco will always be in my thoughts and prayers as each day goes by.
I love you and miss you always.
--Amanda

"Understand Most Days"
I can't vision any thoughts. My mind is just stuck on frozen, and my innerbeliefs don't come in clear no more. My volume is lower than usual and my humor has gone sour.
"Try to understand" that sometimes I try to daydream and remember the joyful times, but I can't fight it anymore. I feel more confused than ever. "Try to understand" things happen for a reason and God works in mysterious ways. God has taken my mother and brother within nine months. Within a year I gained another family, Zoraida Crews' family. They say blood is thicker than water, but love is thicker than both.

We little knew that morning that God would call your name. In life we loved you dearly; in death we do the same. It broke our hearts to lose you; you did not go alone; for part of us went with you, the day God called you home. You left us peaceful memories, your love is still our guide and though we cannot see you, you are always by our side.

Springtime is not only the time when birds chirp endless nothings and flowers begin to bloom, it is the time when some of Bay Shore's finest come out and show what they are made of. Our athletes not only go out there with team spirit, they go out with the will to win. Bay Shore High School's spring sports teams practiced very hard and their extreme dedication and devotion to the game paid off. All the athletes worked very hard to meet their coaches expectations as well as work on their personal bests.

While the athletes from the fall and winter sports were showing what Bay Shore spirit is all about, the spring athletes waited patiently for their time to shine. Our teams worked extremely hard to uphold Bay Shore's pride as well as keep our outstanding reputation among the community. Spring sports teams upheld their standards this season by improving their skills and showing that they were champions of Bay Shore High School. Each team's progress reflected the hard work this year with the intense strive for perfection. Their excellence showed through each performance on the field or court. What better time than the warm weather of spring to show that Bay Shore has winners all year long?

The 2005 Marauder baseball team had high expectations for the upcoming season. With five seniors ready to lead the team, they looked unstoppable. Led by brand new coaches, they were ready to show what Bay Shore baseball is really capable of. With hard practices and dedicated players, baseball had an overall great season. As stated by captain Chris Gloor, "Our team came a long way this season and it was an especially memorable season for the seniors".

With a well balanced group of ninth and tenth graders, first year head coach Mike Herbst looked forward to developing the potential this young team showed. The team's main goals were to become mentally and physically tough and to improve their fundamentals by the end of the season. One benefit Coach Herbst realized is that most players could play multiple positions. "With the multiple, movable pieces of our team, I am expecting great results." Years from now when these players are prospering on the varsity team, they will be able to reflect on the season that helped pave the way for their success.

GIRLS CREW

▲ Katie Healy, Christina White, Kate Remauro, Alexis Melnick, Christina Plotke, and Alicia Maio say goodbye to each other and the oars they rowed.

The spray of the water caught the sunlight as the girl's oars broke the surface of the lake. In the background they heard a mantra of, row... row... row... from the coxen. They did not stop until the boat glided across the finish line, and the 2004-2005 Girls Crew Team rowed to the end of another great season. In Coach B. Meirowitz's second season as the Bay Shore Girls Crew team coach, he had high hopes to, "Continue building a stronger team and increase ranking on a local and state level." As the only South Shore public high school crew team, the 35 members had to endure a rigorous tryout to test their abilities and strengths.

▲ Ruth Friedman, Carolyn Hunter, Nicole Seiferth, Maggie Horton and Arin Brown smile in relief because they pulled through and beat their previous practice time.

▲ Darlene Miller, Arin Brown, Alexis Melnick, Megan Burley, and Lauren Madigan enjoy some friendly competition with their teammates.

This past year, the girls had four boats in the water to compete with, two eights and two fours, which consists of eight and four girls rowing in a single boat. Even with the start of a cold and wet season, the girls competed with only the thought of winning. They exemplified the spirit of Bay Shore by trying their best, regardless of any obstacles in their way. As Coach B. Meriowitz's said, "Crew is a sport that requires 110% to win, all must be perfect and then you reach deeper inside and give 110%."

CREW

While they rowed this year, the Boys Crew team worked together like one beating heart. The reflection on the water was an excellent picture of their "commitment to teamwork and to one another," commented Coach B. Blackman. They started off the season trying to gain a greater appreciation for the water. The boys, who extended from an array of classes, came together to make the epitome of what a good crew team should be. "Although we lost some really good seniors last year, we gained some really good players this year," said Coach B. Blackman. The team would be thrilled if it could once again claim the State Title in the Mens Senior Four and the Mens JV Eight competitions, respectively. However, if they did not, the team knew they would have a strong showing in Saratoga. These boys had a great season and hope to continue in their success in years to come.

Boys

LACR

The 2005 Boys Varsity Lacrosse team was both dedicated and hard working. With seven returning seniors, they were determined to better last year's record of 7-9. This was a young group, so most of the season involved learning about each other. "Learning as a team allowed us to play better together," commented Jordan Zimolka, a junior. The team set a goal to make it to playoffs and executed their speed and exceptional stick skills in order to come out on top and reflect that of a true Bay Shore Marauder.

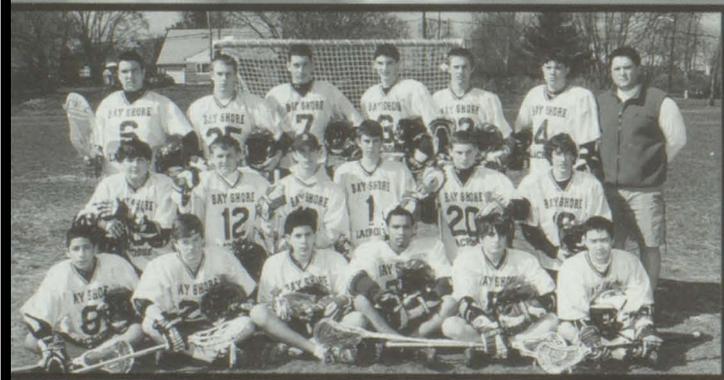

The Boys Junior Varsity Lacrosse team found great success under the leadership of Coach K. Finnerty. They displayed outstanding work ethic by dodging any competition that stood in their way. "These boys worked hard and it showed," reflected Coach Finnerty. Under the bright rays of the springtime sun, the boys are sure to have a "bright" future within the Bay Shore Lacrosse program for years to come.

Entering the 2005 season ranked as the second best team in the county, the Varsity Girls Lacrosse team set out to prove that they were number one. Under the coaching talents of both Mr. and Mrs. Pfeffer, the girls were determined to make it to the playoffs. "Today's preparation determines tomorrow's achievement," commented Mrs. Allison Pfeffer, coach of fourteen years.

With sixteen returning Varsity players, this year's team was more experienced than in year's past. Six days a week, the girls were committed to improving not only their physical endurance and stick skills, but their mental toughness as well. Always striving for excellence, whether it be on the field or in the classroom, the team became an accomplished group of girls. All eight seniors have committed to Division I Colleges and are planning to continue their lacrosse careers at the collegiate level. Kaitlin Leggio and Kelley Sweeney will be attending Stony Brook University. Brittany Jensen will be going to Penn State, while Jessica Wiegand will be attending Cornell. Katelynn Taggart will be going to the University of Denver and Beth Sabiston has chosen Univeristy of New Hampshire. Kathryn Tortorici will be attending American University, and Bridget Finnerty will be going to Siena. All look forward to being on new teams, but they will miss the fun they had while playing for Bay Shore.

The Junior Varsity team, coached by Brook Avenue physical education teacher Katy Hahn, also followed the same attitude. They focused on working together as a team while each developing their own skill level. Hahn stated, "Our main goal was to have fun." The Junior Varsity team did just that and finished successfully, with hopes to play on the Varsity level in the future.

Both of the Girls Lacrosse teams reflected on their spring seasons with pride and satisfaction in that they preformed to the best of their abilities and displayed the true greatness of Bay Shore's athleticism.

The pitch is thrown, the bat swings, the ball is going... it's going... it's gone. The Lady Marauders won the game! The Varsity Softball team enjoyed a tremendous 2005 season. Led by Coach Jim McGowan the talent truly shot through the roof as they were a true reflection of what every team in the league tried to be. Through respect and support for each other, they had the amazing opportunity to go down as one of the best teams in not only Bay Shore history but emerged as a New York legacy. With 16 consecutive league championships under their belts, they strived to make this season their 17th. Coach McGowan always told the girls, "Remember who you are and what you represent."

