When we first entered the halls of Bay Shore High School we were both excited and nervous. There were so many new experiences and so many new opportunities, all waiting for us. Amazingly, it's been four years since then and we have done so much in that time. We have had a good time and we have learned so much along the way. Life will only get better, but we will never forget the good times we had in Bay Shore. So as we move forward, we say "Let the good times roll," but we also say, "Never forget the good times we have had."

Fall

Sarah Fuchs, senior, leads her field hockey teammates in a dance at Pep Rally, which ends Spirit Week. Their dance is always a crowd favorite.

Brendan Gaine, senior, keeps a straight face as he keeps the beat in the song. Gaine is the drum section leader.

Justine Furnari, Karl Allison, Jessica Costas, Melody Cattouse, Wendy Leiva, Nicole Brancato, Kelsey Schneidman, Allison Menditto, and Dana Marzigliano, seniors, share their smiles and their stories during the fall Awareness Weekend. Bay Shore hosts three Awareness Weekends each year, one for Freshman and two for upperclassmen.

Jack Maerki, senior, and Harris Robinson, junior, celebrate a successful golf season. Maerki and Robinson goof around before the match to take the pressure off.

Color

spirit week

Spirit Week can get very crazy with everyone dressing up and participating in special theme days, the biggest of which is always the annual color war.

"I don't know how many, but I made about a dozen airbrushed shirts for the seniors," said Bert Weigand, senior.

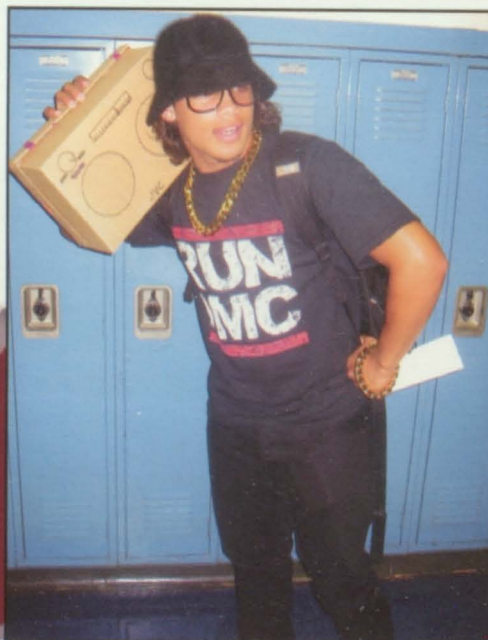

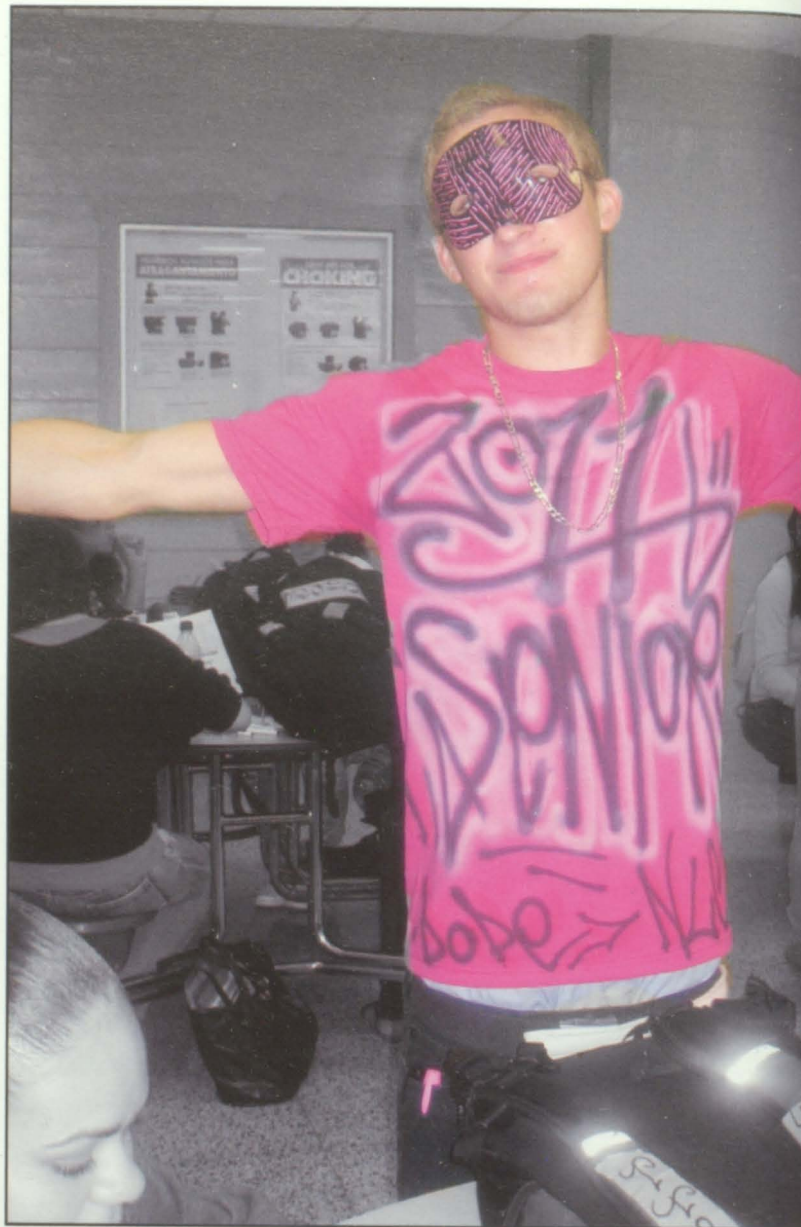

Color war has a way of getting even the most complacent student involved in the activities. Everyone seems to don his or her class colors, even if it's just a piece of colored tape on a backback.

"I think I was more involved this year because more people know me now," said Weigand.

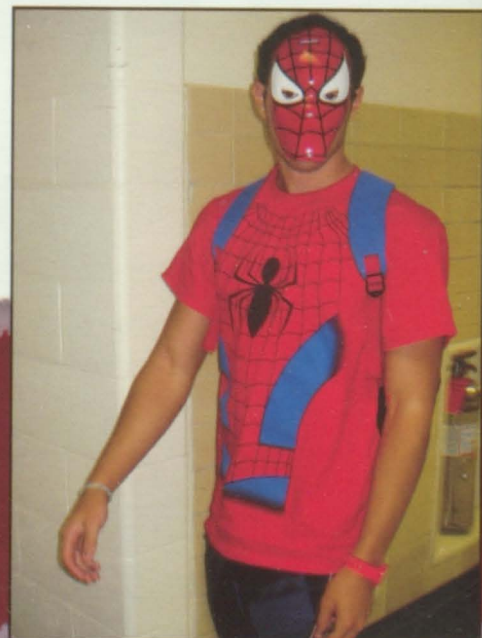

The senior class always gets a large turnout because it is their last year and people want to get involved for their last opportunity.

"Now people know I am into art," said Weigand. "So the class president asked me if I could do it for her and, of course, I wanted to do something to make our class stick out compared to all the other senior classes before us."

Bert Wiegand, senior, created his own Color War shirt to show his pride. He ended up making over a dozen shirts for other seniors.

Karl Allision, senior, bumps to the beat of Run DMC to show spirit for "80's day."

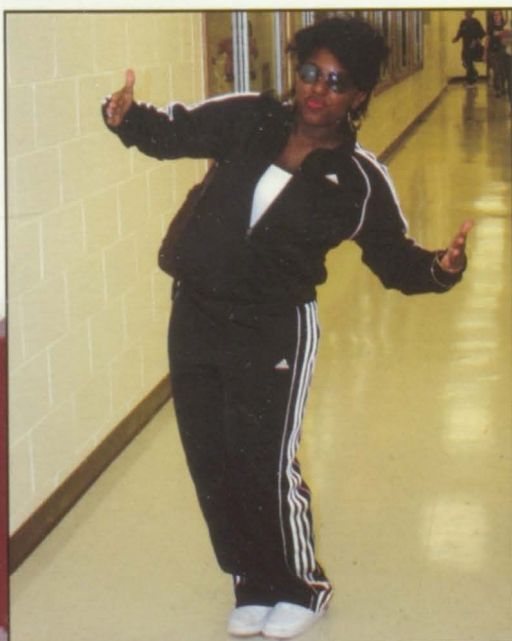

It is difficult to recongize Connor Crane, senior, when is he dressed up like his favorite super hero, Spider Man, for "Superhero Day."

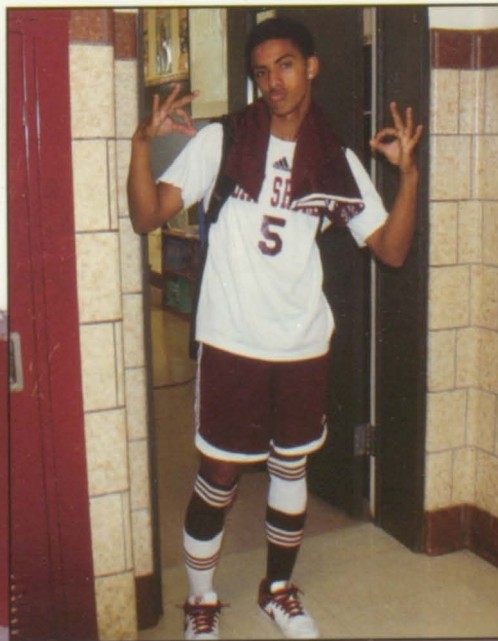

A group of students play their superhero roles well as they battle in the hallway.

Ajon Crump, senior, struts her stuff in her 80's outfit. As class president, Crump showed a lot of spirit throughout the week.

Justin Rivera, senior, poses in his soccer attire with pride. Rivera is showing his pride for "Bay Shore Spirit day."

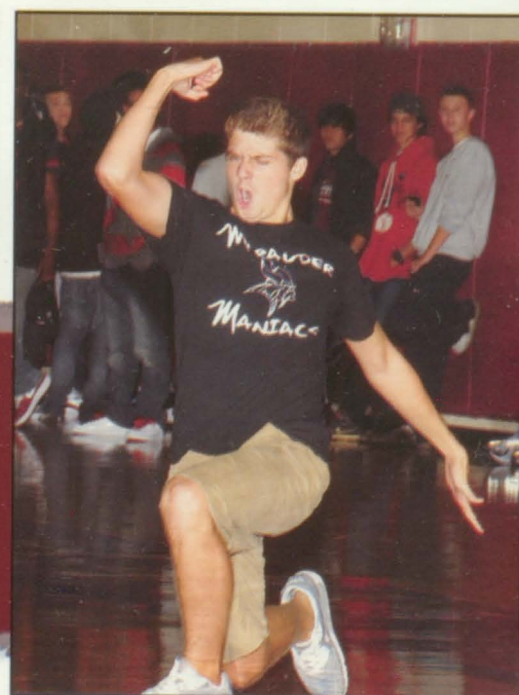

The saxophones and trombones play a booming melody to lift the spirits of all in attendance at the Pep Rally.

On the night of Pep Rally the bonfire helps ignite school spirit.

Jose Miranda, senior, has pep in his step as the soccer team is announced.

Harris Robinson, junior, flaunts his school spirit by striking a pose as he walks across the gym to join the rest of his team.

Dance

It's electric!

This year's pep rally slid to an exceptional finish, as the football team danced "The Electric Slide" to the cheers of their fellow athletes and friends.

"If I could, I would do it all over again," said Donnell LaBorde, senior. "I had a lot of fun teaching my team how to do the electric slide."

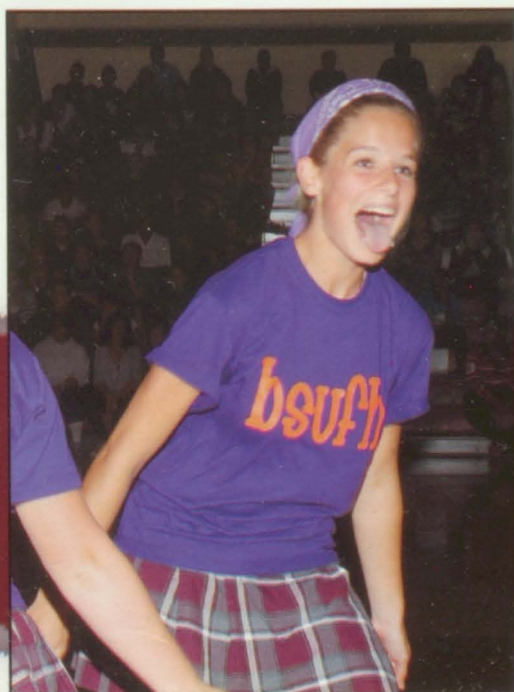

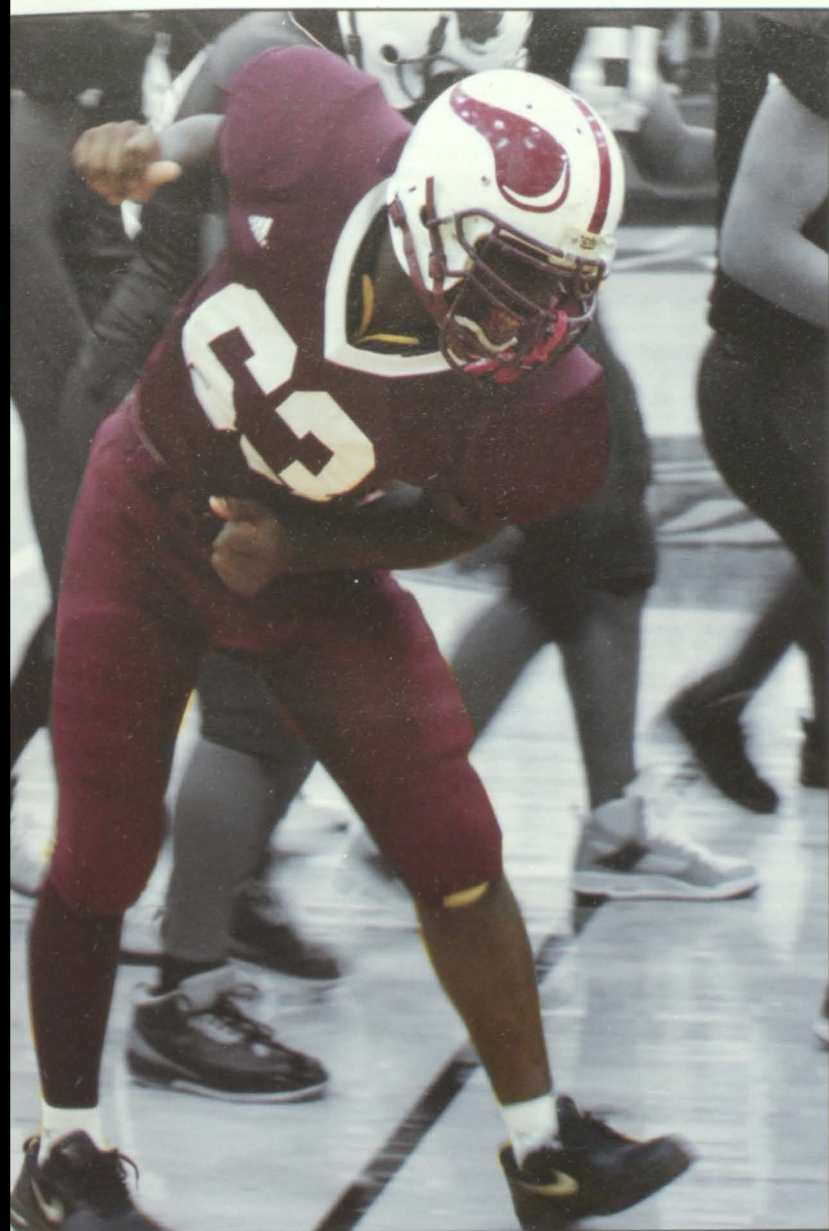

They knew the students would like it, but the players were worried that Coach James Giattino (G) would object.