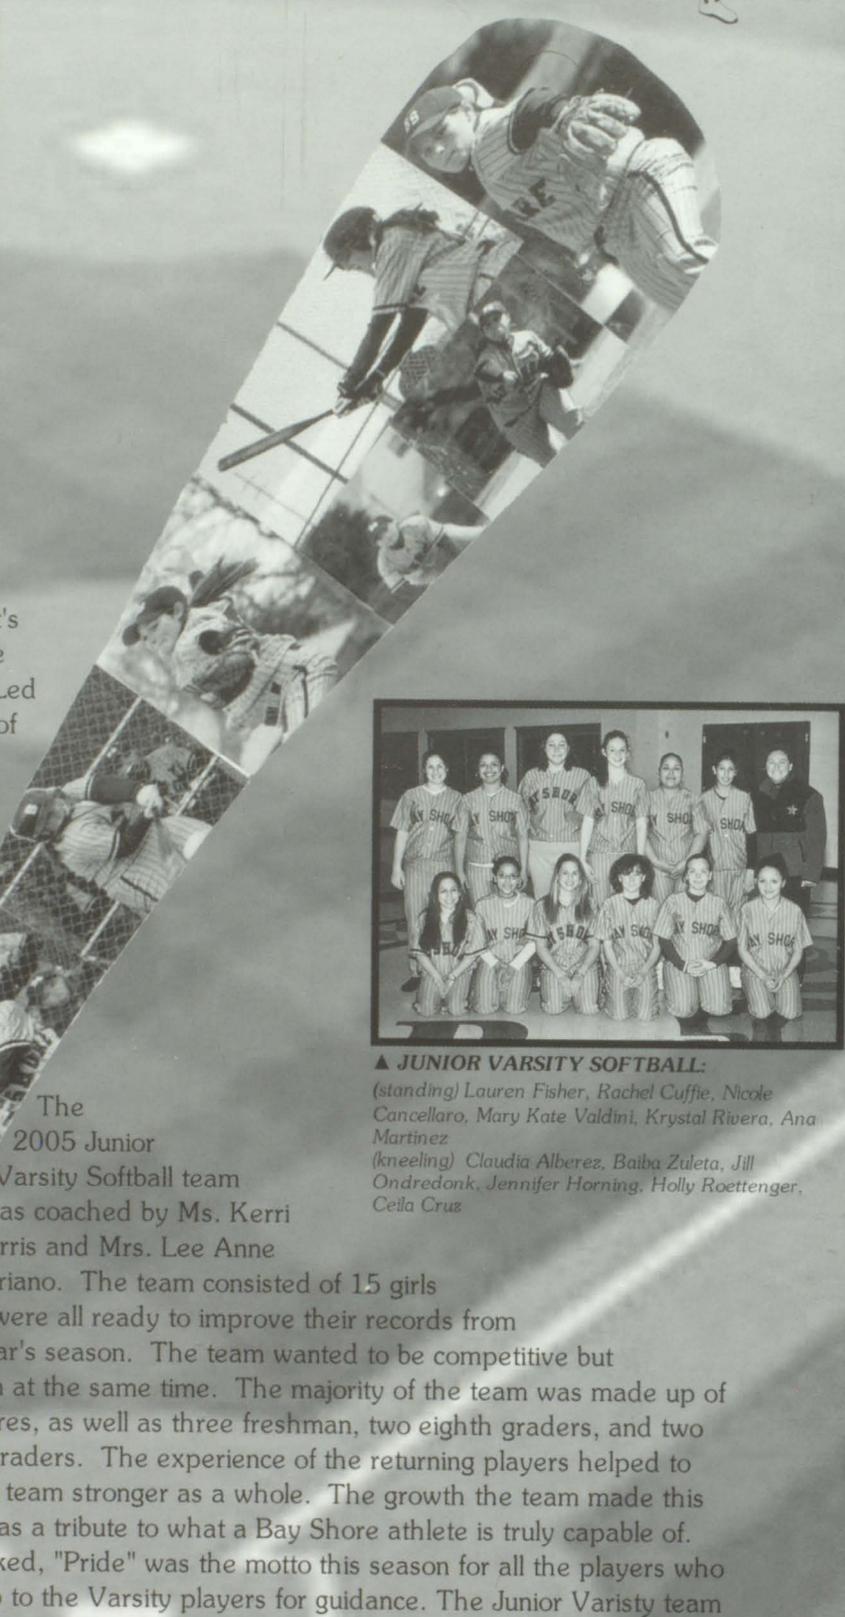

Led By tri-captains Ashley Gosk , Marybeth Puccio, and Jenny McNulty, the Lady Marauders were unbeatable. Coach McGowan stated that they had," PRIDE... the first quality that makes an athlete a champion!" There was no stopping these girls; they were true champions who loved life and lived it to the fullest.

The 2005 Junior Varsity Softball team was coached by Ms. Kerri Harris and Mrs. Lee Anne Abbriano. The team consisted of 15 girls who were all ready to improve their records from last year's season. The team wanted to be competitive but have fun at the same time. The majority of the team was made up of sophomores, as well as three freshman, two eighth graders, and two seventh graders. The experience of the returning players helped to make the team stronger as a whole. The growth the team made this season was a tribute to what a Bay Shore athlete is truly capable of. When asked, "Pride" was the motto this season for all the players who looked up to the Varsity players for guidance. The new tennis courts were full of action this Spring, as the Varsity and Junior Varsity Boys Tennis teams showed off their skills. The Varsity team, under the coaching of Mr. J. Carney, practiced vigorously, and all their hard work paid off. Coach Carney, leading Bay Shore's Varsity Boys Tennis team for the past six years, set goals from the very start of the season. After losing several seniors and talented players, Coach Carney decided to focus on the younger athletes, declaring his goal to help them "gain match experience, court awareness, and overall knowledge of the game."

Similarly, the Junior Varsity boys overcame their lack of experience and grew together as a team. While reflecting on the triumphant season, Coach Bohman stated, "The members of the team have great athletic and tennis abilities that "served" them well this year and will in years to come." The players illustrated their love of the game with every ace and volley of each match. Even with a busy schedule, consisting of two or more games a week, both teams cooperated to perform to the best of their ability. That's game, set, and match!

This past season, the Boys Spring Track team was full of enthusiastic and hard working boys. Practices were held from 2:40 to 4:00p.m. Monday through Friday. In addition, on Saturday mornings the Boys Track team ran with school pride pumping through their veins. The team, consisting of 55 members along with their devoted coach Kirk Carter, had the goal of winning the league championship and placing in the top three in the county. Returning coach Carter commented, "Hard work, dedication, and team unity are the attributes that will make us a successful team." This year's Boys Spring Track got the chance to compete against other teams from all over Long Island as well as in New York City. "Bay Shore is a hard working community. The Bay Shore track team is the same way," said Carter. With the community's support behind them, the Boys Track team was sure to have a great season. This year's team has set the bar for what is expected from Bay Shore sports teams.

The final stretch...
 Just a little further...
 Go for the Gold!

The 2004-2005 Girls Spring Track team has been one of strength and talent. The girls, Coach S. Borbet, and Assistant Coaches, Ms. Allison Mauri, and Mr. Anthony Forti, had high goals for 2005. The team has been very successful and there was no reason it was going to be any different this year. This is a team that in the past had won eighty-one straight meets and eleven straight county championships. So why not go even further and make it eighty-seven straight meets and twelve county championships. Let's not forget the "Triple Crowns" that they have won!

"We have a nice mix of veterans and newcomers. Our seniors have never lost a game and they want to go out on top!" exclaimed Coach Borbet. These 65 girls, from the High School and the Middle School, are the epitome of what it means to be from Bay Shore: hardworking and dedicated.

In order to compete, the team traveled to meets in Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina. "Our team can compete at the local, County, State, and National levels," said Coach Borbet, "and we are very thankful to the Bay Shore Community for allowing us to do so." This team had a very successful year that can only predict what good is to come in the future.

▲ Marissa Espina takes off quickly at the start to help win the meet.

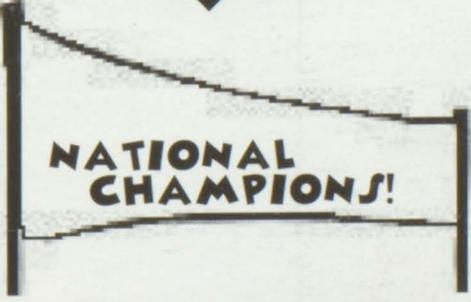

▼ Darlene Sainvil reaches new heights in her specialty, the high jump.

PERCY KENNEDY

For thirty-five years, Percy Kennedy has been a custodian in the Bay Shore School District and he has never been more proud of that than he is today. He retired in January of 2005, but the memories he made in our schools will always stay with him.

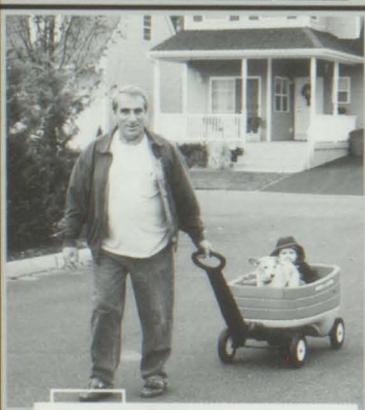

Starting at Mary G. Clarkson and then transferring to the middle school, Mr. Kennedy immediately became a well-respected staff member. He was always determined to get the job done, regardless of its difficulty. When asked to reflect back on his first year on the job Mr. Kennedy replied, "The first six months were tough, but after that I started to become more familiar with everything."

After eleven years, Mr. Kennedy started as the head custodian here at the high school and realized that was where he belonged. A graduate of Bay Shore, Mr. Kennedy always took tremendous pride in his surroundings and he hoped that same pride would rub off on the students today. Many knew him as the man behind the scenes, the man that got the job done. However, it would be impossible to credit him for everything he worked on because the list would be never-ending. We are all familiar with the numerous activities that take place at the high school each year and Mr. Kennedy was a part of every one of them. They vary from school dances and band concerts to sports award dinners and even the drama productions. The Summit, in addition to the Ethnic Pen Conference, was one of the many events he helped coordinate. With the heavy construction occurring over the past few years, the custodial staff's job has become particularly demanding, yet Mr. Kennedy claims he enjoyed every minute of it. One of his most fond memories from the high school was getting prepared for the awaited visit of First Lady, Hillary Clinton.

Mr. Kennedy took pleasure in working with such a fine staff here at Bay Shore because of their dedication to the students. He showed respect to every member of the faculty and there is no doubt that the respect was mutual. Mr. Kennedy represents the small group of people in the world who truly love their job. In his words, "I loved anything that was a challenge, anything we had to figure out. That was the best part of my job."

As for his retirement plans, Mr. Kennedy would like to "take it easy" for the winter and spend a lot of time with his family, especially his grandchildren, who also attend Bay Shore Schools. This new found time also gives Mr. Kennedy the opportunity to fulfill his travel desires.

The students, the staff, the administration and the entire community thank Mr. Kennedy for all he has done for Bay Shore Schools and it is truly sad to see him retire.

--Kristen Kenedy

Alice Stabler

Mrs. Stabler began her teaching career at Bay Shore High School in January of 1985. Over the years she taught both business and math. After Mrs. Stabler received her Masters Degree in school counseling from Long Island University, she moved to the Guidance Department as a Guidance Counselor. Upon receiving her certification as a school administrator, she became head of the Guidance Department in July of 2000.

The best part of teaching and counseling for Mrs. Stabler was the opportunity to share her knowledge with students and families. As someone who came into education as a second career, she felt she had truly arrived in a place where she would be happy, successful, and have an impact on young people. The impression she has made on both students and families alike has been tremendous.

Over the years, her participation in school events has been well appreciated. Being involved with Awareness Weekend, Peer Support, S.A.D.D., and serving as chair of the Youth Services Action Committee for four years had really given Mrs. Stabler the opportunity to enjoy Bay Shore High School. During her retirement, she plans to enjoy spending time with her family, both on Long Island and at a lakefront community in Upstate New York. Professionally, she hopes to do consulting work with schools, parents, and students or to teach at one of the local colleges. She will be missed by Bay Shore students, parents, faculty and staff. In the words of Mrs. Stabler, "Individuals sometimes move away, but they remember their family and the great experiences they had together."

--Sandra Dunel

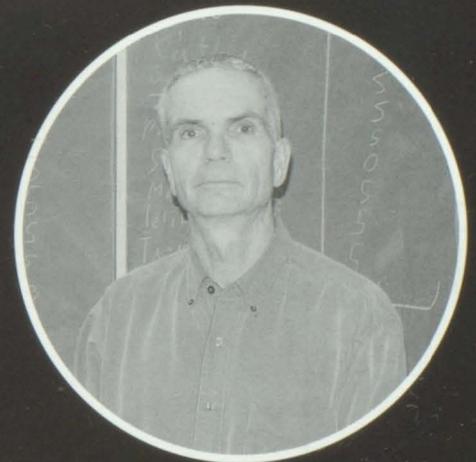

Tom Kumpf

When reminiscing about great teachers who have taught at Bay Shore High School, none come to mind as quickly as Mr. Tom Kumpf. In his 34 years of teaching, he has accomplished a great deal. Early in his career, he moved from the middle school to the high school, where he got the opportunity to teach physics. He also was one of the founders of the MST program. Although Mr. Kumpf did not have much experience, he had a great engineering background from Grummay Corp that he used in the MST program. When asked what was the best part of teaching, he replied without hesitation, "the opportunity to work with young people all day."

One can agree that Mr. Kumpf has had a tremendous impact on Bay Shore High School that reflects what Bay Shore teachers are all about.

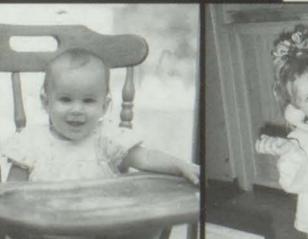

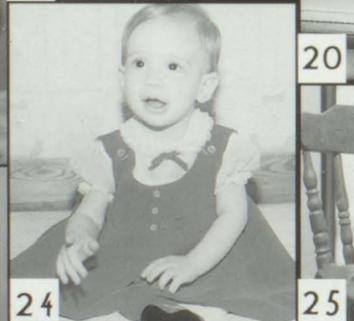

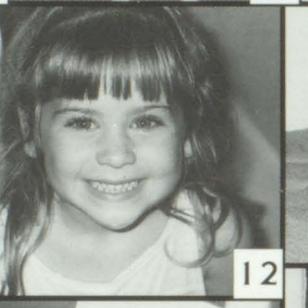

Upon retiring, Mr. Kumpf, says, "I'm not really one to make plans. I'm just going to take it one day at a time and see where that leads me." We wish him the best of luck.

We Bay Shore

By Danielle Guinta and Sara Arizzi

Wherever the future may lead us, we will never forget our hometown. There will always be that sense of pride when we think about the place where we grew up and the memories rooted there. We are a reflection of our past and Bay Shore was and will always be a major part of our lives. Bay Shore is unforgettable.

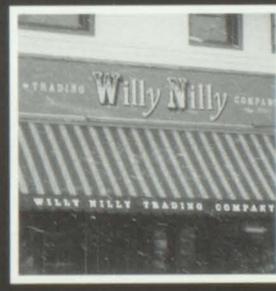

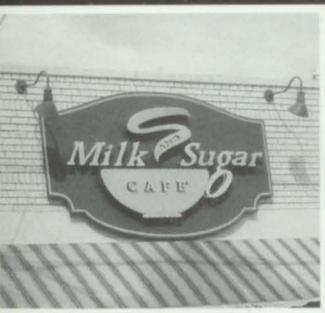

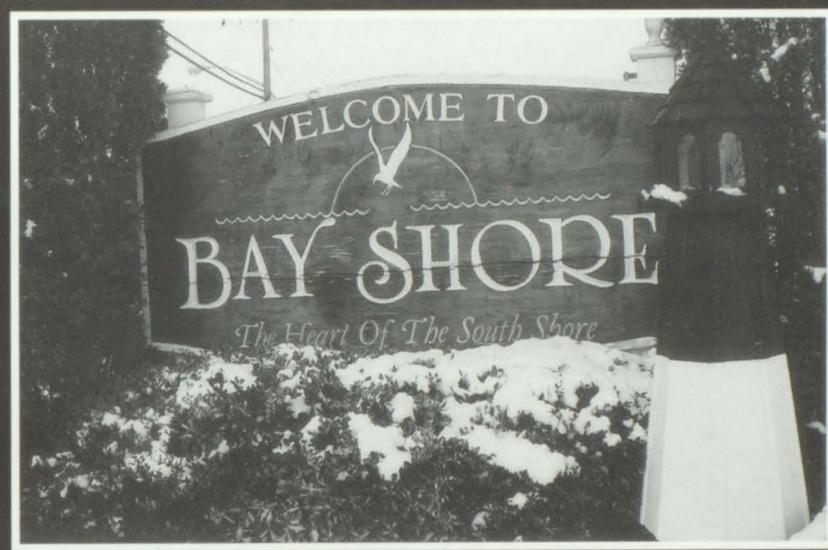

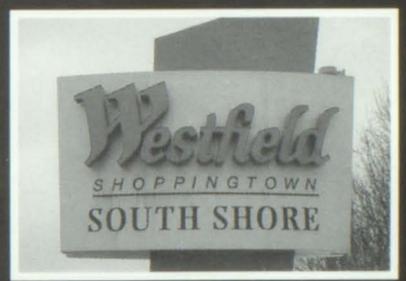

Years from now we may not remember our first pet, but we will be able to picture the canal, the lakes, and the many trips to enjoy a Leggio's hero. We will reminisce about the Halloween Parade we strutted through in our costumes as children, and the lights arranged across our neighbors' lawns during Light up the Night. The memories of times we spent on the front steps of Bay Shore High School, walking through the hallways with our best friends, or sitting in class listening to a lecture from our favorite teacher, will never leave us. We will still be able to picture the sea of maroon and white in the stands of every sports game or school event. Some day, we may move across the country or even half way around the world to embark upon a new chapter in our lives, but Bay Shore will always be in our hearts, no one can ever take that away from us. Because...We Love Bay Shore!

You Know You're From

You're drawn to the colors maroon, white, and gold.

You know the South Shore mall like the back of your hand.

The YMCA is one of your afterschool hangouts.

You can hum along to the marching band's drum cadence.

A person walking the halls dressed as a bus is normal.

You still have friends from elementary school.

The classrooms are so cold, the teachers leave to get sweatshirts.

To you, one touchdown is like winning a championship game.

It's normal to see people wearing a fuzzy yarn ball around their neck.

The morning announcements are the best attempt at waking everyone up.

Dan McConnell cruises by on his six-foot high unicycle.

You go to Field 5 and see everyone you know.

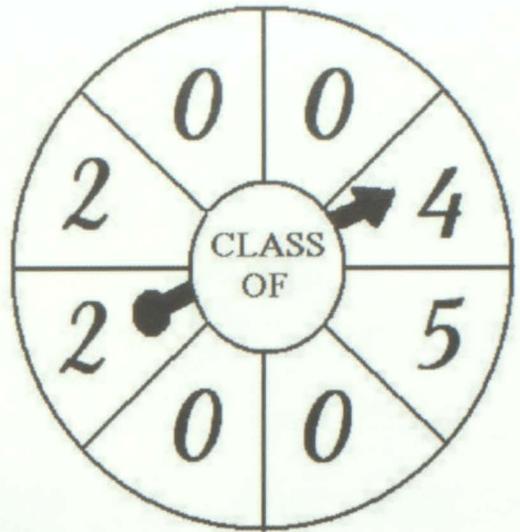

You've gone ice skating or played hockey on the lakes.

You do late night stops at the Forum.

Friendly's

There's a fight and security comes ten minutes late.

The number of incoming freshmen is almost double the size of the senior class.

You used to hang out at Friendly's after middle school dances.

You get a monthly letter about a suspicious man in a car roaming the area.

There are more construction workers than teachers.

Channel 12 or 4 comes to visit your school for all the wrong reasons.

Seeing tombstones on lockers and being followed by the grim reaper isn't surprising.

Students are seen walking on wires and climbing ropes on the corner.

Third period gym classes run to the music of the marching band on the track.

You were in Little League or played soccer at one point.

Smoker's Island always has enough kids to fill two classes.

You get harrassed about your ID card everyday.

Your school is always expanding.

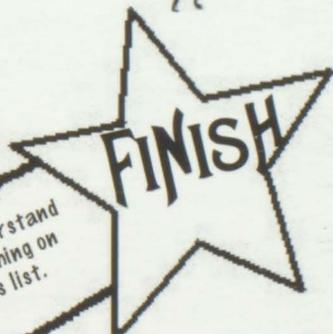

You get a night call from the Dean's office at least once a week.

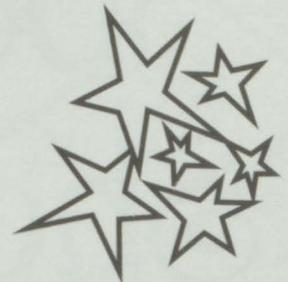

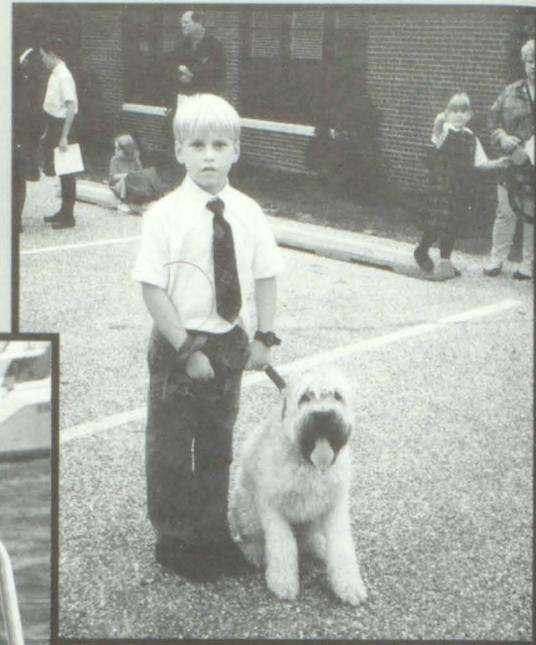

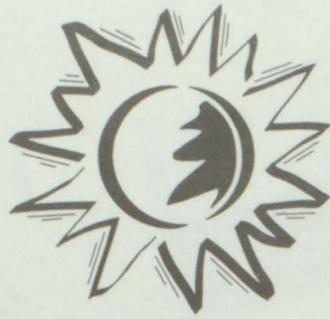

You practically live at Islip movie theatre.

You understand everything on this list.

Ahead

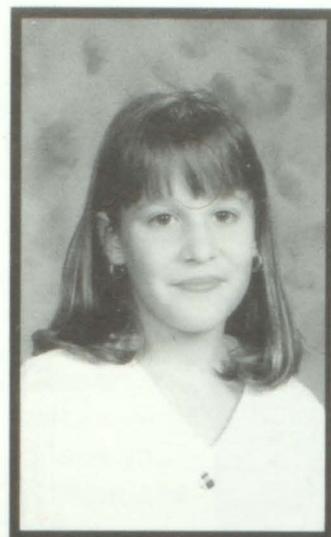

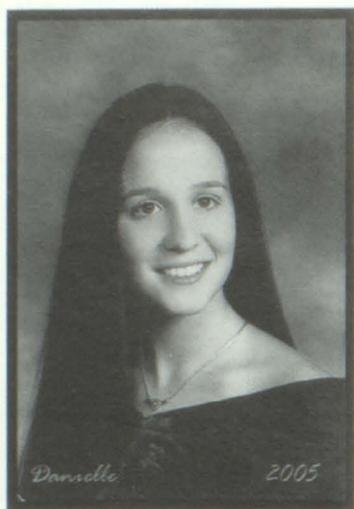

From kindergarten to high school there has been a common thread throughout your life: Goodness! And it's not just us (your family) who thinks this. Remember the letter back in the 2nd grade that called you "the good girl in the land?" Then at Gardiner Manor your friends named you Switzerland, because of your neutrality and ability to keep the peace. Finally the honor of being named "Person Most Likely to Commit A Random Act of Kindness" in high school.