"No one really knew how Coach G would react, but once the music came on, everyone just went with it and we all enjoyed it," said Karl Allison, senior.

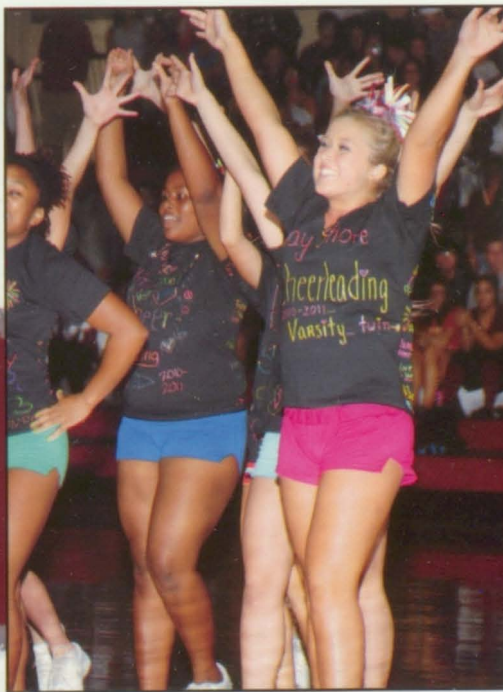

The team and their dance will long be remembered.

"Not only will this class be remembered for turning the football program around, we will also be remembered as the team who did "the dance" at pep rally," said Allison.

Donnell LaBorde, senior, leads the football team as they get down low in their first ever pep rally dance.

Betsy Glynn, junior, performs in the field hockey dance, which has become a tradition at Pep Rally.

Kayla Trocchio, sophomore, and the cheerleaders get the crowd roaring with spirit fingers.

The football team tears through the homecoming banner to take the field for the big the game.

Christian Vargas, senior, saves a dance for his favorite faculty member, Ms. Watford.

Donnell LaBorde and Jessica Costas, seniors, are crowned Homecoming king and queen.

Win homecoming

A parade through town, a trip around the field at half time, and a dance that culminates in the crowning of a King and a Queen: it must be homecoming.

"It was an amazing experience," said Jessica Costas, homecoming Queen. "Now I have an awesome memory to look back on my senior year."

Everyone was ready to celebrate after a decisive win against Walt Whitman; everyone was ready to celebrate at the homecoming dance.

"It was nice being crowned in front of everyone," said Donnell LaBorde, homecoming King. "It was nice knowing that I am a King!"

Along with LaBorde as king, Costas was crowned queen. The remainder of the court included Kayla Arnold, Chelsea Cook, Olivia Fiore, Ashlee Garrett, Karl Allison, Mauricio Espinal, Brendan Gaine, and Matt Hartill.

Danielle Epifanio and Ajon Crump, seniors, danced in unison to the bumping beat of the D.J.

Pretend halloween

Many students put in a lot of effort to have the standout costume in Bay Shore. The ideas can come from all over, with people researching ideas or talking to other people to get ideas.

"Jen [Halloran] heard of this idea," said Aasha Jackson, senior. "So then we tried to make it on our own."

Jackson's group of four girls dressed in different pieces from the game Tetris and when they would stand together, the pieces would fit together.

"We made the costumes by hand out of cardboard boxes, wrapping paper, and electrical tape," said Jackson.

Some students spend lots of time trying to put these costumes together, whether they have to buy the pieces or put them together themselves.

"We made the costumes the night before," said Jackson, whose costume won Best Group. "It took us 7 hours."

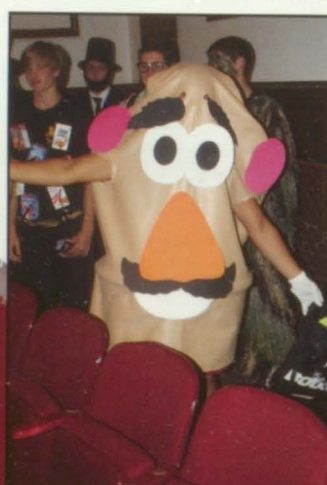

Megan Valentine, Dan Godlberg, and Brianna Harrison, seniors, dress up as the characters from the movie Alice in Wonderland.

Brendan Gaine, Jon Flood, Donnell LaBorde, Kevin Cox, Max Sheets, seniors, and Griffin Rock, Luke Rock, and Pat Ranis, juniors, dance to the song 'YMCA,' re-enacting the Village People.

Jesse Downs, Christine Heller, Gillian Swanson, and Julia Wendt, seniors, dress up as their favorite characters from 'Glee,' the Cheerios.

Sarina Ramirez, senior, brings us back to our childhood by dressing up like Gumby.

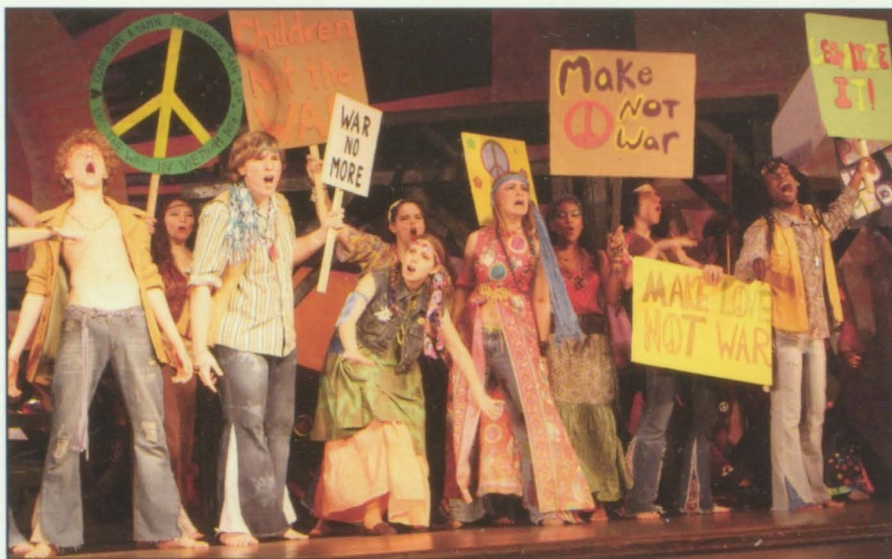

Yaritza Attias and Aiyana Smith, seniors, designed their nautical mermaid costumes themselves.

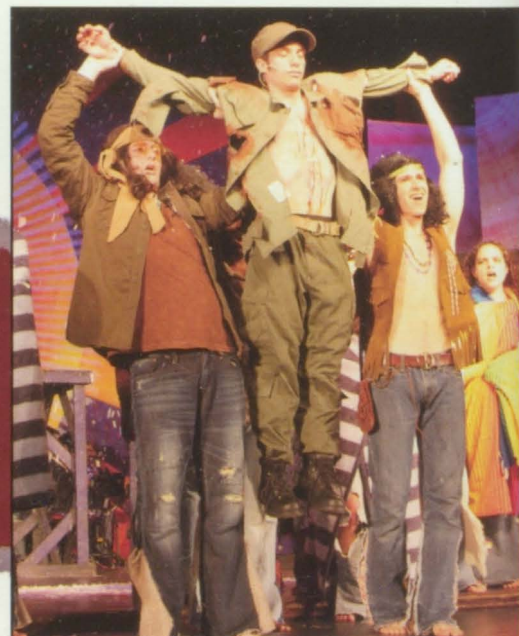

Cori Baston, senior, belts out a solo while Archecard Elizer, senior, and Quinn Seymour, junior, prepares to join in singing harmony.

The ensemble of 'Hair' chants for freedom from the war in one of the climatic scenes.

Quinn Seymour, junior, and Olivia Fiore, senior, switched genders to add comedy to their characters.

James Brewer, sophomore, and Kyle Souhrada, freshman, hold up Daniel Narvaez, junior, to show the effects of war.

Peace hair

"This is the dawning of the age of aquarius."

"It was wild and crazy," said Joshua Bellinger, senior. Bellinger played the village psychopath in the show HAIR this fall.

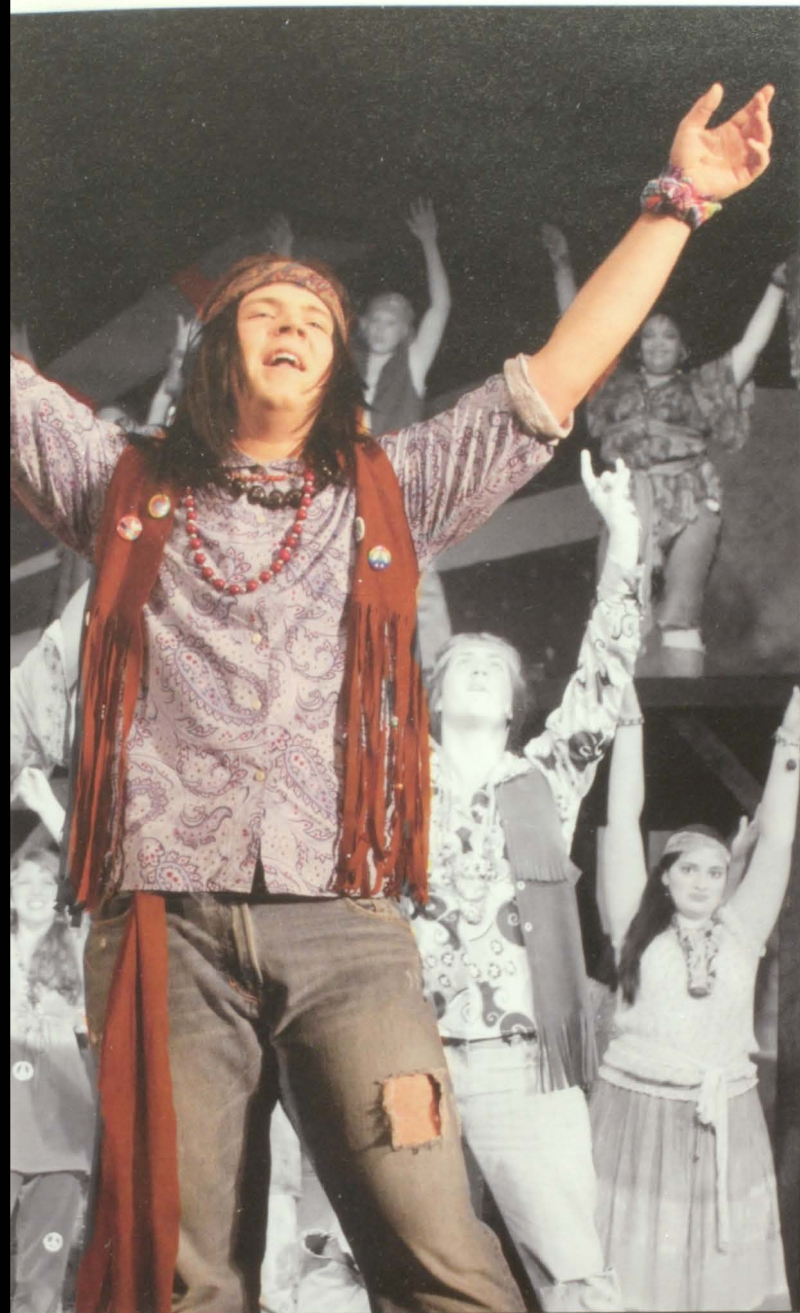

This year's psychedelic production of HAIR was the Drama Club's fall selection. The show took the audience back to the 1960's, a time of struggle in America, which was marked by political protests, the Viet Nam War, and excessive drug use.

"It was so much fun just freestyle dancing the entire show and 'tripping out' with the blacklight on," said Olivia Fiore, senior.

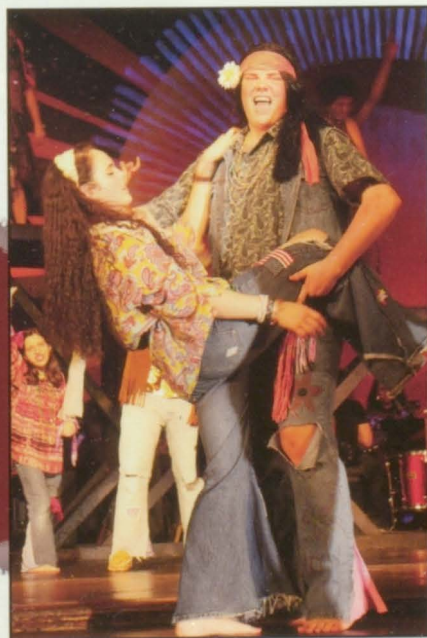

One of the unique features of 'Hair' is a tremendous amount of actor interaction with the audience. Cast members not only danced with the audience, they got up close and personal too.

"Hair was a lot of fun for everybody who was involved," said Archecard Elizer, senior. "It was easy for us to get into character because, as teenagers, it was easy for us to relate to HAIR's rebellious spirit."

Nick Gurinsky, senior, raises his hands in unison with the rest of the 'Hair' cast. He has been a major part of drama club since his freshman year.

Josh Bellinger, senior, poses to add effect to his song.

Perform marching band

Erik Baudler, senior, plays the saxophone at the annual Marching Band competition at Hofstra University.

Charge! This year the Bay Shore High School Marching Band took the field by storm, literally. At the annual Newsday Marching Band Competition, members sprinted out to their positions for the opening set so that they would have enough time to finish the jam-packed field show.

"This year's Marching show we brought it back to the 80's and we rocked it," said Olivia Fiore, senior and Drum Major. "Between the band making a rock concert on the field and singing 'we're not gonna take it' to flipping danceline members, everyone just had so much fun with the 2010 season."

The 80's rock theme highlighted the fun and upbeat nature of the students. The field show also had one brand new edition to it; the performance of drum major Alex Kendziewski, senior.

"I had a surprising amount of fun jumping around like a crazed 80's rock star. I actually think I scared a lot of people that day. It wasn't unlike my weekends, actually. Well, my wig was much prettier."

Band members were able to express their own creativity during the "free-style" dance section while drumline was featured in a solo.

"My favorite memory from this year's show has to be doing the Salt and Pepper with Pat Rainis," said William Jockers, senior and saxophone section leader. "We had a really great time with a great group of people this year."

Alex Kendziewski, senior, rocks out to 'We're not gonna take it,' the highlight of this year's performance.

Caitlin Ilchuk, junior, twirls her flag, adding color and artistry to the marching band performance.

Luis Vela and Peter Kloc, seniors, play their clarinets at the annual Marching Band Competition at Hofstra University.

Alex Kendziewski, Olivia Fiore, and Julie Aromi, seniors, along with Mr. Robert Pashkin, Principal, and Mr. Terry Nigrelli, Director of Music, receive an honor for Bay Shore's participation in the 49th annual Newsday Marching Band Competition at Hofstra University.

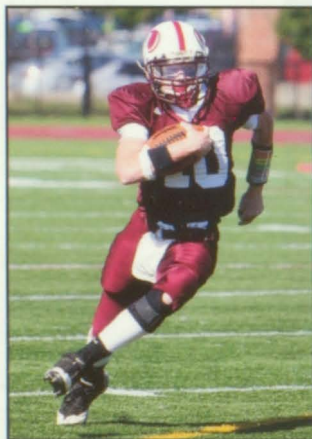

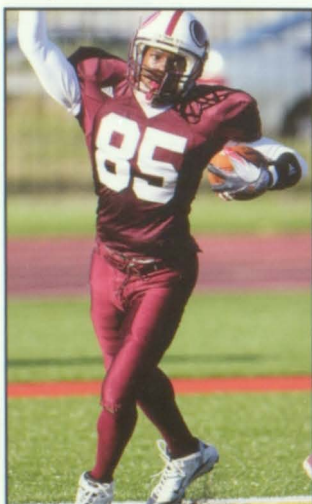

Cori Brenner, junior, helps to keep the beat as he plays his drums in one of the elaborate marching band pieces.

Brenna O'Connor, senior, leads the dance line in a choreographed combination. O'Connor was a co-captain along with her twin sister, Mackenzie.

Touchdown football

Jonathan Smith, senior, wide receiver, and defensive back, celebrates his 40 yard touchdown during homecoming. Smith's touchdown set the tone for a 35-0 romp over Walt Whitman.

Kevin Cox, senior and quarterback, runs the ball upfield for a touchdown. Cox rushed a total of 615 yards this season.

It's been another spectacular season for Bay Shore's varsity football team. Due to hard work and dedication, the team was able to reach its primary goal of making it to the playoffs for the second straight year.

"They take football very seriously," said James Giattino, head coach. "There's nothing I'd change about this team because they'll get as far as their commitment and dedication takes them."

Even in the off season, the team devoted several nights a week to hard work outs and training. These off-season sessions created a strong bond that carried through onto the field.

"To me there's nothing more fun than being out on the field with your team playing to win," added Karl Allison, senior and co-captain.

When they weren't out on the field, the team counted on their brotherhood to keep them united.

"We all work together better and we have such an amazing bond compared to the previous years," said Kevin Cox, senior and co-captain.

Kevin Cox, senior, hands the ball off to Karl Allison, senior. Throughout the season, Kevin threw for a total of 1276 yards.

Devan Smith, senior, runs the ball down the field. Smith was the leading receiver with an average of 20 yards a catch.

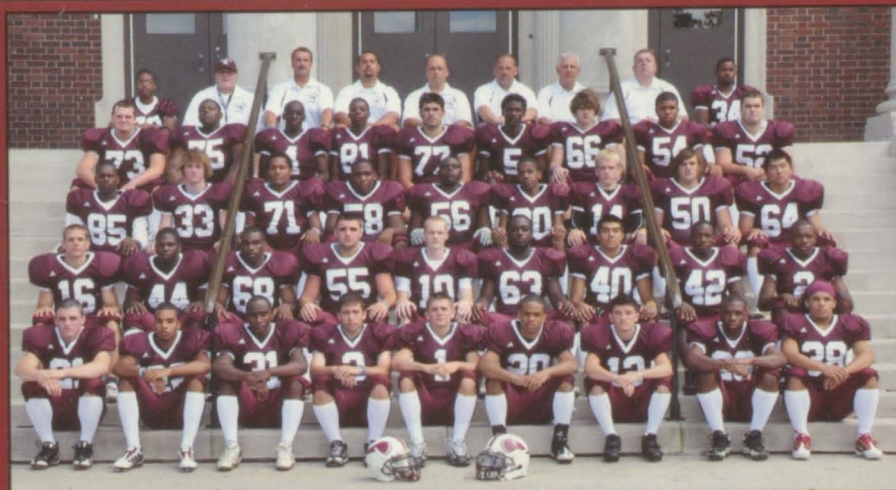

Sharoke Phillip, junior, brings down Walt Whitman player. Phillip was one of the leading tacklers on the team.

Karl Allison, senior, stiff-arms a Commack defender. Allison led the team with 15 touchdowns.

John Demeo, senior, and Karl Allison, senior, celebrate Demeo's 88 yard kickoff return, which put the Marauders in the lead against Northport.

Family

field hockey

Clare Dieumegard, senior, fights for the ball against a West Babylon player. Clare was excited to lead her team to the playoffs this season.

Erin Corcoran, junior, controls the ball as she runs towards the goal.

Having lost many core students from the previous year, the girls field hockey team found itself starting the year with a lack of cohesiveness.

"In the beginning of the season we weren't as close, like all teams, but as the season progressed we became a family," said Clare Dieumegard, senior captain.

Over time, the team grew closer and worked together to improve their game.

"The highlight of the season so far has been seeing the growth of the team," said Mary Drago, coach. "They have worked very hard doing summer/winter leagues and camps to raise the level of our game."

The team bonded over various activities when they were not on the field.

"Being on the team for four years has made me realize how much of a family the team was outside of practice," said Sarah Fuchs, senior captain. "We are always together whether it's getting food or watching movies."

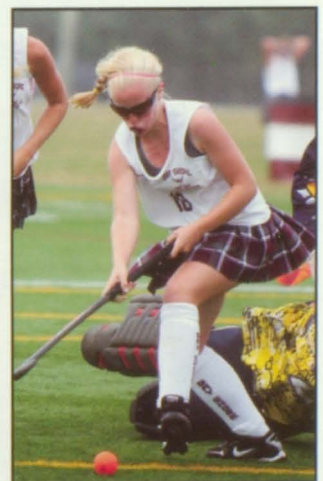

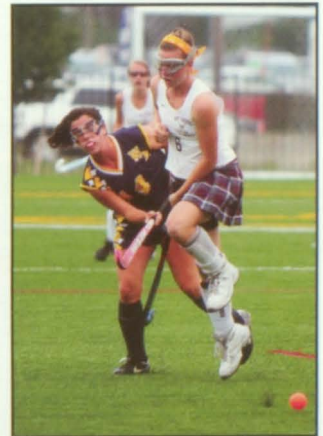

The famous dance performed at Pep Rally is a tradition that will continue in the future.

"The Field Hockey dance at the Pep Rally originated in 2004," said Drago. "It is completely choreographed, planned and practiced by the team. It is a fun tradition and always a special part of our season."

Hard work and lots of practice help to make the dance a success.

"I could go on forever with what I'll miss about Field Hockey," said Jasmine Robinson, senior. "Field hockey has been the best thing to ever enter my life. But mostly I'll miss the team and the friendships I've made. Those girls are my family away from home."

Courtney Syrett, sophomore, blocks out West Babylon's defender in order to beat her to the ball.

Jaqueline Ulrich, junior, dodges the goalie and prepares for a shot.

Kick

boys soccer

Kenny Barnes, senior, jumps to block the shot from the opponent. Barnes had four shut outs during the season.

"I have been playing soccer since I was three years old," said Kevin Palulis, senior. "It's a passion of mine and I love the atmosphere of being on a team."

The boys soccer team has been very successful in recent years. This was the fourth consecutive year that the team has made the playoffs, but this year's goal was to win the counties and league championships, though they ultimately fell short of these goals, losing in the first round of the playoffs. In league games, the Marauders had five wins and two ties for their final record.

The team did most of its bonding on the long rides to away games.

"It's a time to hang out with the team and freestyle," said Palulis. "The rides are a way to pump up for the game." Leadership was a key part of the team's success.

"There was good leadership by team captains Joey Dettori and Kenny Barnes," said Mr. Stuart Love, head coach. "They lead the team well."

Tyler White, junior, heads the ball to defend his goal. The Marauders had eight wins this season, ultimately losing to Ward Melville in the first round of the playoffs.

Team bonding the team get pumped up and ready for the game ahead. They come together as a family and work together to get their wins.

Perre Takir St. Paul, junior, beats the Walt Whitman defender to score for Bay Shore to ensure the win. St. Paul is a starting forward for the Marauders and a scoring leader.

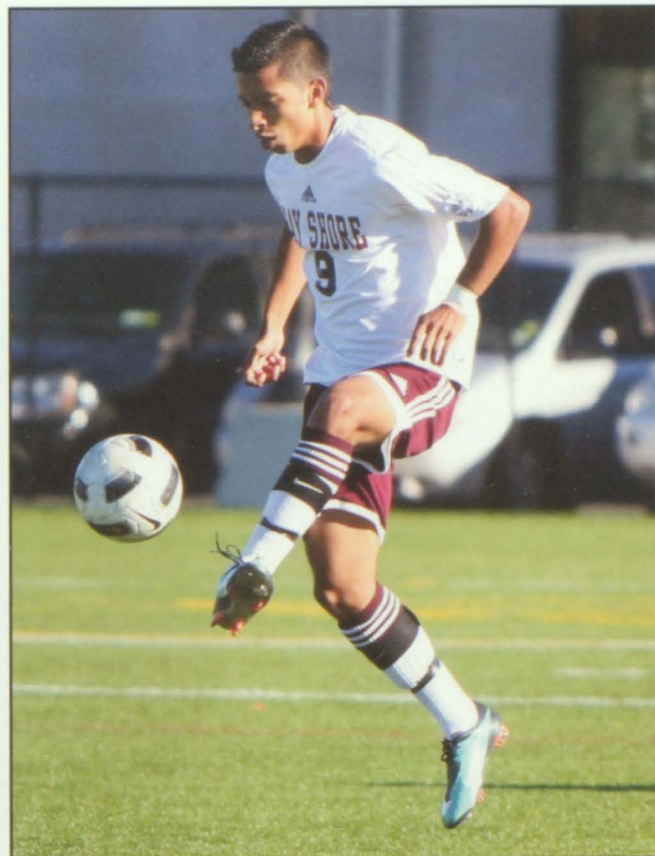

Robert Gomez, junior, goes to head the ball to defend Bay Shore's goal. The Marauders tight defense helped the team to four shut outs.

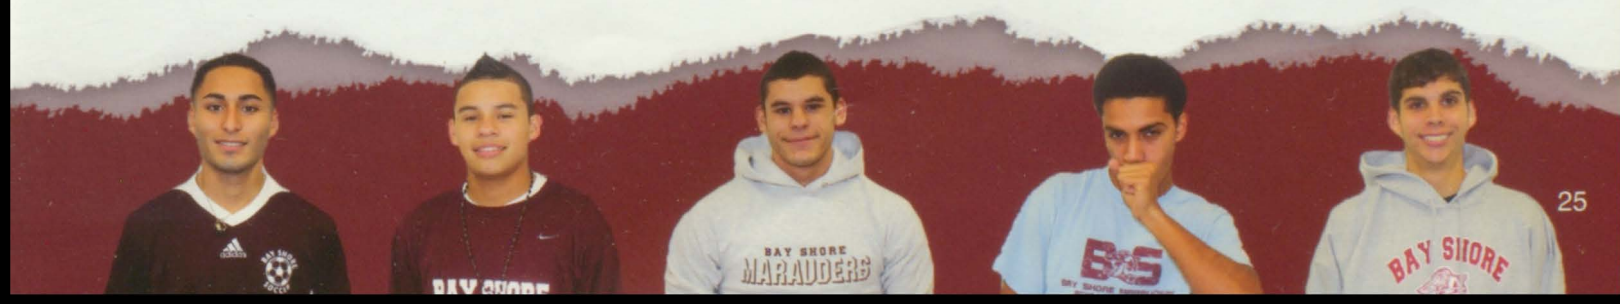

Joseph Dettori, senior, dribbles past Walt Whitman's defender. Dettori scored one goal to add to the 4-0 shutout against Whitman.