We know sometimes you tire of being called "good," but we hope you realize what an amazing and often rare quality that is. Please continue to let your "goodness" be present in your quilt of life, even as you add many more patterns of experiences to it.

GO

Ife,

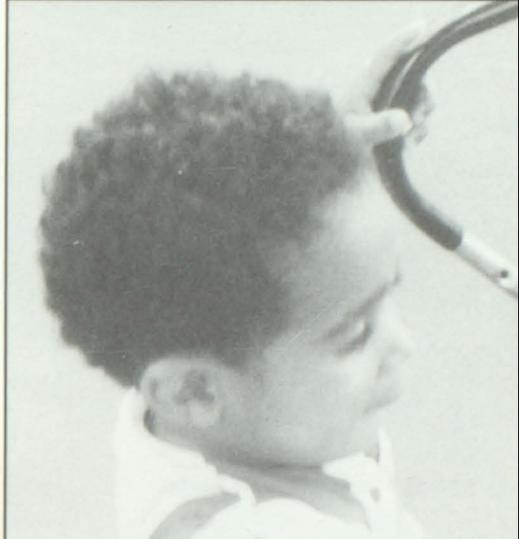

We are very proud of you for your accomplishment. It's wonderful to see you grow from a little boy to a young man. You should be proud also. As a scholar and an athlete, you have excelled. Move on holding your head high as you go on into the world remembering who you are and what you stand for. With God as your guiding light, the sky is the limit. There is nothing impossible for you to achieve. Go on dear brother and son, with faith, hope, and love.

Lots of love,
Mom, Dad,

Our Dear Courtney-

We couldn't be more proud, You've accomplished so much and made good choices along the way, made great friends and been a wonderful sister and mentor. What more could we ask for... A wonderful future for a wonderful girl. Congratulations!

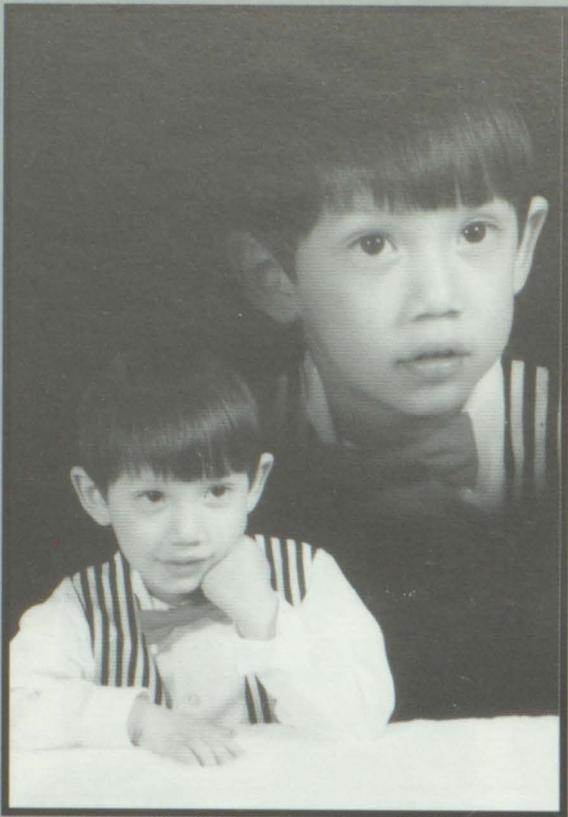

All our Love Always,
Mom, Dad and Ashley

BRIDGET,

Being last in line does not mean last in our hearts. Having five children before you did not in any way diminish our joy and love when you were born. To this day you still have the same dimples and smile as when you were born. You are our Irish princess and we hope that your dream of studying abroad in Ireland comes true. Your determination in tennis and lacrosse, as well as your literary and poetic talents, will take you far. We are so proud of you.

Love,

Our Dearest Sara,

You're a picture as you sit there. We can't stare hard enough or long enough at your golden curls and bright eyes. So once again-as we've done so many times since your birth. We try to etch into our minds this image from your childhood.

Only yesterday you were a tiny thing, and we marveled at your tiny fingers and tiny toes. Now you're walking and talking, laughing and singing. You bring joy in different ways today, not the least of which is the joy of simply looking at you. Do you have any idea how precious you are?

Congratulations sweetheart.

With love,
Mom and Dad

For Nikki

The second child, another miraculous blessing -
 From the start you always kept us guessing.
 Light and airy, deep and tough,
 With a quiet drive that won't accept "good enough."

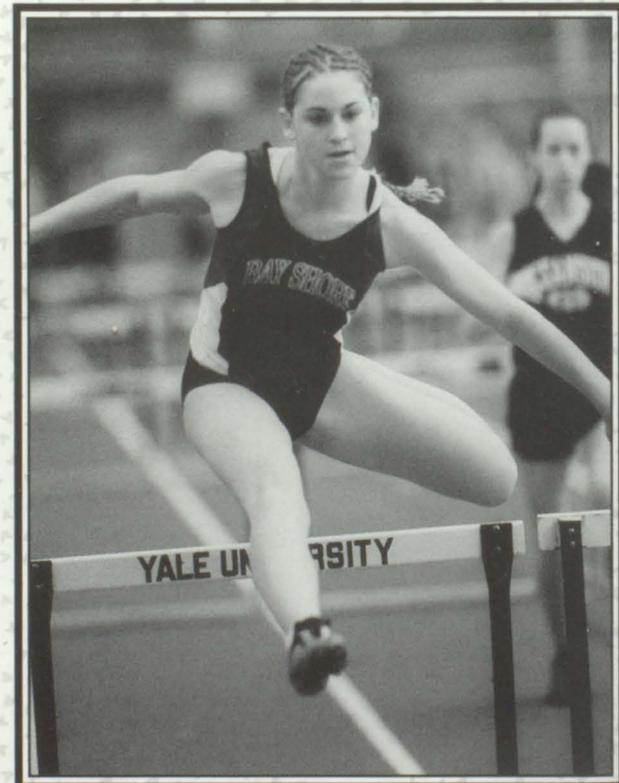

Loving and sensitive, careful and caring,
 Yet often times terse, bold and daring.
 Sharing your life has been our great fun,
 With you, the curious, the exploring one.

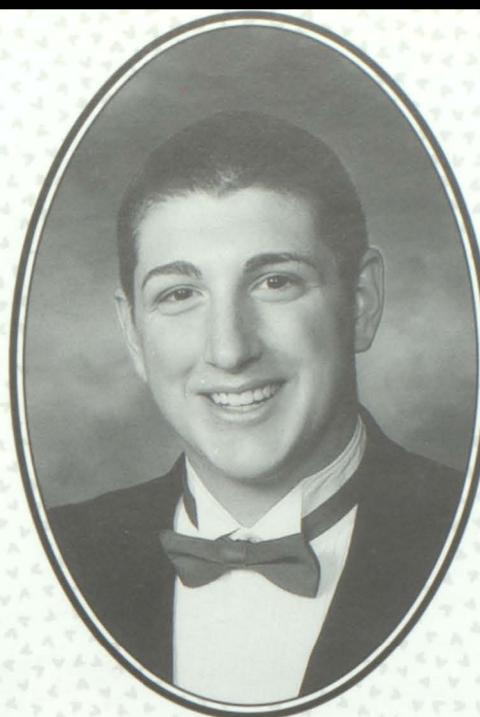

We marvel at your many gifts,
 Your intellect obvious from so early an age.
 Piano, art, jewelry, film, written words so sage
 The gymnastics, the hurdles, the beautiful dances on stage.

But above all else we see your strength
 Of character, body, mind and soul.
 Allowing us as parents to sense
 That we did well, achieved our goal.

We're proud of you and love you so,
 We'll be there with you wherever you go.
 We know you'll succeed, whatever your course
 Go continue your journey and make this world yours.

Love, Mom, Dad & Caitly

Chris,

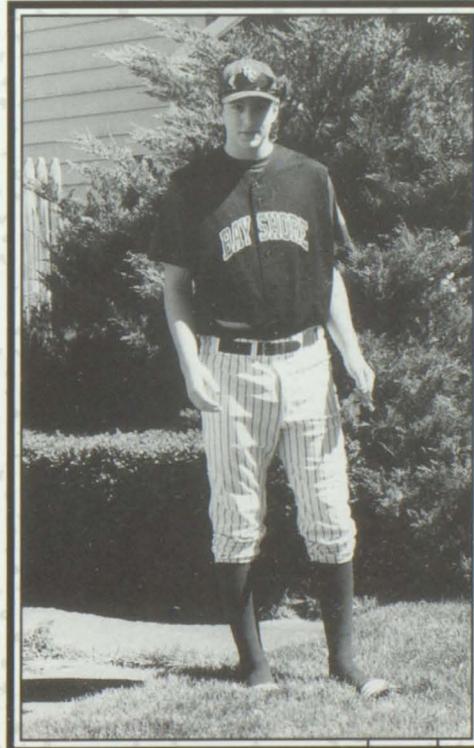

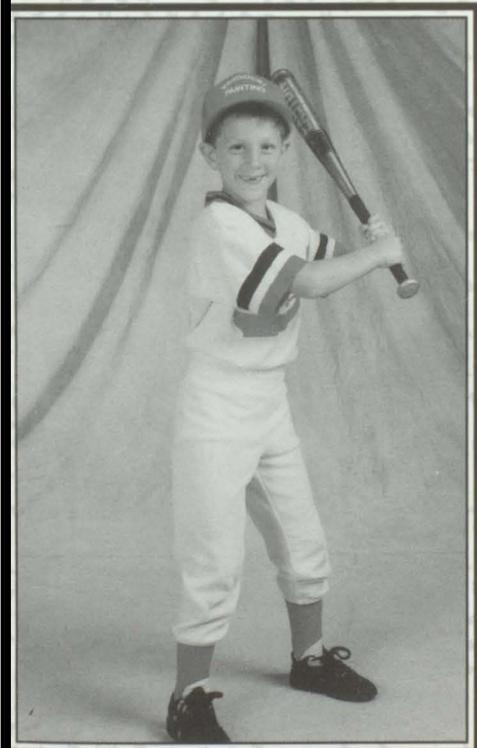

"The one constant through all the years has been baseball. America has rolled by like an army of steamrollers. It has been erased like a blackboard, rebuilt and erased again. But baseball has marked the time. This field, this game, is a part of our past. It reminds us of all that once was good, and what could be again."