Carlos Martinez, senior, goes for his first touch in the game against Walt Whitman. Martinez had a goal and an assist in the Walt Whitman shutout.

Erica Silhan, freshman, dribbles the ball down the field and makes a swift pass to her teammate. Silhan finished off the season with a total of three goals.

Marissa Brightman, senior and goalie, successfully blocks the ball against her opponent. Brightman recorded a season high of 17 saves in one game.

Cynthia DelCore, sophomore, makes her way to the goal. Delcore finished off the season with a total of five goals.

Determined

girls soccer

The fall of 2010 was marked by periods of struggle, made easier by strong team bonds.

"Our team has come a long way this year and has really come together," said Jessica Fornieri, senior and co-captain.

Chelsea Cook, senior and co-captain, shares the same feelings.

"The team has come a long way from past seasons," said Cook. "We all get along and feel good about what we have accomplished."

These accomplishments required a tremendous amount of effort and time.

"I do my school work whenever I have an off period and after school," said Cook. "I try not to waste time, so when I have 10 minutes, I get something done."

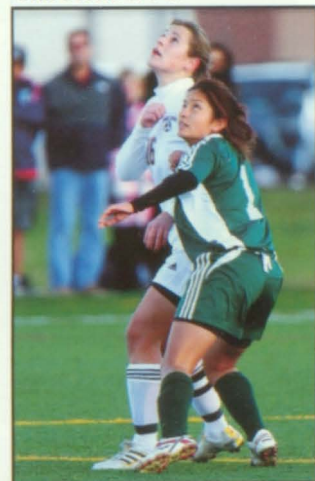

Despite falling short on some team goals, the players enjoyed their season playing together.

"I play because I love the sport," added Cook. "I've been playing since I was 4 years old."

To Cook, soccer is much more than just a sport.

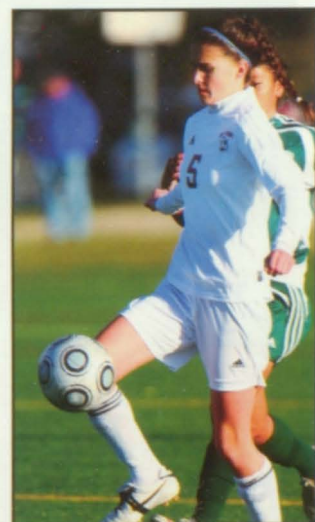

"Being captain changes the way you look at playing, and I have learned that it is a privilege to play," said Cook.

Chelsea Cook, senior and captain, impatiently waits for the ball to appear within her reach. In an exciting game against Brentwood, the Marauders were victorious with a score of 5-0.

Pace

boys cross country

Peter Wojcik, senior, uses his last bit of energy to push through the finish line.

After running a tough race, Reilly Moran, senior, looks ahead to the finish line.

The boys varsity cross country team was very young this year, with only two seniors running in the top seven, though they proved just how strong and hardworking they were at each meet. Part of their strength came from team rituals.

"The night before each meet we would have pasta parties together," said Mauricio Espinal, senior. "These really helped to bring the team closer together."

The boys team traveled to Rhode Island this year to compete in the highly competitive Brown Invitational.

"The Brown Invitational in Providence, Rhode Island, was definitely my favorite meet of the season," said Kyle Wind, senior and captain. "It is always a great team bonding experience."

The relative low number of seniors is due to the increased popularity of the team, causing younger grades to be better represented.

"The team has grown every year that I have been coaching," said Kurt Langer, head coach. "The boys' attitudes have gotten a lot better and everyone is always looking to improve his performance."

Even though they lost a lot of experienced seniors last year the boys didn't lose their competitive edge.

"We lost a lot of the top runners from last year, but everyone worked really hard throughout the season to try and keep the team in the same spot we were last year," said Wind.

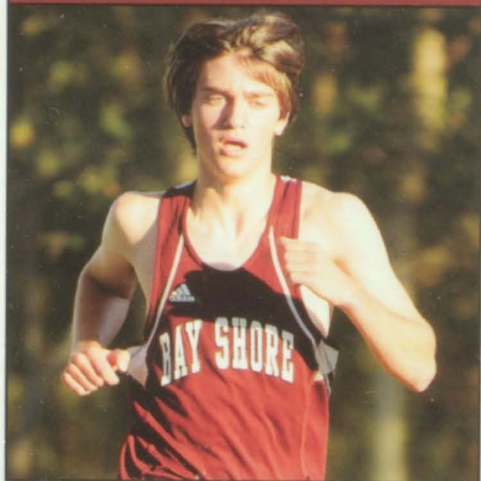

After completing the toughest hill on the course, Emmet Farnan, sophomore, still looks ahead to catch the competition.

Nick Swain, junior, stays positive as he approaches the finish line to achieve a personal best time.

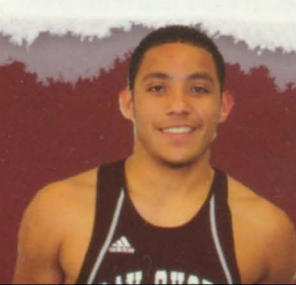

Matt Cohen, junior and captain, keeps good form throughout the whole race in order to lead Bay Shore to another victory.

Aasha Jackson, senior and captain, leads Cairlin Ilchuk, junior, and Paige Golembeski, 8th grader, through the race. Jackson's leadership has led to many underclassmen setting personal bests this season.

Endurance

girls cross country

Kathleen Kanaley, senior, clears the summit out of Cardiac Hill, with a good stride.

The Bay Shore High School girl's cross country team has done it again, achieving their goal of the season to make it to counties.

During the season there is a lot of traveling, forcing the teammates to spend many hours together.

"People think running is an individual sport, but without a close-knit, strong pack we wouldn't have reached our goal," said Karina Gonzalez, senior.

Some of the expectations for this year were to have strong, top seven runners and to beat West Islip and Northport.

"It's my job to help get the team motivated before important meets," said Kathryn Glynn, senior and captain.

They aren't just a team, they are a family, turning to each other for more than running advice. They're always there for each other, no matter what problem they may be having.

"Coach Borbet has taught us that rewards aren't handed to us and that to reach our goals, we must be dedicated," said Kathleen Kanaley, senior.

The girls had a great season and enjoyed all the traveling, practices, and time that they spent together.

Set

boys volleyball

Alex Adams, junior, gets some air while spiking the ball during an intense match. Against West Islip, Adams earned 10 of the 25 points for Bay Shore.

"Ahhhh!...Yahtzee!!!"

The boys Volleyball team cheers this before every game.

"It's been a cheer that we've had since my sophomore year and has seemed to work each year," said Joshua Hogan, senior. "It's a tradition for all of us to yell it in a circle at the beginning of each game."

The team had many rituals to help train themselves to be ready for competition. During practice, for example, the team would execute a session of "R & R," which stands for random running.

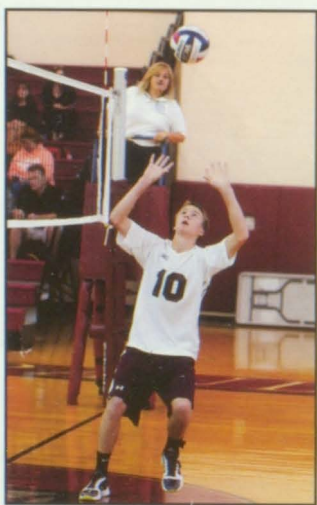

"Random running is where we randomly run around the gym and stretch in between to help warm us up," said Connor Duddy, senior. "Running isn't running unless it's random!"

To keep their bodies in top shape, head coach, Mr. Andres Borremeo, also had the boys lay on the ground and lean their legs on the wall to help drain the lactic acid out of their legs.

"They're called power drains and they are supposed to help prevent injuries in your legs," said Hogan.

Before each game, Hogan would lead the team in a group yoga session outside the gym.

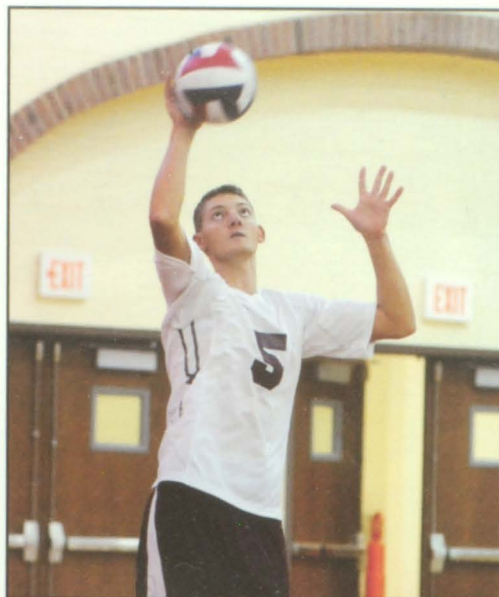

"Yoga, taught by Master Josh, is the perfect warm up for our games and was a vital aspect of our pre-game ritual," said Matthew Racanelli, senior. "It healed our minds, bodies, and souls to prepare us for big games. Namaste."

James DiGiovanni, senior, sets the ball with perfect form, setting the stage for a good play. DiGiovanni would finish the game with a career high of 61 assists.

Josh Hogan, senior, gets the game going with a powerful serve. Hogan helped rally the team to an important win to get into the playoffs.

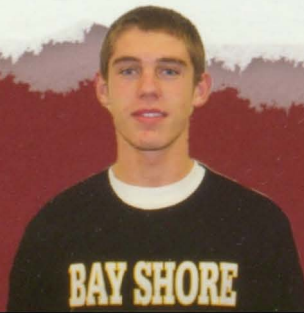

Matt Racanelli, senior, receives the ball from his opponents and passes it to his teammates. Racanelli helped lead the team to victory with 9 digs.

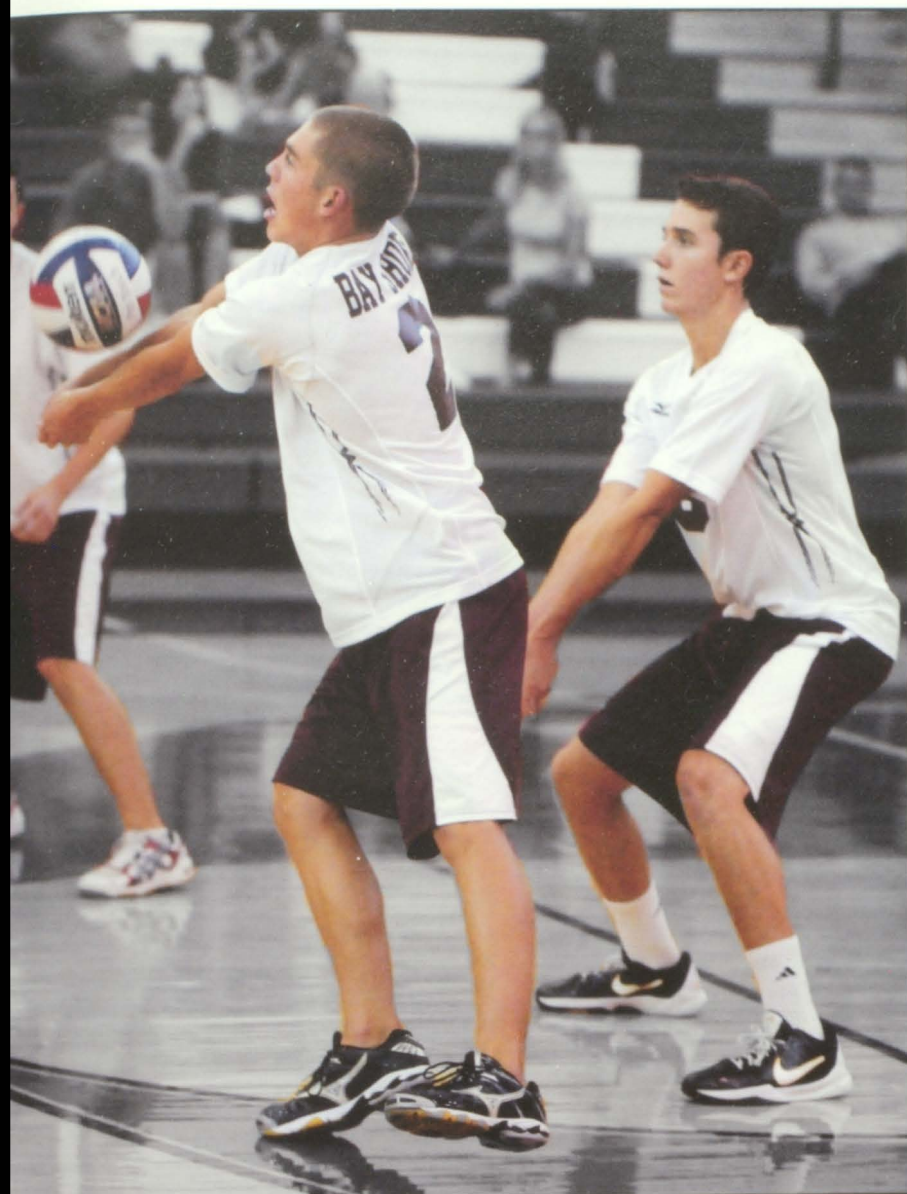

Peter Jensen, junior, blocks the ball from coming over the net, with teammate Josh Hogan, senior, covering as a backup. Jensen's blocking would help hold the opposing team to only 16 points.

Pass

girls volleyball

Nicole Marzillo, senior, digs the ball to give a perfect pass to target. Marzillo led the team into a 3-0 win against Walt Whitman with 15 digs and 14 aces.