James Earl Jones in Field of Dreams (1989)

To My Dearest Belinda,

Congratulations! You have filled my heart with pride and joy. Wow! It seems like yesterday that you took your first steps. It is amazing what a wonderful young woman you have grown to be, but remember that you are still my precious one. I want you to know as you venture out into this great BIG world that I love you and I will always be there for you to lean on. I know that your grandmother is with you and will always be proud of you. Thanks for being the best daughter anyone could ask for. Congratulations on one of the greatest accomplishments you may encounter in your life and may there be many more.

Class Of

Dearest Heather,

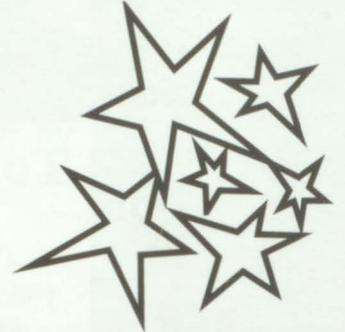

Congratulations and an extra flourish for graduating from Bay Shore High School! You have always been that bright star in our lives and we are so very proud of you. Your journey has only just begun and with your energy, intellect, sincerity and dedication, there is no doubt that you will achieve all that you desire while enjoying those great things that life has to offer.

Since the very beginning, you have impressed us. From your first breath in your grandfather's hands, to the trips to Fire Island, out East, NYC and beyond, as well as everything in between. "Getta," you are extraordinary.

Our blessings go with you as you face all the challenges life has to offer. We wish you only the best at whatever you do and wherever you go.

Love you always,
Mom, Dad, Jacob, and Sarah

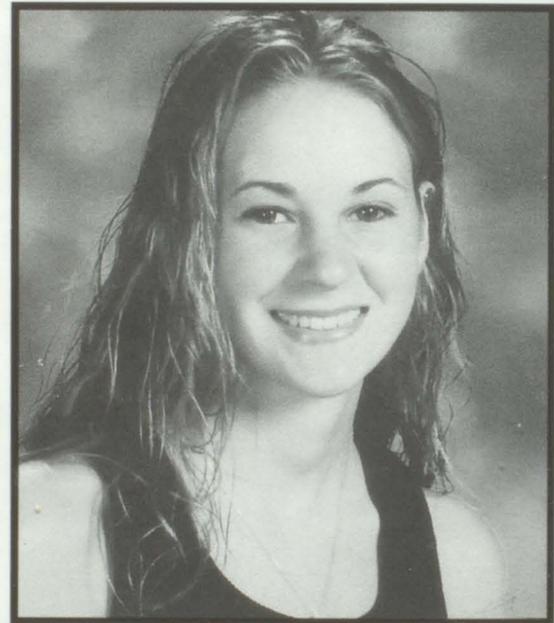

P.S. Always remember and never forget to "Always Believe."

Krystina,

Congratulations on your graduation

Tychie,

I want you to always know that in good and bad times I will love you and that no matter what you say or how you think, you can depend on our support, guidance, friendship and love every minute of every day.

I love being your mother.

Emily,

Sisters are different.
They heard the sobbing in the darkness.
They lived through all your triumphs,
all your favorites, all your loves and losses.
They have no delusions.

friends are delighted-but sisters hold your hands in silence and shine with happiness.
For they know the cost.

Congratulations!

" We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give."

Dear Greg,

You have given us so much, and we thank you.
 Always listen to your heart and believe in yourself, just as we believe in you. Our wish for you is a lifetime of love, good health, peace, and happiness always.
 We are so very proud of you! Congratulations!
 With Much Love and Great Pride,
 Mom, Dad, and Nana

Dear
 Mary Beth,
 You have worked hard to become both a student and an athlete. We are all proud of you. Reach for the stars, you deserve the best life has to offer.
 We all love you!
 Love,
 Mom, Dad, Sal Anthony,
 and Jerry

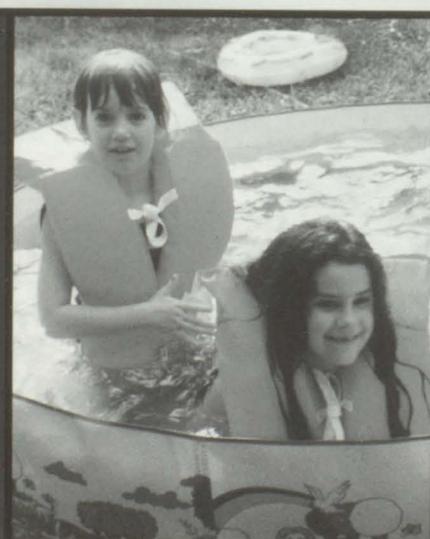

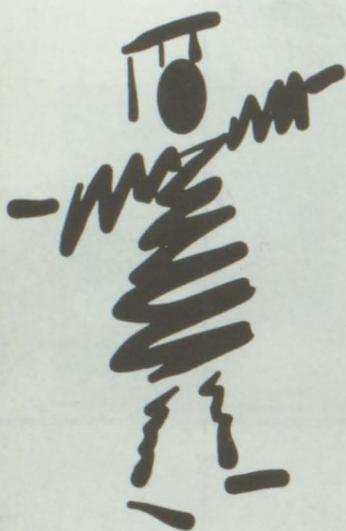

Chance made you friends, hearts made you sisters.
It is a bond that is yours alone and will last forever.

To our daughters Kathryn and Amanda,

There is always something with you two. As you grow older, always remember that special bond that started the first day of Kindergarten at the bus stop. We are so proud of what you girls have done already and what you will achieve in the future.

Love always,
The Florenz's and Tortorici's

"All of our dreams can come true-if we have the courage to pursue them."

~Walt Disney

Dear Mary Liz,

Congratulations on making your dreams come true! We are very proud of you. Continue to reach for the stars.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Patrick and Sarah

You girls have been together
practically since kindergarten, and as a group you are wonderful. However, what makes you so great as a group is what makes you great individually. You are each unique and distinct in your personalities, and you each add a special quality to our group.
Continue to maintain your individualities while you enjoy life. We love you all.

To Troop 2545

It has been a pleasure
and honor seeing all of you progress up the steps of Girl Scouts to the Ultimate Gold Award
bestowal. Over the years, each one of you has developed into a woman with much
integrity, character and perseverance. You are role models for young and old alike. We are all very proud of you.
Good luck in all your future endeavors!
~ Irene Ferguson

To the girls of troop 2545,
You did it! You've traveled a very difficult road.
Many have quit along the way, but you kept going.
Now it's time to enjoy your success and feel proud of all that you have accomplished.
Congratulations on
earning your Gold Award!
Love and best wishes,
~ Mrs. Guzzone

Best of luck to a great group of girls. It's been a fantastic experience working with you and watching all of you grow and mature. I am going to miss each and every one of you next year.
Your Troop Leader,
Karen Verni

To a group of future leaders,
You have done wonderful things in and out of Girl Scouts. I hope that the dedication that you have stays with you throughout your lifetime.
~Mrs. Saintvil

To My Dearest Randy,

This is a proud day for you, As we watched you grow from a child to a man. We are all very proud of you. Hold tight to your dreams and reach for the unknown. May God guide you with every step and may I leave you with a quote from Langston Hughes.

"Dreams"

"Hold fast to dreams, For if dreams die,
Life is a broken-winged bird, That cannot fly.
Hold fast to dreams, For when dreams go,
Life is a barren field, Frozen with snow."

Always be your joyful self
Love forever and always,
Mom, Dad, Kyle, and Tess

Thank you, I couldn't have come this far without you guys. It's just too bad that all of you have to stick around until next year. Waka..Waka..Waka...Later,
Rich

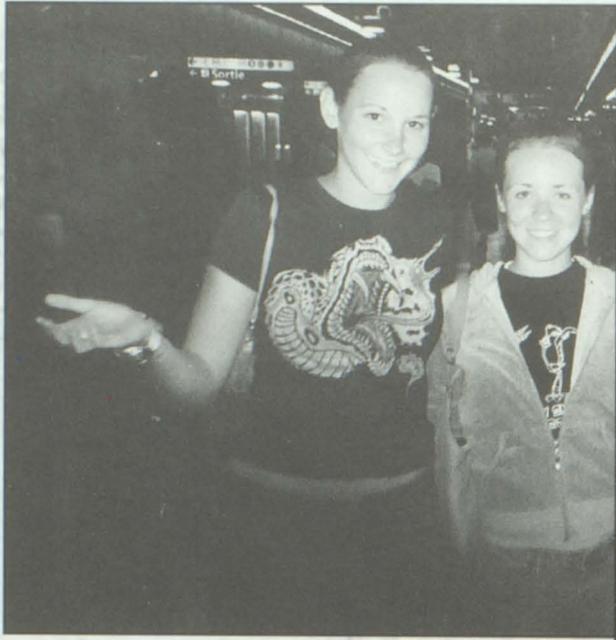

Never Forget the Things That Made You Smile

CONGRATULATIONS PAM AND CHRISTINE

Let's make a resolution. I'll drink to that.
Let's always stay friends. Friendship is thicker than blood.

You TOTALLY Graduated, Mickey!!

Congratulations, Mickey!

To you we tip our hats, so here's to the beach, to bike rides, to ice cream, to selling shells and books, to orange juice... to wearing hats, to tiptoeing around pebbles, to dancing on beds, to chocolate, to making and then burning pancakes, to macaroni and cheese, to more ice cream, to New York City, to, "Oh, Micaela...", to hair-cuts, to YOU! For being the AMAZING COUSIN!!

We Love You!

Love Always,

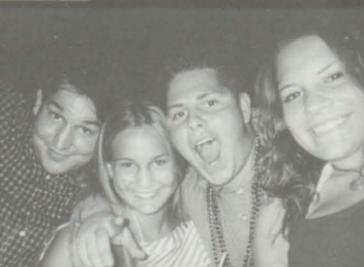

Uncle Milan, Aunt Ellen, Sheira, Neala, and Jackie Schiff (and Fluffee too)

Dear Samantha and Lindsay,

*When friends become family, we realize how rich our lives can be!
May your futures be as successful as your friendship!
Continue to make great memories!
We are so proud of you both.*

*With all our love always and forever,
Your Parents, Christopher & David*

Micaela,

LOVE as though love has never disappointed you

WORK as though you are doing it for fun

DANCE as though no one is watching you

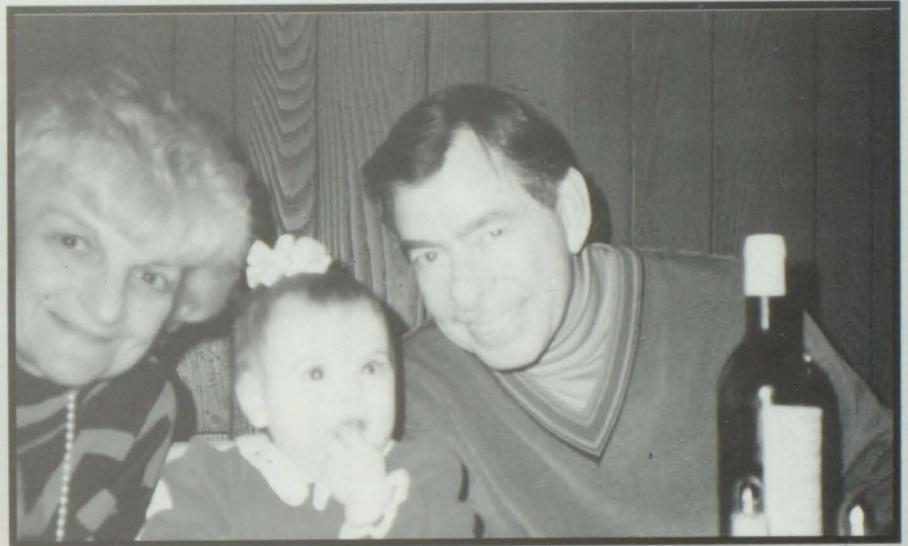

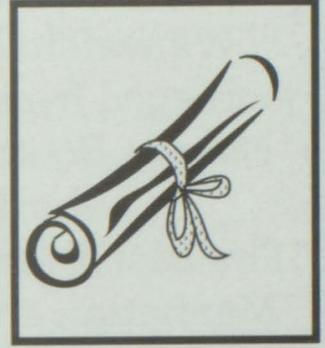

SING as though no one is listening

LIVE as though you are in paradise

We wish you a wonderful life!
From your proud grandparents

Love,
Mom and Lenny

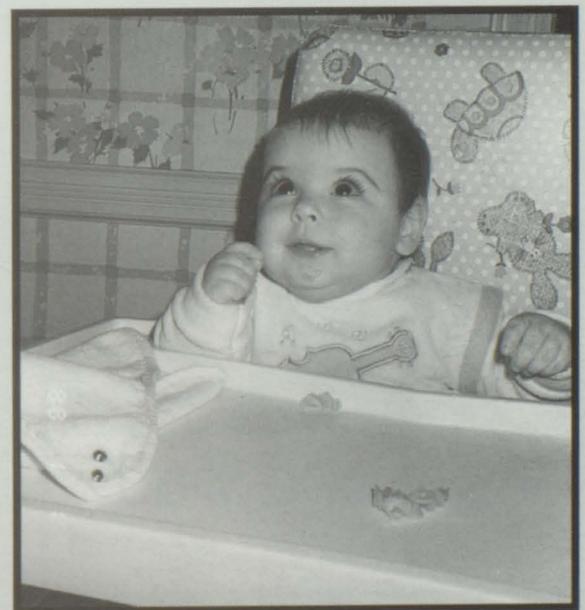

Dear Mickey,

Looks like we didn't forget you this time! Congratulations Baby! You did it! We cannot even begin to express how happy we all are for you. You are truly an amazing person. There has never been a time when you were not there for us and we thank you for that. With you, there is never a dull moment and no matter how frustrated we might get with you, or with the Leitman/Mickey duo, we will always love you for being you. Follow your dreams, there is nothing you cannot accomplish. Hopefully, all the hard work paid off and if it has not, "The best is yet to come!" So enjoy what life has to offer and never stop being you.

Oh, and we ordered a salad and diet coke...and then you refilled it!

We love you, always and forever,
Stefanie, Jenna, Lynn, Jenn,
Ally, Jackie, and Jenna
P.S. Mickey---CHECK!!

Dear Micaela,

From your earliest moments, you've been in a rush to conquer the world-

We watched as you journeyed from Suffolk to Nassau, South Shore to North,

Fire Island, South Beach, Manhattan and beyond. All the while holding on to your sensitivity, values, ideals, and laughter in a way that has made us proud to be your parents.

Congratulations and Remember:

You don't eat the soup as hot as you cook it. And

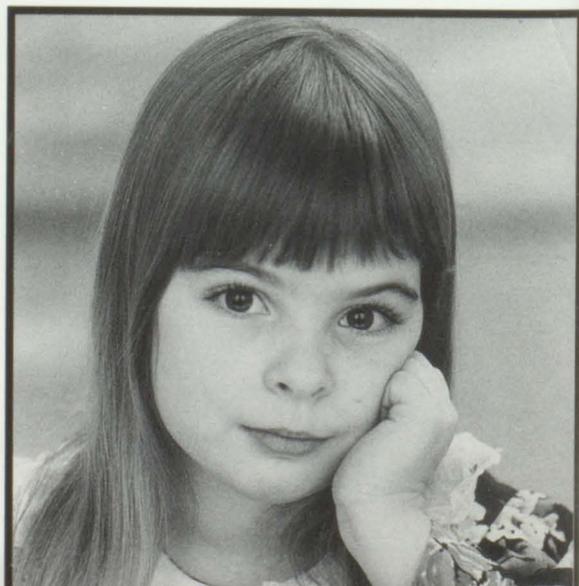

No, you really don't understand how obsessed

we are with you,

We love you with an undying passion!!!

We know that was random.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Colophon and Closing

The 2005 Staff of the Bay Shore High School Marauder Yearbook went above and beyond to make the eighty-second volume of the Marauder a priceless treasure that Bay Shore graduates can look back on in years to come. The Marauder Yearbook Staff's dedication and determination to make this the best edition ever published reflected the resourcefulness of Bay Shore students.

Under the guidance of adviser Ms. Kelly Cuozzo, the staff was successful in making the 2005 Marauder a masterpiece that will withstand the test of time.

This book was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Texas, under the supervision of Mr. Neil Sanders. The formal photography that you see within this book is credited to Quaser Lifetouch Studios. Any additional photographs were taken by staff photographers. This book was produced by Ms. K. Cuozzo's Creative Writing for Publication class.

The four-color cover was collaboratively designed by the Marauder Yearbook Staff to showcase our newly remodeled school. Four hundred and fifty copies of this book were printed with four four-color signatures. The standard type face utilized throughout this book was Memento. For the third year, Taylor's computer program, Elite Vision was used for all the text and graphic elements within the Marauder.

hoping for a new beginning, to take me away from my surroundings. So I can finally say goodbye, wondering what will become of us, when we are all old and gray, and this time that we've spent together, was well worth our wait. Think of the fun that we had, not caring until the next morning. It feels so good to go through life with your eyes half open. We are all one in the same. We are lovers, and brothers, and sisters, and we're most of all friends. These years have passed us by, so fast it seems like we never got the chance to realize how good life really was and let the moment last. And it feels like it was only yesterday, when we walked into this place, and said I can't wait till I get out of here. And now as we walk down this aisle, with four years all rolled up in a scroll, you can't help but think, "Hey, where did the time go?" Hold on to your memories, hold on to those little things, and I hope you receive as much as you get. Cause when you die, they're the only things, that you can take to your grave. These are the days of your life, and don't let them pass you by, cause you never know when you might take your last breath, so take a deep one tonight. Good friends we've had along the way, and good friends that didn't make it to where we stand today. But we all know that they're looking down on us, and even though their lives were cut short, we still remember the little things that made us laugh about them. And do you remember when and where did you meet them? We are one in the same, we are lovers, and brothers, and sisters, and we're most of all friends. Hold on to your memories, hold on to those little things, and I hope you receive as much as you get, cause when you die, they're the only things that you can take to your grave. And as we approach our final day, where we all will go our separate ways, go hug and kiss your friends, and say goodbye to them.

--Juan Gutierrez

YEARZINE 2005

NEWS

THE NATURE OF THE BEAST

We started the year watching Mother Nature repeatedly batter the US east coast with hurricanes. Then we watched as Martha Stewart weathered her court battle. And the climate in Iraq became hostile prior to the country's first democratic election. But all of that seemed trivial after the December 26 tsunamis in South Asia. Not only were they the biggest news event of the year, but they rank among the most devastating natural disasters in history.

FLORIDA HURRICANES ▶

Schools along the east coast have a hard time getting started because of hurricanes Bonnie, Charley, Danielle, Earl, Frances, Ivan and Jeanne.

ASIAN TSUNAMI

Earthquakes in the seabed of the Indian Ocean measuring 9.0 on the Richter scale trigger tsunamis all across South Asia. The tsunamis devastate villages and resorts in more than 10 countries, leaving over 280,000 people dead or missing.

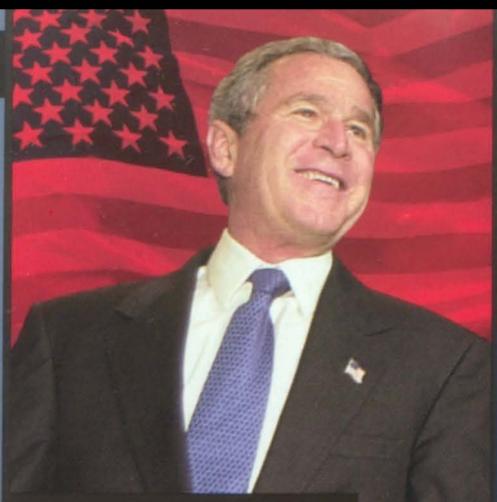

WAR IN IRAQ ▶

Major fighting continues in Iraq. As US forces try to bring democracy to Iraq, insurgents carry out a series of attacks discouraging Iraqis to vote in the country's first democratic election.

Google's co-founders Larry E. Page and Sergey Brin become billionaires overnight after their online search engine's stock goes public.

ELECTION '04

The 2004 Presidential Election had the potential to be as close and controversial as the 2000 race. Nearly 120 million Americans voted on Election Day, the highest turnout since 1968. Some citizens waited in line for as long as five hours to cast their vote (below). Many thought that the high voter turnout indicated a surge of support for Democratic candidate Sen. John Kerry (left), others speculated that the nation was rallying to re-elect President George W. Bush

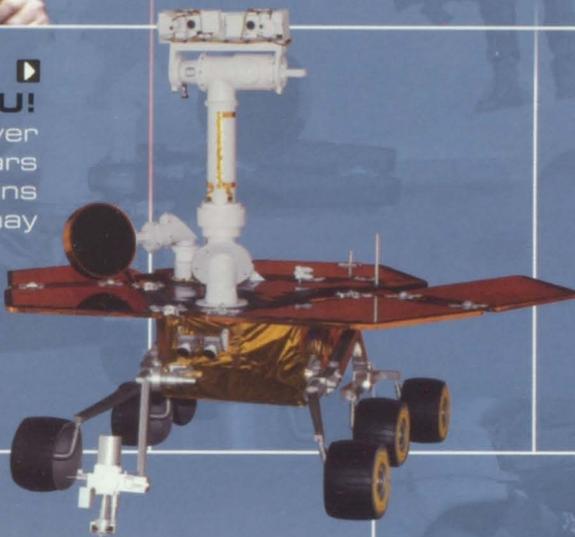

(above). And after the polls closed on November

2, 2004, many Americans went to sleep without knowing who their next President would be. Ohio was "too close to call," and held 20 electoral votes, enough to bring victory to either candidate. As the votes were counted, it became evident that Bush would carry Ohio with over 100,000 votes. Wanting to avoid a repeat of the 2000 election scandal, Sen. John Kerry called President Bush on the morning of November 3 to congratulate him on his victory.