Taylor McGowan, senior, serves the ball to start the point. In addition to McGowan's consistently strong serves, she had 19 digs against Sachem North.

"Bay Shore Marauders on three: 1,2,3, Bay Shore Marauders!"

This was the team's chant as they would spread on the court preparing for each of the season's matches. This year the girls varsity team focused on unity above all. As a team they expressed how important teamwork is, regardless of wins or losses. When a game was lost, however, the girls had a unique way of handling the situation, engaging in "garbage outs," which was when they gathered in a circle and discussed feelings.

"Yes there is tension, but we worked together to get over it," said Meaghan Kerrigan, senior.

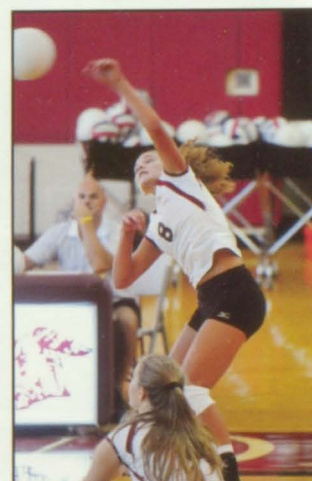

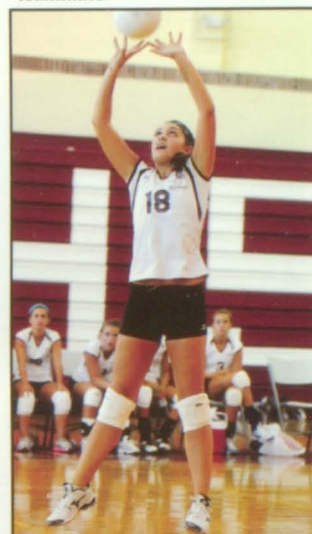

One of the highlight matches of the season is known as Dig Pink, a fundraiser that raises awareness and money for breast cancer.

"All of the big teams come out to raise money, and overall we have a good time," Nicole Marzillo, senior.

This year was like no other when it came to determination and wanting to do well. For some of the players, this meant getting better at the sport and improving skills.

"If you stick with it, you'll get better," said Taylor McGowan, senior.

Katie Cockerill, senior, jumps up to reach the ball to pass to her teammate.

Erika Dannanfelser, junior, spikes the ball over the net to win the point. Dannanfelser had 17 kills against West Islip, leading to a 3-1 win.

Shannon DeCamp, senior and singles player, jumps high to hit a winner. She wrapped up the 5-2 win against Connetquot pushing them higher in the league.

Danielle Epifanio, senior, stands in a ready position to volley the ball. She won the point to beat Bayport Bluepoint.

One might think that introducing a new coach to a team would lead to a year or two of adjustment. For the girls tennis team, however, this change led to immediate success, with the team winning 8 matches, two against rival Sayville.

"Beating Sayville twice was the highlight of the season," said Perri Baker, sophomore.

The seniors are credited with helping the adjustment go so smoothly.

"The season went well," said Mr. John Carney, coach. "We're losing seniors, but we have a lot of talented sophomores and juniors who are coming back next season."

New leaders are ready to take charge and help the coach guide the team to further success.

"The seniors will be missed greatly and we will definitely have to adjust to it and work to fill their spots," said Katie Schultz, junior.

To show their appreciation, the team dedicated their last home match to the seniors. The underclassman helped to make their last game a success and a moment to remember.

"It was an opportunity for the underclassman to focus on the bonds they made with seniors throughout the season," said Cassie Davidson, senior.

Sarah McLoughlin, senior, runs to hit a backhand over the net in hopes of winning the point.

Perri Baker, sophomore, gets ready to return the serve to her opponent. Baker played first singles and doubles throughout the season.

Gianna Keshtgar, sophomore, lines up to hit a forehand to her opponent. Keshtgar played third singles on the team.

When coach Jeff Reid asked the girls on the team, "What is the goal," each of the responded individually, "To make team counties."

The varsity gymnastics team, made up of eleven girls, worked extremely hard this season to reach the goal they had all set. They qualified for the Team County Meet seated fourth.

"I am very proud of the girls," said Brenna O'Connor, senior and captain. "We dealt with a lot of injuries, but we came together and had a great finish to an amazing season."

The team has quickly made its way up the ranks in the gymnastics world. Only existing for four years, the the Lady Marauders made their debut as a League I team this season.

"It was really incredible," said Mackenzie O'Connor, senior and captain. "The competition was tough, but we definitely proved our ability by making it to team counties."

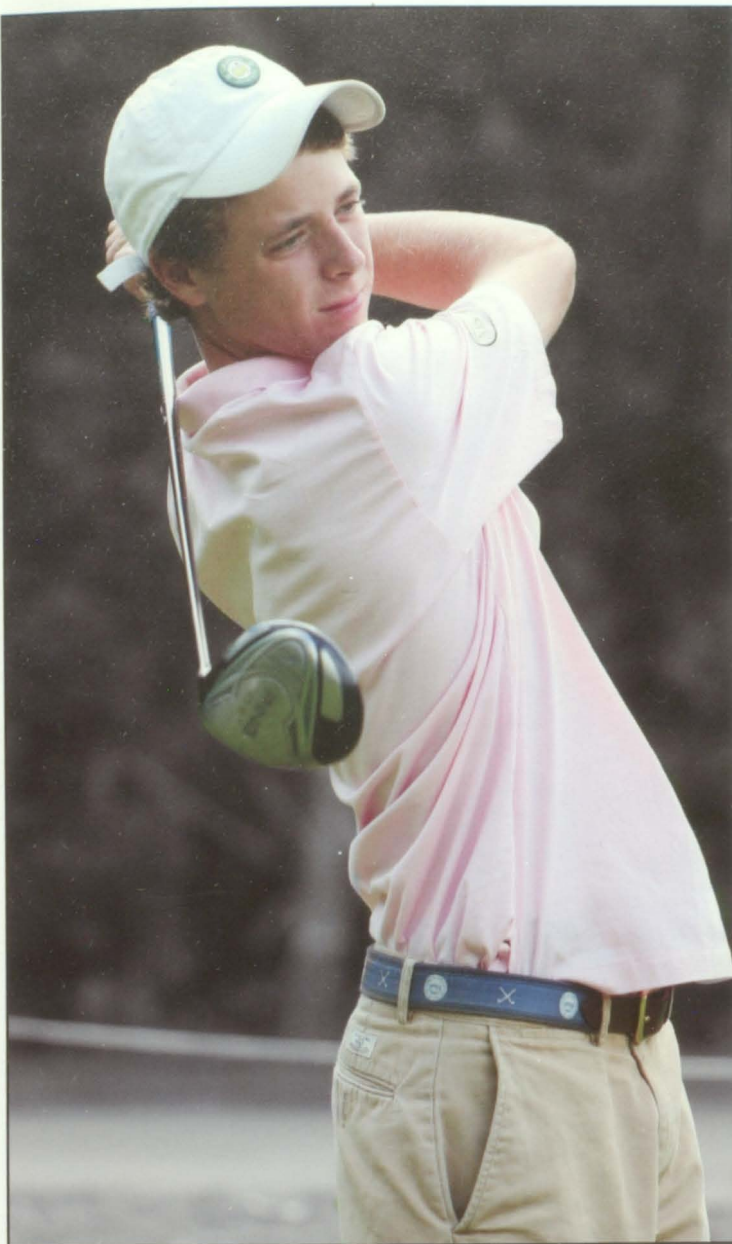

"I started six years ago with Brenna and Mackenzie, so next year will be a big change without them here," said Jeff Reid, coach. "They have helped to shape this team to what it is this year, and they are leaving behind an impressive legacy."

Teamwork

Usually golf is an individual sport, but not in the high school version.

"Being with my teammates is another thing I enjoy about being on the team," said Jack Maerki, senior and captain. "It's a good group of kids and we always have a great time, which has definitely contributed to our success over the past two seasons."

The strong team bond that the boys had helped them win the league championship and qualify for the county playoffs in May.

"Everyone gets along and that helps everybody to relax and play their best each match," said Maerki.

Being relaxed and having fun was what the golf team was all about this year.

"We all get along and have a fun time," said Kevin Dolder, junior.

At Sunken Meadow State Park, on the last hole of the competition, the boys pulled out a victory against Walt Whitman, starting off the season with a significant win under their belt.

Alex Thomas, junior, and Connor Bainbridge, sophomore, swiftly turn their sailboat to get ahead of their competition.

"This is a great sport if sailing is a hobby of yours," said Clarence O'Connor, senior. "It's great that the school has a team for it."

Sailing has adapted to Bay Shore well due to its status as an official sport. Sailing has grown and progressed each season in numbers and performance.

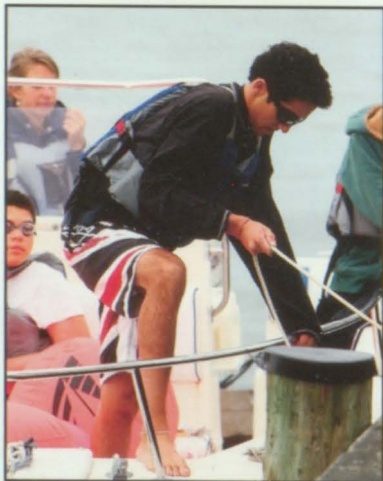

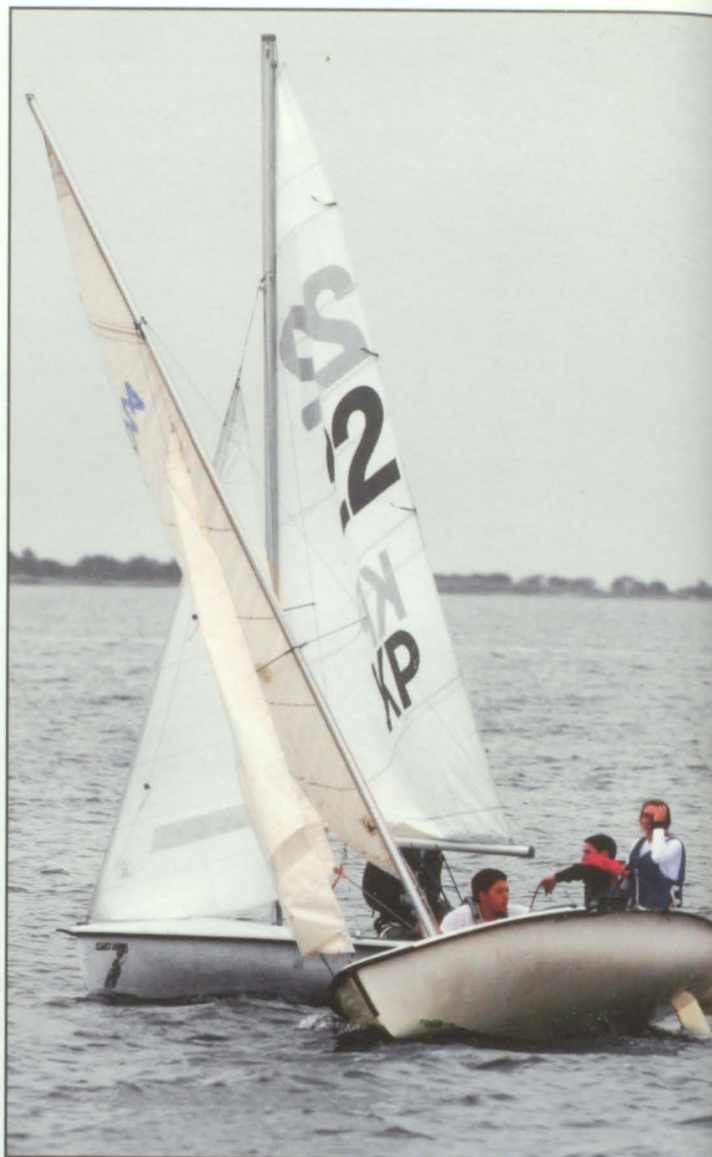

"My favorite thing about being on the team is just getting out on the bay and having a good time sailing," said Michael Klueber, junior.

Alex Thomas, junior, agreed that her favorite part of this sport is "being in the water and having a great time."

The team is very connected and the members work well with each other.

"I think we are growing as a team and I think we will only improve," said Chloe Pocock, sophomore. "This team is made up of a good group of friends sharing their love for this sport together."

Although they swim individually, the members of the swim team always help each other and work together as a team.

"Before meets our team always has pump-up speeches in the locker room," said Kayla Arnold, senior captain. "But the second I step up to the blocks, my heart is always racing."

The determination of the swim team this year pushed them farther than usual. Even though they did not win every meet, they still encouraged each other in each race.

"As a team we were very determined and didn't let losing to other teams discourage us," said Julia Wendt, senior and captain. "Almost everyone improved their time and got a personal record."

Team work helped the team come together and support each other's strengths and weaknesses, which pushed some members to Counties.

"The highest point of the season was at Counties when we broke nearly all of the school records and placed," said Wendt.

The whole senior class got together on the dance floor leaving any disagreements at the door and partied all night as a whole.

"It was a great way to unite the class," said Ajon Crup, class president. "Having just the senior class in one place made the banquet the best night of my senior year."

Many seniors were able to learn popular dance moves. Crump taught her fellow classmates how to Dougie as Vincent Torres taught the crowd how to do the fist pump from the T.V. show Jersey Shore.

"It was the first time I danced with someone I didn't know and it was completely fine," said Kayla Gallagher.

The whole class spent the entire night dancing and partying it up.

"Senior Banquet fell on my birthday this year, which was so cool because I got to party with my whole entire class," said Ali Hoffman. "When people asked me what I was doing for my birthday I said that the school was throwing me a party."

Support breast cancer brunch

With generous support from Bay Shore's business community, as well as from family and friends of the High School, the 10th annual Brunch for a Cure was a huge success, raising more than $4,000 to support education and treatment programs at the Breast Health Center of Good Samaritan Hospital Medical Center.