MOVIES

FROM ANTI-HEROES TO SUPERHEROES

This year kept us rooting for the underdog at the theater. We pledged allegiance to Average Joe's in dodgeball, we pined for Spongebob and Patrick to prevail over Plankton, and we campaigned with Napoleon to put Pedro in office as class president. The odds were stacked against Harry Potter, the incredible Parr family, and the Permian Panthers as well. Be it a big-budget blockbuster or an inexpensive indie-flick, as long as there's a good story along the way, we'll see our heroes through thick and thin until the credits begin to roll.

DODGEBALL ▶

Ben Stiller strikes again, bringing the obscure sport of dodgeball to the silver screen in Dodgeball: A True Underdog Story.

◀ INCREDIBLE FAMILY

Mr. Incredible and the rest of the Parr family are called out of early retirement to save the world in The Incredibles.

FRIDAY FEVER ▶

In Friday Night Lights, football is shown to be more than just a game for the Permian High Panthers of Odessa, Texas

◀ FIRST DAUGHTER
Samantha Mackenzie just wants a normal college experience. But being the President's daughter makes her life anything but ordinary.

◀ DYNAMITE EXPLODES

After getting a lot of attention at independent film festivals, Napoleon Dynamite releases nationwide to sweet ticket sales. The high school anti-hero gets his friend Pedro elected as class president, and he's also pretty good with a bow staff.

HARRY POTTER III ▶

Harry, Ron and Hermione return for their third year at Hogwarts, where the teens face a dangerous escaped prisoner and the equally foreboding Dementors.

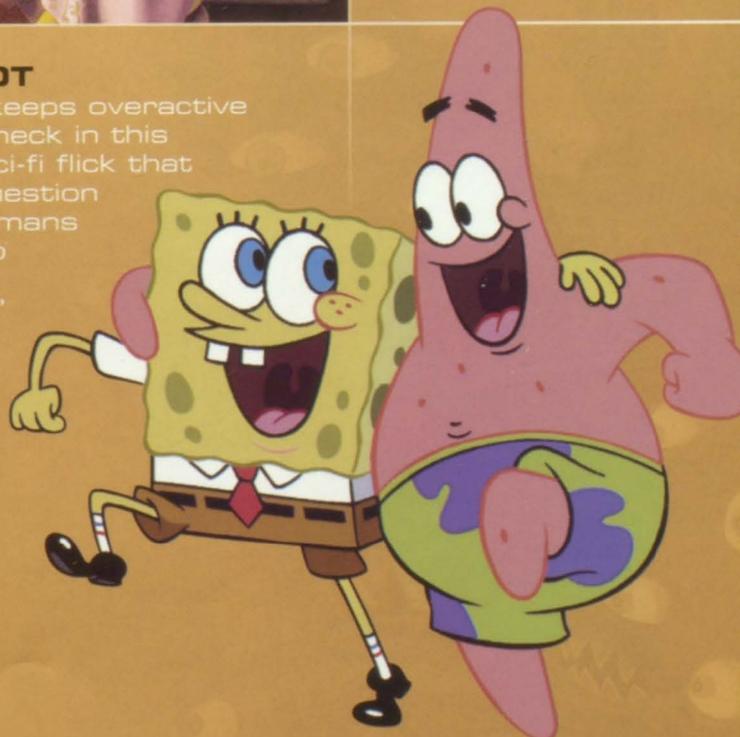

MOM, MEET MY OGRE ▶

In Shrek 2, Shrek faces his biggest challenge yet: The in-laws. The newlyweds return from their honeymoon to find an invitation to meet Princess Fiona's parents in the kingdom of Far, Far Away.

◀ I, ROBOT

Will Smith keeps overactive robots in check in this futuristic sci-fi flick that asks the question "What if humans become too dependant on robots?"

BIGGER. BETTER. MORE ABSORBENT. ▶

Moving to the big screen means more responsibilities for Spongebob and Patrick in The Spongebob Squarepants Movie. They have to rescue King Neptune's crown aaaaand foil Plankton's plan to steal the Krabby Patty recipe!

SPORTS

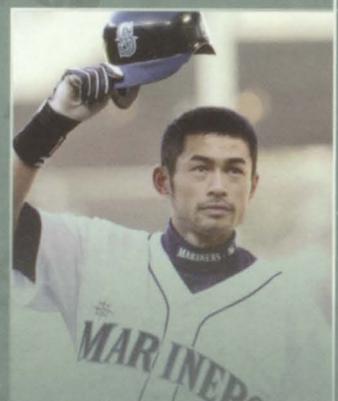

IT'S HOW YOU PLAY THE GAME

Every year, athletes set out to break records set in years past. This year was no different, but brought added drama. Would the mighty BoSox break the Curse of the Bambino? Would Lance win six in a row? Would the Patriots win again? These questions weren't answered without a little bit of nail-biting. Hockey and basketball fans followed Court TV more closely than ESPN this year, hoping to see an end to the NHL lockout or hear the latest on the charges pressed against NBA players after the Staples Center brawl that occurred in November. How's THAT for drama!?

▲ SUPER BOWL XXXIX

For the third time in four years, the New England Patriots win the Super Bowl by three points, this time against the Philadelphia Eagles.

▲ HIT RECORDS

Ichiro Suzuki of the Seattle Mariners racks up a record 262 hits in a single season.

◀ IT'S GOTTA BE THE SOX!

The Boston Red Sox stage a dramatic 0-3 comeback against the New York Yankees in the American League Championship Series. They go on to sweep the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 in the World Series, breaking the 86-year-old "Curse of the Bambino" and bringing a collective sigh of relief to Red Sox fans everywhere.

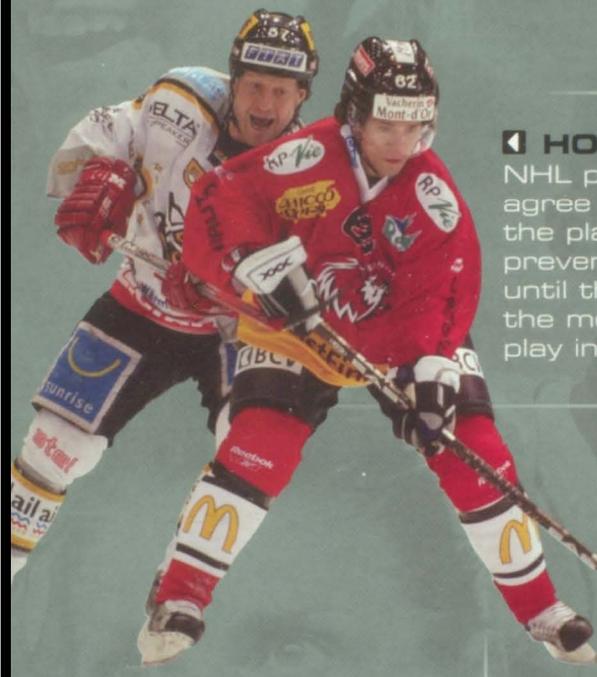

ESPN TURNS 25 ▶

Alpha-anchor Chris Berman and the rest of the cable sports network's knowledge base celebrate ESPN's 25th birthday in 2004.

◀ HOCKEY LOCK-OUT

NHL players and owners can't agree on financial issues, so the players stage a lockout, preventing the NHL from playing until the issues are resolved. In the meantime, many NHL stars play in European leagues.

▶ BASKET BRAWL

Indiana Pacers player Ron Artest faces a misdemeanor charge in the brawl between fans and players during a game against the Detroit Pistons

GIRL ▶ POWER

During the 2004 X-Games, Lyn-Z Adams Hawkins wins the first women's vert ramp gold.

◀ FREDDY'S FOOTWORK

DC United's Freddy Adu becomes the youngest and highest-paid player in Major League Soccer. At only 15, Freddy scores five goals in his first season.

CYCLING'S SIX-SHOOTER ▶

Cyclist Lance Armstrong puts his US Post Office-sponsored team in the record books by winning the Tour de France an unprecedented six consecutive times.

OLYMPICS '04

In 2004 the Olympic Games returned to Greece, their birthplace. A total of 10,500 athletes from 202 countries competed, a record turnout despite speculation of terrorism and anti-Americanism. The United States took home more medals than any other country -103, 35 of them gold.

Mia Hamm (above), one of the most famous U.S. soccer stars, announced her retirement and blew a good-bye kiss to the crowd after her team secured a gold medal. "There are only a few times in your life when you get to write the final chapter the way you want," said Hamm about the USA's gold medal.

Justin Gatlin, Bernard Williams and Shawn Crawford (above, L-R) of the U.S. swept the men's 200-meter final, after their introduction generated boos and heckling from the crowd in Olympic Stadium. The fans were upset that the Grecian sprinter Kostas Kentenis wasn't allowed to compete due to drug charges.

MUSIC

ARTISTS ARE VARIOUS AND NEFARIOUS

Musicians often stay in the spotlight by breaking out of their mold and trying new things. This year, Sean "Puffy" Combs took the lead role in a Broadway play, Gwen Stefani took a break from No Doubt to release a solo album, and Green Day brought us their first concept album. But Ashlee Simpson's unexpected antics garnered the most attention: She was busted lip-synching on Saturday Night Live, and was later booed after her performance at the FedEx Orange Bowl.

▼ THE GREEN PARTY

Green Day releases their album American Idiot, showing a more mature, politically-minded side than we've seen in the past.

▲ RAISIN' THE ROOF

Sean Combs took off his VOTE OR DIE t-shirt to play the role of Walter Lee Younger in the Broadway production of A Raisin In The Sun.

▲ USHER SWEEPS UP

R&B artist Usher wins big at the American Music Awards, MTV MVA's and Grammys.

GWEN IN DOUBT ▶

Gwen Stefani takes a break from fronting No Doubt to release her first solo album, Love, Angel, Music, Baby. But "solo" doesn't mean "alone;" she collaborates with Dr. Dre, Linda Perry, and André 3000, to name a few.

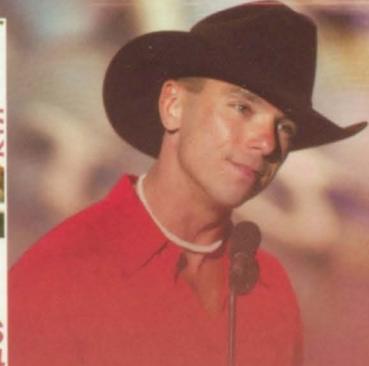

◀ SISTER ACT

Ashlee Simpson follows in her sister Jessica's footsteps with a hit CD and her own reality show on MTV.