"We had a great turnout this year," said Chelsea Cook, senior and co-coordinator of the Brunch with fellow seniors Mauricio Espinal, Kayla Arnold, and Jessica Fornieri. "People who attended were very generous in supporting our raffles, and they had the opportunity to learn about a great resource right in our community."

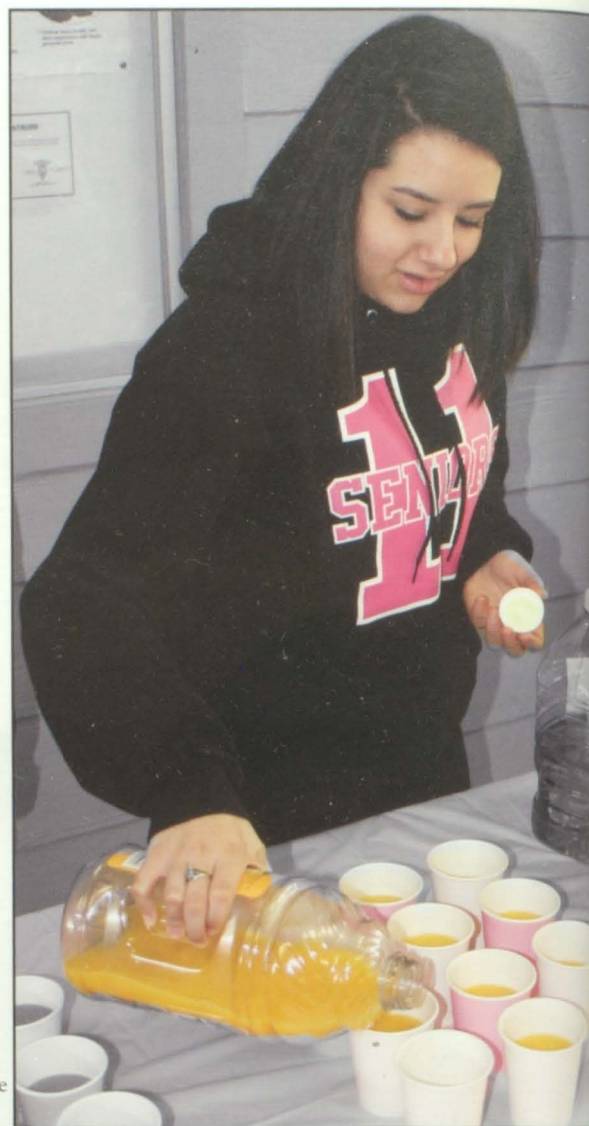

The keynote speakers were Mrs. Jill Bocchieri, a breast cancer survivor, and Ms. Bonnie Edsall, RN, Director of the Breast health Center. Mrs. Bocchieri spoke about her own experience with coping with the disease that affects thousands of women on Long Island each day. Ms. Edsall explained new detection and treatment options, as well as various resources available at Good Samaritan Hospital Medical Center's Breast Health Center.

"I think it is important for women and men in Bay Shore to know that there is such a great facility in our own backyard," said Fornieri. "I am proud that we used our time to support the Breast Health Center."

Money from the brunch will fund a breast health kiosk in the Breast Cancer Health Center. The kiosk will bear a plaque thanking the students of Bay Shore High School for their support and partnership with the Medical Center.

"Breast cancer affects everyone, not just women and men who are battling the disease," said Cook. "I am glad that we were able to help Good Samaritan Hospital help women, men, and their families for a long time to come."

Paige Leggio, junior, and Kaitlyn Arnold, sophomore, helped support the cause by selling raffles in order to raise money for the Good Samaritan Hospital Medical Center's Breast Health Center.

Keynote speaker and Director of the Breast Cancer Health Center, Bonnie Edsall, informed people about new detection and treatment options for those with the disease.

Jessica Fornieri, Chelsea Cook, Mauricio Espinal, and Kayla Arnold, seniors, make up the Breast Cancer Brunch committee. They organized the whole afternoon with the help of Ms. Side. These seniors have been involved in the brunch since freshman year.

The Breast Cancer Brunch volunteers serve the guests, who each paid a contribution in exchange for food. Local restaurants and businesses donated food and money to the event.

Students showed their Valentine's Day spunk by purchasing flowers, carrying around balloons, and giving out chocolates and other festive treats.

"Valentine's Day is an awesome way to creatively express the way you feel about someone else; it's also my birthday," said Matthew Hartill, senior.

A new and exciting event this year was the Sadie Hawkins Dance. As a twist, the girls got to ask that special guy they had their eye on to the dance. A great time was had by all.

Every year when Valentine's Day rolls around, some people dread it while others love it.

"Some people say they hate Valentine's Day, but that's just because they don't have anyone special to share it with," said Mauricio Espinal, senior.

Whether students enjoyed Valentine's Day or not, there was plenty around the halls of the school to help create a festive atmosphere for all.

Blizzard

snow days

This year, a record amount of snow blanketed Bay Shore, lasting from the first early snowfall in November to the last snowfall in late March. As a result, the school district broke its reputation of having school no matter the weather, and called several snow days.

"It was definitely shocking to have so many snow days after the past years, but it was a nice change," said Christine Heller, senior.

Many students took advantage of the time off to participate in activities only possible in this kind of weather.

"On my snow day I played ice hockey and walked around Bay Shore just to see everything in the snow," said Max Sheets, senior.

Although igloos, snowmen, and other snow sculptures could be seen around the town, some of the high school students preferred to spend the day sleeping in and relaxing.

"Being a senior made me appreciate the extra day off," said Ajon Crump, senior. "I used to go play in it all the time, but I enjoyed just having the time off."

Catherine Schmidt, senior, smiles before plugging down "Cardiac Hill" at Sunken Meadow State Park.

Will Hoffman, junior, works hard to shovel his driveway to get rid of the snow.

Ashley Moran and Nicole Marzillo, seniors, gets off the chairlift so they can ski down the advanced trails. Many seniors went on this trip to Camelback Mountain in Pennsylvania.

Elissa Lagara, senior, pulls a nice cross-over move to get past the Central Islip player. Lagara had 14 points and five offensive rebounds in the game.

Taylor Lombardo, senior, makes an important play to distract the other team. Lombardo's best game was against Hills East, scoring a season high of 20 points, including six three-pointers.

Carly Cox, freshman, makes a three point shot to put Bay Shore in the lead. Through the season, Cox earned 16 rebounds, 23 assists, 22 points, and 4 steals.

Courtney Syrett, sophomore, gets around Central Islip's tough defense to put one up. Syrett had seven points, six steals, five rebounds and two assists in the game.

When many people think about the terms Basketball and Bay Shore in the same sentence, they picture the boys team. Though lacking the same success, the girls are a fierce team, and only getting better.

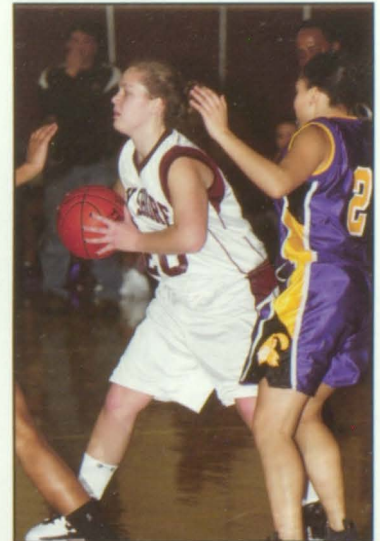

"You can get taught skills, but you can't get taught attitude, aggression, and a good work ethic," said Courtney Bocchieri, junior. "As a team we have a positive attitude, we are aggressive, and we work hard 100% of the time."

The Girls Varsity Basketball team was devoted and passionate during the season and strove to achieve new goals.

"We knew it would take a lot of hard work and effort to be a strong team and make it to playoffs, and I think we all had a lot of dedication to achieve that goal and get where we wanted to be," said Perri Baker, sophomore.

Off the court, the team members had a great desire to help others, so they created a fundraiser to raise awareness for cancer and to donate money to the American Cancer Society. Their love for the game and the people around them helped all of these players become stronger citizens and positive leaders.

Meagan Schoberl, junior, looks for an open outlet to help put Bay Shore in the lead. She had six points, five rebounds and a steal in the game against Central Islip.

Casey Taggart, sophomore, runs around the other players making her way to the basket.

Coach Williams calls a time out to refocus the boys. This was the second season for Coach Williams, who was assisted by Mr. Dave Mayo.

Starting off the season without eight starting players from the previous season, the boys basketball team knew they were going to have a challenge.

"In the beginning, I did not know how good we were going to do because of our major senior losses last year," said Kenneth Barnes, senior. "But our team really came together and stepped up for those losses."

After losing the first three games, the boys knew they had to step it up.

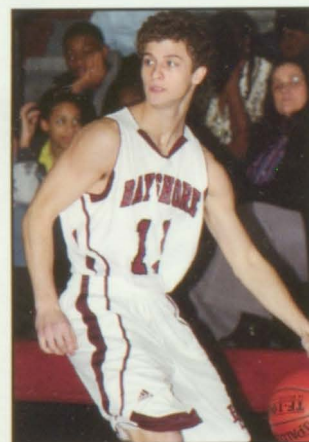

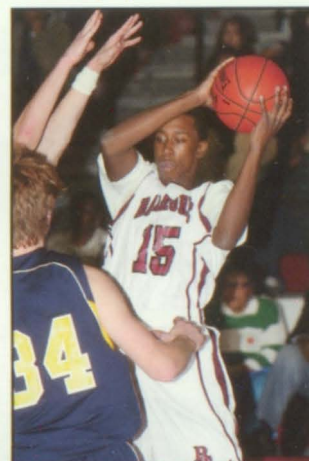

"Although the season didn't start the way the team wanted, the coaching staff knew the potential that the kids had and we were confident that they would turn it around," said Mr. Dave Mayo, assistant coach.

They went on to win their next three games and earned six more wins on their way to the playoffs.

"We really had to step up after those first few games," said Marco Sagliocca, senior. "I think that we had a little bit of a reality check and we started working harder and started to be more focused, and we started winning."

The players learned to become a family and to connect on the court, which contributed to their success, despite an early exit from the playoffs.

Jason Wright, sophomore, passes the ball through the Northport defenders. Wright was one of four sophomores on the team and, at 6'4", is one of the tallest and most versatile players on the court.

Marco Sagliocca, senior, dribbles while looking for an option on the court. Joining the team for the first time as a senior, Sagliocca was welcomed with open arms and played a valuable role on the team.

girls track

Ki'Tira Shorter, senior, uses her long, powerful legs to land her triple jump.

Jacqueline Anderson, freshmen, runs with determination to win the relay. Anderson was named All-League.

The members of the girls track team shared one common goal: to get to League II Championships. With the captains pushing their teammates to push harder, they achieved this goal and took the team's 21st consecutive win.

"Track means that you are not only running for you, you are running for a team that wants to reach a common goal," said Kathryn Glynn, senior and captain. "The team is a close knit family."

The captains arranged numerous team bonding moments.

"My favorite thing about this sport is the bond you build with the team, and with each other's support we move forward," said Ki'tira Shorter, senior and captain.

The team finished ranked second place on Long Island and in Suffolk County and set numerous new school records. In the second annual Rhode Island Classic, which replaced the Brown Invitational, members of team combined for a total 26 medals.

"Before a meet I would listen to music get a good night sleep and I have one pair of socks that I have worn since freshman year to each meet," said Brianah Allen, junior. "Track is a mental sport and we're all insane," senior and captain Jennifer Halloran.

Danely Rodriguez, junior, use all her force while throwing her shot put. Rodriguez took 3rd in the shot put with a "personal bes" of 29'11". Rodriguez was also named All-Long Island.

Kathryn Glynn, senior and captain, makes her last stride toward the finish line. Glynn was named All-League.

Seniors not shown: Nicole Chin, Katie Cockerill, Clare Dieumegard, Lyndsey Dolan-King, Sandy Enriquez, Shannon Grennan, Karina Moreno, Demi Murillo, Gillian Swanson, Alexandra Valencia, Megan Valentin, Julia Wednt.

Dominick Laferrera, junior, prepares to throw for his shot-put event. Laferrera came in second place at the League II Championships.

Jamari Lawrence, junior, takes off as he prepares to long jump. Lawrence earned 5th place at the Jim Mitchell Invitational in New York City.

Despite a season filled with injuries, the Boy's Winter Track team, coached by Kurt Langer, along with assistant coaches Adres Borromeo, Rich Mauro and field coach Anthony Forti, managed to have a successful season.

This year the team ranked number two in Suffolk County and number five in Newsday's rankings. As individuals, the boys all shared a common goal for the 2011 season, to be the strongest all-around team on Long Island.

"This year I wanted to reach my goal of improving each time I jumped," said Jamari Lawrence, junior.

Each year the boys track team has a long, challenging season and this year was no exception. Fortunately, for some of the runners it was their best season yet.

"I had a good season because I had a personal best at my 200 and 400 events," said Raphael Rother, senior. "It's even better that the team as a whole had so much success."

Takedown wrestling

Rashaad Gray, senior, gets ready to defeat his opponent. Gray placed fifth in the county tournament.

Brandon Moran, senior, tackles down his Lindenhurst opponent. Moran was named wrestler of the week on December 31, 2010.

"Respect all, fear none."

That is what Vincent Torres and Jonathan Flood, seniors, said when asked for a quote about the wrestling season.

As captains, Flood and Mauricio Espinal, senior, helped Coach Rosner keep the team focused on their goals for the season.

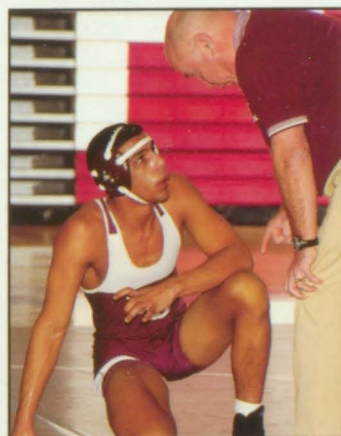

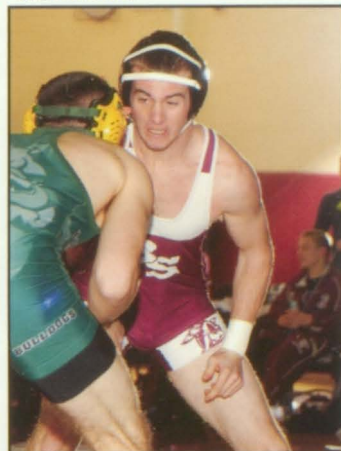

"I tried to lead by example," said Flood. "I hoped that if I did the right thing, the rest of the team would follow."

Rashaad Gray, senior and co-captain, was a key wrestler this season.

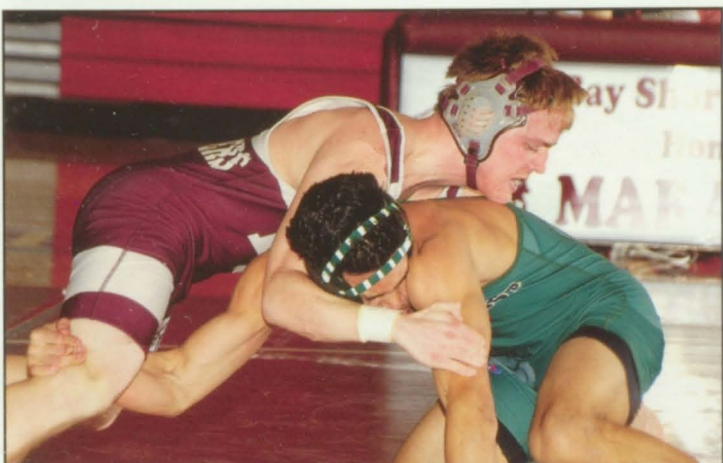

"Once you wrestle, everything else in life is easy," said Gray, who placed first in the league tournament and fifth in the county tournament.

Overall the Marauders had a great season with seven wins. Flood, Espinal, Torres and Gray kept the team motivated throughout the season.

Jonathan Flood, senior, is about to take a shot on his opponent. Flood was most outstanding wrestler at Bay Shore's Cliff Clark tournament and took first place at three other tournaments.

Mauricio Espinal, senior, gets last minute advice from Coach Rosner before his match. At the multi-team dual meet held at Bay Shore Espinal led Bay Shore with the quickest pin in 14 seconds.

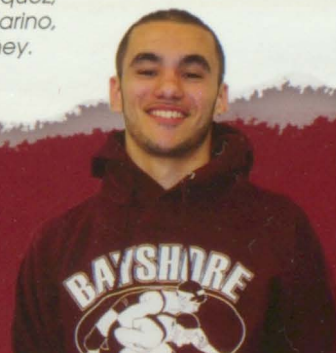

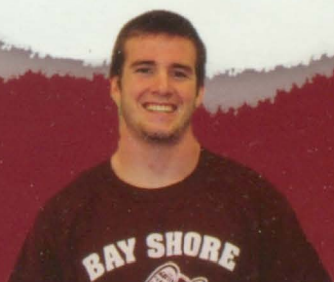

Glen Tarmey, senior, fights for a dominant position. Tarmey has been on the varsity team for three years.

cheerleading

Kayla Trocchio, sophomore, cheers happily while encouraging the boys to win. She will continue her career in cheerleading for 2 more years.

Tess George, freshman, started as an eighth grader and demonstrates improved skill and character. This is her second year on the team.

The cheerleading squad has improved tremendously from previous years with the help of new captains Veronica Nappi and Allie Quintyne, seniors.

"This year our team went through changes to benefit us as a whole, which resulted in going to finals and giving us a better chance of placing," said Nappi.

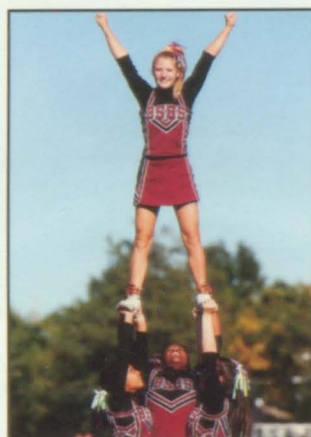

Any cheerleading team has two goals: supporting and motivating the teams they cheer for, but also accomplishing achievements on their own. Having a talented team, they were able to bring the varsity football team to the playoffs and the varsity basketball team to victories.

"I'm really proud of all our accomplishments during my time at Bay shore cheer," said Quintyne. "We finally made it to finals and were crowned a top 5 team on Long Island, which was the best feeling in the world."

Making it to finals for the past two years with the hard work and dedication from the cheerleaders, the varsity cheerleading team hopes to continue this tradition in the years to come.

The team placed 5th in the LICCA competition and 1st in the "power four" competition, which tests an individual stunt groups strength to hold up a flier for as long as they can.

Amanda Voges and Arje Brothers, sophomores, pump up the crowd as they cheer for the Varsity football team. They will continue to support and cheer on Bay Shore football for another two years.

Madison Flotteron, 8th grader, shows great improvement cheering throughout the Varsity Football season.

A perfect score in bowling, which is achieved by throwing only strikes, gets the bowler 300 points. Valone Saunders, senior, achieved this monumental score.

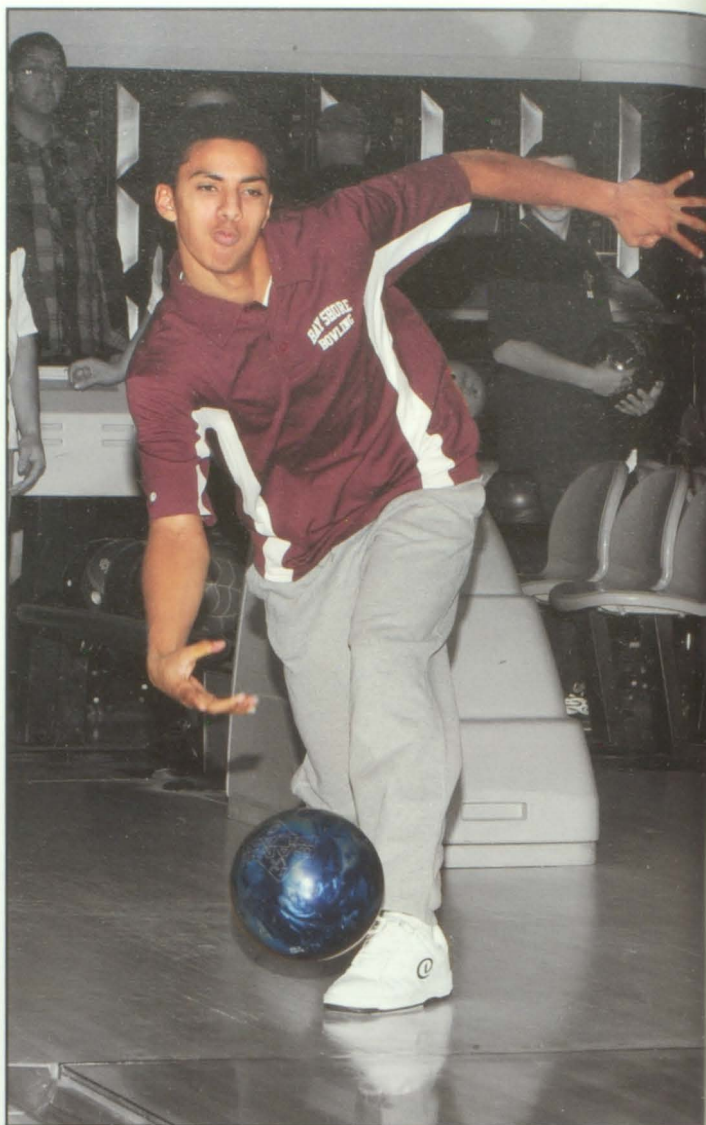

"It was nerve racking," said Saunders. "I felt like a baseball player trying to pitch a no hitter."

The team encouraged each other to be better and gave each other ideas to improve their skills throughout the season. All of the players encouraged Saunders as he rallied through the perfect game.

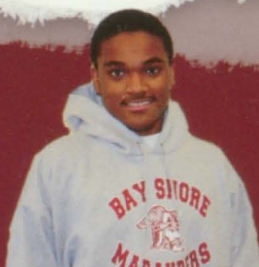

"I told him to act like he was just practicing against me and to not put any extra pressure on himself," said Justin Rivera, senior.

Rivera and Saunders led the team with their experience, resulting in many victories. Asked how he felt about Saund's 300-score outing and if he was jealous, Rivera said only, "I loved it!"

Justin Rivera, senior, shows off his skill and experience.

"Marauders on three," and they throw their Marauder hand signs up in the air, signifying their commitment to stay together and close throughout the entire season.

Going into matches, they always walked tall with a smile on their faces whether they knew they were going to win or lose. This team wasn't about competition, it was all about having fun.

"We knew we weren't always going to beat the other teams," said Asia Jackson, senior. "But win or lose, we just wanted to have a good time."

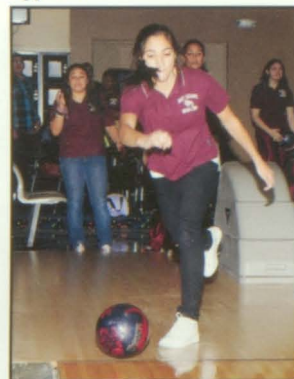

The girls encouraged one another to stay focused.

"I tried to be supportive and motivating to everyone on the team," said Briana Colon, sophomore.

These were aspects of team work that held them together.

Retirees

Dr. Evelyn Blose Holman Superintendent of School

After 17 years, Bay Shore bids farewell to Dr. Evelyn Blose Holman, Superintendent of Schools. Holman began her educational career 46 years ago and has served as a teacher, principal, and a superintendent in Maryland before coming to Bay Shore. Holman received great success at the start of her career upon receiving a Bachelor's Degree from Indiana State College in Pennsylvania and a Masters of Education and Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Maryland. She has also taught workshops as an educational consultant throughout the United States and China.

Before Dr. Holman's arrival in 1994, the district and town needed improvement. Only about half the graduates attended college, downtown stores were vacant, and SAT scores were below state and national averages. Today, 80 percent of graduates attend college after high school, stores vacancy has decreased significantly, and Bay Shore's SAT scores have consistently stayed above the averages.

"The Board of Education needed someone who could bring the community together, someone who was actively working with a diverse community," said Dr. Holman. "They wanted someone who could have high academic standards, and focus on that."

Dr. Holman has implemented many new programs to the school district. Last year, the International Baccalaureate program was implemented in the High School. This two-year curriculum of internationally standardized courses has been extremely popular with high school students.

Dr. Holman has been honored with a numerous amount of awards. During her time in Bay Shore, the school district has been a four-time National School Boards Association MAGNA Award Winner as well as a New York State Civic Star Award Winner for the Bay Shore-Brightwaters Summit Council.

"While I am proud and honored to be Bay Shore's superintendent, I now plan to travel, read, and do some writing to reflect on my rewarding career," said Dr. Holman.

When asked to describe her overall experience at Bay Shore, Dr. Holman had the following words:

"It could not have been better, with national recognition and awards for Bay Shore too numerous to mention. The National School Board's Magna awards for wellness, media lab technology, and twice for the Summit's community partnerships reflect the dedication, talent and vision of our board, administrators, teachers and service staff; it is a joy to work with them and to represent Bay Shore."

Holman's Way, previously known as Perkal Street, was dedicated to Dr. Holman in honor of her contributions to the district as superintendent of Schools. A crowd gathered to celebrate the official renaming of that portion of the road.

Charlene Francis,
Guidance Counselor

Guidance counselor Charlene Francis began her career interning in the Bay Shore School District. Ms. Francis started working as a substitute in 1998 and has also worked in the Hempstead and Freeport school districts, and even spent time in US Virgin Island elementary schools.

"I come to work with a smile on my face everyday," says the guidance counselor.

Her favorite part of working in Bay Shore is that the work has a fast pace and is never boring. She loves the people she works with and the fabulous students.

Ms. Francis would like to leave the students of Bay Shore with these words of wisdom: "Prepare for a career doing something you love and that will always have you working with a smile on your face."

Judi Cummings,
Assistant Director of Health, Physical Education and Athletics

Judi Cummings started her career in education in 1975. She began at Gardiner Manor and taught there for 25 years before moving to the Middle School to become the Instructional Supervisor. In 2004, she became the Assistant Director of Health, Physical Education and Athletics at the High School. She has coached many sports including JV Softball, JV and Middle School Field Hockey, Cheerleading, Gymnastics, and Volleyball.

Ms. Cummings will miss the students, colleagues and the Bay Shore community in general. Her favorite part of the job is working with Mr. Kasman and her favorite memory is taking students on a 5-mile hike at Caumsett State Park.

"Sports have gotten much more intense and competitive since I started here," said Ms. Cummings. "I worked hard throughout my career to make physical education a meaningful and enjoyable experience for students."

Her words of wisdom for students are as follows: "Follow your dreams, follow your heart, and you will achieve everything and anything."

Jim McGowan,
School Social Worker

Jim McGowan, social worker and varsity softball coach, began working at Bay Shore in 1981.

McGowan began many new organizations and events such as Peer Support, Freshman Transition Day, Cultural Exchange Day and Awareness Weekend. Awareness Weekend, a weekend that McGowan says has changed and even saved lives, began in November, 1989 and will continue after he retires.

"To all of my colleagues, friends, students, and supporters of the magic of Awareness Weekend...you will always have a special place in my heart," said McGowan in his reaction paper, which is handed out in a book to all Awareness Weekend participants.

McGowan has also coached the varsity softball team to victory since 1983. The team has made it to the state championships ten times and has won the championship seven times. He says the key to being a successful coach is having knowledge of the game, self-discipline, and the ability to motivate athletes.

"I don't want to be known as a softball coach, but for the legacy I've left behind with the kids," said McGowan.