JOSS STONE ▶

17-year-old British singer Joss Stone releases her second album, Mind, Body and Soul, completes a successful US tour and performs for VH1's Divas 2004.

◀ LORD OF THE LINE DANCE

Country artist Kenny Chesney tops charts with his CD When The Sun Goes Down.

▶ RAP VAN WINKLE

After sleeping for six years without an album, The Beastie Boys release To The 5 Boroughs, and wake up to find that they are collectively almost 120 years old!

RED ROCKERS ▶

Maroon 5 stay on tour, and stay on the iTunes "Most Downloaded" chart all year!

PLENTY OF REASONS TO STAY HOME

While there were still a slew of "Survivor-esque" reality shows on the tube this year, we also saw more and more renovation-driven reality programs as Americans took an interest in redecorating their homes or "pimping their rides." But there was also evidence that Hollywood hadn't written off its writers completely. Well-penned dramas like CSI:NY and Lost gave us a great escape from reality, while Comedy Central's The Daily Show gave the nightly news a slant that caused us to laugh out loud.

▼ BIKERS THAT BICKER

Reality renovation show American Chopper is a favorite among those who enjoy watching mechanics practice their craft, and those who enjoy seeing father and son argue while they work.

"YOU'RE FIRED" ▶

In The Apprentice, competition and boardroom drama escalate until one winner is given a dream job with The Trump Organization and a six-figure salary.

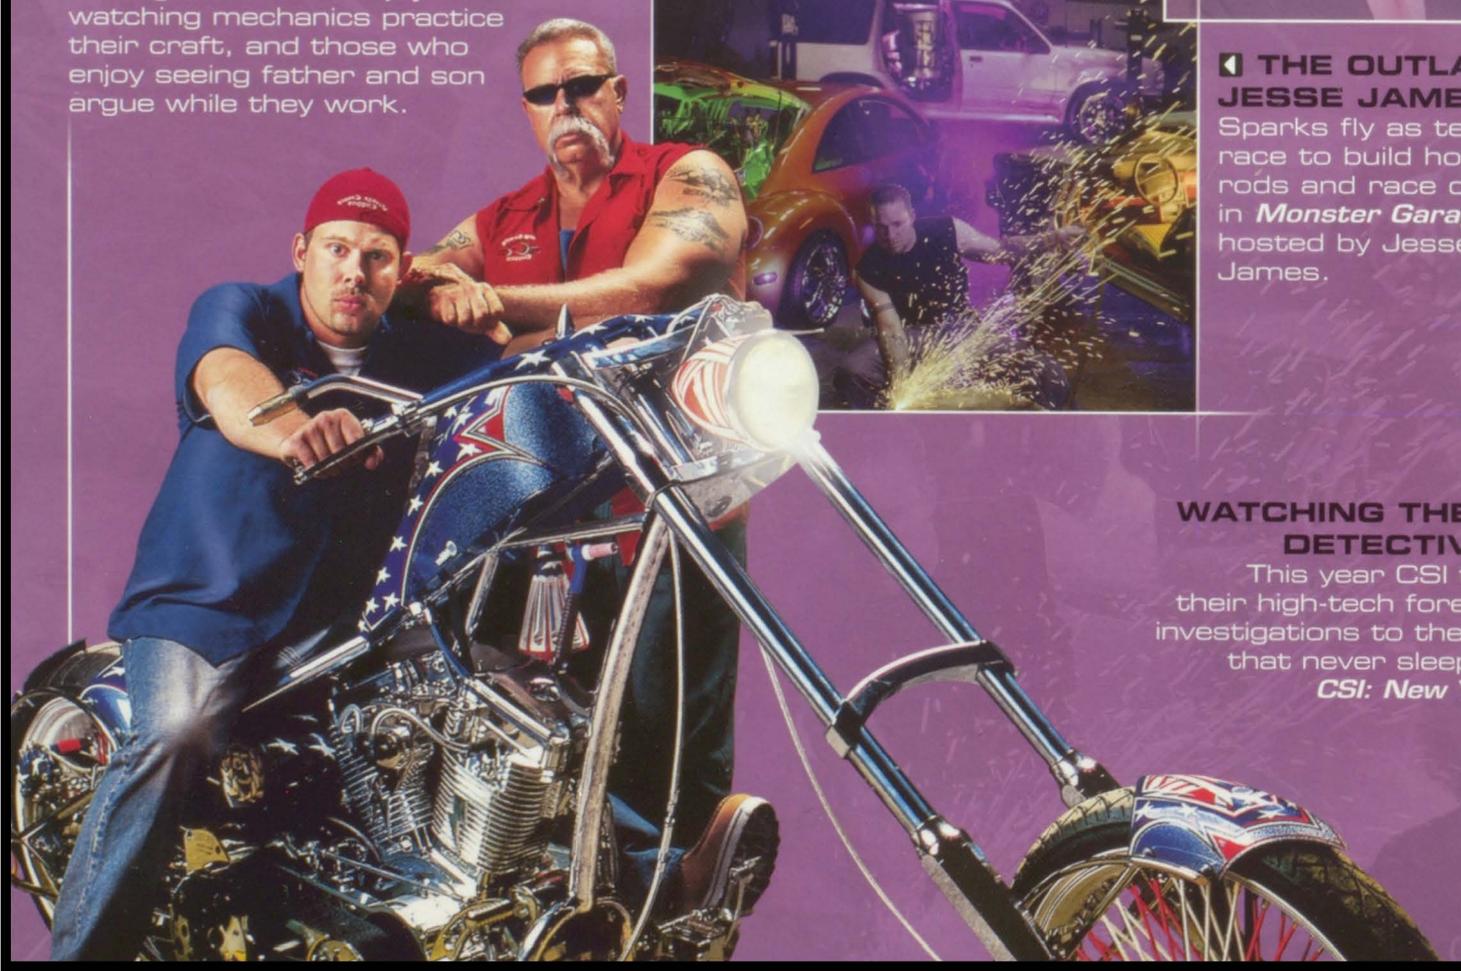

◀ THE OUTLAW JESSE JAMES

Sparks fly as teams race to build hot rods and race cars in Monster Garage, hosted by Jesse James.

WATCHING THE ▶ DETECTIVES

This year CSI took their high-tech forensic investigations to the city that never sleeps in CSI: New York.

WHERE ARE WE? ▶

Lost follows 48 castaways who try to survive on a deserted island. Luckily, none of them are named Gilligan.

◀ DAILY DOSE

Comedy Central's The Daily Show with John Stewart is America's most trusted name in fake news.

THE TY ▶ THAT BINDS

Ty Pennington, host of Extreme Makeover - Home Edition, brings people together with completely renovated homes for deserving families.

WHO NEEDS ▶ A TRAVEL AGENT?

Grab your best friend, sister, significant other or grandma; whoever you think would be the best teammate in The Amazing Race, an elimination-style race around the world for a million-dollar cash prize.

▶ JOEY

Joey Tribbiani trades "Friends" for family when he leaves Central Perk behind and heads for Hollywood, where he takes his nephew under his wing.

TRENDS

IT'S NOT SO BAD BEIN' TRENDY

Call it hip, popular or even conformist - this year's trends were more philanthropic than in years past. A little yellow bracelet raised big money for cancer research. A healthy diet has become so popular that fast-food restaurants are doing away with their "super-sized" menu items. And Ford unveiled the first Earth-friendly hybrid SUV to the delight of tree-hugging soccer moms everywhere.

EASY TO SEE, HARD TO FIND ▶

The first five million of these Lance Armstrong Foundation bracelets sell out quickly and start a trend that raises over $20 million in the fight against cancer.

◀ HOODIES OFF THE HOOK

Hoodies are a cozy alternative to wearing a jacket, and they can sport your favorite band, team, or even website!

▶ FAITHFUL READERS

NCV breaks the Bible down into easy-to-read magazine form. Revolve is for girls, Refuel is for boys.

◀ TWO COOL FOR SCHOOL

The Olsen twins turn 18 and head for college, but not before launching a clothing line for teens. Their summer job makes waaaaay more money than yours.

REVIEWS GAMES THAT ROCK ▶

More and more bands are lending their music to video games. Tony Hawk's Underground wins the first MTV Video Music Award for Video Game Soundtrack.

◀ LOW-CARB

To attract low-carb dieters, fast-food restaurants start offering tortilla-wrapped menu items.

▶ LITTLE BOW WOW

Paris Hilton, Britney Spears, Milla Jovovich and P. Diddy have been trailblazers in the trend of teeny-tiny pocket-dogs.

MOTHER EARTH'S SUV ▶

Ford introduces the first hybrid SUV. Using electric power as well as gas, the Escape Hybrid is more fuel-efficient and more environmentally friendly.

◀ IT REALLY HAULS

The Dodge Magnum makes grocery-getters cool again. With a 340-horsepower 5.7-liter Hemi V-8, this station wagon hauls a lot more than just cargo!

TECH GEAR

GIZMOS, GADGETS AND GREAT GEAR!

Who says you can't take it with you? This year saw portables get even more popular. Sony and Nintendo each released new handheld game platforms, while Tapwave released the Palm-powered Zodiac for more organized gamers. People who take their music with them had a plethora of MP3 players to pick from, and Apple released the Mac mini, a desktop computer that challenges that whole "bigger is better" philosophy. But with all these gadgets, a bigger backpack would be nice.

GIZMO TO GO ▶

Road trips with the family are much more bearable with commercial-free satellite radio.

▲ SIGN OF GREATNESS

The Zodiac from Tapwave combines a Palm-powered organizer with a beefy video game platform.

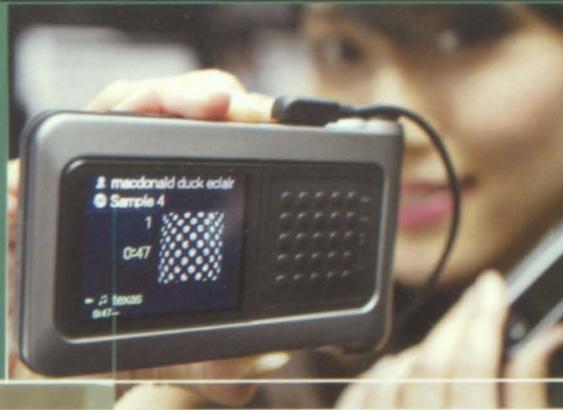

◀ DOES HE DO HOMEWORK?

The Robosapien can grip, throw, walk, dance and even burp at the push of a button.

MAKES NON-STOP ROCKING POSSIBLE ▶