He emphasized that he will miss the students of Bay Shore the most, as well as his aid, Ms. Elsie Witherspoon, who worked with him for 28 years. He believes his job has defined who he is and has helped to make him a better friend, father, and person.

Elsie Witherspoon,
Time Out Room Aid

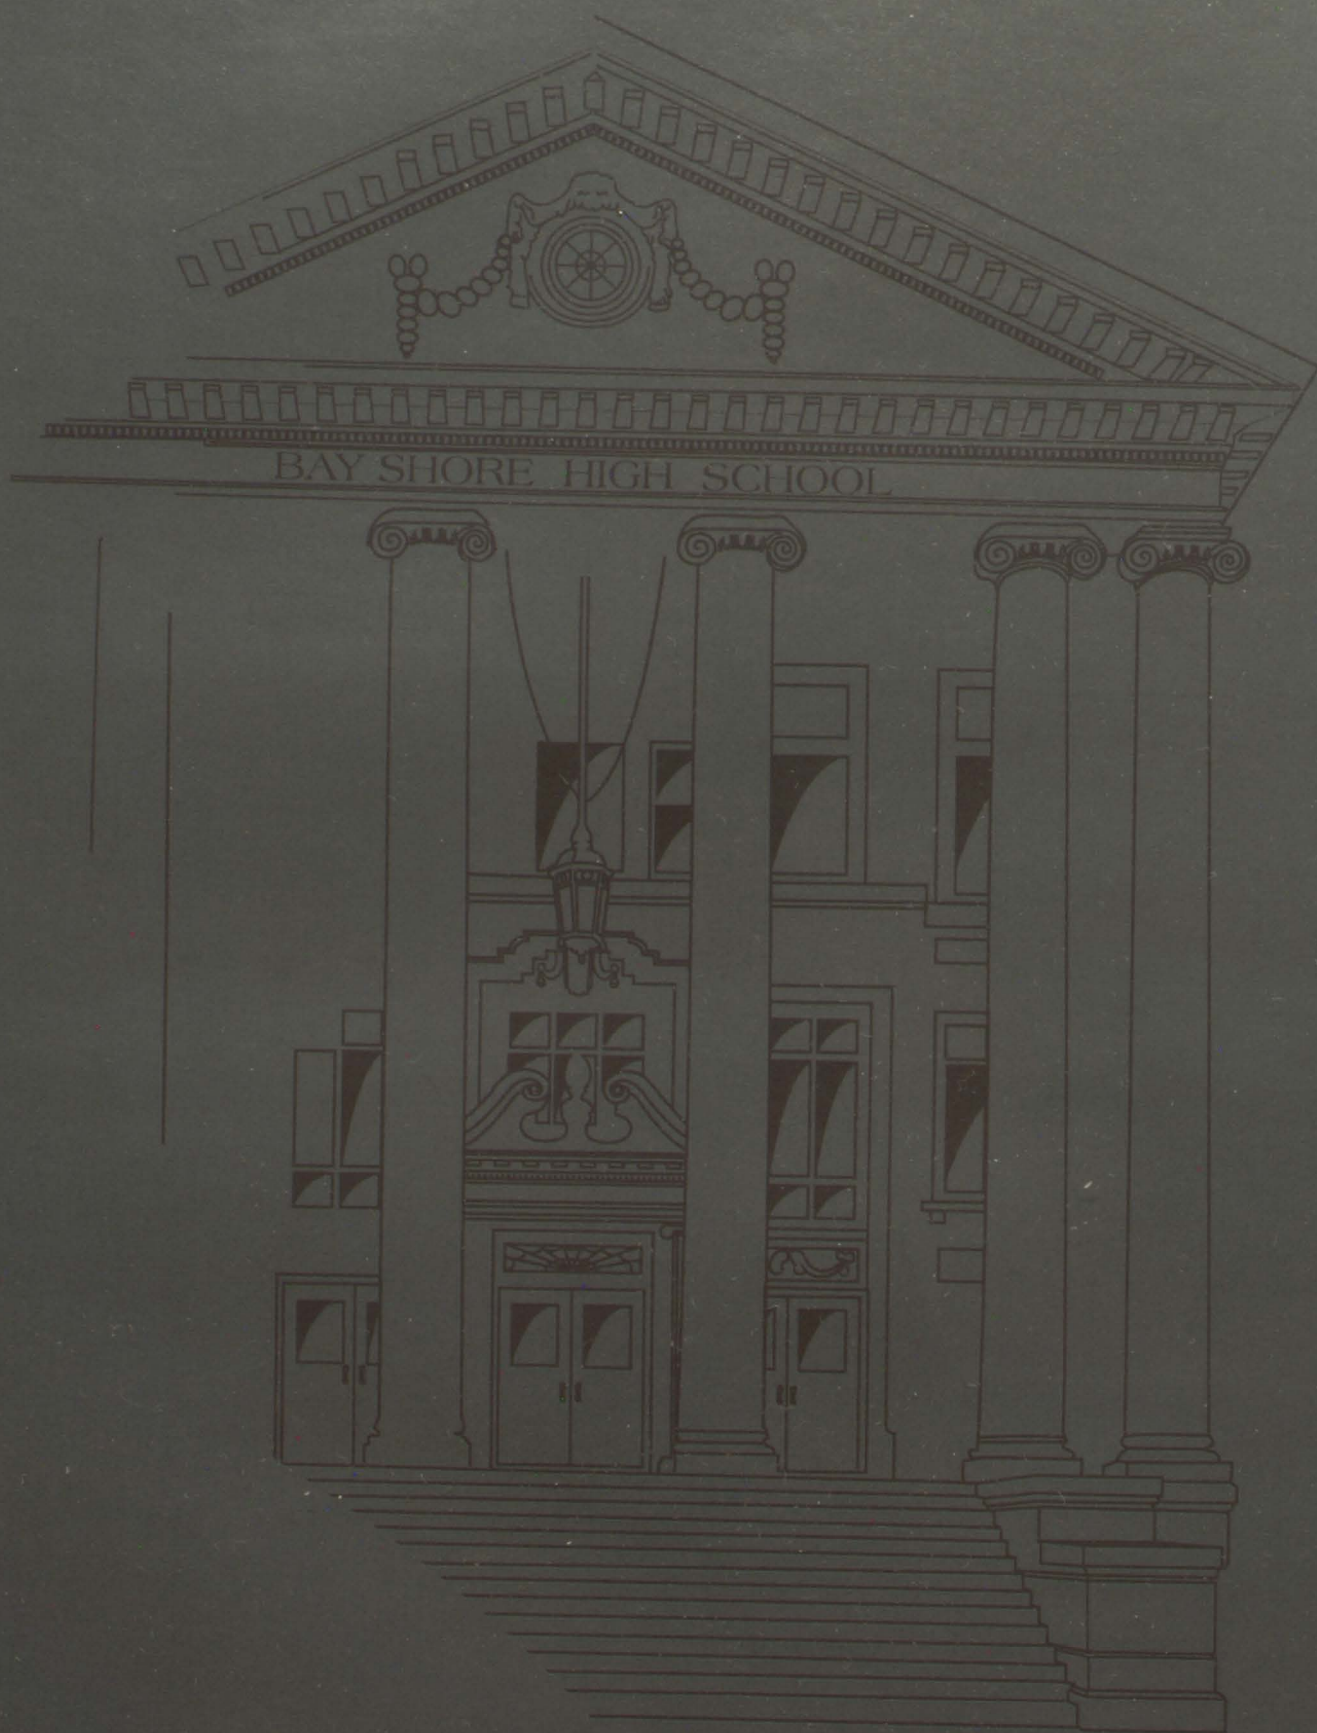

Elsie Witherspoon, Time Out Room aid, started in Bay Shore in 1964. She has assisted Mr. McGowan in various projects and in the Time Out Room for 28 years.

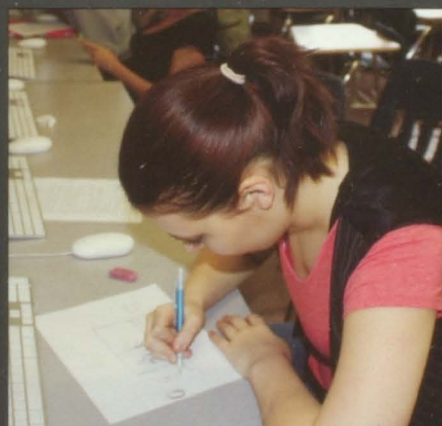

"I have had many great memories during my time here at Bay Shore," said Ms. Witherspoon. "But my favorite memory would have to be working with the kids in the Time Out Room. It has been great."

Ms. Witherspoon will miss the students the most and her favorite part of her job has been working with Mr. McGowan.

When asked to share words of wisdom for the Class of 2011 she shared: "Keep focused with everything you do and keep moving ahead."

Mrs. Bosley was one of three teachers that had the most money for "Pie in the Face," sponsored by National Honor Society. Catherine Schmidt, senior, was the lucky student who got to pie her in the face.

Capturing the 2010-2011 school year has been an exciting and frustrating challenge. Exciting because we have seen and documented so many incredible memories. Frustrating because, no matter how hard we try, we could never capture everyone's individual memories. Therefore, we offer this as an official, though incomplete, reference to the year that was. We have watched the class of 2011 "Let the Good Times Roll," and we have "rolled" along with them.

Colophon

The 2011 Marauder Yearbook was published by Jostens and produced entirely by a staff of 29 students, with Ali Hoffman as Editor-in-Chief and under the supervision of Mr. Michael Hochman. 450 copies of the 88th volume of the Marauder were printed. This edition is comprised of 224 full-color, glossy pages and was distributed in June of 2011. A "Spring Supplement" was planned for distribution in July of 2011.

Computers: The staff used Apple iMac and Apple MacBook computers exclusively.

Photography: All candid photos, club photos, teacher portraits, and special section photos were taken by the Marauder staff using one Canon XS camera, one Canon XSi camera, and three Canon PowerShot SD 1100 IS cameras. All portrait pictures and sports photos were taken by Lifetouch Studios and are used with their permission.

Fonts: Body type is 'Goudy Sans,' size 10. Captions are 'Goudy Old Style,' size 8, and headlines are 'Genuine,' size 72.

Senior Surveys and Senior Superlatives: Ballot sheets were given to all seniors. Only those received were counted and we received over 250 of the survey to count and over 250 of the superlatives to count. On the superlative pages the runners up are shown in the smaller, inset pictures.

The 2011 Marauder staff wishes to extend the following thank yous:

-The Jostens staff, especially Mr. Matt Stucchio and Ms. Crystal Gault. You two continue to prove your invaluable worth to us. We would be lost without you.

-Lifetouch Photography Studios

-The high school and district administrators, thank you for your continued support in helping us achieve our vision.

-To the secretaries: Laura Giordano and Vicki Kristiansen from the Main Office, thank you for endlessly paging people to us. How do you not hate us by now? Arlene Boeree and Mary Anne Bisogno, from the Principal's office, thank you for answering questions, supplying forms, mailing stuff, and so much more. Thanks to Lorraine Bowler and Therese Garcia from the athletics office, for helping with rosters, photographers, coaches, and more. A huge thanks to Chrsitna Nardone...it's as if you sit there waiting for us to request a class list because they get back to us so quickly; we know you are so busy, so that only shows how amazing you are. You are all incredible people.

-IT staff, Dawn, Mark, Phil, and Joe. Thanks for always being so fast to help us.

-To the custodians, thank you for lugging cartons large and small. You guys are the best.

A note from the Editor: Ali, Sarah, and Kathleen...thank you for your hard work throughout this school year. I am so proud of all the work you have done and I have enjoyed watching you take this book from the concept phase to its status as "Complete." As the years go on and you get older you will no doubt, every time you take out this book, remember the long nights, temperamental computers, pretzel rods, laughs, fights, brainstorming sessions, editing sessions, and so much more. At times we have been frustrated, but this completed product is absolutely amazing and I know that you will enjoy it forever. Your classmates will reap the benefits of your hard work and I know you wouldn't want it any other way. You have been a phenomenal Editorial Board and I will never forget you. Thank you.

Top Siders

From popped collars to Top Siders, prep style endures. True Prep shows a new generation how it's done and what it means.

Sequins

Shiny, sparkly sequins become a major fashion trend when Zoe Kravitz and runway models are spotted wearing them on hats, dresses and tops.

Hats

Self-expression is always in fashion and the right hat makes it easy to add panache (and hide a bad hair day). All you need is a cute fedora or a jaunty newsboy cap.

Military Jacket

There's nothing olive drab about this trend. Military jackets are snappy, sleek and chic — a far cry from the oversized Army surplus look of yesteryear.

Energy Drinks

Energy drinks are the beverage of choice among sleep-deprived students, despite concerns that they contain unhealthy levels of sugar and caffeine.

Pillow Pets

Now it's a stuffed animal. And now it's a pillow. Puffy, popular PillowPets™ may be the snuggliest, softest trend of the year.

Dentists report that more and more teens are asking about teeth bleaching procedures, especially for photo-op occasions like proms or sweet sixteen parties.

Flip Flops

Parents and foot doctors hate them but the flip-flop fad is a year-round phenomenon for guys and girls alike (except during snowstorms).

Girls Outfit

Go for an edgy, urban look in these American Rag Twill Skinny Cargos — perfectly paired with a belted Cowl neck sweater!

Big Scarves

Long, flowing scarves become a year-round trend. This must-have accessory is the easiest way to add color and interest to casual outfits.

Monkey Slippers

It's a toy. It's a slipper. It's a fun fashion trend. Sock monkey slippers are popular in college dorms and at slumber parties.

Long Necklaces

Long, statement necklaces are trend-right. Gossip girls look luxe with Tiffany-style trinkets. Layered, chunky, vintage baubles create an alt-rock, art school vibe.

Over the Knee Boots

Boots go to great lengths. Over-the-knee styles are seen everywhere from runways to red carpets. Trendsetters wear them with short skirts or slim leggings.
